MYSTERY WITNESS IS NAMED

Boczor, Friend of Ewald, Swore Ex-Judge Told of Paying $12,000 for Job.

HEALY QUESTIONED AGAIN

TOMMANEY CALLED VAGUE

Mayor Summoned to Tell the Grand Jury Tomorrow Why He Named Ex-Magistrate.

Developments in District Attorney Crain's investigation of the charges that former Magistrate George F. Ewald bought his seat as a magistrate for $12,000 came rapidly yesterday.

Simultaneously with his examination of Martin J. Healy, suspended Deputy Commissioner of Plant and Structures, to whom Ewald is alleged to have paid $10,000 of the purchase money, Mr. Crain summoned Mayor Walker and George W. Olvany, former leader of Tammany Hall, to appear before him for interrogation this morning and subpoenaed the Mayor to tell his story of Ewald's appointment to the county grand jury tomorrow.

Mr. Olvany's appearance before the grand jury, it was learned, will be contingent upon the result of his examination by Mr. Crain this morning. Mr. Olvany will be asked to what extent, if any, he contributed to Ewald's appointment.

Healy Waives Immunity.

After hearing from Healy a recapitulation of the story told previously by Mrs. Ewald and other witnesses that the $10,000 he received from Mrs. Ewald immediately preceding Ewald's appointment constituted a loan for the purchase of a house at Blue Point, L. I., Mr. Crain gave Healy permission to appear before the grand jury tomorrow on condition that he waive immunity. Healy, taken aback at first, later accepted the condition through his counsel, former Assemblyman Frederick L. Hackenburg. Mr. Crain said smilingly that no such waiver of immunity would be asked from Mayor Walker.

Other witnesses before Mr. Crain yesterday were Thomas P. Tommaney, chief clerk in the office of Sheriff Farley, who acted as intermediary between Healy and Mrs. Ewald in arranging the alleged loan, and John J. Myers, a member of the Steuben Society, who told Mr. Crain that he had discussed with Ewald the advisability of obtaining political indorsement in his effort to obtain the appointment as magistrate.

From Tommaney, who was first examined by Mr. Crain last Friday, Mr. Crain sought to learn exactly what took place when he turned Mrs. Ewald's $10,000 over to Healy. Mr. Crain characterized Tommaney's replies as "vague."

One fact brought out by Mr. Crain in yesterday's examination of Healy was that the $5,000 check drawn by Mrs. Ewald as part of the $10,000 transaction was signed by her maiden name, Bertha Eckert. She will be asked to explain the use of her maiden name when she appears again before Mr. Crain with her husband this morning. Another witness this morning will be Arthur A. Hartmann of Brightwaters, L. I., from whom Healy purchased his new Summer home.

Mystery Witness Revealed.

Capping yesterday's developments was an announcement by Mr. Crain that he would also have before him today the mysterious witness offered him by United States Attorney Tuttle, a witness who is supposed to have told the Federal grand jury that Ewald had told him he had paid $12,000 for his seat on the bench. This witness, it was revealed, is Emmerich Boczor, a life-long friend of Mr. Ewald and described as the former magistrate's unofficial secretary. Mr. Boczor's name was supplied to Mr. Crain yesterday by Mr. Tuttle after Mr. Crain in a letter had requested it.

In response to Mr. Crain's request Mr Tuttle also obtained permission from Federal Judge John E. Martineau to have Mr. Crain examine the minutes of the Federal grand jury before which Healy, Mrs. Ewald, Tommaney and Peter Eck-

Test Ban on Traffic Whistles To Avoid Conflict With Lights

For one week, which, as a matter of fact, began yesterday, New York's traffic policemen will not blow their whistles. If the scheme works, the silence will be permanent.

Commissioner Mulrooney said he had issued the order after conferring with traffic specialists in the department. They told him that in many cases the whistles did not coordinate with the lights, and so caused confusion and potential danger to both motorists and pedestrians. And so, during the experimental period, the lights will suffice.

At 6 o'clock last evening a few whistles were being blown in Times Square. But they were spasmodic.

TROOPS RUSH TO END RIOTING IN SIND AREA

Hindu-Moslem Strife Spreads to Rohri and Towns on Indus With 'Serious' Casualty List.

PESHAWAR STILL HARASSED

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—A "serious" number of casualties have resulted from communal strife in the Sind district of India, which is not yet under complete control, according to a statement issued by the government at Simla. Rioting between Moslems and Hindus has spread to Rohri and several villages on the west bank of the Indus River.

The origin of the disturbances, according to the official statement, was reported to have been a dispute between members of a swarajist [home rule] procession and a Moslem tonga [cart] driver, exaggerated accounts of which gave rise to alarmist rumors, followed by serious clashes between the two communities.

Police Fired on Ballia Mob.

Another communal riot, the statement adds, occurred at Ballia, in the United Province. The police had to fire to disperse demonstrators.

"No serious collision between the police and the public arising directly out of the civil disobedience movement is reported," says the government statement, "but reports received from the provinces mention a number of cases in which violence has been used against the police."

The government states that the provincial reports describing the situation during the last fortnight of July were the most favorable received in some months. In Madras the decline of lawlessness is becoming more marked and in many districts attempts to defy the law are "half-hearted and readily abandoned," it is stated. "The number of accused persons offering apologies is increasing, and public opinion against the civil disobedience movement has hardened."

Troops Sent to Quell Riots.

KARACHI, India, Aug. 11.—British troops were dispatched over the week-end to quell communal rioting in the townships of Pano, Akil, Sultanpur, Ghotki and Dubar. Special police have been stationed in Mirpur in the Mathelo Revenue District, and

ROOSEVELT ORDERS SARATOGA CLEAN-UP WITHIN THREE DAYS

ASKS REPORT ON THURSDAY

He Calls On Sheriff, Prosecutor and Police Head Then to Tell of Progress Toward Remedy.

EVIDENCE IS TRANSMITTED

District Attorney Says He Will Proceed Promptly on Any Complaints of Law Violation.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 11.—Governor Roosevelt this afternoon informed Sheriff George E. Knight, District Attorney John G. Smith and Edward Sweeney, Commissioner of Public Safety of Saratoga, that vice conditions in Saratoga complained of by Hugh S. Dorsey in a letter to the Governor last week must cease.

The Governor also directed these officials to report to him not later than Thursday what they had done to remedy such alleged conditions of vice and laxity in law enforcement as they find.

Dispatches Special Messenger.

To make certain that his orders were delivered, the Governor sent a special messenger to Saratoga early in the afternoon. Later in the day he told newspaper men that the messages had been delivered.

Dorsey, a former policeman, charged that gambling was going on in many places in Saratoga and that it was prevalent because of the laxity of the officials. He not only gave names of those in charge of the various places, it was reported, but also gave addresses and other facts.

Governor Roosevelt was at Hyde Park Friday night and did not see the charges until the next day when they were handed to him by his legal adviser, Samuel I. Rosenman. Today the Governor and Mr. Rosenman conferred on the matter, Mr. Rosenman telling the Governor that the charges were in proper form.

Governor Roosevelt's Letter.

The identical letter sent to each of the three officials read as follows:

Dear Sir:

I am in receipt of a letter of complaint relative to certain alleged conditions in and about Saratoga Springs, a copy of which I am enclosing.

You will note that the charges are not in any sense merely general; but are specific in nature, setting forth specific violations of law and giving particular names and addresses.

The conditions set forth in this letter must cease immediately. I expect you, as an officer charged with the preservation of law and order, to do your full duty with respect to these allegations. Will you please let me have a report not later than Aug. 14, 1930, setting forth what you have done to remedy such of these conditions as you find exist?

Very truly yours,
FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

Prosecutor Ready to Act.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, Aug. 11.—District Attorney John B. Smith said tonight that he had not received the letter of Governor Roosevelt as yet but had read about it in the newspapers and was expecting it.

"I am just back from a vacation at the seashore," he said. "It goes without saying that as District Attorney of Saratoga County I will prosecute any violations of the gambling or other laws of which I have evidence."

Mary Pickford to Return to Broadway Stage; Four Other Film Stars to Desert the Screen

Mary Pickford will appear on the Broadway stage during the holiday season this Winter, under the management of Arch Selwyn, it was announced yesterday.

Four other motion picture stars—Colleen Moore, Lya de Putti, Vilma Banky and Rod La Rocque—are to return to the legitimate stage about the same time, it was learned. It is an open secret that all of these players have found their screen popularity diminished since the advent of talking pictures.

Miss Pickford, who recently abandoned a talking picture in the course of production, acted on the New York stage before she achieved fame on the screen, but for the present generation she will be a newcomer before the footlights. One of the three plays under consideration as a vehicle for her comeback is the work of Paul Kester, who wrote "A Woman of Bronze." Mr. Selwyn did not identify the others.

Lya de Putti, who scored her first great success in the German film "Variety," will be the first of the screen actresses to reach the stage. Miss de Putti is announced to be seen here next month in a comedy called "Made in France," written by Jack Larric and to be produced by Laura D Wilck. The play will be tried out at the Maverick Theatre in Woodstock on Aug. 21.

Colleen Moore, who at one time, in the days of silent films, was voted the most popular actress on the screen, will be seen here in a play, as yet untitled, by Benjamin F. Glazer, a playwright who has been devoting himself to the motion pictures in recent years.

Vilma Banky and Rod La Rocque, it is announced, will be jointly starred in a play called "How to Be Happy," an adaptation by John Emerson and Anita Loos, from the Hungarian.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 11 (AP).—Mary Pickford said today the plan was conditional. She added that her Broadway appearance in any event would be for only eight weeks between picture engagements. She said she would start work on a new talkie next month.

Britain Will Propose a 10% General Tariff To Imperial Conference; Rebate to Dominions

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—A memorandum submitted to the government committee considering arrangements for the forthcoming imperial conference by H. D. Henderson, head of the economic advisory staff, is said to propose a general tariff of 10 per cent for "revenue purposes," with a rebate for the Dominions, to be imposed for a limited period.

A section of Lord Rothermere's protectionist press declares that J. H. Thomas, Secretary for Dominions, is "enthusiastic" for the scheme, and that the Prime Minister is "pondering" it. There has been no public utterance in support of these statements, but the Rothermere press asserts Mr. Thomas is regarded among his government colleagues as definitely protectionist, and observes that if Prime Minister MacDonald is "toying with the tariff idea" it is indicative of a distinct weakening from his adherence to free trade. Both these Ministers are on a holiday.

The political correspondent of The Daily Herald, organ of the MacDonald party, today says that individually the Ministers are "studying the implications of the proposals—but that is as far as it has gone." This correspondent points out that while some Ministers are out-and-out free-traders, others have "open minds" and consider that the reaching of international agreements on such matters as the importation of sweated goods takes time.

Elsewhere there is no great enthusiasm for the thought that the MacDonald Cabinet, which has to make the final decision, may in the space of a few weeks be converted from free trade to tariffs.

LONDON, Aug. 11 (Canadian Press).—The Evening News gives prominence to an important and ambitious scheme of overseas settlement, said to have been formulated by members of the government, and suggests that it may be placed before the imperial conference.

It is proposed that large public utility companies be formed with the cooperation of the government, to receive large-scale concessions for buying or leasing land in the dominions, and to develop it. It is asserted such a scheme would absorb the number of unemployed in the dominions themselves while also giving opportunities to the workless of England, both skilled and unskilled.

The Evening News suggests at least one Cabinet Minister of the dominions has given his approval to the scheme.

It is not suggested the scheme outlined has the unanimous approval of the Cabinet,

MANNING AND WISE BACK STAGE REFORM

RABBI PLEDGES SUPPORT

Dr. Ray Blames the Public—Advance Sales of Attacked Play More Than Doubled.

The crusade of the Catholic Theatre Movement under the auspices of Cardinal Hayes to rid the New York stage of obscenity, which was formally launched Sunday, received the support of other religious groups yesterday. On all sides the Cardinal, Mgr. Michael J. Lavelle, rector of St. Patrick's Cathedral, who is the active director of the movement, and the other leaders in it were praised for starting the campaign.

The attack of the Catholic Theatre Movement, while leveled against obscenity in general, was particularly aimed at the "Earl Carroll Vanities," which was recently raided by the police, and "Lysistrata," the current adaptation of Aristophanes's comedy. An editorial in the Summer bulletin of the Catholic Theatre Movement referred to "Lysistrata" as "a classic of unabashed pagan mockery."

Among those who expressed their approval of the Cardinal's crusade were the Right Rev. William T. Manning, Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of New York, and the Rev. Dr Stephen S. Wise, rabbi of the Free Synagogue.

Sees "Degradation of Stage."

Bishop Manning sent the following telegram from his Summer home on Mount Desert Island, Me., in reply to a request for comment:

"I am thankful to know of Cardinal Hayes's crusade against obscene plays. The present degradation of the stage is a calamity and a reflection upon all of us. It is time that such a crusade was undertaken and it should have the support of all decent elements in the community, and especially of all who are friends of the theatre and wish to see it fill its true and great function."

Rabbi Wise, when reached over the telephone at his Summer home, at Lake Placid, N. Y., declared:

"I am deeply interested in every undertaking to make the theatre what it has almost ceased to be—clean and decent and worthwhile.

"I have long noted with admiration the 'white list' plan of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of New York. Here is a field in which the churches ought to make themselves felt. And I believe that it is our business to give encouragement and support to those leaders of the theatre world who are not satisfied to be garbage distributers.

"I am sure that I speak for the best intelligence and the high standards of my people in pledging earnest and even enthusiastic support to any movement which will again make of the theatre a place of enchantment and beauty rather than a cesspool.

"It is only fair to add that in the last year or two we have had a number of notable and even noble plays, including 'The Green Pastures' and 'Journey's End' and not a few others."

Dr. Ray Blames Public.

The Rev. Dr. Randolph Ray, who is rector of the "Little Church Around the Corner," known as "The Actors' Church," and who is warden of the Episcopal Actors' Guild, said:

"There would be no obscene or objectionable plays in New York if it were not for the theatregoing public.

"In my opinion the way to clean up the stage is to educate the theatre public. The theatre, like business, the Church—I am sorry to say—and other institutions, unfortunately caters to what the people want.

"We have got to make a drive to clean up our people—each man and

ONE KILLED, 12 HURT IN CHEMICAL BLAST

DEBRIS BURIES WORKERS

Several Dug Out Uninjured—Fireman and Passer-By Among the Injured.

Marcus Cohen, a manufacturing chemist, late yesterday was seeking a formula for vanilla extract on the upper floor of a five-story brick building at 118 Prince Street. Next door, in a two-story building extending from 120 to 126 Prince Street, the printing presses of David Leff were whirring busily just before the close of work.

Suddenly pedestrians in the street below heard a loud explosion, followed by a smaller one. A flash of flame leaped skyward and the upper part of the sidewall of 118 Prince Street and part of the roof crumpled into a pile of débris and crashed down on the roof of the printing plant.

The impact of crumbled brick and mortar and of splintered beams and the jagged tin caved in the eastern end of the two-story building from roof to cellar and buried in the wreckage eleven men and one woman, who had been working in the plant or on the floor below.

Fire Follows Explosion.

A slight fire in the ruined upper floor of the five-story building followed the explosion, and some of the firemen were compelled to fight the blaze while others explored the tangled heap of wreckage, searching for the injured.

At 7:30, two hours after the explosion, the body of a 19-year-old boy, Erke Mailina of 192 Sixth Avenue, was removed from the wreckage. Before that time the eleven other persons, including Mrs. Lillian Leff, the wife of the proprietor of the printing establishment, had been extricated from the wreckage by firemen or had managed to scramble out. The police checked twelve persons as injured, including a passer-by and a fireman who were cut by falling bricks.

Late last night, after the finding of the body of Mailina, Fire Commissioner Dorman ordered a complete search of the ruins for possible additional victims, but a check-up of employes showed that Mailina was the only person killed. Searchlights were played on the demolished structure while firemen cleaned out the débris, looking for dead or injured.

Chemist Is Burned.

In St. Vincent's Hospital Cohen, the chemist, told the police that a concern which he headed, the United States Standard Chemical Company, occupied the fifth floor of 118. Suffering from second degree burns of the head and body, and with his face in bandages, Cohen told the police of his experiment.

"I was using one gallon of denatured alcohol, four kegs of bisulphate of soda and forty pounds of nitrophenol and had stirred them all up in a kettle," he said. "I was standing beside the kettle when I saw a streak of flame and heard a great noise."

Cohen, who was formerly employed by the Dye Products and Chemical Company in Newark, said that was all he remembered until he recovered consciousness a few moments later to find flames licking about the ruined beams and the jagged edges of what had been the roof and the west wall. He staggered to his feet and clambered through a window into the five-story building next door at 116.

In the second floor printing plant, which extends the entire length of the two-story building from 120 to 126, Mailina was feeding paper to the presses and Leff was "supervising a job" and showing Dominick Signorelli, 20, of 248 Stanhope Street, Brooklyn, and Dominick Lucca, 18, of 1,825 Cleveland Place how he

PLANE DROPS BOMBS ON KENTUCKY MINES, SCENE OF LABOR WAR

Six of Nine Missiles Tear Holes in Roads, Throwing Citizens of Providence Into Panic.

MINE GUARD FIRES AT FLIERS

GOVERNMENT HUNTS PILOT

By The Associated Press.

PROVIDENCE, Ky., Aug. 11.—A series of disorders in the Webster County coal fields culminated today in the bombing of mine properties from an airplane. The mines were reopened July 1, after a three months' shutdown because of independent strikes over wages and working conditions.

Nine bombs were dropped from an orange colored plane, believed to have carried two men, which flew over the town this morning as miners were going to work. Four bombs failed to explode. The five that did explode injured no one and damaged no property, but tore large holes in the ground. The bomber was described as a monoplane.

Taken by surprise by the sudden air attack, Providence and Webster County were thrown into a state of intense excitement. Only one of the twenty-five or thirty guards employed by the mines in the county had presence of mind to fire at the plane. He shot twice, but without effect. The bomber departed in the direction of Illinois.

The bombing plane appeared from the direction of Harrisburg, Ill., at about 6 A. M. It dropped the first missile at an abandoned mine near Clay, a few miles north of here. The bomb exploded with a detonation heard for miles, and sent clouds of dust and gravel into the air. The plane was flying at an altitude of 2,000 feet.

"Duds" Dropped on Mines.

The plane then dived toward the city and dropped two more bombs near the outskirts. They had the same effect as the first one. After circling the town, the plane dived at the entrance of the Ruckman mine and dropped another bomb, which failed to explode. A guard fired two shots at the plane, which was then at an altitude of 600 feet, but with no visible effect.

The plane started climbing at the edge of the city, and five more bombs were dropped, only two of which exploded. They fell near the mines of the Meador, Young & Holt Coal Company and the Diamond Coal Mining Company. The plane then flew off in the direction of Harrisburg.

Examination of the dud bombs revealed that they were made of dynamite wrapped with tape, with fuses attached.

All available deputy sheriffs patrolled the mine properties today, but there was little to be done, unless the plane returned. The mines resumed operation as usual.

Webster County officials requested Governor Sampson to send National Guardsmen here on three occasions after homes had been dynamited and miners shot from ambush. The Governor replied that he felt local authorities could handle the situation.

Refuses to Call on Governor.

C. L. Walker, County Attorney of Webster County, said Governor Sampson was not asked today to send troops, his previous refusals having discouraged officials to hope for any help from that quarter. There was no comment forthcoming from the Governor's office at Frankfort when he was informed of the bombing.

City Enjoys Ideal Weather With Mercury at 69; 10-Degree Drops Bring Nation-Wide Heat Relief

New Yorkers, recovering from the merciless rays of last week's torrid sun, enjoyed ideal weather yesterday in cool temperatures that averaged 69 degrees, or 5 below the normal average for the date. A continuance of the cool spell today with partly cloudy weather tomorrow was forecast last night by the Weather Bureau.

Yesterday's high temperature was 74 degrees at 3:45 P. M., a jump of only 10 degrees from the low mark of 64 degrees at 7 A. M.

Late in the afternoon a miniature whirlwind whistled across Roosevelt Field from the northwest, lifting a parked airplane six feet off the ground and depositing it a few feet away. A wing tip was slightly scratched.

The rest of the country also enjoyed a let-up in the hot weather. The Associated Press said that week-end showers and cooler breezes had brought temperature drops of 10 and even 20 degrees over most of the country. Although in most instances the precipitation was not sufficient for the drought-stricken crops, at least no more damage was done.

At Rochester, N. Y., in marked contrast to the record high temperatures of last week, the thermometer dropped at 7 A. M. yesterday to 53 degrees, the lowest mark there for the date in thirty years.

A record temperature drop of 60 degrees in twenty-four hours was recorded late Sunday night in Carbondale, Ill., according to The Associated Press. From a record high of 113 degrees Saturday, the thermometer dropped to 53.

DROUGHT CUT IN CORN CROP PUT AT 690,000,000 BUSHELS; FOOD SHORTAGE IN 2 STATES

PRESIDENT GETS REPORTS

Learns of 7 Per Cent Cut in All Crops During July.

RED CROSS FINDS SUFFERING

Reports Unemployment, Disease and Food Scarcity in Worst Spots.

BENDS ENERGIES TO RELIEF

Hoover Lays Aside All Other Tasks to Perfect Machinery for National Commission.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Today's monthly crop report from the Department of Agriculture, indicating the shortest corn production in more than a quarter of a century and other extensive damage to crops, and a survey of drought-afflicted areas made by the American Red Cross, showing that unemployment and disease are complicating the situation in some sections, were laid before President Hoover this morning when he returned to the White House and resumed perfecting the machinery by which he aims to give immediate relief to farmers and stock raisers and provide for the rehabilitation of the agricultural industry.

The crop report indicated a decrease of around 690,000,000 bushels in the corn crop as of Aug. 1, and Secretary Hyde, who handed the report to the President, estimated that the drought had lopped off approximately 100,000,000 bushels more since that date.

Human Suffering in South.

The Red Cross summary was made from reports of field agents in eighteen of the most distressed States, and indicated that present conditions will be aggravated in the Fall and Winter unless the drought is broken soon.

Reports from some localities, particularly in Kentucky and Tennessee, said that actual suffering had begun among the poorer classes of people as the result of food shortage and disease caused by unsanitary conditions brought on by a dearth of water. Prospective food shortage was reported in a number of places, one as near the national capital as the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia and West Virginia.

President Perfecting Plans.

These reports did not alarm the President, although he was represented as being fully aware of the critical situation in some sections. His information so far has shown that the heaviest hit communities are scattered and that no general food shortage of an alarming nature exists.

Nevertheless he gave his undivided attention to his plans for extending immediate succor to the victims of the widespread blight. The inference was drawn that he will recommend subsidiary groups for the national commission which is to administer Federal and State aid, chiefly in the form of credit, and will be composed of one representative from each of the twelve States, who are to be represented by their Governors, to whom the President will present his plan at Thursday's conference.

The proposal for subsidiary bodies was inferred from the announcement that Mr. Hoover would confer on Friday with S. H. Thompson, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation; Louis J. Taber, master of the National Grange, and C. E. Huff, president of the Farmers' Grain Corporation, relative to the cooperation they have offered for their organizations.

The President tonight was still awaiting a detailed survey of the drought situation from the Department of Agriculture. The delay was explained by the tardiness of 100 county agents in sending in their reports and efforts of the department to chart their findings.

Inquiry on Farm Board Plan.

The Federal Farm Board received today the first inquiry relative to its offer to sell feeding grain to individual farmers on credit guaranteed by local organizations. No formal application was made for a loan, but the Cooperative Pure Milk Association of Cincinnati inquired about the requirements for purchasing $200,000 of wheat for distribution among its members.

James C. Stone, vice chairman of the Farm Board, who conferred with President Hoover at his camp over the week-end, said today that there

Renews Forecast for Rain In Western Drought Areas

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The Weather Bureau today maintained its predictions for showers this week over parts of the drought areas.

Rains were expected for portions of Northwestern Minnesota, Eastern and Central North Dakota, Western South Dakota, Western Kansas and Western Nebraska within the next thirty-six hours. These States, however, do not need rain as badly as most of the Ohio Valley, but some alleviation there was expected by Wednesday or Thursday.

Showers also were predicted for Tuesday afternoon or night in Western Kentucky.

The Weather Bureau officials were careful, however, to point out that the showers might not break the drought, or might even fail to materialize.

Rains which have fallen in widely scattered points in Tennessee, Kentucky and the plains States in the last twenty-four hours were lighter than were hoped for.

COUNTY CHAIRMEN AVOID REPEAL QUERY

Only Three Republicans in State Listed by Women Wets as Favoring Change.

ONE DEMOCRAT BACKS LAW

Only a third of the Republican and Democratic county leaders of the State replied to the prohibition questionnaire sent out by the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, replies to which were made public yesterday by Mrs. John S. Sheppard, State chairman.

Of the eighteen Republican county leaders, only three, Samuel S. Koenig, New York County Chairman; Meier Steinbrink, Brooklyn leader, and Joseph H. De Bragga, Queens County Chairman, declared for repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Of the twenty-one Democrats who replied, only one, Guy O. Hinman of Allegany County, declared against repeal of the amendment.

Each county leader was asked if he would work and vote for the adoption of a State platform plank favoring repeal of the amendment, whether he intended to call a meeting of the County Committee to vote on repeal and whether he would ask the County Committee to recommend a repeal plank for adoption by the State convention. The replies made public were only on the question of the adoption of a repeal plank by the State convention.

Sees Dry Opposition Growing.

Mrs. Sheppard said her organization had 64,000 members in the State enlisted in a little more than a year, while the Woman's Christian Temperance Union had only 46,000 members.

"Although the answers received from the Republicans seem to indicate that the Republican party in the State is dry," she said in commenting on the result of the questionnaire, "our knowledge of the sentiment throughout the State on this subject convinces us that the so-called party leaders in the coun-was no immediate cause for worry over feeding live stock, but that serious trouble would develop if the drought was not soon broken.

"At present we can feed the live stock, though there may be some trouble," said Mr. Stone. "If the drought continues for thirty or forty days there will be a real problem."

Voluntary reports on conditions, offers of assistance and suggestions for relief, continued to pour into the executive offices today.

John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross, called on the President to present the report from its field representatives and to discuss the share the organization may be called on to take in relief work. The President so far only asked the Red Cross to stand in readiness.

Agree to Cut in Hay Rate.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (AP).—A memorandum showing that eleven railroads have agreed to cut freight rates on hay to points in Indiana where the drought has seriously affected cattle feed crops was left at the White House for President Hoover today by Representative Ludlow, Democrat, of Indiana.

The following roads were listed as having agreed to reductions:

Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio, Missouri Pacific, Chicago & Alton, Missouri, Kansas & Texas, St. Louis & San Francisco, Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, Kansas City Southern and Union Pacific.

Mr. Ludlow said the Indiana Farm Bureau had designated an agent in each of forty-five Indiana counties to receive the hay and distribute it directly to the farmers.

Alfred P. Thom, general counsel of the Association of Railway Executives, called at the White House to get the President's views as to the railroads' part in relief work and place them before railroad officials.

Many Call on the President.

Representatives Blackburn, Kendall and Newhall of Kentucky reported to Mr. Hoover regarding drought conditions in Kentucky. Mr. Kendall said the corn crop was a failure, that the tobacco crop would be only 25 per cent of normal and that gardens were "completely gone."

"The situation is going to be very serious," he said, adding that the President had assured the delegation that every agency would be utilized to relieve the situation.

Representative Aswell of Louisiana, another White House caller, recommended to the President that the public building program be speeded up as a means of relieving unemployment resulting from the drought.

The situation in his State was "very bad," Mr. Aswell said, adding it had not rained there in three months. Corn and hay crops were destroyed, the sugar cane crop was six weeks behind and cotton was reduced from one-half to two-thirds.

Senator Caraway of Arkansas returned to the capital today to confer with government and Red Cross officials. He said farmers would be chiefly affected through inability to plant crops for next year and urged that government credit be extended without security.

HOPE IN MISSOURI AND KANSAS

Governor Moody Asks Hoover to Include Texas in Relief.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 11 (AP).—Showers in scattered communities gave hope to drought-stricken Missouri and Kansas. Clouds lingered today, pouring rain on some of the parched fields, but the government forecaster could promise only a possibility of additional moisture.

Moody Wires President.

AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 11 (AP).—Governor Moody telegraphed President Hoover today asking that Texas be included among the States in which it is planned to give Federal assistance to farmers and stockmen.

"Drought conditions in Texas are such as to seriously injure our farming and live stock interests," the Governor said. He offered to furnish detailed information on the situation.

Virginians Called to Help.

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 11 (AP).—A call to every agency of government in the State to lend aid in solution of the drought problem was issued today by Governor Pollard at a conference of heads of State departments and business leaders.

The Governor said the drought was the most severe in the history of the Commonwealth and that, although less spectacular, it was a tragedy comparable to the Mississippi River flood.

Capper Asks Farm Banks to Aid.

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 11 (AP).—Coincident with the calling of a conference by Governor Reed to discuss drought relief measures, Senator Capper today reported to President Hoover that intermediate credit banks and the Federal Farm Board should furnish funds to buy live-stock feed.

ROAD LANDSCAPING HURT.

Drought Killing Newly Planted Trees in Westchester.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, Aug. 11.—The continued drought in Westchester County is seriously injuring the plants and young trees set out by the new Bureau of Forestry, County Engineer MacDonald said today.

Under a new policy, all new county highways are landscaped by the county forestry department under County Forester George Gordon. Planting recently done along Westchester Avenue between White Plains and Port Chester has been hardest hit, Mr. MacDonald reported. The county is spending about $1,500 a mile in landscaping the highways.

Ship Captain Dies in Iraq Heat Wave

BASRA, Iraq, Aug. 11 (AP).—Captain W. Davies of the British steamer Kohistan died today from the effects of the appalling heat now afflicting all Mesopotamia. The mercury went as high as 130 degrees Fahrenheit in the shade last week, but dropped to 115 Saturday. Today the heat came back in full swing.

Heat Wave Grips Portugal.

LISBON, Aug. 11 (AP).—Portugal today was in the grip of a heat wave with maximum temperatures here of 59 centigrade [131.2 degrees Fahrenheit] in the sun and 40 centigrade as the high mark in the shade. A water shortage is threatened. The sun has scorched the wheat fields and is ruining fruit.

Red Cross Reports Pellagra, Typhoid and Other Maladies in South and West.

LIVE STOCK SOLD AT LOSS

Acute Suffering in Fall and Winter Is Expected in Several States, Payne Tells Hoover.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Unemployment, disease and a diminishing food supply are adding to the acuteness of distress in the most arid of the drought-stricken areas, according to reports on conditions in eighteen States made to the American Red Cross headquarters in Washington today by its own field agents and later laid before President Hoover by Judge John Barton Payne, national Red Cross chairman.

Actual suffering has already started among the poorer class of people in the Middle Mississippi and Ohio Valley sections, the reports showed, the indications pointing to a worse situation with the coming of Fall and Winter. The report from Kentucky said that disease now is developing from the lack of water and proper food, and food shortages are in prospect in sections as near Washington as the Shenandoah Valley.

Summary of State Reports.

Chairman Payne made public late this afternoon this summary of the reports from the Red Cross field representatives relative to the drought situation, condition of crops, health conditions due to water shortage and present living conditions of farmers and probable living conditions next Fall and Winter, as of Aug. 8:

Alabama.

Conditions of Crops—Corn is reported as the most seriously affected crop. The State cotton crop is estimated to be 62 per cent normal. Pike, Coffee, Houston, Henry and Calhoun Counties expect good cotton crops.

Health conditions due to water shortage and drought—Newspapers report Athens water supply low. Meteorologist Smythe at Montgomery reports State rivers low but safely above record low marks.

Living conditions of farmers and probable living conditions next Fall and Winter—Reports of suffering received from only one county (i. e., Russell County).

Southern Louisiana.

Conditions of Crops—Cotton will produce half crop. Corn and other feed crops are ruined in highlands but are satisfactory on river bed lands. The cane crop is precarious but will be saved if it rains.

General—No distress as yet on account of the drought. If rain comes the situation will clear up although some families will be in need.

Kentucky.

NORTHEASTERN KENTUCKY.

General—In counties north of and including Fayette, there is absolutely no pasturage, the corn is a failure and the tobacco is in such shape that most farmers are not going to attempt to cut it. There are no gardens and fresh vegetables are more scarce than in Winter. There is no water in the country, and most towns are curtailing the water supply, some to the extent that water is only turned on in the mains during certain hours during each day.

There are acres of land actually burned over and black. There is a heavy sale of cattle, sheep and hogs, also horses, at the lowest prices known for years by people not able to haul water or put stock on Winter feed.

Relief agencies are carrying a heavier caseload than during Winter months. Recently in Carlisle nine carloads of cattle were shipped from there in one day, sold by people who in a number of instances had bought in the Spring at 11 and 12 cents, fed them for five months and sold them for 3 and 4 cents.

SOUTHEASTERN KENTUCKY.

The following counties are chiefly affected: Boyd, Lawrence, Johnson, Martin, Floyd, Pike, Greenup, Magoffin, Elliott, Rowan, Bath, Menifee, Morgan, Montgomery and Carter.

Conditions of Crops—Fifty per cent of early potato crop is lost. The late potato crop is a total loss. The hay crop is a total loss. Seventy-three per cent of the corn crop is lost. There is no stock feed. The pastures are a total loss. There will be no fruit or truck garden produce. In Perry, Letcher, Breathitt, Knott, Lesie, Harlan and Bell Counties 50 per cent of the crops will probably be lost.

Health Conditions Due to Water Shortage and Drought—The streams are dry. The water shortage is alarming. State Board of Health reports that typhoid and dysentery are on the increase, with fear for multiplied cases when the drought is broken.

Possibilities of Farmers Without Crops Securing Other Employment—Unemployment is acute, with practically no chance for work for the farmers.

Present Living Conditions of Farmers and Probable Living Conditions Next Fall and Winter—There is actually suffering now. It is too late to replant and there are no better prospects for the Fall and Winter. Live stock is being sold at a sacrifice and in some cases is even being given away. There is some talk of closing the schools to use funds for relief. County road work has been stopped in order that the funds might be spent for relief.

WESTERN KENTUCKY.

Counties Chiefly Affected—All counties in Western Kentucky are seriously affected, but the counties worst affected are Fulton, Graves, Galloway, Breckenridge, Meade, Grayson, Hardin, Nelson, Spencer, Washington, Shelby and Henry. In Shelby and Henry Counties there is a lack of drinking water and conditions are unusually serious.

Conditions of Crops—From 50 to 80 per cent of corn, hay and garden products is already destroyed, and tobacco, cotton, tomatoes, &c., will follow unless rain comes soon.

Possibilities of Farmers Without Crops Securing Other Employment—No general employment for farmers available unless a State special road-building program is arranged.

Present Living Conditions of Farmers and Probable Living Conditions Next Fall and Winter—Farmers' living conditions are extremely poor, due to the fact that this is the fifth successive year of failure, and unless rains come immediately national aid on large scale will be needed to save lives of people by Fall and Winter. Already there is much general suffering.

General—Most serious aspects of situation are, first, the fact that the country is being denuded of breeding stock, and, second, the fact that the farmers are already exceedingly low financially, so that if the drought continues they will naturally suffer complete collapse.

North Carolina.

General—Only extreme mountainous counties affected and these are not in serious condition as yet. It is generally accepted State has best crops in years.

Tennessee.

EASTERN TENNESSEE.

Counties Chiefly Affected—The following counties are chiefly affected with approximately 80 per cent loss of crops: Union, Warren, Coffee, Polk, Hancock, Scott, Fentress, Morgan, Cumberland, De Kalb, Van Buren, Jackson, Clay, Overton and Pickett. The counties along the rivers are better off than those in the highlands.

Condition of Crops—The chief crops in Eastern Tennessee are corn, wheat, oats, tobacco, hay and vegetables. It is estimated that crop loss in Eastern Tennessee is 50 per cent. In Roane County 75 per cent of the peach crop is lost.

Health Conditions Due to Water Shortage and Drought—So far no health problems have arisen due to the drought, but as streams and springs become dry danger approaches.

Possibility of Farmers Without Crops Securing Other Employment—It is impossible for small farmers in the highlands to find other employment.

Present Living Conditions of Farmers and Probable Living Conditions Next Fall and Winter—Suffering among poor and small farmers is anticipated throughout Eastern Tennessee. There is no great suffering now, but there will be suffering in the Fall and Winter unless food and feed are provided.

South Dakota.

Virginia.

EASTERN VIRGINIA.

Counties Chiefly Affected—Drought condition considered worst in history of State. However, situation in this section of State not acutely serious, although every county is affected by crop shortage.

Condition of Crops—Recent showers have improved conditions. Tobacco is expected to yield 40 per cent of anticipated crop. Corn, hay and grass crops have suffered loss. Truck crops in Eastern Virginia are reported as surviving.

Health Conditions Due to Water and Drought—No apparent health conditions arising from water shortage.

Present Living Conditions of Farmers and Probable Living Conditions Next Fall and Winter—Farmers appear to be able to manage at present without suffering, but indications are living conditions will be worse than usual this Winter.

WESTERN VIRGINIA.

Counties Chiefly Affected—Drought is worst in all sections west of Lynchburg because dry spell has been almost continuous since March in that section.

Condition of Crops—Pittsylvania County had very destructive hailstorm last week, which ruined most of the tobacco crop. Drought and heat have ruined corn crop (which is the principal crop) in the eastern portion of the State, as well as the western.

Health Conditions Due to Water Shortage and Drought—Water shortage and also milk shortage is more acute in the Shenandoah Valley and in the southwestern counties.

Possibility of Farmers Without Crops Securing Other Employment—There is apparently no opportunity for farmers to get other work because the drought has paralyzed industry in rural or semi-rural communities.

Present Living Conditions of Farmers and Probable Living Conditions Next Fall and Winter—No suffering apparent now except for farm animals and wild game, but there is sure to be acute situation later. The present greatest need is feed for animals, principally for dairy cattle.

Arkansas.

Condition of Crops—Arkansas reports general crop loss with exception of cotton, for which the outlook is yet uncertain. There is practically no hay or forage anywhere. The feed shortage is increasing. The truck and garden crops are practically a total loss. A favorable season following heavy rains would permit some late vegetable crops and consequently decrease the food shortage.

Health Conditions Due to Water Shortage and Drought—Health officials report some infantile paralysis, not in epidemic form, but the spread of this disease is aggravated by dry weather. Typhoid cases are numerous especially among Negroes, but are generally unreported. Pellegra reported as increasing in eastern counties, with greater amount predicted in Fall on account of lack of milk and vegetables.

Possibility of Farmers Without crops securing other employment—Preference is given farmers on highway construction, but few jobs are available. Lumber industries are operating short-handed or are closed.

Present Living Conditions of Farmers and Probable Living Condtions Next Fall and Winter—Suffering for food among tenant farmers is beginning and will increase rapidly. Land owners and merchants in all sections report conditions are worst in their experience with severe hardship inevitable especially from November through February. City welfare agencies generally report heavy relief demands with increasing number of farm people.

Florida.

General—Apparently no drought situation in Florida. However, all counties located in Lake Okechobee area and other adjacent counties report almost total crop loss of all types due to high water.

Mississippi.

NORTHERN MISSISSIPPI.

Counties Chiefly Affected—All counties in northern portion of State.

Condition of Crops—Old corn total failure. Young corn has chance for 85 per cent crop if rain comes within ten days. Practically no forage crop for stock feed; 25 per cent decrease in cotton crop, with low price forecast.

Health Conditions Due to Water Shortage and Drought—Pellegra bad in delta section, with some typhoid; otherwise health conditions normal. No serious water shortage yet.

Possibility of Farmers Without Crops Securing Other Employment—No chance for farmers to secure other work, due to industrial depression.

Present Living Conditions of Farmers and Probable Living Conditions Next Fall and Winter—Present living conditions about normal, but there will undoubtedly be suffering this Fall and Winter.

SOUTHERN MISSISSIPPI.

Counties Chiefly Affected—Counties planting mostly cotton affected much less than those depending on feed crops only.

Condition of Crops—Crops destroyed so far are corn and hay.

Health Conditions Due to Water Shortage and Drought—Water shortage no serious problem yet.

Present Living Conditions of Farmers and Probable Living Conditions Next Fall and Winter—Farmers' living conditions are not reduced to point of need (cannot anticipate probable development at this time).

General—The drought situation in Southern Mississippi has not reached serious proportions yet, but status bound to change for worse if no relief soon.

Georgia.

General—Georgia apparently not affected by drought. Albany and Macon are planning to invite farmers in drought areas of other States to ship cattle to their pastures. Crops excellent. Corn reported best in years. Cotton weather good. Better tobacco now is boosting the preliminary low prices of market.

Missouri.

Counties Chiefly Affected—Conditions are reported as generally serious, especially in southern half of State.

Condition of Crops—Practically all cash crops are affected. In the southern half of the State there has been almost a total crop loss, with the exception of cotton, on which the final yield is uncertain. The pastures are destroyed and feed crops are insufficient to carry stock through the Winter.

Health Conditions Due to Water Shortage and Drought—No serious health conditions are reported.

Present Living Conditions of Farmers and Probable Living Conditions Next Fall and Winter—Conditions are approaching an emergency in southern half of State and we are advised that there will be extensive relief needs in the Fall and Winter.

Illinois.

Counties Chiefly Affected—Conditions in northern counties are fairly satisfactory. However, serious conditions are reported in counties south of Springfield.

Condition of Crops—The decrease in crops in northern counties varies from one-third to half. In the counties south of Springfield the corn losses are from 50 per cent to 75 per cent, and other crops are 50 per cent. In these southern counties live stock is reported as being shipped on account of pasture and water.

Health Conditions Due to Water Shortage and Drought—The exhaustion of wells and other sources of drinking water presents serious problem and health hazard.

Present Living Conditions of Farmers and Probable Living Conditions Next Fall and Winter—Serious conditions will probably develop in Southern Illinois during the Winter.

West Virginia.

Counties Chiefly Affected—Jackson, Roane, Mason, Putnam, Cabell and Wayne are the counties chiefly affected.

Conditions of Crops—The percentage of loss in various crops is as follows: Hay crop, 75 per cent; corn and oats, 60 per cent, and wheat, 25 per cent. Pastures are burned up and gardens are a total loss.

Health Conditions Due to Water Shortage and Drought—The city of Spencer in Roane County is reported as having only two weeks' water supply. The fire hazard is great in all places. Health conditions are reported as normal.

Possibility of Farmers Without Crops Securing Other Employment—Present possibilities of farmers securing other employment are slight, although the Department of Agriculture is trying to influence the Governor to start proposed road-building in Putnam and Jackson Counties.

Present Living Conditions of Farmers and Probable Living Conditions Next Fall and Winter—Present living conditions below normal but not acute. Actual suffering may develop this Fall and Winter.

General—If there is a normal rainfall in August the Blue Grass section will come back sufficiently to care for stock needs until Winter.

Kansas.

Counties Chiefly Affected—The drought is serious in the eastern half of Kansas.

Condition of Crops—The corn and pasturage crops are seriously affected. It is estimated that the corn crop will be 60 per cent of normal if rains come within next few days. Cattle-raising region is in serious plight, although the stock is not yet forced upon the market.

Health Conditions Due to Water Shortage and Drought—No unfavorable health conditions yet.

Possibility of Farmers Without Crops Securing Other Employment—Road work and other labor available to farmers in some counties.

Present Living Conditions of Farmers and Probable Living Conditions Next Fall and Winter—Continuation of drought will bring serious conditions.

Montana.

Condition of Crops—It is officially estimated that 50 per cent or more of the crops are destroyed.

Health Conditions Due to Water Shortage and Drought—Health conditions are not yet affected by the drought, but the water shortage creates serious problem for cattle.

Present Living Conditions of Farmers and Probable Living Conditions Next Fall and Winter—Living conditions apparently not affected as yet. No suffering is immediately apparent, but distress is expected to develop later.

Iowa.

Counties Chiefly Affected—The damage is worst in the west half and the southern one-third of the State.

Condition of Crops—Small grains are in good condition. The corn loss is estimated as 20 to 40 per cent. All garden truck is affected.

Health Conditions Due to Water Shortage and Drought—There is no water shortage as yet, but water shortage is anticipated in several southern counties. No health problems to date.

Present Living Conditions of Farmers and Probable Living Conditions Next Fall and Winter—Living conditions are satisfactory now, but renters may need assistance later.

Nebraska.

General—Hopeful outlook is now reported in Nebraska as a result of recent heavy rains, with final crop returns doubtful.

CROP OUTLOOK BAD OVER WIDE AREA

Corn Yield Cut 100,000,000 Bushels Since the End of July.

YEAR WORST SINCE 1901

Department of Agriculture Makes Detailed Report on Prospects for All Yields.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Revelation that the corn crop was likely to be the smallest since 1901 and that crop prospects in general declined nearly 7 per cent during July, due to drought and hot weather, was made today in the Department of Agriculture monthly crop report as of Aug. 1.

The estimated production of corn for 1930 is now put at only 2,212,000,000 bushels. This represents a falling off of 690,000,000 bushels in indicated production in the month.

On July 1 the crop reporting board stated that the indicated production was 2,802,000,000 bushels of corn. The five-year average was 2,700,000,000 for the period 1924-28.

Based on 79 cents a bushel, the average price received by producers of corn in June, the decline of 690,000,000 bushels in the indicated production of corn would mean a loss of $545,000,000 to the farmers if there was no compensating gain by an advance in the price.

Since Aug. 1, the department said in commenting on the report, there has been further deterioration of corn prospects of possibly 100,000,000 bushels due to the continuation of the drought and high temperatures, "indicating a crop for harvest about 25 per cent less than the 1929 crop and about 22 per cent below the five-year average production."

This estimated deterioration of crop prospects of possibly 100,000,000 bushels in the past ten days, when added to the falling off of 590,000,000 bushels in corn prospects between July 1 and Aug. 1, makes a total of 690,000,000 bushels of corn in the forty-one days elapsing since the July 1 crop report was issued.

While the corn crop, which promised on July 1 to be the banner harvest of the year, was hard hit in July, the wheat crop was helped. The 1930 wheat crop is now forecast at 821,000,000 bushels, an increase of 14,000,000 bushels above the July 1 forecast.

A Review of the Situation.

The figures issued by the crop reporting board today were accompanied by the following general review of the situation as of Aug. 1:

"Crop prospects in the United States declined nearly 7 per cent during July as a result of drought and hot weather. A rather wide belt from the Middle Atlantic States westward to the Mississippi Valley has had the driest growing season on record, while the shortage of rainfall for June and July in some South Central States was far greater than for any previous year for which records are available. Temperatures have been abnormally high, with many previous heat records equaled or broken in the Central States and parts of the Southern States.

"On the basis of crop conditions on the 1st of August the crop reporting board of the United States Department of Agriculture estimates that yields per acre will be 5.5 per cent below those secured last year, 9.1 per cent below average yields during the previous ten years and below yields secured in any of the last twenty years except in 1921. Unlike 1921, however, the shortage is chiefly in feed crops.

Corn and Hay Suffer Most.

"The corn crop is expected to be the smallest since 1901. The hay and grain sorghum crops, which, together with corn, make up half of the total acreage of crops, seem likely to be the smallest crops in more than ten years. Prospects for oats and barley have been further reduced by drought in the Dakotas.

"The feed shortage is accentuated by pasture far poorer than in any previous Summer month for fifty years or more, with many farmers already compelled to feed hay and new corn.

"The drought has been felt further north each week as the season progressed and is now affecting New York and Michigan. It is hurting most late fruits and vegetables, except where they are irrigated. It is daily reducing prospects for corn, flaxseed, peanuts, sweet potatoes, tobacco, Eastern beans, Arkansas rice, cotton west of Alabama and various other crops.

"Winter wheat was too far advanced to be hurt by the drought, loss from rain during harvest was negligible and the yield is threshing out above earlier expectations, more than offsetting recent damage caused to Spring wheat.

"The decreased yields are offset by the increased acreage in the case of some crops. Considering both acreage and yield and comparing prospective production this season with average production during the last five years, the indications point to about the usual supply of food crops, but a shortage of feed crops, both grain and hay for feeding.

"The combined production of wheat, rye, rice and buckwheat used chiefly for human food is expected to be less than 1 per cent below the five-year average; beans nearly 21 per cent above, potatoes and sweet potatoes combined, 5 per cent below, and canning pears, sweet corn, tomatoes and string beans for canning combined, about the same as last year and 15 per cent above the previous five-year average, due to increased acreage.

"Commercial vegetables for shipment, including cabbage, onions, tomatoes, melons, &c., will probably show a total somewhat above the five-year average due to general acreage increases that will offset in part the very low production of many home gardens and truck grown for local markets. The condition of fruit crops, including apples, peaches, pears, grapes, citrus fruits, prunes, &c., averages 18 per cent above condition at this time last year, but nearly 10 per cent below the average during the previous ten years.

Feed Grain Outlook Worst in Years.

"The situation in regard to feed crops is markedly different, for the tonnage of corn, oats, barley and grain sorghum now indicated shows a total of 92,942,000 tons, compared with a five-year average of 108,251,000 tons, a reduction of 14.1 per cent.

"The hay crop this year is now estimated at 83,460,000 tons of tame hay and 11,898,000 tons of wild hay, a total of 95,358,000 tons, compared with a five-year average of 107,623,000 tons, a reduction of 11.4 per cent. Considering both feed grains and hay and allowing for some depletion of supplies by early feeding in areas where pastures have failed, it seems probable that the total supply of hay and feed grains on the farms next Fall will be less than in any season since 1911.

"The seriousness of the situation, however, is not in the national total of current prospects, but in the critical condition prevailing in certain States and in the fact that the drought has not as yet been broken except in small areas. The damage from drought has been most serious in the drainage areas of the Ohio and Potomac Rivers, in the central and lower Mississippi Valley and in parts of the northern great plains area. In West Virginia, Kentucky, Arkansas, Montana, Southern Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, much of Missouri and most of Virginia, yields per acre of all crops combined are expected to be below 70 per cent of average yields during the last ten years.

"The only areas where crop yields are expected to be above average are outside the central drought area. These include Wisconsin, New Jersey, New York, New England, the South Atlantic Coast, including Eastern North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, and the Western area including New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, Nevada, Western Colorado, California and Oregon.

"Beneficial showers have helped some droughty sections since Aug. 1, but rainfall so far this month has been generally of a local character, affording relief only in limited areas and that mostly of a temporary character. General heavy rainfall will be required to afford substantial relief and prospects for various late crops have declined since the first of August and will continue to decline until the drought is broken.

Effect on Live Stock Certain.

"The immediate effect of the drought on the production of live stock and live-stock products will be less marked but will extend over a longer period of time. Forced marketing of thin or immature live stock may increase market receipts this season, but decrease supplies later on. Milk production has already been sharply reduced and some further reduction is probable.

"The decreased production per cow is more than offsetting the increased number of cows. During early June production per cow was probably higher than ever before, but on the 1st of August, judging from the reports of crop correspondents, production per cow was 8 per cent below production on that date last year and slightly lower than on that date in any of the last six years for which comparable records are available. Hens also have felt the heat and scarcity of feed, and on Aug. 1 the number of eggs laid per 100 hens was approximately 8 per cent less than on that date last year.

"The effect of the drought on the employment situation is shown by the fact that crop correspondents reported on Aug. 1 that the demand of farmers for farm labor was only 74.3 per cent of normal as compared with 81.4 per cent on July 1 and 88.5 a year ago. The decrease was most marked in the drought-stricken areas, where farmers have very small feed grain and hay crops to harvest and little money with which to employ labor. The demand for farm labor was the lowest reported since these data were first collected in 1918.

"The supply of farm labor in the country as a whole is reported nearly 5 per cent above normal, a slight increase over last month and about 13 points above a year ago. The supply was greatest near those industrial centres where depression is most marked and in the Far West, although industrial unemployed are drifting throughout the entire country in search of jobs.

Commenting on the corn crop prospects the department said:

"Corn crop prospects dropped more than 21 per cent between July 1 and Aug. 1 as a result of the continued severe drought in the Ohio and lower Mississippi Valleys, subnormal rainfall, extremely high temperatures and hot winds which prevailed over the Central States during July.

"The indicated production of corn, as of Aug. 1 this year, of 2,212,000,000 bushels, is the lowest for any year since 1901 when the crop was 1,614,000,000 bushels. A crop such as was indicated by the reported condition on Aug. 1 would be 15 per cent below the crop of 1929, and 18 per cent less than the five-year average (1924-1928) production.

"The yield of 21.8 bushels per acre indicated by the condition as reported by crop correspondents as of Aug. 1, is the lowest since 1901, when it was 17.0 bushels. Other years of low yield per acre were 1894 with 19.3 bushels, 1887 with 20.1 bushels, 1881 with 18.6 bushels and 1874 with 20.7 bushels.

"Further deterioration of corn prospects of possibly 100,000,000 bushels has occurred since Aug. 1, due to continued drought and high temperatures, indicating a crop for harvest about 25 per cent less than the 1929 crop and about 22 per cent below the five-year average production.

"The effects of the drought have been most severe in the States bordering the Ohio and lower Mississippi rivers. The indicated yield of corn is the lowest on record (since 1866), for each of the six States of Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia.

"Missouri has only four years on record, 1913, 1901, 1881 and 1874, when the yield per acre was less than the one now in prospect. The six States of Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia, however, usually produce only about 8 per cent of the total corn of the United States and when Missouri and Maryland are included, these eight States produce about 16 per cent of the usual United States crop.

"Corn prospects in these eight States point to a crop less than half of the five-year average production (1924-1928).

Points to Former Records.

"The corn crop in Southern Ohio, Indiana and Illinois and parts of Oklahoma and Kansas has been seriously damaged by the drought, high temperatures and hot winds during July and early August. Yields per acre of corn in Kansas, however, have been lower than present indications in 1926, 1918, 1916, 1913, 1901, 1894 and 1874, while in Oklahoma lower yields were obtained in 1925, 1918, 1917 and 1911.

"Although drought conditions have been widespread, the more important corn-producing sections of the North Central States still have reasonably good prospects for somewhere near an average crop of corn on Aug. 1, although high temperatures during the first week of August undoubtedly caused further deterioration of corn prospects.

"Local showers in Michigan, Iowa and in Northern Illinois, Indiana and Ohio brought some relief to the crop.

"The prospective corn crop, taking into consideration deterioration since Aug. 1, in the eight South Central States is probably 30 per cent less than the five-year (1924-28) average of production in these States.

"In the five East North Central States a reduction of about 23 per cent, in the seven West North Central States about 21 per cent, in the eight South Atlantic States about 19 per cent and the North Atlantic States 5 per cent may be expected.

Aug. 1 Condition of Crops.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (AP).—The condition on Aug. 1 of the principal crops was announced as follows: Corn, 62.0 per cent of normal; durum wheat, 67.5; other Spring wheat, 60.7; oats, 78.9; barley, 75.7; buckwheat, 71.7; flaxseed, 62.3; rice, 80.3; grain sorghums, 62.6; hay (tame), 69.5; hay (wild), 69.9; pasture, 56.4; beans, 77.3; soy beans, 70.5; peanuts, 69.2; apples, 48.6; peaches, 46.1; pears, 63.1; grapes, 85.5; potatoes, 75.9; sweet potatoes, 65.1; tobacco, 64.4; sugar beets, 85.2; broom corn, 71.8; hops, 73.0.

The total production of other crops, as indicated by their condition on Aug. 1, with their indicated production as of July 1 this year and their final production last year follows in bushels unless otherwise stated:

Crop.	Indicated Aug. 1.	Indicated July 1.	Last Year.
Barley—	306,000,000	332,000,000	304,000,000
Rye—	46,700,000	47,900,000	40,500,000
Buckwheat—	11,100,000	....	11,500,000
Flaxseed—	36,000,000	30,100,000	16,800,000

Comparison With Previous Years.

The condition and indicated yield of corn, as estimated yesterday by the government in its report on that crop for the season of 1929, compare as follows with the estimates of Aug. 1, 1929, and Aug. 1, 1928:

	Aug. 1, 1930.	Aug. 1, 1929.	Aug. 1, 1928.
Condition—	62.0	78.8	83.3
Crop (bu.)—	2,211,823,000	2,740,514,000	3,029,561,000

In the following table comparisons for a longer period of years are given, the figures of yield for the years prior to 1930 being those of the actual harvest:

Year.	Condition.	Acreage.	Crop (bu.)
1929	78.8	98,333,000	2,622,189,000
1928	83.3	102,350,000	2,839,959,000
1926	72.5	99,492,000	2,645,030,000
1925	79.8	101,359,000	2,916,961,000
1924	70.7	100,863,000	2,309,414,000
1922	85.6	102,846,000	2,906,020,000
1921	84.3	103,740,000	3,068,569,000
1920	86.7	101,699,000	3,230,532,000
1919	81.7	97,170,000	2,816,318,000

The government's estimate of acreage and indicated yield for Winter wheat compare as follows with the similar estimate of one month ago and of one year ago:

	Aug. 1, '30.	July 1, '30.	Aug. 1, '29.
Indicated crop (bu.)	597,392,000	557,719,000	568,233,000

In the following table the acreage and estimated yield of Winter wheat, with the July condition, are compared with the actual harvest figures in previous years:

	Condition.	Acreage.	Crop (bu.)
1930	73.8	38,676,000	597,392,000
1929	75.9	40,162,000	578,336,000
1928	75.0	35,858,000	578,673,000
1926	77.4	36,913,000	627,433,000
1925	65.9	31,234,000	401,734,000
1924	77.9	35,489,000	592,259,000
1923	76.8	39,548,000	571,059,000
1921	77.2	43,414,000	600,316,000
1920	79.7	40,016,000	619,507,000
1919	90.0	50,494,000	760,677,000
1918	79.5	37,130,000	565,099,000
1917	75.9	27,257,000	412,901,000
1916	75.7	34,829,000	480,553,000

Condition, acreage and indicated yield of Spring wheat, as given out yesterday by the government in its report on that crop for the season of 1929 (production including durum wheat—four States) compare as follows with the estimates of the corresponding date in the past two years:

	Aug. 1, 1930.	Aug. 1, 1929.	Aug. 1, 1928.
Acreage	20,534,000	20,871,000	19,932,000
Crop (bu.)	223,222,000	205,652,000	312,693,000

Forecast for durum wheat alone was 48,290,000 bushels, compared with 56,866,000 a month ago and 49,263,000 bushels a year ago. Conditions of durum wheat was 67.5, as against 81.1 a month ago and 56.7 a year ago.

In the following table the comparison for a longer series of years is given. Except for 1930 the figures of yields represent the actual final outcome of the harvest:

	Condition.	Acreage.	Crop (bu.)
1930	60.7	20,534,000	223,222,000
1929	56.2	20,871,000	228,172,000
1928	81.8	19,932,000	336,203,000
1927	86.4	20,313,000	325,627,000
1926	60.2	19,613,000	205,376,000
1925	73.9	21,021,000	203,607,000
1924	79.7	16,875,000	274,695,000
1923	69.6	20,141,000	272,169,000
1921	66.6	20,282,000	214,589,000
1920	73.4	21,127,000	222,439,000
1919	53.9	25,200,000	207,602,000
1918	79.6	22,051,000	356,339,000
1916	63.4	17,958,000	155,765,000

1914	75.5	17,533,000	206,027,000

Adding together the estimates of Spring and Winter wheat, the total indicated yield of wheat this year compares as follows with the actual yield of other years:

	Acreage.	Bushels.
1929	60,756,000	806,508,000

GERMANY OBSERVES BIRTH OF REPUBLIC

Hindenburg Is Centre of Fete in Reichstag Hall on Eleventh Anniversary of Constitution.

WIRTH HAILS DEMOCRACY

Ex-Chancellor Asserts Anything Else Would Be Intolerable After Convulsions of War.

BIDS YOUTH SHUN EXTREMES

President Is Cheered by American Tourists—Fascists Fail in Effort to Break Up Parade.

By GUIDO ENDERIS.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Aug. 11.—President von Hindenburg was again the outstanding figure in today's official ceremonies in commemoration of the eleventh anniversary of the Weimar Constitution. He motored to the Reichstag shortly before noon, where he occupied the former Imperial box in the diplomatic gallery, while the Chancellor, Dr. Heinrich Bruening, and Dr. Joseph Wirth, Minister of the Interior and former Chancellor, from the Speaker's desk, appealed to the nation to abandon political internecine strife and join hands in the common labor of fortifying the young repbulic in its political liberties.

At the conclusion of the formal program, the President reviewed an honor company of the Reichswehr on the Reichstag Square, where he was cheered by a crowd of 20,000 as he emerged through the west portal of the building. He paced briskly down the row of steel-helmeted infantrymen, each of whom received a searching glance of inspection from the former Field Marshal, who still attends to such matters with his old-time military precision.

Cheered by Americans.

President von Hindenburg probably did not realize that in the course of his ride to and from the Reichstag he was cheered by thousands of American tourists, who promptly seized upon one of the few opportunities of seeing the legendary President of the republic motoring in the streets of Berlin. He left tonight for his annual holiday in the Bavarian highlands, where he will take walks and hunt chamoix.

"Any other form of government than a democracy would be intolerable to the German people after the convulsions of the World War," Dr. Wirth exclaimed in the course of his festival oration, whose appeal was especially addressed to German youth. The state of flux which is now characteristic of the German party system, he believed, was the result of the pressure of democracy and must eventually demonstrate whether it can produce parliamentary majorities which will function without friction.

"The problem of coordinating and organizing the political liberties conferred on the citizens by the Republican constitution of Weimar has not yet been completely solved and we must still find an answer to the question of how these far-reaching individual liberties can be devoted to producing firm government leadership," Dr. Wirth continued. "This is the foremost internal problem confronting us in the existing situation of economic depression. It is the kernel of a complexity of problems and compels us to explore the available resources at the disposal of the young democracy which will enable us to pass through the fiery ordeal which the present epoch subjects us to.

Appeals Against Radicalism.

"We are observing Constitution Day because it is a reminder that the German nation has found the right and duty of self-determination and because it is a wonderful occasion for the nation to proclaim itself a free people, one worthy of its traditions and its culture."

Appealing to the younger generation to eschew radicalism, Dr. Wirth said:

"To me it is unnatural yet wholly comprehensible if present-day youth demands a leadership which has become mechanized in systems of dictatorship. I fully comprehend the admiration bestowed on the energy and on the political intelligence of the new Roman dictator. I also understand the astonishment evoked by the power of the American captains of industry, which is so impressively epitomized in the skyscrapers of New York, and I also appreciate why one permits himself to be made captive through the revolutionary anti-capitalistic forward rush of Lenin.

"But the functions of a dictator as a political individual or system, whether it be the economic dictatorship of Bolshevism or Fascism, are something quite different and must inevitably suggest a grave political menace to the individual, politically at least. If German youth today seems to dream of Bolshevism and Fascism it may be from a desire to shake off the dictatorship of the victors of Versailles, perhaps because it is disgusted with our Reichstag and, maybe, because it has not yet been able to make up its own mind."

Urges Tolerance Upon Youth.

The aversion shown for democracy by a part of German youth, Dr. Wirth believed, may be accounted for in the preponderance of mechanical and formalistic elements in the new democracy, which therefore offers the serious-minded political individual only a meager refuge.

Appealing to the young voter, Dr. Wirth declared:

"Do not stand sullenly aside if the political physiognomy of the German Parliament fails to reflect pleasant features. Do not be intolerant, and, above all, do not affect a superiority complex. Those who brought the Fatherland back out of the wreck of the war truly do not deserve to be snubbed, and their desire and ambition to create conditions which will make possible the attainment of new political ideals is no less active and sincere than was their concern over regaining external freedom for the Fatherland."

Chancellor Bruening, who followed Dr. Wirth with a brief address, declared that Constitution Day suggested the need for unity and cooperation in the present critical economic situation and faith in the future, especially as the campaign for the Reichstag election had already been marked with an unhappy display of recriminations and discord. All hands, he said, were needed for building up and strengthening the republic and none who were actuated by sincere motives would be excluded.

Cheers Given for Republic.

The Chancellor then proposed three cheers for the republic, following which the audience, which completely filled the chamber of the Reichstag and its galleries, disbanded with the singing of the Deutschland anthem.

Today's observance of Constitution Day again amply reflected the flow of conflicting political emotions which continue to keep German democracy in a state of ferment. Outwardly the existing dissonances were visible on the housetops, where the usual medley of flags revealed hostility to the Republican colors adopted at Weimar. While the latter predominated, there was a liberal sprinkling of the old imperial black, white and red. Those compromising flew the black and white bunting of Prussia, while most of the restaurants which cater to a mixed clientele sought refuge behind their house flags, a practice which has been pretty generally adhered to since the flag question began to embarass numerous wavering citizens.

As yet Constitution Day chiefly continues to be a holiday for the Government, leaving the masses largely inert.

A faded bit of historic bunting hung over the Speaker's stand in the Reichstag today. It was the red, black and gold flag which fluttered from the masthead of Hambach Castle in Neustadt in the Palatinate in 1832. It was run up by the insurgent Johann George Wirtn, one of the original Republicans of Germany, but although he was acclaimed by 20,000 fellow liberals he was punished with imprisonment and banishment. He was a delegate to the historic liberal parliament at St. Paul's Church in Frankfurt in 1848.

Papers Are Critical.

With the exception of the Liberal and Socialist newspapers, the bulk of the press editorially either ignores today's anniversary or launches oft-repeated diatribes against the charter of Weimar.

"The Constitution of Weimar is no excuse for a national holiday," says the Hamburger Nachrichten, which designates the festivities as "artificial and foreign to the hearts of the people." It calls the Constitution "a makeshift produced under the pressure of Germany's foes from the outside and that of the Spartacists at home who sought to establish a dictatorship of the proletariat," but the Socialists, it admits, prevented such a contingency by joining with the Bourgeouis parties at the critical moment. Nevertheless, says the Hamburg organ, the present Constitution is only a compromise.

To the Mining Gazette of Essen, the organ of the big industrialists, a return to "constitutionalism" is Germany's only salvation. A constitutional republic, it asserts, is the best form of government for Germany. If such a conception of democracy does not yet exist, it must be created, says the Mining Gazette, asserting that such a form of government would insure a simon-pure democracy and put an end to the Socialistic experimentation now being indulged in at the expense of capital, industry and private property.

A dictatorship is just as unsuited to Germany's needs as the present pseudo-democracy, in the opinion of this newspaper, which sees the only escape in the adoption of a rigid "constitutionalism."

Germans Here Celebrate.

Two thousand enthusiastic Germans and German-Americans celebrated Germany's Constitution Day last night at the Liederkranz, 111 East Fifty-eighth Street, with songs and cheers for the picture of President von Hindenburg. Dr. Gustav Heuser, acting German Consul-General here, was the principal speaker.

Fascists Fail to Split Parade.

BERLIN, Aug. 11 (AP).—Fascists tonight attempted to break up a monster torchlight parade of German Republican organizations celebrating the eleventh anniversary of the Constitution.

Many thousands were in line when the parade reached the square facing the former imperial castle. Suddenly a band of Fascists carrying Republican flags as a disguise tried to wedge themselves into the dense throng.

They raised their war-cry on partly succeeding in splitting the parade, but the angry Republicans speedily jostled them aside. The Fascists were rescued by police, who arrested fiften of them. The parade then continued to the square in front of the Reichstag.

Jersey Commission Tells Freeholders $5,000,000 Will Be Allotted.

Special to The New York Times.

LAKE HOPATCONG, Aug. 11.—The Jersey State Freeholders Association, at its monthly meeting today at Bertrand Island Park, received the assurance of the State Highway Commission that in the event of the passage of the $150,000,000 bond issue in November, the commission plans to place $1,000,000 of this in the allotment to the counties, making $5,000,000 instead of $4,000,000 to be alloted for county projects.

Nearly 200 were present. Fletcher Fritts, director of the Morris County Board of Freeholders and president of the Sate organization, presided. Senator Frank D. Abell of Morris County welcomed the guests.

FESS PROMISES AID FOR ALL NOMINEES

Republican Chairman, After Seeing Hoover, Says Committee Will Disregard Factions.

"NEBRASKA NO EXCEPTION"

Executive's Achievements Will Be Issue, He Adds, but President Won't Be Active in Campaign.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The Republican National Committee will support any Republican candidate selected in a primary, no matter to what faction he might belong, said Senator Fess, chairman of the committee, after a conference today with President Hoover.

Senator Fess was asked specifically if this would apply to Senator Norris of Nebraska, the Progressive who supported Alfred E. Smith in the 1928 Presidential campaign and who also has been classed by Republican regulars as being in the "wild jackass" group of Westerners.

"Nebraska is no exception," he replied. "The committee's business is to elect, not to select. We are not particularly interested in the primaries. When Republicans select a candidate, I'd feel it my duty as chairman to support the nominee. The committee will aid every nominee."

Hoover as an Issue, but Inactive.

President Hoover and his achievements will be an issue, Senator Fess said, but he added that he did not think that the President would take an active part in the campaign.

Asked if President Hoover's letter supporting Representative Reece in the Tennessee Republican primary constituted a precedent, he replied: "No, I don't think so. That was a peculiar situation. I do not know how much part the President should play in the campaign. I do not think much. I would go very slow on that."

Senator Fess said that he had not asked President Hoover to make any radio speech in the campaign, as has been suggested.

"We will take the party platform and show what Mr. Hoover recommended and what he has done," Senator Fess said. "I do not believe there will be any foreign relations issue, because the Democrats are joined with us on that. The same thing applies to the farm situation.

"I do not think the World Court will be brought in, because you cannot make an issue where each party is divided on the subject. Likewise I do not see how prohibition can be made a party issue, for the same reason. We will, however, take a decided stand on enforcement, aside from the merits of prohibition itself."

Nutt to Control Finances.

Senator Fess asserted that Joseph R. Nutt, treasurer of the national organization, would exercise "primary" control of the finances, meaning that Senator Moses, chairman of the Senatorial Campaign Committee, and Representative Wood, chairman of the Congressional Campaign Committee, would have to obtain their funds from Mr. Nutt, instead of being able to control them independently as in the past.

Senator Fess also conferred today with Walter H. Newton, President Hoover's legislative secretary, and then left for his home in Yellow Springs, Ohio, preparatory to a ten-day tour of the Great Lakes for rest and recreation.

"Afterward I will be back here, ready to start a vigorous campaign," he said.

The Senator intends to travel around the country to get acquainted with the details of Senate and House campaigns, but he expects to make few, if any, speeches, saying that he would do "no barnstorming."

Democrat Takes Tariff "Dare."

Representative Kincheloe of Kentucky declared this afternoon that the Democratic party would accept the "challenge" by Senator Fess to make the "Grundy tariff" the campaign's leading issue. Terming the "challenge" a "trifle tardy," Mr. Kincheloe quoted Chairman Shouse of the executive committee of the Democratic National Committee as having said in June that the tariff would be the real issue.

"Senator Fess seems to have forgotten the lesson he and his party should have learned in the campaign of 1910 when the Payne-Aldrich bill was the dominant issue, and the result was a very comfortable majority for the Democrats in the House, Representative Kincheloe said.

"So Senator Fess can rest assured that the Democratic Party will take his 'dare' and go to the country on the tariff issue."

NETHERLANDS ACCEDES TO ARBITRATION PACT

Accepts All of General Act but Provision for Obligatory Submission of Disputes.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

GENEVA, Aug. 11.—The Netherlands deposited with the League of Nations Secretariat today its accession to the general act for the peaceful settlement of all disputes, the most far-reaching international instrument the League has yet evolved. It provides the machinery for the compulsory settlement of quarrels by conciliation or a world court for arbitration.

The Netherlands' adherence, like that of Sweden, applies to the whole act except the chapter providing for obligatory arbitration. Three States, Belgium, Denmark and Norway, have accepted the entire act, and the French Chamber of Deputies likewise has accepted it completely, but the French Senate has not yet ratified the Chamber's action.

BARS AMERICAN DIVORCES.

Poland Refuses to Recognize Those for Persons Married There.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WARSAW, Aug. 11.—Divorces granted in America will have no legal effect here, Poland's Supreme Court ruled today.

The Polish courts are the sole authority for dissolving marriages made in Poland, the ruling said, and the opinion is of great importance to at least 10,000 Polish women, who, owing to immigration restrictions, cannot join their husbands in the United States. It frequently occurs that men obtain divorces in America from their absent wives, whom the Polish Supreme Court desires to protect.

LOYALTY TO PARTY ISSUE IN NEBRASKA

Senator Norris Seeks Renomination Today—Woman Is Candidate on Democratic Side.

DRY LAW FIGHT IN OHIO

Repeal Advocate and Modificationists Active in State-Wide Campaign.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 11 (AP).—"For Hoover or not for Hoover" was the cry which reverberated across the plains of Nebraska tonight as the State's most bitterly fought Senatorial primary campaign came to a close.

Political observers saw in tomorrow's primary a test of the Hoover Administration strength in the farm belt and predicted a record vote.

George W. Norris, senior Nebraska Senator and veteran campaigner, seeking the Republican nomination, stumped the State denouncing the tariff, assailing what he termed the "power trust" and criticizing administration farm-relief measures.

His opponent, W. M. Stebbins, pleaded with equal vigor for a return to a "two-party system," attacked Mr. Norris for failure to cooperate with the Hoover Administration and pledged himself to party regularity.

Conservative Republicans, backing Mr. Stebbins, have charged that because Mr. Norris supported Alfred Smith two years ago he had ostracized himself from the Republican ranks.

On the Democratic Senatorial ticket is Dr. Jennie M. Callfas, a prohibitionist and former Democrat National Committeewoman, who in 1928 deserted her party to support Herbert Hoover in the Presidential campaign. She is opposed by Gilbert M. Hitchcock, former Senator from Nebraska.

Dry Law a Factor in Ohio.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 11 (AP).—A primary campaign marked by the bringing to the fore of the prohibition issue will end in Ohio tomorrow when Democrats and Republicans say it with ballots in choosing their standard-bearers for the November election.

A light vote was expected in the nominating election for Senatorial, State, Congressional and county offices.

The "wet and dry" question was injected into the contest between five men for the Democratic Senatorial nomination, one of whom has advocated repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, another taking a stand for modification, two candidates remaining silent and another considered dry.

Heflin Fight Is Alabama Feature.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 11 (AP).—Alabama Democrats tomorrow will select their nominees for every office from United States Senator to constable under conditions which make the size of the vote as much of a focus of general interest as the division in any one race.

The situation was created by the independent campaign of Senator J. Thomas Heflin and Hugh A. Locke of Birmingham, candidates, respectively, for renomination and for Governor, who have stumped the State asking their supporters to stay out of the Democratic primary.

Both were barred from participating as candidates in the primary on account of their opposition in 1928 to Alfred E. Smith.

Tomorrow will see Alabama's first State-wide primary since the State came within 7,000 votes of going for Hoover.

Robinson Opposed in Arkansas.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 11 (AP).—An attempt to unseat the veteran Congressional leader, Senator Joe T. Robinson, and a four-cornered Gubernatorial contest featured the campaign which closed tonight for Democratic nominations in tomorrow's biennial State primary.

The total vote is expected to be more than 225,000. The Democratic nomination is considered equivalent to election in State, district and nearly all country races.

The race between the Senate minority leader and his first primary opponent in twelve years, Tom W. Campbell, a Little Rock lawyer, developed into a heated affair during the last two weeks. Mr. Campbell attacked Senator Robinson's record on prohibition, power legislation and farm relief.

Gore a Candidate in Oklahoma.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 11 (AP).—Oklahoma Democrats emerged from a brief campaign of biting personal attacks tonight to ponder their choice at the run-off primary tomorrow of nominees for Governor and United States Senator.

Seeking the Gubernatorial nomination are Frank Buttram, an Oklahoma City oil man, who campaigned for a "sane" business administration and free textbooks for school children, and William Henry (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, stormy petrel of politics since Indian Territory days, who says he would aid the drought ridden farmer by increasing the tax on the rich.

In the contest for the Democratic Gubernatorial nomination, another oil man, C. J. Wrightsman of Tulsa, opposes Thomas P. Gore, who although sightless, sat in the Senate for thirteen years from Statehood.

TO QUIZ GROCER RIVAL OF SENATOR NORRIS

Nye Committee Going to Nebraska —Candidacy Not in Good Faith, Chairman Says.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—An investigation into the candidacy of George W. Norris, Broken Bow grocer, against Senator George W. Norris in the Republican Senatorial primary will be begun in Nebraska on Sept. 1, the Nye campaign fund investigating committee announced today.

The place of the hearings, which will be conducted by Senators Nye, Dale and probably Wagner, will be determined later. It was stated at committee headquarters that charges made in Nebraska criticizing the committee were answered by Senator Nye as follows:

"The charges of prejudice are baseless and the committee will be able as a result of the scheduled hearings to demonstrate that it is not true that George W. Norris of Broken Bow was a candidate as a result of his own, or lone, choosing and will be able to prove that others were instrumental in causing him to announce himself a candidate for the Senate and that his candidacy was not one in good faith."

After the Nebraska hearings the committee will reconvene in Chicago, about Sept. 8, to continue its inquiry into the McCormick-Deneen contest.

DIES SAVING BROTHER IN PATH OF TRAIN

Boy, 13, Pushes Him Off Trestle and Is Mortally Hurt in Plunge Into Hackensack River.

Special to The New York Times.

PASSAIC, N. J., Aug. 11.—After pushing his younger brother out of the path of an Erie express train on a trestle over the Hackensack River tonight, Robert Brelle, 13 years old, of 630 Palisades Avenue, Jersey City, jumped into the river, was rescued suffering from a fractured skull and a broken leg and brought to the hospital in this city, where he died shortly afterward.

The bridge tender, Raymond Wiley, saw Robert and his brother, Arthur, walking across the trestle, but did not have time to shout a warning that the express train was coming behind them. Robert just had time to push Arthur over to the other track and drop through the space between the ties when the express train passed the spot.

In plunging to the river Robert struck a concrete support of the trestle. The bridge tender flagged the train and a passenger, Walter Sinski of 171 Jackson Street, Passaic, seeing Robert clinging dazedly to the bridge support, dived to his assistance, and the two were hauled up to the trestle by ropes. Robert and his brother, who was unhurt, were taken aboard the train, which speeded to Passaic. Word having been telegraphed ahead, a police ambulance awaited Robert at the Passaic Station, whence he was conveyed to St. Mary's Hospital. Efforts to save his life were unavailing.

Quits Treasury After 67 Years.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (AP).—Edmund E. Schreiner of Pennsylvania, who has supervised the destruction of $13,000,000,000 worth of bills and banknotes, retired today after sixty-seven years in the government service. He is 83 years old and served as superintendent of the treasury's currency redemption division. He was an usher at Ford's Theatre the night Lincoln was assassinated, but had gone home when the President was fatally wounded.

wanted it done. Other men were working about the presses and in the store and salesroom below, at 120, Mrs. Leff was about to cash a check for I. W. Godnick, 32, of Woodmere, L. I., president of the New York Twine Company, with offices just across the street. Irving Rubbin, 30, of 260 Barrow Street, Jersey City, was also in the store, together with some employes of the plant.

The pile of brickwork and beams falling from three stories above them smashed through the roof of the printing plant as if it were papier-mâché. Godnick said that he was swept into the cellar by the landslide of débris and found himself buried next to Mrs. Leff. Occasional loose bricks and bits of plaster and mortar fell about him, but he was protected, together with Mrs. Leff, by a piece of roofing tin. A half-hour passed before Godnick was dug out with Rubbin by Fireman Edward Leonard of Hook and Ladder 20. Godnick managed to guide rescuers to him by poking a splintered piece of wood through a coal grating in the pavement. He was practically uninjured, though his clothes were covered with plaster and dust. Rubbin suffered slight abrasions and contusions. Mrs. Leff was rescued a little later by Bela Varga of 1,332 Pugsley Avenue, a fireman in Rescue Company 1. Varga's helmet was swept from his head, and he suffered a laceration of the scalp as a shower of brick fell from the crumbling walls of 118. He was treated by ambulance surgeons and was sent home. Mrs. Laff's escape was described as miraculous, and her courage while firemen were digging for her was highly praised by Dr. Archer, Fire Department surgeon, who treated her for an abrasion of the nose, her only injury. She was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital.

Escape Through Trapdoor.

Leff and two of his aides missed most of the landslide and made their escape through a trapdoor into a building at 128 Wooster Street. Leff was uninjured, Signorelli sustained a dislocation of the left hip and Lucca was bruised. Others who were injured included:

HERBERT CARROLL, 22, 37-03 Sixty-ninth Street, Woodside, L. I., a deaf-mute and an employe of the printing concern; contusion of the back and a sprained right elbow.

JACK KROCHMAN, 16, 938 Intervale Avenue, employe; abrasion of the eye and shoulder.

MICHAEL MONTAENINO, 28, 126 Elizabeth Street, employe; wrist may be fractured.

MURRAY SCHREIBER, 19, 2,537 Valentine Avenue; bruises and abrasions; a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Leff.

Mailina's body was not found until two hours after the explosion, when firemen still at the scene noticed his feet dangling in a pile of débris, just above what had been the salesroom on the first floor. The body was identified by August Mailina, the boy's father. William Mazer of 8,745 Twenty-first Street, Brooklyn, had a narrow escape. His car was parked just in front of 118 and he was about to go out to it, after having finished some business in 116, when the explosion occurred. A pile of débris flattened the hood and top and literally smashed the car to pieces.

The explosion, though violent, shattered no windows in the neighborhood, but in an adjacent five-story building fronting on Wooster Street a score of employes were thrown from their feet by the shock. The fire which followed the explosion was quickly extinguished by firemen acting under Assistant Chief Thomas Dougherty. The damage was estimated by building inspectors as about $30,000.

Police Commissioner Mulrooney and Chief Inspector John O'Brien came to the scene and polce reserves fom the Beach, Mercer and Charles Street stations were called out. Four ambulances esponded and an emergency hospital at which most of the injured were treated was established in a building across the street from the explosion.

Huge portions of the front wall of 120 and some of the débris from 118 partially blocked Prince Street, and long after the explosion firemen were busy in pulling down the bulging brick section and leveling the shaky remaining portions of the wreckage. Traffic was blocked for several hours along Prince Steet, Wooster Street, West Broadway, Mercer, Spring and Greene Steets.

BODANZKY'S SON DIES FROM AUTO INJURIES

Opera Conductor's Only Boy Is Victim of Upset Near Watertown, N. Y.—Parents Are Abroad.

Special to The New York Times.

WATERTOWN, N. Y. (Tuesday), Aug. 12.—Arthur Bodanzky Jr., 18 years old, only son of Arthur Bodanzky, the Metropolitan Opera conductor, died in the hospital here at 12:40 A. M. today of injuries received a week ago in an automobile mishap.

The boy's father and mother and his sister, Lisa, who is 20 years old, are in Europe.

Arthur, who has been spending his vacation near here with two school chums from the Morristown (N. J.) High School, was unconscious for days after the accident. He and his chums were rounding a sharp corner in their automobile when the car overturned, and the maestro's son was thrown out. He was rushed to the Good Samaritan Hospital here.

Artur Bodanzky, the conductor, a native of Vienna, came to this country in 1915 to assume his position with the Metropolitan Opera Company. Since 1916 he has been also conductor for the Society of Friends of Music. His New York City home is at 315 West 100th Street. Word of his son's death was cabled to him by friends.

NEW BRIDGES BOOM TRAFFIC ON BORDER

Commissioner Eble Says Customs Men Made 46,000,000 Examinations in Year.

PLANES BECOME A FACTOR

Substantial Increases in Motor Car and Steamer Travel Are Reported Also.

BAN PUT ON DISCOURTESY

In Radio Talk He Praises Officials for Efficiency—Tells of Balking Smugglers.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Customs officials made 46,000,000 examinations of persons entering the United States from Canada and Mexico by automobile and boat during the past fiscal year, Commissioner Eble stated tonight in a radio talk delivered over the network of the National Broadcasting Company. He emphasized the fact that both automobile and airplane had become increasingly important factors in international transportation.

"The use of the airplane," he said, "is constantly expanding and numerous airports of entry have been designated. At present there are fourteen airports of entry along the Canadian border and seven along the Mexican border, where airplane traffic is handled by customs and immigration officers.

"The owner of an airplane arriving at any point in the United States not designated an airport by the Inter-departmental Committee on Airports, is subject to a penalty."

Many new and improved highways have been constructed in the past decade with the result, Mr. Eble asserted, that over 12,000,000 automobiles crossed the international boundaries into the United States during the year ended June 30 last. Individual arrivals by this means alone reached 34,615,592.

114,000 Cars at Detroit in Month.

In addition to the vehicular traffic by highway, a substantial number of travelers came into the country by means of ferries, lake and river steamers. Approximately 11,500,000 entrances were made in this way.

"Some idea of the vast amount of automobile traffic may be had by noting the travel over the Ambassador Bridge at Detroit," Mr. Eble said. "Last month more than 114,000 cars crossed this bridge into the United States. On Sundays and holidays automobiles arrive over this bridge in a constant stream for hours. At such times approximately 118 cars are inspected and passed every ten minutes.

"At this bridge, which is one of the most modern of its kind in the world, twelve lanes of incoming traffic are handled simultaneously."

"The greatest amount of highway traffic entering the United States, however, is handled at the Peace Bridge at Buffalo, N. Y. This bridge is one and one-half miles long, and at the present time over 16,000 automobiles use it daily. More than 8,000 automobiles carrying upward of 30,000 passengers daily require customs examination.

"To handle this task, the customs service has stationed at the American end of Peace Bridge a force of thoroughly trained inspectors sufficient to handle a peak load of 1,800 automobiles per hour.

Explains Customs Regulations.

"It is indeed a source of gratification that of this enormous volume of traffic, which last year was in excess of 1,500,000 automobiles and 4,500,000 people, very few complaints of improper treatment or conduct on the part of customs officers were received.

"Customs officers are not infallible. They are human and at times when they are overworked they are liable to forget themselves.

"Discourtesy to the traveling public, however, will not be tolerated. Officers of the customs service are taught to realize that our organization is not alone a revenue-collecting branch of the government, but also a public institution."

Mr. Eble insisted that American tourists with automobiles going into Canada or Mexico need feel no apprehension over the customs requirements to be met upon returning.

"When entering the United States from Canada or Mexico," he explained, "the traveler is only required to produce his home State automobile registration card. If the automobile is of American manufacture and brought back by the same person who took it out of the country no further requirements are necessary.

"As every car in each lane reaches the inspection booth it is inspected inside and out, and if no contraband is found or further examination is necessary it is passed through.

Describes Rum Smugglers' Ruses.

"In those cases where the presence of contraband is suspected or where unusual equipment is noticed, such cars are sent to the inspection centre and are driven over mirrors or reflectors, which clearly reveal every mechanical feature underneath the car. Often false compartments are found attached to bottoms of cars, usually containing a dozen or so bottles of liquor."

Mr. Eble said many devices are employed by travelers hoping to bring in liquor but that customs officers have been so "alert and adept" in locating these places of concealment that the practice is gradually falling off.

"In one instance," M. Eble asserted, "a clever young man attemped to bring in sixteen quarts of liquor, with which he hoped to entertain his friends later on. To do so he utilized the services of two spare tires on the rear of his car.

"The tubes in the tires were split and eight bottles of liquor concealed in each. A patch was then placed on the tubes and the wires inflated.

"In another instance a man and woman arrived at border port and drove up to the customs station. He explained that the lady was suffering from lumbago and hoped the inspection could be made while she remained in the car, as it was very painful for her to move.

"The officer informed the man that inspection could not very well be made unless the lady stepped out of the car.

For Unified Patrol.

"Her awkward movements suggested anything but lumbago. It only remained for the officer to suggest to her that perhaps she would care to go to the custom house and unburden herself of any contraband she might be carrying. She did.

"She went into the office, removed two quarts of liquor from pockets inside of her skirt and left the necessary fine.

"It is somewhat shocking to find that an apparently refined young woman has been smuggling by using her aged father and mother to conceal several bottles of liquor on their persons, or that a clergyman with the garb and all the dignity and poise of a most devout Christian is, in fact, a rum-runner. The clergyman's garb in this instance was merely a guise under which the individual hoped to smuggle his goods into the country."

Mr. Eble said about 700 inspectors are located at the various ports of entry along the borders, and in addition, 600 patrol officers constantly patrol the international highways at the borders as well as the river and lake fronts.

"There is now pending before the Congress," he concluded, "a bill that, if enacted, will create a unified border patrol. At present, immigration officers, as well as officers of the Department of Agriculture, function at border ports in addition to customs officers.

"It is proposed to place the enforcement of all these laws under the jurisdiction of one Federal agency, thereby expediting the movement of individuals across the line and providing a better enforcement of the laws."

Fund Benjamin Franklin Left Is Subject of Bay State Suit

BOSTON, Aug. 11 (AP).—The Supreme Court was asked today to decide in whom the management of a fund left by Benjamin Franklin for the benefit of "the inhabitants of the town of Boston" is invested. The fund, provided for in Franklin's will, now amounts to $458,846.

The petition was brought by the city of Boston through its treasurer, Edmund L. Dolan. It was the outgrowth of instructions given Mr. Dolan by Charles E. Cottong, treasurer of the Franklin Foundation, concerning the handling of the fund. Other questions growing out of the general situation were submitted for decision.

Besides the Franklin fund, the court was asked to decide on the custody of the so-called Carnegie fund. This fund, $408,000 in United States Steel bonds, was given to the city in 1906 by Andrew Carnegie.

Respondents named in the petition included Mayor James M. Curley, Joseph E. Warner, Attorney General, and the board of managers of the Franklin fund.

Jersey Boy, 18, Plans Start Tomorrow, Attempting Speed Record.

Special to The New York Times.

WESTFIELD, N. J., Aug. 11.—Weather permitting, Eddie Schneider, 18-year-old, Jersey City high school graduate, will take off from the Westfield Airport here at daybreak Wednesday in an effort to break the junior transcontinental speed record set two months ago by the late Frank Goldsborough. Schneider, who decided today to make the attempt this week, will pilot a Cessna monoplane, powered with a 110-horsepower motor, bought for him by a syndicate headed by his father, Emil A. Schneider.

Only adverse weather conditions will delay the start of the flight, the youth said. He is considered an expert flier, having 275 flying hours to his credit.

He plans to fly to Columbus, Ohio, and from there to St. Louis and spend the first night in Wichita, Kan. He also plans to stop in Albuquerque, N. M.

SHOT BY AUTO GUNMEN.

Clerk, Wounded Twice, Is Unable to Explain Attack.

George Adams, 27-year-old clerk of 327 Sterling Place, Brooklyn, had just taken a girl to her home on West Forty-seventh Street, Manhattan, yesterday morning and was walking down Ninth Avenue near Twenty-seventh Street when two automobiles drew alongside, slowed down while their occupants emptied their revolvers at him and disappeared around a corner. Adams fell to the sidewalk, shot in the right shoulder and right leg.

At the New York Hospital, where he was taken by a passing milkman, it was said that Adams's condition was not serious. The wounded man told Detective Murphy that he had no enemies and did not recognize the occupants of the automobiles.

RAIDER DROPS BOMBS ON KENTUCKY MINES

the occupants of the plane. Plans to resist another air attack included issuance of extra ammunition to the regular mine guards and augmenting of the guards.

Citizens of Providence said they would permit no one at the meeting who was known to have fomented trouble at the mines. About 75 per cent of the miners returned to work when the mines reopened July 1 and the remaining 25 per cent have been attempting to persuade the workers to put down their tools again. Nineteen striking miners are under indictment here for banding and confederating to intimidate working miners. Seventeen have been apprehended and are out on bond.

Trouble in the Western Kentucky coal fields started last December when miners demanded better working conditions and some asked a return to the 1917 basic wage scale of $4.50 a day. A strike vote was taken in the entire Western Kentucky field by the United Mine Workers of America. The strike was overwhelmingly voted, but the vote was never approved by officials of the union at Indianapolis.

Meanwhile mines began closing because of independent strikes and economic conditions, and soon thousands of workers were idle. In the Webster County field 75 per cent of the workers later signed a petition asking that the mines reopen, since their families were in distress because of lack of employment. The operators agreed to reopen July 1.

In other parts of the Western Kentucky field some of the mines have continued closed and others have reopened, but disorders have been few anywhere except in Webster County and Hopkins County, adjoining.

The first major disorder was the dynamiting of two miners' homes at Nortonville, Hopkins County. One family was away at the time. The other was caught under falling débris, but no one was injured. On the same day dynamite was found on the porch of County Judge J. D. Shain at Madisonville, wrapped in a letter threatening death if he pressed charges against miners who were arrested.

PROVIDENCE, Ky., Aug. 11.—Though observers disagreed on the number of the orange-colored monoplane which bombed mines in the Webster County coal field today, one figure given by many was 5088.

A dispatch from Washington stated that Department of Commerce officials said this number had been issued to a biplane supposed to have since been dismantled and put in storage at Mount Prospect, Ill.

Authorities here received information later that a monoplane answering the description of the bombing craft had been operating in Southern Illinois, using Murphysboro as a base and carrying passengers around Herrin, Marion and Carbondale. This part of Illinois, like Webster County, Kentucky, has been the scene of mine labor conflict.

Government Enters Pursuit.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (AP).—Agencies of the Federal Government's service for civil aeronautics undertook today their first official attempt to penalize the use of an airplane for an interstate criminal purpose.

The reports conveyed to Clarence M. Young, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, concerning an orange-colored monoplane which dropped bombs on coal mines near Providence and Clay City, Ky., where a miners' strike has been in progress, presented the incident.

The first endeavor of the government agencies was to search the airplane registration list to determine whether the numbers attached to the airplane, which were variously reported by different observers, might correspond with those upon any of the licenses regularly issued to aircraft.

The prospects of this inquiry were not rated very bright by Mr. Young or his assistants, on the ground that the pilots of a plane engaged upon an unlawful bomb-dropping mission would disguise the machine license number as quickly as would a bank bandit dealing with the tags on an automobile used for criminal purposes.

Orders were issued for a check by the continental inspectors on the recent movements of several suspected planes, although it was deemed inadvisable to disclose all the details.

METEORS LIGHT SKY AS PERSEIDS RETURN

100 STREAK BY IN AN HOUR

Amateurs Aid Scientists in Census of "Pluto's Playmates"—Clear Heaven Favors Study.

Those fragments of lost worlds, the Perseids, staged their annual spectacle of shooting stars last night as the earth and the famous stream of meteors crossed at the intersection of their orbits in their endless revolution around the sun. Above the somewhat cloudy skies of the city New Yorkers craned their necks and caught glimpses of the fiery "skyrockets." At Columbia University, where professional astronomers under the guidance of Dr. C. H. Gingrich, scanned the skies with keen scientific interest, it was reported that the shower would be observable from shortly after sundown until sunrise this morning.

A meteor could be seen about every three minutes as the show began early last night in the northeastern sky. As the night lengthened the shower rose higher and grew in density. During its greatest intensity, in the early hours of this morning, as many as a hundred shooting stars could be seen in a single hour. Most of the nearby observatories welcomed clear skies and astronomers had unusual opportunities for observation.

The Perseid meteors recently have been nicknamed "Pluto's Playmates," in honor of the newly discovered ninth planet. The outer edge of their orbit is believed to be close to the path of the new planet.

Unusual scientific interest attaches to this year's meteoric display, as astronomers have asked every one, amateur and professional astronomers alike, to turn census taker. An exact count of the meteors, the only messengers from outer space with the exception of light, will help in calculations to piece together the cosmic story they tell.

The orbit of the Perseids is estimated as extending outward about 3,000,000,000 miles from the sun. The meteors travel about the sun in an endless stream, calculated to be about 70,000,000 miles wide. They are seen with the greatest effect in August of each year, when they collide with the earth's atmosphere. The friction of the contact causes the wandering chunks of iron and stone to light up with the terrific heat. They soon burn up, however, and finally settle down to the earth as dust.

GERMAN AVIATOR HURT IN AUTO CRASH HERE

Baron Friedrich Karl Koenig von und zu Warthausen, one of Germany's leading aviators, was in Broad Street Hospital yesterday as the result of an automobile crash at Fulton and West Streets. At first it was believed he had been seriously injured, as he was unconscious on arrival at the hospital, but recovered sufficiently later in the day to he sent home.

The Baron, who is 24 years old, resides at 244 West Seventy-first Street, and was returning home with three friends from a trip to Staten Island, when the car in which he was riding was in a collision with a milk truck driven by George Donnelly of 575 McDonough Street, Brooklyn.

The others in the car were Edward G. Clemence, 23, who has a fractured right leg; his wife, Viola, 23, who received a fracture of the left arm, and her mother, Mrs. Annette Bashan, 41, who was bruised and cut. They all reside at 36-20 Parsons Boulevard, Flushing, Queens, and were taken to the Board Street Hospital also.

The Baron, less than a year ago, received an ovation when he stopped here on his 17,000-mile flight around the world. This flight, which he made in a 20-horsepower monoplane, won the President von Hindenburg Cup for "the best German light-flying peformance of the year."

During that journey the Baron met with only two minor air accidents, but was injured severely by a taxicab while trying to cross a street in El Paso and spent several weeks in a hospital there.

PLANS AUSTRALIAN FLIGHT.

Kingsford-Smith Intends to Start From Britain on Sept. 15.

Special to The New York Times.

THE HAGUE, Aug. 11.—Major Charles A. Kingsford-Smith is making such a rapid recovery after his operation for appendicitis at Middleburg Hospital that he is preparing plans to attack Bert Hinkler's record solo flight from England to Australia.

BRITISH GENERAL IS DYING.

Sir Horace Smith-Dorrien Gravely Hurt in Auto Accident.

CHIPPENHAM, England, Aug. 11 (AP).—General Sir Horace Smith-Dorrien, one of England's most famous soldiers, was taken to the hospital here today with severe injuries on his head. He was hurt in an automobile accident.

Little hope is held out for his recovery. The General, who is 72 years old, commanded the Second Army of the British Expeditionary Force in 1914-15 and was retired in 1923. In 1910 he was Aide-de-Camp General to King George.

MARCONI'S YACHT DAMAGED BY FIRE

LOSS PLACED AT $5,000

Inventor Directs Work of Firemen After Vessel Catches Blaze From Gasoline Motor.

By ARNALDO CORTESI.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

CIVITAVECCHIA, Aug. 11.—Senator Guglielmo Marconi's priceless experimental wireless instruments were in danger of destruction today when his yacht, the Electra, caught fire late in the afternoon.

Fortunately the wireless inventor was warned on the first appearance of the fire and he rushed aboard and directed the efforts of the crew to such good effect that the fire was confined to the poop deck, where it had broken out. The blaze ravaged the crew's sleeping quarters but did not invade his floating laboratory, which is in the waist of the ship. The damage was estimated at $5,000.

Signor Marconi was obliged to postpone his departure on an ocean cruise, on which he was expected to make an important experiment.

The fire apparently was caused by backfire from a gasoline engine. The crew immediately set the pumps to work, and Signor Marconi was hastily summoned from his villa. At the same time a call was put in for the Civitavecchia firemen, who arrived on the scene about a quarter of an hour later.

Signor Marconi immediately went aboard the vessel and managed to hold the fire in check until the firemen arrived and extinguished the blaze. The damage was almost completely confined to the crew's sleeping quarters.

Has Made His Home on Yacht.

CIVITAVECCHIA, Italy, Aug. 11 (AP).—The yacht was anchored one hundred meters offshore near the villa where Signor Marconi has been making his home for the last several months because of the birth of a daughter, Maria Elettra Elena.

The yacht had been Signor Marconi's home, for he sold his house in Rome following his purchase of the boat just after the war. With him traveled his wife, the former Countess Bezzi-Scali, who gave birth to her first child July 20.

The inventor has installed much equipment aboard the yacht, so much that it fills the large cabin assigned to it and makes walking difficult. With this he talks to Australia, North and South America, Asia and all of Europe. Recently he conducted a two-way conversation from the Mediterranean with America and did the same with Australia. Much of the time he was isolated from land, as far as physical accessibility goes, but he was in touch with all the world.

One of his experiments aboard the Electra produced "beam wireless" in 1923. This concentrates radio waves in one direction.

Last March he stood in his radio room and pressed a small key. In Sydney, Australia, 11,000 miles away, the lights went on for an electrical exposition. He then conducted a two-way conversation with the exhibition officials.

Reconciliation of Carol and Helen Reported; Plans for Joint Coronation Being Pushed

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUCHAREST, Aug. 11.—Nicolas Titulescu, Rumanian Minister to London, has again been successful in his favorite rôle of mediator. It is stated tonight that he has succeeded in convincing King Carol and Queen Helen that Premier Maniu is right in demanding that their reconciliation shall precede the coronation.

King Carol is now willing to wait for a reconciliation and Queen Helen is reported to have at last given way. The Premier's insistence is expected to result in a public and official reconciliation this week.

Gregory Junian, Minister of Justice, has called for copies of the divorce proceedings. It is understood he will base their annulment on the fact that the declaration made by Carol, through his representative, General Condescu, at the time the divorce was granted was the result of undue pressure and was made against Carol's wish.

In view of the improvement in the situation, orders were given tonight to begin preparations for the coronation at the end of September.

VIENNA, Aug. 11 (AP).—A reconciliation between King Carol and Queen Helen of Rumania was reported to be only a matter of hours in messages received here today from the Royal Summer Palace at Sinaia, where the King is staying. The messages said the Queen had been persuaded of the correctness of the King's view that their divorce had never been legal.

This is the second reported reconciliation between King Carol and Queen Helen. A little more than a month ago, it was announced that the former exiled prince and Helen had forgotten their marital differences as a result of the pleadings of their son, Michael.

Only a few days ago, however, it was declared that all the attempts of Nicolas Titulescu to restore matrimonial peace had resulted in failure.

The effecting of a reconciliation ahead of the scheduled coronation of King Carol would save him the necessity of finding another prime minister to take the place of Premier Maniu. The latter had said he would not preside at the coronation ceremonies if Queen Helen remained adamant in her refusal to become reconciled to Carol before the coronation. M. Maniu also announced his intention of resigning if the ceremony was proceeded with.

Spanish Ministers Will Meet Today on Case of Paris Banker.

MADRID, Aug. 11 (AP).—The Council of Ministers will meet here tomorrow to act upon France's demand for extradition of Lauriano Carlos Villanueva, former official of the Paris branch of the National City Bank of New York, who fled France and enlisted in the Spanish Foreign Legion in Morocco.

The government, it was believed by officials today, will not be able to resist extraditing the Venezuelan banker and former diplomatic attaché, whose Paris financial difficulties were charged to have involved more than $250,000.

MENDOZA, Argentina, Aug. 11.—Angered by the umpire's decision after a close finish in the principal race of the program today, the crowd at the local horse-race track started a serious tumult, destroying fences, benches and office windows.

Several persons received minor injuries and calm was only restored half an hour later, when the crowd became tired. The small force of police present was not able to deal with the situation.

TEL AVIV JEWS HOLD RITES.

Memorial Services Conducted for Those Slain Year Ago by Arabs.

TEL AVIV, Aug. 11 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency)—Many Jews of all classes today visited the graves of the six Jews who were ambushed and killed on the outskirts of Tel Aviv before the Arab attackers were repelled a year ago today, according to the Jewish calendar. The visitors to the graves began arriving early this morning. Tonight memorial services were held in the principal synagogues.

Recalling the tragedy of last August, the Hebrew daily, Davar, says:

"No compensation or revenge is possible for the blood spilled last year. The only recompense is loyalty to a suffering, tortured and persecuted people and to the vision of redemption and determination."

Small Tear in Main Envelope, Discovered on Return to Montreal, Is Discounted.

TRIP 'CONVERTS' CANADIANS

Spokesman Looks to 'Next Phase of Inter-Empire Experiment in Air Communication.'

By F. RAYMOND DANIELL.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT, Montreal, Aug. 11.—After an all-day cruise over Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton and Niagara Falls the British dirigible R-100 returned to her mooring mast at 7:46 o'clock tonight with a small tear in her main envelope directly over her starboard engine forward.

Wing Commander R. B. B. Colmore, director of airship development, declaring that the R-100 would leave for England at "the first favorable opportunity," insisted that the damage was of no consequence. Compared with the fins which were stripped of their fabric coverings on her way to the American continent, he said, the rip would be easy to repair.

"We knew nothing about it until we landed," he added. "I don't know when it happened nor how, but I'm sure it is of no consequence."

An official statement later said that the damage would not interfere with the return journey.

One of the six Rolls-Royce engines failed as the dirigible made her landing after once missing the coupling to the mooring line.

Canadian Experts Enthusiastic.

In spite of these contretemps the fourteen official observers for the Canadian Government, who made the over-night trip of more than 1,000 miles, were enthusiastic in their praise of the airship's behavior and seemingly converted to the belief in the superiority of airship travel over all other forms.

Major Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Chief of Staff of the Department of National Defense, was their spokesman. In an official statement he said:

"I think that all of those who have been with the R-100 on this trip have been greatly impressed with the great possibilities of the airship. We have been made more confident by the fact that the ship's officers told us that our weather was worse than that experienced on the North Atlantic.

"To those of us who have had something to do with the Canadian end of this experiment it has been a great satisfaction to experience this performance of the R-100. We feel every confidence in the successful outcome of the next phase of this great inter-empire experiment in air communication."

Whether by the "next phase" he meant the projected flight of the R-101 to India in October or the opening of an England-to-Canada commercial airship line with Canadian Government support, as Sir Dennistoun Burney has proposed, General McNaughton would not say.

Montreal Greets Returning Ship.

The dirigible, a silver ship against a blue and silver sky, appeared over La Prairie, a town near Montreal, late in the afternoon. She could be seen from Montreal and from St. Hubert low on the horizon against the circling hills.

At 5 P. M. she was over Montreal, which sent up a welcome of whistles from factories and ships in the harbor, while thousands stopped in the streets to look above.

Almost exactly twenty-four hours after leaving St. Hubert the great airship sailed slowly over the mooring mast with its arm upraised ready to receive the coupling which juts out from the airship's nose. But Squadron Leader R. S. Booth was only feeling out the wind and air currents while receiving landing data from the Administration Building over the wireless telephone.

The R-100 kept on her course for another view of Montreal. Finally at 7:10 she was back over the field with her nose in the wind and her landing line dangling from her nose, where two men lay in the little wire cage that is the airship's mooring eye.

The ship came on toward the mast, at an altitude of 800 feet, dragging her landing line across an old barn and a gnarly apple tree. Finally the end of the line was seized by three men of the ground crew, who worked frantically to join it to the steel cable which runs through the mooring arm and down to one of the powerful winches used to reel it in.

But the nose of the airship rose quickly. The wind swept her sideways and the chance was lost. Her engines drove her back again over the white square on the ground marking the coupling spot and this time the joint was made.

It was 7:22 P. M. twenty-four minutes later a sharp click told that the mooring operation had been completed, in even shorter time than it had been accomplished a week ago Friday when the R-100 arrived from England.

The dirigible, which flew over the Houses of Parliament in Ottawa between 10 and 11 o'clock last night, reached Toronto before its inhabitants were up this morning. Then it cruised about over Hamilton and Niagara Falls and returned as residents of Toronto were hurrying to work.

The weather was a little bumpy over Toronto, it was said, but during the afternoon as the airship swept eastward toward Montreal her engines were helped by the stiff west wind which she had had to fight on her out-bound journey.

Killed Sighting Airship From Pole.

MONTREAL, Aug. 11 (Canadian Press).—Trying to get a good view of the R-100 today, Alphonse Barbeau, 16 years old, climbed a steel post carrying high tension wire. Grasping a wire in his excitement, the youth was severely burned and fell fifty feet to his death.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 11 (AP).—The possibility that growth of aerial communication between England and this continent might necessitate erection of a second dirigible mooring mast in Canada, probably at Moncton, N. B., was discussed at a conference between officers of the R-100 and government officials.

It was said that St. Hubert would continue to be the base of operations but that an auxiliary base nearer the Atlantic Coast was favored to speed up transoceanic dirigible trips.

R-100 Twice Over United States Soil.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 11 (AP).—The R-100 flew over United States soil today for the first time, appearing twice over this city.

The R-100 was sighted over Lake Ontario from three points along the New York shore, according to dispatches to The Associated Press. She was reported from Oswego about 11 A. M., from the Coast Guard station at Summerville, seven miles north of Rochester, at 11:15, and at Sacket Harbor, ten miles from Watertown, between 11:30 and noon when she was passing over Stoney Island.

Los Angeles Flies to Newport.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 11 (AP).—The navy dirigible Los Angeles tied up to the mooring ship Patoka in the harbor at 7:30 o'clock tonight after a flight from Lakehurst, N. J., which ended as she floated under the arc of a rainbow with a bright red sunset to the west and black storm clouds to the east. She had been as far north as Boston on her flight, passing over Taunton. She returned to Newport by way of Providence.

Would Avert Coffee Tax Evasion.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAVANA, Aug. 11.—Ramon Leon, Liberal Congressman, today requested President Machado to apply the proposed coffee tariff on a reported shipment of 50,000 bags of Brazilian coffee said to have been purchased by local merchants in anticipation of the tariff. This quantity is believed sufficient to glut the local market. The President has not announced whether he will accede to the request.

JEWISH REVISIONIST HITS PALESTINE POLICY

President of Prague Congress Blames Zionist Body for Last Summer's Disturbances.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PRAGUE, Aug. 11.—The fourth world congress of the Zionist Revisionists opened here yesterday under the presidency of Vladimir Jabotinsky. The Revisionists constitute the Opposition in the World Zionist Organization.

The disturbances in Palestine have encouraged the hopes of the Revisionists for the overthrow of the Zionist leader, Dr. Chaim Weizmann, and his replacement by a more anti-British and anti-Arab directorate.

At the congress figures were produced showing the membership had reached a total of 30,000, in addition to which must be reckoned the youth organization with 18,000 members.

In his opening speech on the theme "The Crisis in Zionism," Jabotinsky said it was useless to continue negotiations with the Arabs. The responsibility for last Summer's disorders in Palestine, he added, rested with the Zionist Organization, which failed to defend the Jewish interests with sufficient energy against Great Britain. The colonization of Palestine by the Jews as a majority race was the only remedy.

From other speeches it was made clear that the Revisionists intend to remain within the Zionist Organization—despite criticism of its leaders—to develop the Revisionist policy of intensive cultivation of the country under the system of private capital in opposition to the policy of the labor group of Zionists.

PRAGUE, Aug. 11 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency).—The union of Zionist Revisionists, the opposition to the Weizmann régime within the world Zionists organization, decided today at the second session of its fourth world conference to conduct its own political activities, particularly in pleading the Zionist cause before governments and statesmen, independently of the Zionist executive and the Jewish agency.

This was disclosed by Dr. Robert Lichtheim in a speech outlining the revisionists' attitude toward the Zionist organization and the Jewish agency.

ESCAPES ASSASSINATION.

Rumanian Police Chief, Carol's Deputy, Fired At on Train.

VIENNA, Aug. 11 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency).—An attempt was made today to assassinate Victor Cadere, chief of the Rumanian secret police and personally delegated investigator of King Carol in seeking the causes of the anti-Semitic outbreaks. The attempt was made while M. Cadere was in a dining car on his way from Bucharest. The would-be assassin, a government employe named Junescu, fired several revolver shots at M. Cadere, but missed him.

Junescu has been arrested, but the reasons for the attempted assassination have not yet been ascertained. M. Cadere has been active in discovering the secrets of the various anti-Semitic organizations and in rounding up some of their leaders.

DOBBS HATS

The time for light-weight soft felt hats is upon us. Adopting the extravagant language of everyday usage such synonyms as feather-light, cloud-soft and breeze-mellow might appropriately be applied to the variety that Dobbs has prepared to gratify the urge of every purse and personality.

The Dobbs Cross Country, the standard negligee hat which has stood the test of time as a work of art, is offered in eight colors including new shades not previously shown in this grade. The Cross Country is Seven Dollars.

And then, the Leisure Light, one of the most popular hat styles ever designed, together with eight other models serves the men who appreciate the extra value and service that Ten Dollars will purchase. Fifteen, Twenty, and even Forty Dollars may be invested in a Dobbs light weight hat with all the luxury and worth the price implies.

HUNGARIANS PLEDGE QUICK CALL TO OTTO

MINISTER JOINS MEETING

Members of Parliament, Civil Servants, Archdukes and Austrians Also Attend.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUDAPEST, Aug. 11.—At a great demonstration of Hungarian monarchists, in which an Austrian deputation took part, held at Tihany Abbey yesterday, the delegates enthusiastically swore fealty to the Archduke Otto.

Count Aladar Zichy said:

"The Hungarian people committed a grave sin in allowing Emperor Charles's arrest, his imprisonment and deportation to exile after the failure of his second attempt to regain the throne. The only reparation that we who have awakened Hungary from powerlessness and restored order to the country can make is to place Charles's son Otto on the throne which belongs to him at the earliest possible moment. Soon we shall repair our fault of not preventing the carrying off of our king by enthroning his son."

Amid thrice-repeated shouts of "We swear this," the oath of fealty was taken.

The occasion of the demonstration was the unveiling of the Stations of the Cross, which have been erected by public subscription at the medieval Benedictine monastery in which the late Emperor Charles and former Empress Zita were imprisoned before their deportation on a British gunboat down the Danube to Madeira, where Charles died.

Count Kuno Klebelsberg, Minister of Education, was present, as well as the Hapsburg Archdukes Joseph and Joseph Franz. A large deputation of members of the Hungarian Parliament, headed by Professor Eugene Czettler, Vice President of the Chamber; all the Hungarian monarchist leaders, many highly placed civil servants and high military officers and a deputation of Austrian monarchists from Vienna, headed by the former naval Captain Schonta, also attended.

After the Bishop of Tihany had unveiled the Stations of the Cross, Dr. Czettler said that although in the troublous history of Hungary two kings had fallen on the fields of battle, the disgrace of the arrest, imprisonment and deportation of the monarch had happened to Hungary only in the darkest hour of the nation's history that of Charles's downfall.

Alluding to the forthcoming centenary of the Emperor Francis Joseph, the speaker said that although the nations which had flattered the old Emperor in his lifetime were now passing the anniversary in silence, the Hungarians, who had so many quarrels with him, could now find voice to praise his great qualities.

The Austrian Captain Schonta said all true and honest Austrians were determined to hold to Hungary, remembering the common shedding of the blood of the two peoples.

Our Envoy to Finland Injured When Auto Crashes Into Pole

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HELSINGFORS, Aug. 11.—Edward E. Brodie, American Minister to Finland, was injured in an automobile accident today while he was driving in the country with his wife and daughter.

When he attempted to pass a motor truck, it failed to give way, forcing the Minister to steer into a ditch. The envoy's automobile crashed into a telegraph pole and broke it, but Mr. Brodie received only slight cuts from broken glass, while his wife and daughter escaped unhurt.

Mr. Brodie, who is 54 years old, served as Minister to Siam from 1921 to 1925. He became Minister to Finland on May 12 last, succeeding Alfred J. Pearson of Des Moines, Iowa. Mr. Brodie's home is in Oregon, Wash. He is the owner and publisher of The Morning Enterprise of that city.

in ten other villages in the Aukkur district. Talukas natives on the west bank of the Indus River are showing increased restlessness, and troops today were marching to Khanpur.

Afridis Still Harass City.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PESHAWAR, Aug. 11.—Again tonight under cover of darkness small parties of Afridi tribesmen continued their assaults on government property outside the walls of Peshawar. Several bands approached the city gates and walls on the south, and attempts to creep into the British concession were repulsed by police pickets.

The number of Afridi casualties is not known, but several wounded are reported to have been taken, in accordance with Afridi custom, past the villages to their native hills.

Further damage was done during the night to telephone and telegraph lines and minor damage to railways. A relief train passed along from Peshawar today. Ordinary traffic and commercial trucks and caravans pass along the Grand Trunk road unhindered by the Afridi raiders.

A large number of Afridis ordinarily reside in the Peshawar district in the Winter; hence they are well acquainted with the villages and routes. This complicates matters for the British, because parties of Afridis can mix freely with the villagers in the daytime, making recognition of the hostile bands difficult until they assemble toward nightfall.

The Afridis are able to find a supply of food in some of the villages, but from the government's information little other native assistance is given to them, although the raiders claim to be fighting in behalf of the villages and against the government only.

The Afridi tactics to maintain their superiority in the villages in the immediate vicinity of Peshawar have failed. The British troops, which carried out a reconnoissance in the neighborhood of Kohat Road, returned tonight, having failed to find the enemy. A portion of the Afridi force, it is reported, has returned to the hills. There are reports that bands of Afridis are moving toward other possible objectives, but in no great strength. An armored train has arrived from Rawalpindi. Repairs in communications are being rapidly completed.

Attack 100 Miles From Peshawar.

PESHAWAR, Aug. 11 (AP).—The guns of Peshawar Fort today boomed intermittently against the Afridi tribesmen attacking Peshawar. British and Indian cavalrymen skirmished with isolated parties in the belt of gardens immediately surrounding the city. Fighting occurred at several scattered points, but there were no signs of a major engagement.

Airplanes of the Royal Air Force reconnoitred throughout the day, watching for signs of a large concentration of the Afridis. Bombing operations also were carried out, but their effectiveness was not announced.

A report of a battle on Saturday gave the indication that the warfare is spreading from Peshawar and the immediate vicinity. A party of Afridis attacked Badama Post, southeast of Parachinar, in the Northwest Frontier Province. Parachinar is nearly 100 miles west of Peshawar. The assailants were beaten off by Kurram militia.

Six Indian troopers were slain in an engagement in an orchard.

Most important of the Indian political developments today was the departure of Pandit Motilal Nehur and Pandit Jawaharial Nehru from their prison at Allahabad to Yerovda jail at Poona, where they will join Mahatma Gandhi. There the three leaders will be interviewed by two native leaders who are attempting to bring peace to the country, Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru and Mr. Jayakar.

INDIAN JUDGE RESCINDS BAN ON GANDHI CAPS

Gives Opinion Their Wearing Is Not Evidence of Participation in Revolutionary Activity.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MADRAS, Aug. 11.—An official ban on wearing Ghandi caps was held by a high court here today to be illegal. Justice Krishnan Pandalai set aside the recent magistrate's order prohibiting wearing this distinctive headgear at Guntur and within a radius of five miles of that town.

Justice Pandalai, in delivering his judgment, said the principal point for decision was whether there was any such apprehended danger as called for the prohibition on wearing the cap. He found it impossible to say that at the present time it could be inferred that wearers of Ghandi caps were supporters of the civil disobedience movement. 'Such an inference," he said, "would be an injustice to those taking an interest in Ghandi's harmless activities."

The judge said it was legal to prohibit wearing the caps if their wearing amounted to participation in or encouragement of revolutionary propaganda. But before such order is passed, he pointed out, it should be shown by evidence that it was necessary to pass such an order in the interests of public peace.

"In my opinion, that is not being done, and an order like the present one is more likely, by its necessarily irritating effects, to affect adversely the public peace than if it had not been passed," he said.

The judge also set aside a magistrate's order prohibiting hoisting the All-India National Congress flag at Rajahmundry. As this magistrate's order normally would expire Friday, the peace of Rajahmundry is not likely to be affected.

WOULD HAVE OTHERS JOIN MONROE POLICY

Dr. James B. Scott at Charlottesville Suggests That Latin America Adopt Doctrine.

DURANT PRAISES HOOVER

From a Staff Correspondent of The New York Times.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Aug. 11.—A recommendation that the twenty-one Republics of the Americas make declarations similar to that contained in the Monroe Doctrine, thus obtaining a footing of equality with the United States and each other, was made today by Dr. James Brown Scott, president of the American Society of International Law, in an address before the Institute of Public Affairs.

Dr. Scott, who is secretary of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, asserted that such declarations would make the doctrine one of the entire continent although contained in twenty-one declarations. This procedure, he contended, is better than a convention to a like effect by the same number of contracting parties in as much as a declaration does not require ratification.

Dr. Scott's address was the feature of the open forum debate on the so-called Roosevelt corollary to the Monroe Doctrine, held under the auspices of the round table on Latin-American relations, directed by Dr. Clarence C. Haring of Harvard.

Roosevelt Corollary Criticized.

This corollary, under which the United States claimed the right of intervention to protect life and property, was declared by Dr. Scott to be "contrary to the law of the land as regards non-American States," since it was contrary to The Hague conventions of 1899 and 1910, the first of which was ratified by the Senate and proclaimed by Roosevelt himself as the law of the land in 1901.

Questioned by Dr. Fred J. Rippy of Duke University as to why no Latin American nation has taken up the suggestion made by Henry Clay in 1826 that the Monroe Doctrine be made a common American doctrine, Dr. Scott said that the United States had long considered that the doctrine, being a statement of their right of self-defense with regard to European countries, would be weakened by associating other countries with it. More recently, he said, Charles Evans Hughes had stated that he would be happy to see the American States proclaim the Monroe Doctrine as their own.

Jay W. Johns of Pittsburgh, who has recently become the owner of Monroe's old home, Ash Lawn, near Charlottesville, asked Dr. Scott what had been the effect or the observance or non-observance of the Monroe Doctrine by the United States on international conditions.

"The effect has been enormous," Dr. Scott replied. "If the United States had made use of the Monroe Doctrine in time Great Britain would not control the passage to the Straits of Magellan or Cape Horn; likewise, if we had prevented the territory of Belize from passing from Spanish to British hands Great Britain would not now have an outpost at the very mouth of the canal."

Dr. Scott explained in detail the case of the Falkland Islands, citing the fact that a United States Consul had virtually handed the islands back to England when United States whalers had taken them from Argentina, as indicating that the United States had never considered the Monroe Doctrine as entailing the defense of any interests but their own.

Durant Praises Hoover.

President Hoover will emerge "as one of the most capable executives in history," Dr. Will Durant told institute members tonight in an address on "Is Democracy a Failure?" This reputation, he said, would be gained "despite the accumulation of national misfortunes during his term and despite his refusal to manipulate patronage as a way of dominating Congress."

Dr. Durant's tribute to the Chief Executive was in marked contrast to his denunciation of the third-rate politicians, who he claims dominate American political life. The only way out of this domination, he held, was to make education a qualification for public office.

A portrait of Dr. Charles G. Maphis, director of the Institute of Public Affairs, was presented to the university this afternoon on behalf of Chester D. Pugsley of Peekskill, N. Y. The address of presentation was made by Dr. Scott, and the portrait, painted by Seymour N. Stone, was formally accepted by the president of the university, Dr. Edwin A. Alderman. Former Governor Harry Flood Byrd presided over the ceremonies.

Stanley Held for Shooting of Girl.

John Stanley, 19 years old, was held without bail by Magistrate McQuade in homicide court yesterday for a hearing next Monday on a charge of homicide arising from the shooting to death Sunday night of his girl companion, Miss Marian Creighton of 33 St. Mark's Place, by a pistol held in Stanley's hand. Stanley's explanation of the shooting, which took place in the bedroom of the flat in which he lived at 546 East Eleventh Street, was that the pistol had gone off accidentally while the two were examining it.

KUNDT REACHES PERU ON WAY TO GERMANY

Ousted Chief of Staff of Bolivia Regrets He 'Took No Part in Country's Politics.'

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LIMA, Aug. 11.—General Hans Kundt, German former chief of staff of the Bolivian Army, who is on his way to Germany via New York, where he will join his wife and daughter, arrived at Callao today on the Grace liner Santa Clara. He fled from Bolivia after the overthrow of the government which employed him.

The General was in excellent spirits and in an interview said he was glad to return to Germany. He declared that he had taken no part in Bolivian politics, though he regretted the fact now, and also asserted he had never attacked the people during the revolution ending the Siles régime. He said he hoped the Presidential election announced by the military junta now ruling the country would be carried out and believed the military junta well-fitted for its task.

Asked why he had not taken part in politics, the General answered, "America for the Americans," and said he believed in the Monroe Doctrine. He added that due to his preparations Bolivia now had nothing to fear from Paraguay so far as the Chaco region was concerned.

ASKS IRELAND TO SHUN IMPERIAL CONFERENCE

Fianna Fail Leader Says Tie to Empire Means Domination of Country by Britain.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

DUBLIN, Aug. 11.—The plea that the Irish Free State Government should boycott the forthcoming Imperial Conference at London was made today by Sean Lemass, one of the leaders of Eamonn de Valera's Fianna Fail party. Mr. Lemass said the declared purpose of the conference was to consolidate the British Empire, but the aim of Fianna Fail was to get Ireland out of the empire.

"We believe the maintenance of the imperial connection will mean our political, industrial and cultural domination by Britain," Mr. Lemass added. "An attempt to harmonize Irish interests with those of the empire is bound to fail and may be harmful. For that reason we protest the action of the Free State in seeking election to the Council of the League of Nations as a representative of the British Empire group. For the same reason, we think the Free State should leave the Imperial Conference alone."

Mr. Lemass charged that the foreign policy of the Free State was operating in direct conflict with the traditional aims of Irish nationalism and was equally detrimental to the country's immediate material interests.

RETAKING OF TSINAN BY CHIANG IS LIKELY

CHANGSHA AGAIN MENACED

Peking Declares Chang Will Support North—The Rev. Allen Cameron Is Now Safe.

By HALLETT ABEND.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 11.—Although the extravagant claims of both sides make it difficult to gauge the trends of the major battles in Shantung Province and along the Lunghai Railway, it seems evident that the Nanking Government is likely to recapture Tsinan, Shantung capital, within a week, while Feng Yu-hsiang's desperate attempts to break the government defenses along the Lunghai road are still without success.

The recapture of Tsinan, while important for Nanking, would not signify a major victory, but would merely tend to restore the Northern forces to the lines existing in April, while south of the Yangtse River Nanking's position has been vastly weakened in the last four months. Nanking commanders assert the Shantung advances are aimed not only at seizing Tsinan but also at cutting off a large part of the Shansi forces, thus weakening Yen Hsi-shan to the point where he would no longer be a serious contender against the Nanking Government troops, who could then be concentrated against Feng Yu-hsiang, co-leader with Yen in the Northern rebellion.

Changsha Again Threatened.

A large Communist force again is advancing toward Changsha. Panic again reigns in the city and the government officials have taken the municipal archives aboard a Nanking gunboat. At Hangchow wounded soldiers who were rioting were shot down by the police acting under martial law.

The Peking faction declares the Manchurian power is about thrown on the side of the Northerners, who cite the fact that Chang Hsueh-liang is visiting Peitahho, a Summer resort in Yen Hsi-shan's territory. They say he will receive delegates from the Peking Government.

Chiang Kai-shek, in a circular telegram addressed to the armies of Feng Yu-hsiang, pleads with the soldiers "to return to their allegiance to the Central Government and receive cash rewards, clothing and food. If you return to the government with real repentance," the telegram says, "I will not only forgive but will reward you with prizes."

The specific rewards promised are one-step promotion for every officer who induces his men to surrender and $20 to each private surrendering with arms, $500 to each officer with a machine gun and $1,000 to each officer with a field gun.

Huge Losses Are Reported.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 11 (AP).—The long-heralded crucial battle between Nanking Government and rebel armies for the rich Province of Shantung appeared to be under way today, with the belligerent forces advancing conflicting claims regarding the trend of fighting.

Nanking military sources said their attacking forces were continuing their advance upon Tsinan. Capture of Tsinan was said by Nanking to be a matter of a few days.

Reports from the Northern rebels said their General, Yen Hsi-shan, had halted the Nanking troops with machine gun and artillery fire near Taian and Feicheng and had inflicted heavy losses.

Similar conflicting claims in Honan Province were made. Feng Yu-hsiang, Northern General, claimed decisive victories along the Haichow-Tungkwan Railway. Feng also claimed the capture of Kweiteh and Mamutsi and the seizure of large supplies.

Nanking commanders asserted their forces had driven off Feng's troops with heavy losses and denied the alleged Northern capture of Kweiteh and Mamutsi.

The Northerners were believed here to have suffered considerable losses in Shantung and were seeking to neutralize these reverses by pounding Nanking positions in Honan. The Nanking forces were known to have assembled in Shantung the largest airplane offensive unit yet seen in China. At least thirty-five armored planes, equipped with machine guns, were in use against the rebels.

The Chinese press here said the combined casualties in Shantung last week totaled 100,000, but this was considered excessive.

Rev. Allen Cameron Is Safe.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (AP).—A message to the State Department today from the United States gunboat Palos off Changsha said the Rev. Allen Cameron of Lawrence, Kan., was now safe.

After the Communist raid on Changsha Mr. Cameron was reported alternately safe and in grave danger, and once he was reported killed.

MISSIONS LOSSES HEAVY

Changsha Business Places Suffered Less, American Consul Says.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Richard P. Butrick, American Consul at Hankow, today informed the State Department in a telegram dated Aug. 10, that information received by him from Changsha indicates that considerable damage was done to American mission property in that city during the recent disorders, business places suffering less in comparison.

The consul said foreign and Chinese business men credited the self-defense firing of the U. S. Gunboat Palos at Changsha on July 31 with having saved the island, on which most of the foreign residences are situated, and with having stopped the general looting and destruction in the city proper.

LEAGUE BODY FACES PALESTINE PROBLEM

Council Will Have Delicate Task in Dealing With Committee Findings.

SESSION OPENS ON SEPT. 5

Failure of Britain to Call Preliminary Parley on Narcotics Will Delay December Conference.

By CLARENCE K. STREIT.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

GENEVA, Aug. 11.—The mandates committee's report on the Palestine outbreak of 1929 looms as the most important item coming before the League Council at its sixtieth session, beginning Sept. 5. The provisional agenda of the session were released today.

Since the committee's report, which severely criticizes Great Britain, will also contain Britain's reply to the criticism, the texts of both of which are still withheld, the Council will be faced with the delicate alternative of sustaining the mandates committee at the risk of offending Great Britain or accepting the British reply at the risk of undermining the prestige of the mandates committee. Judging from the past, it will probably try to find some compromise formula which will avoid both risks as far as possible.

Another important decision for the Council will be the determination of whether the protocol for the revision of the World Court statutes shall go into effect immediately. By a new procedure intended to avoid the usual delays in the ratification of multilateral agreements this protocol provides that if no State objects to it by September the Council can put it in force at its discretion.

Since no State has yet objected and eighteen have formally approved the protocol, it is believed the Council will declare it in force. In that event the election of the Court bench in September will be held under its stipulations, which provide fifteen instead of eleven full judges and require them to devote all their time to the Court.

The Council also must fix a later date for the conference on the limitation of narcotics, which is scheduled for December but will be unable to meet then through the failure of Great Britain to convoke a preliminary conference in July as promised.

At the request of Lithuania, which charges Poland with violating an administrative agreement between the two countries, the old Polish-Lithuanian dispute will come before the Council again. Lithuania proposed the appointment of a commission of neutral powers to supervise the frontier pending a definite solution of the territorial dispute.

The other twenty items on the agenda deal with routine matters in preparation for the Assembly, which opens Sept. 5.

GENEVA, Aug. 11 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency).—The report of the Wailing Wall commission, which recently completed an investigation into the Jewish and Moslem claims to the Wailing Wall, is not mentioned on the provisional agenda of the League Council. It is possible, however, that it will be added later, and it is also likely that the question of the Wailing Wall will be discussed at the second session of the Council, which will start at the end of September, following the plenary session of the League.

SAYS MORONES INCITED SLAYING OF OBREGON

Ex-President Portes Gil Answers Labor Leader's Chargfe of Plot to Kill Ortiz Rubio.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 11 (AP).—Luis Morones, Mexican labor leader and former Minister of Labor, was charged with a share of responsibility for the assassination of General Alvaro Obregon by former President Emilio Portes Gil in a political broadside published in today's papers.

The former President spoke to a large crowd outside his home, using the opportunity to answer accusations by Mr. Morones that he had plotted to have Pascual Ortiz Rubio, the present President of Mexico, assassinated during his tour of the United States prior to his inauguration.

"The speech that Morones made in the Hidalgo Theatre of Orizaba on April 30, 1928, fanned the spirit that moved the hand of the assassin, José de Leon Toral," Señor Portes Gil said. "False labor leaders sowed an atmosphere of assassination during General Obregon's political campaign. * * * They continue to sow seeds of hate and tragedy now. But it was the weight of Obregon's body which sank them definitely from power."

Señor Portes Gil called the charges that he had plotted against President Ortiz Rubio a calumny. "I can proclaim proudly to the nation," he said, "that I have never soiled my hands with blood."

The former President has just returned from a trip to Cuba and the United States. He is resuming his work immediately as head of the National Revolutionary party. Upon Señor Portes Gil's departure recently, Señor Morones charged that he was fleeing the country.

SPAIN STUDIES REPLY TO OUR TARIFF PROTEST

Officials Decline to Discuss the Question of Discrimination Against American Cars.

MADRID, Aug. 11 (AP).—The Spanish Government has not yet decided the nature of its reply to the American protest against the apparent discrimination of the new Spanish tariff against American motors cars. Officials declined today to discuss the matter pending a study of it.

All automobiles brought into Spain carry about double duties under the new traff, and in addition there is a clause to the effect that non-European cars not shipped to Spain directly from the country of origin must pay an extra duty of three pesetas (the pesta at par is worth 19.3 cents per kilogram—2.2 pounds).

The practical effect of this seems to be felt only by American motor cars, as most American cars reaching Spain come from American branch assembling plants in European centres outside of Spain.

American automobile interests in Spain consider the three-peseta super duty as prohibitive. Some have said that they could probably change their shipping methods so that cars would reach the Spanish market direct from the United States, but that the question of shipping rates had not been decided. Importers of American motor cars have said the super duty, being applicable only to American motor cars, amounted to discrimination.

The Ford plant at Barcelona has received a ruling that the super duty is not applicable to cars assembled in Barcelona and the plant is, therefore, resuming operations.

Several thousand Spanish employes of the Seville assembly plant of an American sewing machine company may lose their jobs if the new tariff rates on imported parts are maintained. These duties are so high that the owners of the plant are considering closing down and bringing in completed machines from plants in the United States and England. This company has already shipped many machines into Spain from those countries, in addition to the Seville output.

Spain has an infant industry in sewing machines which the new tariffs are intended to protect. These Spanish interests are pleased with the situation but the business world generally, Spanish and foreign, has manifested dissatisfaction.

The government is averse to increasing unemployment but has expressed the hope that the unfavorable trade balance of Spain might be lessened if imports were discouraged.

SOFIA CHALLENGES POWER OF THE IMRO

MINISTER SEEKS REVENGE

Zankoff Persuades Government to Act Because of Slaying of General Protogeroff.

By G. E. R. GEDYE.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SOFIA, Aug. 11.—Bulgaria was startled today at fresh evidence that the government at last considers itself strong enough to take issue with the redoubtable Imro—the Internal Macedonia Revolutionary Organization—which has played a big rôle in Balkan politics for fifty years.

The Minister of Justice today ordered, in addition to the investigation into the murder of the journalist Pundeff of which the dreaded young leader of the powerful Mihailoffist section of the Imro, Ivan Mihailoff, is accused, a further investigation against this leader.

The Ministry now charges Mihailoff with murdering the leader of the opposition Protogeroffist section of the Imro several years ago, General Protogeroff, who was shot down in a main street of Sofia. A warrant was issued for Mihailoff's arrest.

Behind the order lies the drama of the determination of the former Premier, Professor Zankoff [organizer of the coup d'état which overthrew the agrarian government of Stambulisky, who later was murdered] to be revenged for the death of his friend, General Protogeroff. Professor Zankoff had persuaded General Protogeroff to abandon violence in favor of propaganda methods to win the liberation of Macedonia from the Yugoslavs, but on the eve of General Protogeroff's departure for foreign countries to begin the new policy, Mihailoff, as he openly boastd in various brochures of the Imro, had General Protogeroff murdered. Mihailoff has always boasted that the government dared not charge him with the murder.

Professor Zankoff entered the Liaptcheff Cabinet as Minister of Instruction in May. Across his forehead he bears a scar inflicted by a fragment of a bomb in the Sofia outrage when 200 were killed as a result of the explosion of a Bolshevist bomb in an endeavor to wipe out the Zankoff Cabinet in revenge for its treatment of the agrarians.

From the moment that Zankoff entered the Cabinet, his life has been in danger from Mihailoff's supporters, who know well his determination to force Premier Liaptcheff to consent to extreme measures against the uncrowned king of Bulgarian Macedonia. For years Mihailoff has been virtually ruler of the two provinces of Petritch and Kustend, where in bloody encounters he has exterminated the Protogeroffian faction.

It has taken Zankoff several months, during which he was constantly guarded by a strong force of detectives, to achieve his aim, but with his success in persuading the government to issue a warrant for the arrest of Mihailoff for the murder of General Protogeroff he has proclaimed to the world the downfall of the revolutionary leader.

Whether the warrant ever will be executed is another matter. Mihailoff is believed to have been in Italy, where he has powerful protection, ever since Zankoff entered the Cabinet. Any demand for the extradition of the famous Comitadji leader, who is only 34 years old, is unlikely, but his return to Bulgaria now will be extremely difficult. If Zankoff lives, the power of the Imro seems to be broken.

VANCOUVER CRASH ENDS TOKYO FLIGHT

Wark and Brown Drop Their Project After Plane Is Wrecked While Landing to Take on Fuel.

Special to The New York Times.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 11.—Bob Wark ended his proposed flight from Tacoma to Tokyo in a cloud of dust at Ladner Field near here today when his Fokker biplane, the Pacific Era, cracked up as it struck a ditch in landing.

Wark suffered a severely wrenched knee, but his co-pilot, Eddie Brown, was uninjured. The undercarriage of the plane was wrecked, the lower wing almost demolished and the propeller broken. Wark said he would not attempt the flight again this year.

When the Pacific Era left Tacoma Field at 11:30 yesterday morning, it was Wark's intention to make a three-stop flight to Tokyo, landing for fuel at White Horse, Yukon Territory, Nome, Alaska, and Petropavlosk, Siberia. An air-clogged gas line, however, forced him down here in the afternoon.

Repairs were made and after a night's rest Wark took off this forenoon with a light load of gasoline from the small field here, heading for Ladner Field, five miles away, where there is a longer runway. He had intended to fill his gasoline tanks there and proceed to White Horse.

While he was attempting to land the wheels struck a ditch, throwing the plane upon its nose, one wing burying itself in the ground.

DE KONKOLY-THEGE SUICIDE IN NORWAY

WAS WITH HER PARENTS

They Will Take Body of Hungarian Engineer Back to Budapest to Be Buried Beside His Wife.

NIDAROS [formerly Trondhjem], Norway, Aug. 11 (AP).—Julius de Konkoly-Thege, widower of the former Dorothy Arents of New York, who died of poisoning in Budapest in July, was found dead in his cabin today aboard the tourist steamer Atlantic by his father-in-law, George Arents. Mr. and Mrs. Arents and the young Hungarian engineer were making a tour of the harbor.

Mr. de Konkoly-Thege shot himself through the heart. Mr. and Mrs. Arents were deeply grieved by his act, declaring they had been very fond of him and considered there was nothing mysterious about their daughter's death.

Mr. de Konkoly-Thege's body will be sent on Wednesday to Budapest for burial.

Budapest Learns News.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUDAPEST, Aug. 11. — News reached the American Legation here today of the suicide on a pleasure steamer at Nidares, Norway, of Julius de Konkoly-Thege.

Mr. de Konkoly-Thege, traveling with the parents of his dead wife, left Budapest on July 22, intending to return with them to the United States. The party went to Norway, hoping that a visit in the mountains would restore Mr. de Konkoly-Thege to health.

The telegram reaching here today, signed by the parents of the late Dorothy Arents, states that Mr. de Konkoly-Thege shot himself with a revolver and that they are returning to Budapest with the body for burial by the side of his wife in a Budapest cemetery.

Relatives Informed.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Aug. 11 (AP).—The suicide of Julius de Konkoly-Thege on a pleasure steamer at Nidaros, Norway, was confirmed today by a telegram from his father-in-law, George Arents, to his relatives here.

Mr. Arents said that his son-in-law suddenly excused himself, saying he was going to his cabin to write letters, but on arriving there shot himself dead through the heart. He had been inconsolable since his wife died. He was to have gone with Mr. and Mrs. Arents to New York, where a position was open for him in the Arents factory.

One of Mr. de Konkoly-Thege's uncles is hastening to Norway to accompany Mr. and Mrs. Arents to Budapest with the body. Another went to the town of Abbazia tonight to break the news of the young man's death to his parents, who are spending their vacation there.

The body of Mr. de Konkoly-Thege's wife was to have been transferred to New York when released by the Hungarian authorities next June, but now it is thought it will remain buried with her husband's in Hungary, or that both bodies may be transferred to the United States next year.

Wife Died on July 7.

Dorothy Arents de Konkoly-Thege, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Arents Jr. of 6 East Seventy-seventh Street, New York, and Hilbrook, Rye, died in a Budapest sanitarium on July 7 as a result of swallowing poison.

According to a police statement issued on the following day, Mrs. de Konkoly-Thege's death was accidental. She had complained of indigestion on leaving a dinner at the American Legation on the night of July 5, but when her husband had proposed that they stop their automobile and get some medicine at a drug store, she had replied:

"Never mind, I have got some medicine at home."

Shortly after their arrival at the Ritz Hotel, where they were stopping, Mr. de Konkoly-Thege found his wife lying on her bed in convulsions and she died twenty-four hours after being rushed to the sanitarium.

The police decided against a post-mortem investigation and the burial took place on July 10, the young husband giving way unrestrainedly beside the grave. Mr. and Mrs. Arents arrived in Vienna on July 19 and proceeded by plane to Budapest, their first information of their daughter's death having been a cablegram from their son-in-law in which the tragedy was attributed to ptomaine poisoning.

Mrs. de Konkoly-Thege, who was 23, was married on May 31 at her parents' home in Rye. Her husband, whom she had met while he was taking a post-graduate course at Columbia University, was a graduate of the Royal Technical University of Budapest and also took post-graduate courses at Cambridge University.

BRITISH KING AND QUEEN RETURN FROM COWES

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The royal yacht, with King George and Queen Mary aboard, cast her moorings at Cowes early this morning, and with her moorings went all the telephone cables which had been especially laid to connect the royal cabins with Glamis Castle, Scotland, where the Duchess of York, the wife of the King's second son, is awaiting the arrival of her baby. The royal yachting party disembarked at Portsmouth and entrained for London.

The King and Queen, looking well bronzed after their fortnight's holiday, immediately drove to Buckingham Palace. They will stay in London until Wednesday, when they will go to Sandringham before traveling north to Balmoral, Scotland. It is expected that on their way north the King and Queen will call to see the Duchess of York at Glamis.

One of the King's first acts today on his return to the palace was to invest Miss Amy Johnson, Britain's leading woman flier, with the insignia of Commander of the Order of the British Empire.

AMERICANS LINKED TO NITRATE CARTEL

OUTPUT RESTRICTION DUE

Britain and Germany, the Chief Synthetic Producers, Said to Be Slated for Drastic Cuts.

ANIMUS AGAINST US DENIED

By CARLISLE MacDONALD.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Aug. 11. — Although the world nitrate cartel agreement, signed at Berlin on Saturday, expressly excludes the United States and its territories and dependencies because of the provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law, American nitrate interests will play an important part in the new agreement.

The consolidated natural nitrates industry of Chile, with which the "European Convention of the Nitrate Industry" has just joined in a cooperative scheme governing production, prices and markets, is now being reorganized upon the basis of the famous Guggenheim process, and thus the Berlin accord, while careful to exclude the United States, is nevertheless intimately connected with the American nitrate interests in Chile.

Delegates representing the European synthetic nitrate industries and the Chilean industry have returned to Paris, following the conclusion of the agreement signed Saturday, and work was begun today upon the numerous details which remain to be arranged. The date when the agreement is to become fully operative depends only upon the completion of these details. Meanwhile outlines of the Berlin agreement have been cabled to the Chilean Government for approval, although this is largely a formality, since the Chilean nitrate representatives acted in close harmony with the Chilean official position.

A spokesman for the Chilean group who returned to Paris today explained that any suggestion that the Berlin pact might be directed against America was entirely without foundation. The Chilean industry, he pointed out, sells a large portion of its annual output to the United States, and, furthermore, the Guggenheim - Ryan interests are closely allied with the new consolidated Chilean company.

Regarding the possibility of conflict between the Berlin agreement and any previous agreements made by the Guggenheim interests in Chile, the spokesman was equally emphatic that there could be no disharmony since the American interests, while technically forced to remain outside the new world accord, were actually a party to it by virtue of their nitrate interests outside the territorial limits of the United States and its dependencies.

The nitrate delegates have decided to withhold the details of the Berlin accord until a later date, but it is believed here that the first results will be a drastic restriction of the synthetic production. The British and German interests, which account for 70 per cent of the annual world synthetic production, are understood to have accepted 50 and 30 per cent reductions, respectively; Belgium and Holland, 30 per cent each; Poland, 40 per cent, and France, 10 per cent. The latter reduction, however, will not be effective until such time as the French production is equal to home consumption.

The total production of pure nitrogen for the past year was about 2,165,000 tons, of which the synthetic product totaled 1,285,000 tons; the by-product of sulphate of ammonia, 425,000, and Chilean natural nitrates, 455,000.

Price and production stabilization are expected to cause a return to normal conditions in the world nitrate industry, at the same time eliminating the present intensive competition between the natural and synthetic products.

Finds Famous Springs Described by Homer; Archaeologist Calls Ithaca Scene of 'Odyssey'

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ATHENS, Aug. 11.—Extraordinarily valuable archaeological discoveries have just been made on the Island of Ithaca, in the Ionian Sea. M. Kyparissis, director of the Acropolis Museum and head of the archaeological district of Attica, wired today to the Ministry of Education that he had discovered on Ithaca the famous springs of the city which Homer describes in "The Odyssey." The telegram says that photographs will show the "gigantic Cyclopian architecture" of the rocky countryside from which the springs flow.

M. Kyparissis asserts this will prove that Ithaca really was the island on which Homer saw the springs, despite the unwillingness of many archaeologists to accept the theory. He hopes also to uncover the city in which Odysseus stayed. The excavations will be continued in the Autumn.

M. Kyparissis recently said he was convinced beyond the shadow of a doubt that Homer really lived on Ithaca himself, as details of his writings show, in accordance with recent discoveries, that he really saw the countryside with his own eyes.

Next to Paxo, Ithaca is the smallest of the seven Ionian islands. Its fame is almost wholly due to Homer's story of Odysseus, the island's king in the heroic age. In "The Odyssey" the island is described with picturesque topographical detail. The Encyclopaedia Britannica points out that the Homeric localities for which counterparts have been sought are Mount Neritos, Mount Neion, the harbor of Phorcys, the town and palace of Odysseus, the fountain of Arethusa, the cave of the Naiads, the stalls of the swineherd Eumaeus, the orchard of Laertes, the Raven Cliff Korax and the Island Asteris, where the suitors lay in ambush for Telemachus.

The reference to the spring of Arethusa in lines 404 to 406 of Book 13 in "The Odyssey," when Pallas Athene, daughter of Zeus, directing Odysseus back to his kingdom in the guise of a beggar, counsels him first to seek his swineherd. As translated by A. T. Murray, Athene says:

"Thou wilt find him abiding by the swine and there feeding by the rock of Korax and the spring Arethusa, eating acorns to their hearts' content and drinking black water, things which cause the rich flesh of swine to wax fat."

HITLERITES ASSAIL JEWS.

Fascist Press Accuses Them of "Immoralizing Germany."

BERLIN, Aug. 11 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency).—A renewed wave of anti-Semitic agitation has begun to flood the Hitlerite [Fascist] press in various parts of Germany in connection with the forthcoming elections to the Reichstag. The propaganda, which is widespread, accuses the Jews of "immoralizing Germany." A number of individual papers are even demanding the expulsion of thhe Jews from the country.

The Berlin papers declare that Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, Nationalist leader and publisher, has consulted with Dr. Ernst Scholz, leader of the People's party, which was founded by the late Dr. Gustav Stresemann, concerning the possibility of creating a coalition government of the National Socialists [Fascists] and the People's party after the September elections.

STOPS UNGER FUNERAL WITH A COURT ORDER

Candy Manufacturer's Widow Brings Body From Philadelphia for Burial Here.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 11.—Litigation that has revolved around Aaron Unger, New York candy manufacturer, and his financial affairs for several months pursued his body almost to the grave today. Mr. Unger died yesterday in a Landsdowne apartment where his relatives charged he had been kept a "captive" by Miss Amelia Phillips, a former actress.

Miss Phillips had planned to have the burial here, but Unger's wife, from whom he had been separated eight years, obtained possession of the body and took it to New York after funeral services had been delayed an hour by a court action.

Services were held here after the delay, with Mrs. Unger, their two children, Bernard and Blanche; Mr. Unger's brothers, Elias and Abraham Unger; Miss Phillips and several relatives attending.

Indications of a legal battle over the manufacturer's estate developed during the afternoon when Marcus Berman, attorney for Miss Phillips, stated that he would file the will in Media late this week. Robert W. Beatty of Media, attorney for Mrs. Unger, immedately filed a caveat in the county court to prevent admission of the will to probate.

The size of the estate has not been revealed. The portions of his estate in New York were estimated at $80,000.

Funeral services for Aaron Unger will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at Alpert Brothers' Funeral Parlors, 216 Lenox Avenue. Burial will follow in Mount Lebanon Cemetery.

DEER SWIM RIVER IN FLEEING FIRE

ROAD WORKERS IN BATTLE

Factory Men Also Released in Effort to Check Advance of the Flames.

Special to The New York Times.

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Aug. 11.—One of the worst fires in the history of Northern New Jersey continued to rage today despite the efforts of hundreds of men who have been battling it for several days. The fire late today threatened the timber in the game preserve of C. C. Worthington and the Buckwood Inn, owned by Mr. Worthington, at Shawnee-on-the-Delaware, on the north side of the Kittatinny Mountains.

Several hundred men employed on a road construction job north of Blairstown, N. J., have been taken from their work and sent out to battle the flames, while Mr. Worthington, who owns the Worthington Mower Works in Stroudsburg, closed his plant and sent all of his men to help fight the fire.

The fire has already burned over hundreds of acres in the difficult mountain land and unless it can be stopped it soon will get into the New Jersey State game preserve and the Worthington preserve, where hundreds of deer are located. Many of these deer are already said to have swum the river to escape the flames.

The work of fighting the fire is being directed by L. S. Fales of Butler, N. J., division fire warden, in charge of fires between Trenton, N. J., and the New York State line. Yesterday several trips were made over the fire area by Mr. Fales in an airplane from the Columbia (N. J.) Airport, and fires were spotted and directions dropped to ground crews.

The leaves on the ground, accumulations from last Winter, are so dry that the fire seems to burn under the ground, and may go for some time before it breaks out on top again.

Boy Scout troops who are camping along the Delaware River in the vicinity of the fire area have volunteered their services, and under the directions of their Scout masters and fire wardens have been in the woods in relief squads for several days fighting the flames.

The cause of the fire has definitely been placed as the fault of huckleberry pickers. The wardens say that at least fifty of these were found coming from the woods when the fires were first reported and they readily admitted that one of their number must have been responsible for the flames, but there have been so many in the woods that no effort to fix responsibility has been made.

NEWMAN D. WAFFL,
Headmaster of Carteret Academy in Orange, N. J., Who Is Virtually Given Up for Lost on Mount Robson, B. C., Which He Attempted to Climb Alone.

WAFFL VOICED WISH TO DIE ON A MOUNTAIN

MOUNT ROBSON, B. C., Aug. 11 (Canadian Press.)—Searching parties held little hope today that Newman D. Waffl, New Jersey schoolmaster, would be found alive after his attempt to scale the treacherous slopes of 13,000-foot Mount Robson. The headmaster of Carteret Academy at Orange has been missing since Tuesday.

"I'd rather die on a mountain slope than expire in bed," the teacher remarked as he left Berg Lake camp with two days' provisions, planning to take a new route to the snow-capped top of Robson. The mountain has never been scaled by the western ridges, up which Waffl planned to climb. It was first conquered in 1913 by Conrad Kain, Swiss guide, and has since been surmounted several times, always by southern slopes.

Already the contours of many hanging glaciers have been altered since Waffl vanished. A hot sun has melted the ice, sending white avalanches crashing down the mountain-side.

Today Hans and Henry Fuhrer, Swiss guides, arrived from Maligne Lake in Jasper Park to aid in the quest for the missing man.

Footprints, believed to have been left by him, were discerned leading to the topmost field of ice by A. B. Hargreaves and José Sadlana, both experienced climbers. The men hesitated to venture farther along the treacherous slip because of hazardous snow conditions, with snowslides threatening at every move.

Cardboard from a box of raisins and silver paper from a chewing gum packet were picked up on upper reaches of the west route as Waffl's trail was followed.

Each step in the search is being flashed to Mrs. Waffl, who is confined to bed at Orange with a broken hip.

Dr. W. H. Hainsworth of New York has forwarded by telegroph from the East his opinion of the route the schoolmaster would follow. Earlier in the season, Dr. Hainsworth, with Waffl and two others, sought to traverse Robson, but were turned back by storm and snow conditions.

Special to The New York Times.

ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 11.—Mrs. Newman D. Waffl, who is in Orange Memorial Hospital, was told today of her husband's probable fate.

Her daughter, Mrs. H. J. O'Connor, who lives at the home of her parents, said her mother took the news bravely. She added that the family has given up hope.

Sweeten the stomach—instantly

About two hours after eating many people suffer from sour stomachs. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been over-stimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali, which neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

The right way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia — just a tasteless dose in water. It is pleasant, efficient and harmless. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

It is the quick method. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved method. You will never use another when you know.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle — any drugstore.

SAY DOCTORS AIDED WOUNDED GANGSTER

SECRET HELP ALLEGED

New Jersey Hold-Up Victims Identify Five of Suspects—Two to Be Queried in Killing.

Four Newark physicians were arrested as material witnesses last night as a result of the Sunday morning round-up in which the police caught nine men and three women, alleged members of a hold-up band that has been operating in New York and in Northern New Jersey. The physicians, according to Captain Philip Brex, failed to report that they had treated a wounded member of the gang in Newark General Hospital.

The four doctors are Dr. Charles Gnassi, superintendent of the hospital; Dr. Joseph Iuliani, Dr. Angelo Bianchi and Dr. J. B. Casale, brother of Police Judge Anthony Casale of Kearny, N. J. After they had been questioned by Captain Brex, Dr. Gnassi and Dr. Iuliani were released under $500 bond and the two other physicians were paroled.

The gunman who was taken to the hospital for treatment is Walter Alberti, 19 years old, of West Twenty-seventh Street. He was wounded the night of July 10 by Patrolman Robert Lewis of the West Sixty-eighth Street station after he and four companions had held up a garage at 2,320 Broadway, the police charge.

The other members of the gang managed to get Alberti to an apartment in the Bronx shared by Arthur (Alamo Red) Cowan and a Miss Mary Harkeem, a nurse. Later they took him by automobile to Dr. Iuliani's office, according to the police, and arranged to have him taken to Newark General Hospital, where he was operated on July 29. Dr. Gnassi is alleged to have told Captain Brex that Dr. Iuliani had reported the wound as an old war wound and later said that Alberti had been hit in a bootleggers' feud.

Alberti was registered at the hospital as Jackson Tyler and until he was removed to Newark General Hospital on Sunday after the gang was rounded up, he had Miss Harkeem as day and night nurse. She had formerly served in the Unity Hospital in Brooklyn. At the Newark General Hospital she posed as "Mrs. Jackson Tyler."

James (Brighteyes) Gilroy and Philip Donovan, both of the Bronx, who were among the twelve rounded up, are alleged to have confessed to the Newark police that they committed a number of holdups in Northern New Jersey after Alberti was wounded, so that they might obtain funds to pay for Alberti's hospital treatment.

Donovan and Gilroy, Captain Brex said, are to be brought to New York to be questioned in connection with the slaying of Patrick Conroy. Conroy was killed on July 7 in a speakeasy at 527 West 133d Street, where he was drinking when the gang entered. Donovan and Gilroy are alleged to have told the police that James Gannon, who was arrested the night of the garage hold-up, hit Conroy on the head with a blackjack, because he thought Conroy was feigning sleep.

Brex said that Donovan, Gilroy, Cowan, Joseph (Bottles) Sahm of New York and Michael Popola of Silver Lake, N. J., have admitted that they participated in seven hold-ups in Northern New Jersey as well as fifteen or more in mid-town New York, most of them in speakeasies. The only crime with which Alberti was linked was the garage hold-up in New York.

At the line-up in Newark police headquarters yesterday Gilroy, Cowan, Donovan, Popola and Sahm were identified by victims of hold-ups in the following places, according to the police:

Savoy Theatre, Newark; Salzberg Brothers Drug Store, Orange; Donahue's Roadhouse, Clifton; International Milk Corporation, Irvington; College Lodge, Mountain View; James Cox's drugstore, East Orange, and the Chateur Lodge, Little Falls, all in New Jersey. The loot, in most of the hold-ups was between $150 and $500.

12-Inch Gap in Railroad Track, Fast Train Thunders by Safely

Special to The New York Times.

HAMMONTON, N. J., Aug. 11.—Traveling at sixty miles an hour, an express train of seven cars loaded with passengers from Atlantic City to Philadelphia, passed safely tonight over a twelve-inch gap in one of the rails at the Hammonton station

Other passenger trains passing through here tonight were forced to jump the breech, traveling at only three miles an hour, pending repairs tomorrow morning.

How the piece of rail came to be missing was not known, and the condition of the track was not discovered until the flyer had roared through the station. As each of the trucks of the engine and coaches passed over the spot, there was a thunderous crash and a shower of sparks.

SEES HONDURAN ACCORD.

Vasquez Says Our Relations With His Nation Are at Highest Level.

The relations between Honduras and the United States have never been better, nor has the financial, national and economic rapprochement reached a more sympathetic level than at the present time, Mario Vasquez, former Finance Minister of Honduras, declared yesterday in discussing the attitude of South America toward the United States.

Mr. Vasquez described his country as being in complete accord with the political policy of the United States and said that the prevalent hue-and-cry in Latin America was not substantiated by many of the smaller countries, particularly in Central America. Mr. Vasquez is now at the Hotel Manger and expects soon to return to South America.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (AP).—The report of the International Boundary Commission on adjustment of the course of the Rio Grande River arrived at the State Department tonight from the American Embassy in Mexico City.

Department officials tonight had not concluded reading the document, but it was indicated a statement would be made on the subject this week after consultations have been held among the assistant secretaries, the Division of Mexican Affairs and the Solicitor's office.

SACHS HOME LOOTED BY APPAREL THIEVES

STRONG BOX IS OVERLOOKED

Police Deny Report of 20 Similar Robberies—Believe Intruders Used Duplicate Key.

The twenty-room duplex apartment of Howard Joseph Sachs of Goldman, Sachs & Co. on the eighteenth and nineteenth floors of the apartment house at 784 Park Avenue was entered some time last week by burglars who stole apparel belonging to Mrs. Sachs, it was learned yesterday.

Although the police of the East Sixty-seventh Street station had concealed news of the burglary until it leaked out yesterday, they denied last night a published report that there had been twenty similar burglaries in the Park Avenue district since July 1.

Mr. Sachs discovered that his wife's bedroom had been looted when he motored into town from his country place near Stamford, Conn., last Friday morning. He notified the police, and Mrs. Sachs listed the missing apparel as two evening gowns, one of white satin and one of red crêpe; an evening wrap, and a silver fox scarf. She told the police she could make no estimate of the value of the missing property.

A strongbox which had rested in a closet off the bedroom apparently had gone unnoticed by the thieves. It contained only a few articles of minor value, the police were told, as Mrs. Sachs had most of her valuables with her at her country home.

Nothing else in the apartment had been disturbed and there were no marks to show how entrance had been gained. The detectives said that all the windows were locked. They held to a theory that the thieves had used a duplicate key.

McCARTER RESUMES POST.

Will Push Inquiry as Special Prosecutor in Ocean County.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 11.—Robert H. McCarter, who resigned as Special Assistant Attorney General after Supreme Court Justice Joseph L. Bodine had discharged the Ocean County grand jury, agreed today to continue in office as special prosecutor during the investigation to be resumed by the grand jury, which was reinstated Saturday.

The grand jury indicted Prosecutor James Mercer Davis and two detectives, but Justice Peter F. Daly directed the trial jury to acquit them for lack of evidence. Justice Bodine then dismissed the grand jury and Mr. McCarter submitted his resignation. He had planned to ask the Supreme Court to review Justice Bodine's action, and was preparing the application when Justice Bodine called the jury back into session

Defends Play From Attack

While the clergy were approving the Catholic crusade Robert Sparks under whose management the Philadelphia Theatre Association is presenting "Lysistrata," defended that play He declared in a statement.

"I am shocked that after having been played for five weeks in Philadelphia and ten weeks in New York 'Lysistrata' should be the object of so violent an attack as has been launched against it by the Catholic Theatre Movement. Assuredly no dramatic attraction during the past decade with the exception of 'The Green Pastures,' has received such enthusiastic approval and support from the playgoing public as well as from the press.

"The late Dr. Horace Howard Furness, distinguished scholar and student and former president of the Board of Theatre Control of Philadelphia, was responsible for this production and it was the first of a series of plays which he planned to produce to show the progression of comedy through the ages. Unfortunately his death last April caused a cancellation of the original program, but the fact that 'Lysistrata' is a leading Broadway success indicates the wide and intelligent interest in his project. 'Lysistrata' was produced exclusively for Philadelphia, but the urgent demand that it be brought to New York caused it to be transferred here last June under my management.

Denies "Mockery" in Comedy

"As a matter of stage literature, 'Lysistrata' is one of the oldest comedies on record, and the manner in which the robust humor of the original version has been retained in the present production is an epochal achievement for the modern theatre.

"This quality has been labeled by the Catholic theatre movement as 'unabashed pagan mockery.' There is no 'mockery' in the effective movement of the women of Greece under the leadership of Lysistrata to end war for all time and to bring about the peace and brotherhood of man. Its theme of peace and its exposure of the political selfishness of 'a war to save the State' are as pertinently important to the world in 1930 as they were in 411 B. C., when Aristophanes's 'Lysistrata' was first produced in Athens. It is difficult to reconcile this with the attempt of a religious body to end the career of a stage masterpiece and particularly one which is not sponsored by a commercial management in the Broadway sense."

The immediate box-office effect of the criticism directed at "Lysistrata" was made apparent yesterday when the advance sale, which has averaged about $1,000 a day throughout the Summer, increased to $2,500, according to Mr. Sparks.

Norman Carroll, general manager for the "Vanities," said yesterday that neither he nor his brother, Earl Carroll, had any statement to make concerning the criticism against that show.

When asked yesterday whether the police were contemplating any action regarding the alleged stage obscenity, Commissioner Mulrooney said: "If there is any form of complaint made we will act on it."

AIR DISPUTE FALLS ON PRESIDENT AGAIN

Hurley Says Army and Navy Have Failed to Agree on Coast Defense Service.

GEN. MITCHELL STARTED ROW

He Inserted Disputed Phrase in Bill in 1920—Drought Delays Hoover's Action.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The burden has again been thrown back on President Hoover of settling the newly revived controversy between the War and Navy Departments as to which shall control the aerial defense of the Panama Canal and the Pearl Harbor naval base.

The failure of the two departments to reach an agreement was revealed today by Secretary Hurley. In a statement he explained that the controversy, which in the opinion of some high ranking officers of the two services is little more than "a tempest in a teapot," goes back to the days when Brig. Gen. William Mitchell was the assistant chief of the Army Air Service.

The whole trouble is one of twenty-three innocent-sounding words which in 1920 General Mitchell persuaded the House Committee on Appropriations to insert in the law of that year. The wrangle has been in progress almost from the day the law was enacted until today, the rumpus coming to a head when, a few weeks ago, Secretary Hurley submitted the matter to President Hoover and asked him to settle it once and for all.

At first the President was inclined to let the Bureau of Efficiency handle the difficulty, but he is understood to have decided that it would be best to let the heads of the War and Navy Departments have one more chance to find an answer to the problem. Now, however, the problem has returned to its original status.

Drought Delays Settlement.

There is little prospect, however, that the President can give attention to the dispute before the problem created by the drought has been disposed of.

Secretary Hurley said in his statement:

"The controversy originated in the following provision of the appropriation bill of 1920:

"'And provided further that hereafter the Army Air Service shall control all aerial operations from land bases and navy aviation shall have control of all aerial operations attached to a fleet, including shore stations whose maintenance is necessary for operation connected with the fleet, for construction and experimentation and for the training of personnel.'

"The interpretation to be given the clause beginning 'including shore stations whose maintenance,' &c., has been a subject of discussion between the two departments ever since.

Attorney General Avoids Issue.

"The Attorney General declined to accede to the request of the Navy Department to render an opinion in the matter. The Navy Department, however, in submitting its brief, raised certain questions of vital importance to the army, of which I considered it necessary to take cognizance. This I did by submitting the matter to the President. In view of the fact that it is now before him, I do not consider it proper to discuss publicly the issues involved."

The twenty-three words General Mitchell persuaded the lawmakers of Congress to write into the law are the last twenty-three of the paragraph in the law quoted by Secretary Hurley.

Army Contends for Land Stations.

The navy interprets the position of the army to be that in the event of war the navy scouting planes operating from shore bases will fly out to sea and locate the enemy craft and then send word back to the army fliers "to come out and sink 'em." The navy contends that in time of war it functions not only on the sea but under it and also above it. That's all right, says the army, provided you operate from airplane carriers or other sea craft fitted for aviation, but "keep away from the shore" and let the army do the fighting when the land stations are involved.

Strict application of the law as interpreted by the army, the navy argues, might even mean the practical abandonment of the great naval shore stations at San Diego, Hampton Roads and the Panama Canal Zone.

Secretary Adams and Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the Naval Bureau of Aeronautics, were in conference for more than an hour this afternoon on the tangle.

Both declined to make any statement after the conference.

SENATORS VISIT MOSCOW.

Americans Will Spend a Week There Before Continuing Tour.

MOSCOW, Aug. 11 (AP).—A party of United States Senators arrived here today with the "open roads" pilgrimage for a two weeks' visit in Russia. Senators Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, Bronson Cutting of New Mexico and Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky were in the group.

The party will spend a week in Moscow and another in Leningrad. They will visit the Kremlin, where they will see the Russian crown jewels. A reception will be given to them by the Western Chamber of Commerce. The Senators will also have discussions with the State Planning Commission, the education authorities and the Council of Trade Unions. They will return by way of Warsaw, Prague, Vienna and Rome.

JACKSON AND O'BRINE NEAR ENDURANCE MARK

St. Louis Fliers Will Pass Hunters' Record if in Air at 9:52 A. M. (C. S. T.) Wednesday.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 11 (AP).—Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brine were counting off the hours tonight as they came nearer and nearer the 554-hour endurance flight mark held by the Hunter brothers of Sparta, Ill.

First it was weeks, then days, and now it is only a matter of hours until the record taken to Chicago from St. Louis may be back here again. If the "Greater St. Louis" plane is still in the air at 9:52 A. M. Central Standard Time (11:52 A. M. Daylight Saving Time) Wednesday, Jackson and O'Brine will have exceeded the Hunter brothers' mark by one hour, as is required under rules governing endurance flights.

If the St. Louis airmen establish a new endurance record it probably will be witnessed by the fliers who are losing it. For the Hunter brothers arrived at Lambert-St. Louis Field today and expect to remain several days. The Jackson-O'Brine flight has cost the Hunter brothers $100,000 in potential contracts, their manager, Harry Perkins said, but they do not contemplate another endurance flight.

The "Greater St. Louis" plane had been aloft 513 hours at 4:11 P. M. today. "The engine is running fine," O'Brine said over the radio this morning. "We are having a lot of fun out of this flight. Just two more days and we will be sailing down hill."

The fliers intend to stay in the air eight days beyond the present mark and to set a record of about 750 hours that will discourage rival endurance fliers.

Jackson and O'Brine were heartened today with the first prospects of financial returns for their venture. The oil company from which they are buying their oil announced that it would give them $100 an hour for seventy hours after they break the existing record. A national radio chain also is negotiating for broadcasting rights.

Plans for a fireworks display at the flying field Wednesday night if the record is broken were completed today. The celebration will be financed by commercial flying concerns which have done a brisk business in sightseeing tours during the flight.

Sound motion picture photographers have established headquarters at the field to wait until Jackson and O'Brine come down.

have been recurrent for years. The city, regarded as law observing by its all-the-year residents during the rest of the year, is filled with race followers from New York City and other large urban centres throughout August, when Saratoga takes on an appearance of intense activity, with many hotels, restaurants and stores opening only for the short period.

The last instance of action by a Governor on complaints of gambling in Saratoga Springs was in 1926, when Alfred E. Smith, then Governor, ordered a Moreland act investigation with Supreme Court Justice Heffernan presiding. Dr. Arthur J. Leonard, a personal fried of Mr. Smith, who was then Commissioner of Public Safety of Saratoga Springs, resigned his office. The other officials investigated were District Attorney Charles B. Andrus and Sheriff Arthur G. Wilmot.

The charges on which the 1926 investigation was based were made by Peter A. Finley, president of the Saratoga Taxpayers' Association. Justice Heffernan held hearings at the county court house in Ballston. Justice Heffernan found that gambling had been conducted openly in Saratoga, even while the hearings were going on, and recommended that Saratoga Springs be relieved of the "contaminating touch" of the three officials.

Governor Smith removed District Attorney Andrus and Sheriff Wilmot for neglect of duty. All three officials in reply to the charges denied any wrongdoing and each declared he had tried to perform his duty to the best of his ability.

WILL NAME POWER BOARD.

Roosevelt Awaits Acceptance by the Third Member.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Aug. 11.—The special water power commission is to be named by Governor Roosevelt within a day or two, he announced this afternoon. The commission, it is expected, will get down to business about Sept. 1.

The commission will investigate the proposal for State-developed power on the St. Lawrence River. It is also to report on the method of transmitting the power to consumers.

Water power interests have contended that the commission should not only study State development of power, but also privately developed power.

Governor Roosevelt said this afternoon that two of the three persons he is to name on this commission have accepted and he is awaiting word from the third. As soon as this is received he will make public the names.

Fall Kills Two Steeplejacks.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 11 (AP).—Two steeplejacks working inside a 125-foot chimney at the Union Electric Light and Power Company power house here were instantly killed today when they fell from a platform near the top of the structure. The dead are Harold Waldon of Clearmont, Ind., and Harold Goss of Indianapolis. Bruce Russell of Littleton, Ala., saved himself by grabbing a rope.

WALKER SUMMONED IN EWALD INQUIRY

ert, Mrs. Ewald's father, appeared in Mr. Tuttle's inquiry into Ewald's and Healy's income tax payments. The Federal grand jury's minutes were in Mr. Crain's office last night.

It was through Boczor that Ewald banked most of his commissions on the sale of stocks of the Cotter Butte Mines, Inc., when Ewald was director of that concern. After telling his story this morning before Mr. Crain, Boczor will be subpoenaed to appear before the county grand jury tomorrow, together with Mrs. Ewald, Tommaney and Eckert, who have also received subpoenas.

Despite the fact that until Mr. Crain's announcement yesterday Mr. Boczor was the "mystery witness" in the present investigation, he is not altogether a stranger in the case. Together with five other witnesses he was examined on July 18 by Assistant District Attorney Hastings in a preliminary investigation into the charge that Ewald, as magistrate, dismissed a speeding charge against a third offender after a friend of the latter had purchased $1,000 worth of stock of the Cotter Butte Mines, Inc., of which Ewald was a director.

Mr. Tuttle's investigation into the affairs of this company resulted in the indictment of Ewald and others on a charge of conspiracy and using the mails to defraud. It was the inqury into the affairs of this organization which resulted in the discovery of evidence leading to the investgation of Ewald's appointment to the bench.

Boczor's testimony before Mr. Crain this morning and before the grand jury tomorrow, it was said, may be of decisive effect in the disposition of the case. In accordance with Mr. Crain's expressed wish, Mr. Tuttle placed the name and address of this witness in a sealed envelope, which was rushed by messenger to the District Attorney's office.

Crain's Letter to Walker.

Following is the letter addressed to Mayor Walker by Mr. Crain requesting him to appear at his office today:

Hon. James J. Walker, Mayor of the City of New York,

Dear Sir:

I have noticed with satisfaction your expressed willingness to give full information respecting the circumstances which led to the appointment of George F. Ewald as a city magistrate on or about April 30, 1927.

I consider it to the public interest that you give testimony before the grand jury at 11 o'clock, Wednesday morning, Aug. 13, 1930, on the following points:

When you became acquainted with Mr. Ewald.

When you met him.

By whom was he introduced to you?

Approximately the number of occasions between that time and the date when you appointed him a city magistrate that you met him and, generally, what you knew about him prior to and at the time you appointed him.

By whom and under what circumstances was his name suggested to you for appointment?

By whom and in what way was he recommended to you?

More particularly, what interviews, if any, you had either with George W. Olvaney and Martin J. Healy respecting the making of the appointment at or about the time you appointed Mr. Ewald.

These data are given as an aid for the refreshment of your recollection respecting these matters. As a matter of regularity of procedure the bearer will serve you with a grand jury subpoena and I will be pleased if you will find it convenient to come to the District Attorney's office tomorrow in order that I may, if possible, make stenographic notes of such information as you may give.

With the assurance of my regards, I am sincerely yours,

THOMAS C. T. CRAIN,
District Attorney,
New York County.

Note Sent to Olvany.

Mr. Crain's letter to Mr. Olvany read:

My dear Mr. Olvany:

I will be pleased if you can make it convenient to call at the District Attorney's office some time tomorrow, Tuesday, Aug. 12, between 10 and 12 o'clock, in order that I may learn from you some facts in connection with the appointment of George F. Ewald as a City Magistrate in order that I may determine whether or not public interest requires that you should be subpoenaed as a witness before the county grand jury.

THOMAS C. T. CRAIN,
District Attorney.

In his testimony before Mr. Crain yesterday Healy said he had never discussed the appointment of Ewald either with the Mayor or Mr. Olvany. He denied also ever corresponding with them on the matter.

Healy arrived at the Criminal Court Building accompanied by his attorneys, Mr. Hackenburg and Alfred Schwartz. All three remained closeted with Mr. Crain for nearly an hour.

Healy's Story Revealed.

Mr. Crain summarized the results of his interrogation of Healy as follows:

"Some time before the Spring of 1927 Commissioner Healy wanted to buy a house at Blue Point. About January, 1927, he spoke to Tommaney, asking Tommaney to try and get him a loan of $10,000. After they had had several talks in the latter part of April, Tommaney called at Healy's house and said in substance, 'I've gotten you the loan,' and turned over to Healy $5,000 in five $1,000 bills cash and a certified check for $5,000 drawn by Bertha Eckert. He asked Tommaney who Bertha Eckert was and Tommaney said she was George F. Ewald's wife. He suggested to Tommaney that he would give Tommaney a promissory note for repayment of the money, but Tommaney said they were such good friends such a note was not necessary, whereupon Healy said that he expected to repay Tommaney the money by May 1, 1932, without interest.

"Healy deposited the certified check after endorsing it in the Harlem branch of the Corn Exchange Bank and some days afterward he deposited the $5,000 he had received in cash. About the month of June he drew a check to the order of his wife for $10,000, with which she opened two accounts in the Emigrant Savings Bank, one for $7,500 and one for $2,500.

"He said he did not buy the house he had in mind at the time of obtaining the loan, that during the following Summer he and his wife looked at different houses and that about the middle of August, 1927, they saw the house which they afterward bought. He thinks that title was taken in his name and his wife's name, that the contract was signed about the middle of September, $1,000 being in cash and the balance of $7,500 about the middle of October, the money being withdrawn from the Emigrant Savings Bank by Mrs. Healy.

"He said also that about $1,500 was spent by Mrs. Healy on repairs on the house, that he had no conversation with Mayor Walker or with Judge Olvany respecting the appointment of Ewald as a city magistrate, or, so far as he can recollect, with any one else. He said also that Ewald said to him in substance one night at the Cayuga Tammany Club that he, Ewald, was endorsed by the Steuben Society for the appointment; that he would like Healy's help, and that Healy said in substance if he could do anything for him he would do so.

"This conversation took place three or four weeks before the appointment. This, he said, was all he heard about it until the appointment was made and then, he thinks, only casually when he was down at City Hall."

Says He Did Not Know Mrs. Ewald.

According to the stenographic record of Healy's interrogation he said he had never met Mrs. Ewald until their appearance in the Federal Building when they were called by Mr. Tuttle, the occasion when together with Tommaney they declined to testify on the ground that it might tend to degrade or incriminate them.

"I may have met her as we meet thousands of people at some affairs but I never recalled being introduced to her at any time," he said.

His acquaintance with Tommaney, Healy said, has been of long standing, having met him in 1919 or 1920, when Healy was a member of the state legislature. The acquaintance, Healy believed, dated from the time when he met Tommaney at a patriotic celebration in Harlem, when Healy spoke at a dedication service dedicating some trees in honor "of the local boys who had died at the front."

Tommaney joined the Cayuga Club, Healy's organization, becoming a frequent vistor. He visited Healy also frequently at his home and together they would often walk back from the club, Healy testified. He denied that he was instrumental in getting Tommaney's appointment as an investigator in the office of the Board of Aldermen, a position held by Tommaney until his recent appointment to his present office. Tommaney entered the employ of the Board of Aldermen under the administration of William T. Collins, then president of the board, Healy said. Mr. Collins is now a Supreme Court Justice. He was recently exonerated in the investigation of former Judge J. Bernard Vause in connection with the latter's acceptance of free transportation to Europe from the United American Lines in return for obtaining pier leases for the line. Justice Collins was a guest of Vause on the free trip.

Examination of Healy.

Q.—About when did you first meet George F. Ewald? A.—I knew him off and on I should say. The first time I should say seven or eight years ago.

Q.—In other words, Tommaney you have known a little longer than you had Ewald? A.—I imagine so.

Q.—George F. Ewald became a member of the Cayuga Club? A.—Oh, yes.

Q.—About when, would you say? A.—I have no idea. I think he joined the club prior to my being a member of the executive committee. He joind it before me.

Q.—In other words at the time you became the executive member Ewald was already a member of the Cayuga Club? A.—To my knowledge and belief. Of course I have reason to believe he was. I saw him around there.

Healy then admitted in answer to an inquiry that he had seen Ewald at the club from "time to time." The examination continued:

Q.—When you first became acquainted with George F. Ewald do you recall who introduced him to you or the circumstances under which you met him?. A.—Not now.

Q.—Was he at that time holding any office?. A.—I don't think so.

Q.—He was appointed a Deputy Assistant District Attorney. Isn't that so?. A.—Yes.

Q.—Was that appointment made after you had become leader?. A.—I think so. Of course I don't know that. I am only imagining that in my mind. I wouldn't know.

Q.—You recommended him for appointment on the District Attorney's staff? A.—No, sir.

Q.—You knew of his application for appointment to the District Attorney's staff? A.—I think so.

Healy then said the appointment was agreeable to him and the questioning continued:

Q.—Under what circumstances was his name, if you recall, suggested to you, if it was, for appointment as Deputy Assistant District Attorney? A.—His name was never suggested to me.

Q.—How and under what circumstances did you learn of his appointment as a Deputy Assistant District Attorney? A.—I afterward learned he was appointed through the sponsorship of the Steuben Society or some German-American societies of some kind. I think it was the Steuben Society. It was through their sponsorship he got that. That is it was my belief at that time. I never was curious enough to find out. I believe that was it.

Q.—And he was a member of the district club of which you were also a member? A.—Yes.

Tells of Ewald's Activities.

Q.—Was he an election district captain?

A.—He was a sort of an assistant captain once or twice.

Q.—He couldn't very well be that unless he was a member of the county committee. Isn't that so? A.—That is invariably the practice.

Q.—He has been what you might call an assistant captain for about how many years? A.—One or two terms. I think one or two terms, because the minute he got that job that stopped him from his activity.

Q.—As soon as he became—A. (interrupting)—A Deputy Assistant District Attorney he ceased his political activities.

A.—Who was District Attorney at the time of the appointment of George F. Ewald as a deputy, Mr. Banton? A.—I think he was; yes, sir it was Banton. Yes.

Q.—Did you call from time to time at the home of George F. Ewald? A.—Never was in the home in my life.

At this point Healy again denied talking with Ewald about his job and the examination continued:

Q.—Well, you became aware perhaps that it would be agreeable to Mr. Ewald, as he was then to be named a city magistrate? A.—I didn't get you.

Q.—I say you became aware that it would be agreeable to Mr. Ewald to be appointed to the position of city magistrate? A.—When did I become?

Knew Ewald Wanted Bench Job.

Q.—I say you did become aware of that?

A.—That he was a candidate?

Q.—That he was a candidate? A.—Yes. Yes, sir.

Q.—Just tell me how you learned that. Suppose you have the kindness to tell me in your own words how you, as leader of the Nineteenth Assembly District and as a fellow club member of George F. Ewald, learned that Ewald wished to the appointed a city magistrate?

Q.—If I remember rightly he came to the club one night and said that the Steuben Society was sponsoring him for a vacancy which was coming to their society because of its German-American affiliations, and he asked could I be of any service—the exact words I can't recall—would I assist him. I think, if I remember right, I said: "If I can be of any service to you it would be a pleasure to help you." Something like that; "if I can be of any service to you I would like to help you. I would like to help you" or "call on me again." He never called again.

Q.—You and he were sitting in one of the rooms, I suppose, of the clubhouse? A.—In the regular office which is open.

Q.—When that conversation took place? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Was it an evening? A—Oh, yes. Yes, sir.

Q.—You were at a desk? A.—A regular desk, with the secretary next to me, and I think my stenographer there, if I remember, and the people waiting on seats to see me.

Q.—He sat down alongside of you? A.—Yes, right in front of the desk, like this gentleman [pointing to stenographer] is to you.

Q.—And what did he say to you? A.—"The Steuben Society or the German-American Societies are sponsoring me for a vacancy about to occur or will occur or can occur," some words like that, and would I help him, and I think my answer was "if I can be of service, call upon me," or words to that effect; something like that.

Q.—Let me ask you this: About how long before his appointment was that talk? A.—I don't remember, Judge.

Q.—Assuming he was sworn in on the 30th of April, 1927, what would be your best recollection as to about how long before that date this talk took place between you and he? A.—May have been a week; may have been two weeks, may have been two months. To be frank, I don't recollect that.

Q.—Well, between that talk and the date of his appointment did he speak to you again about it? A.—No.

Denies Talking to Olvany.

Q.—Did you have any conversation with George W. Olvany in which you suggested the name of George F. Ewald for appointment as a city magistrate? A.—Never had a talk with Judge Olvany; never to my recollection. I never did have a talk in reference to George F. Ewald.

Q.—Did you have a talk with Mayor Walker in which you recommended the appointment of George F. Ewald as a city magistrate? A.—No.

Q.—Did you write any letter to either Mr. Olvany or Mayor Walker or any one else, recommending the appointment or suggesting the appointment of George F. Ewald as a city magistrate? A.—No.

Q.—So you are prepared to say that you did not convey by word of mouth to anybody connected with the Cayuga Club or the Democratic County Committee of the Nineteenth Assembly District your wish that George F. Ewald be appointed a City Magistrate by the Mayor?

A.—I did not.

Q.—How long, if at all, before his appointment did you learn that he was going to be appointed? A.—I never learned until I imagine that day or something like that I learned about it.

Q.—I suppose that during those months and before the appointment you had occasion to see Mayor Walker quite frequently?

A.—I had occasion to but I don't recollect seeing him. You mean to say I could see him if I wanted to?

Q.—What I mean to say is as a matter of fact did you go to see him often during those months? A.—I never had any recollection of seeing him but on a few occasions in all the period he was in office.

Admits Getting Cash.

Q.—Did you receive a sum of money from Thomas T. Tommaney? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Will you kindly give me, as nearly as you can, the date when you received it? A.—Some time in the latter part of April; in the latter part of April.

Q.—Of 1927? A. Yes, sir.

Q.—How much did you get from him? A.—$10,000.

Q.—In what form was it paid to you? A.—Certified check for $5,000 and five one thousand dollar bills.

Q.—By whom was the check drawn? A.—By Bertha Eckert.

Q.—Now let me see if I can refresh your recollection. The check was a check of Bertha Ewald, wasn't it? A.—No, sir, Bertha Eckert.

Q.—Are you sure about that? A.—Positive.

Q.—Did you know at the time who Bertha Eckert was?

A.—No, I didn't but I inquired.

Q.—It was a check that was drawn to the order of whom?

A.—Thomas T. Tommaney.

Q.—And he endorsed it to you? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—And at the time he gave you five one thousand dollar bills? A.—Yes, at the same time.

Q.—Where were you and he at that time? A.—I think it was in my house. I am not sure. I think it was the house or the club.

Q.—Which was it? A.—I think the house.

Q.—What hour of the day or night? A.—I think it was in the evening, before I went to the club, around 8 o'clock, quarter to 8 or 8:15.

Q.—Tommaney came in? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—You were expecting him? A.—No, I don't think I was. He comes in in the course of various evenings. It is not uncommon for him or somebody to call.

Q.—You weren't surprised at his coming. He didn't come as the result of any appointment? A.—No, he did not.

Q.—Well, I take it, he sat down in your sitting room? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—And you and he had a talk? A.—Yes.

Denies $10,000 Was Gift.

Healy then recounted his conversation with Tommaney and concluded by emphatically denying he considered the $10,000 a gift.

As Healy and his two attorneys left the room where the examination took place, he turned to Mr. Crain and asked:

"Do you want me again?"

"No, that is all," replied Mr. Crain.

"Don't you want me to go before the grand jury?" Healy queried.

"Yes, if you sign a waiver of immunity," was Mr. Crain's reply.

Astonished, Healy drew back, saying, "I'll have to consult with my counsel about that."

"Very well," Mr. Crain rejoined quietly.

Later in the afternoon Mr. Hackenburg revisited Mr. Crain's office, and following the lawyer's departure Mr. Crain announced that Healy had agreed to sign a waiver.

Questioning of Tommaney.

Tommaney's examination proceeded as follows:

Q.—Mr. Tommaney, after you received the $5,000 check and the five $1,000 bills from Mrs. Ewald did you go at once to Commissioner Healy? A.—Yes, I went. I don't know whether I went to the club to see if he was there or whether I was at his home.

Q.—What is your best recollection as regards that? A.—I think it was at his home.

Q.—When you reached the place where he was, was that shortly after you received the money? A.—Yes.

Q.—That same evening? A.—That same evening.

Q.—What did you say to him? A.—I told him I was able to arrange that, and I said "Here it is; I was able to arrange the loan," and I handed it over to him.

Q.—What else did you say? A.—I don't just recall, Judge.

Q.—I would like you to try and think what you said to him and what he said to you. A.—It is a long time to remember back like that.

Q.—Well, you said you had—— A.—Words to that effect, that I had been able to arrange the loan, and I handed it over to him. I don't just recall what I said about it.

Q.—What did he say to you? He said something to you? A.—Probably that would be all right and he would be responsible to me to return it, and he would carry out the purpose of it, words to that effect, that he would probably see me the next day, see me tomorrow, as I usually called him up downtown.

Tommaney said that was all he could remember of the conversation, and the inquiry continued:

Q.—You got from him a promissory note, didn't you?

A.—From Commissioner Healy?

Q.—Yes?

A.—No, he has been my friend for years and I turned it over to him. I knew he would be good for it.

Q.—Nothing was said about a note? A.—I wouldn't look to him for a note.

Q.—Was there anything said about your giving the money to him and he giving you a note? A.—No, judge.

Q.—Nothing at all? A.—Not that I recall.

Q.—You don't remember anything being said? A.—Not a thing, judge.

Q.—Of course, you expected to pay back the $10,000 to Mrs. Ewald, didn't you? A.—I expected Commissioner Healy to pay it back to me and I would give it to her.

Q.—But you didn't take any note from the commissioner? A.—I didn't, judge.

Q.—Didn't you think you ought to have some memorandum in writing, something in the nature of a receipt, to show that you had turned the money over? A.—Not from Commissioner Healy, judge, because I trust him with anything. I have known him for years to be of the highest type.

Q.—I know, but suppose something had happened to the commissioner, suppose he had died suddenly, how would you have shown you had given him $5,000 in cash; what proof would you have? A.—I didn't think of those things.

Tommaney's Lawyer Questioned.

Following Tommaney's examination Irwin Isaacs, examined by Mr. Crain, said that Tommaney's testimony was substantially the same as the story he himself had first obtained from him and that on the basis of this story he had advised him not to testify before the grand jury. Mr. Isaacs said he feared that Mr. Tuttle, by "trying the case in the newspapers," would jeopardize his client's rights.

The testimony given by Myers, a prominent member of the Steuben Society, before Mr. Crain was, in substance, that he was a prominent member of the Cayuga Club with Ewald and chairman of the Steuben Society's political committee, and that upon hearing of the vacancy to be created by Magistrate Oberwager's proposed return to private practice he wanted the Steuben Society to get the appointment.

Myers said that three names of candidates were submitted by the political committee, but that only one had the endorsement of the society, that of Ewald. Myer added that he saw Mayor Walker and Judge Olvany in reference to the appointment, that he knew nothing about the payment of money and that he had not conferred with Healy in regard to the appointment. He admitted he had spoken with Ewald about it, suggesting the desirability of getting a political endorsement.

OLDEST PRISON KEEPER ILL.

Conyes, 79, a Sing Sing Attache 51 Years, Quits Post for First Time.

Special to The New York Times.

OSSINING, N. Y., Aug. 11.—After sticking to his post as keeper in Sing Sing for almost fifty-one years, Alfred Conyes, believed to be, in point of service, the oldest prison attendant in the United States, was forced to abandon his duties today and go home.

Conyes has a growth on one arm near the shoulder that had caused him so much pain that Dr. George MacCracken of the official prison staff ordered him to go home for treatment and rest.

Conyes, who is in his eightieth year, observed the golden jubilee of his appointment on Nov. 1 last year.

Because of his advanced age and long tenure of office, Keeper Conyes has had a special assignment from Warden Lewis E. Lawes with short hours. This is the first time illness ever forced him to quit his post. He will remain in the prison service.

DOYLE CLIENTS PAID $286,917 IN 3 YEARS

29 More, as Witnesses, Add $80,000 to Income, Exceeding Tax Return by $57,000.

MRS. CUTLER TESTIFIES

With less than one-third of the witnesses called, testimony was introduced in the Federal court yesterday to show that William F. Doyle received fees for appearances before the Board of Standards and Appeals during the last three years far in excess of the figures he named in his tax returns for those years.

Twenty-nine men and women testified before Judge Martineau and a jury, which is hearing evidence on charges of income tax evasion and perjury against the former veterinarian, that they paid a total of $80,800 in fees to Doyle. This figure, added to the $206,117 previously testified to, brought the total thus far to $286,917, as compared with the $229,075 which Doyle swore in his tax returns he received in fees in 1927, 1928 and 1929.

With about 175 more clients awaiting the call of United States Attorney Tuttle, an excess of $57,842 in fees sworn to over the amount named by Doyle was placed in evidence at the close of the session. Government attorneys contended that they would be able to show by other clients of Doyle an excess of fees received over income declared of about $400,000.

Witnesses Questioned Briefly.

Most of the witnesses of yesterday were questioned for only a few minutes, Mr. Tuttle having established a routine of examination which brought few objections from the defense.

The only deviations from the regular process came when Mrs. Lottie Cutler of Camden, N. J., whose original testimony at a bankruptcy hearing in Passaic, N. J., was prominent in instigating Mr. Tuttle's investigation, testified that she paid $5,000 to Doyle, and George L. Davis, a vice president of Saks & Co., said Doyle received $8,600 for representing his organization.

Witness.	Fee.	Case.
Lazarus Rosenberg	$11,750	Garage permits
George Dromeshauser	400	Fire order
Barney Goldberg	2,750	Zoning
Ernest Maltz	2,750	Garage
Henry G. Fleer	250	Garage
George Beinbrink	2,750	Garage
William Hagedorn	2,500	Garage
Hyman Edelstein	250	Zoning
Clifton Barney	1,000	Zoning
Jack Klarman	250	Garage
Harry Leidman	2,750	Filling station
Abraham Maslanik	250	Filling station
John P. Gorman	500	Fire order
Saks & Co.	8,600	Fire order
Lottie Cutler	5,000	Filling station
Annie Silverman	250	Garage
Joseph Balatnik	18,200	Garage permits
Louis Mintz	250	Garage
Morris Diugasch	1,000	Zoning
Joseph J. Slater	1,250	Filling station
John A. Ryan	2,850	Filling station
Joseph Layman	1,100	Garage
Hugh Clark	4,000	Garage
Matthew Allen	250	Garage
Harry Weprin	4,000	Garage
Henry Russell	150	Fire order
Stephen D. Sink	2,250	Filling station
Walter Abel	1,250	Garage
Guy L. Hommedieu	2,250	Filling station

Mrs. Cutler was one of three witnesses who told of paying Doyle partly in cash, the others being Mr. Clark, who said he gave Doyle $1,000 in cash, and Mr. Abel, who said he paid his entire fee of $1,250 in that form. Mrs. Cutler, under direct examination by Mr. Tuttle, said she gave Doyle $5,000 in 1929 for getting a permit for a filling station in Jamaica. She said at least $3,000 of this was in cash, which was made in two payments.

Former Judge Alfred J. Talley, counsel for Doyle, brought out the testimony concerning the bankruptcy of her Passaic dry goods store during the settlement of which she disclosed payments to Doyle which played a leading part in bringing about the indictment of Doyle. Mrs. Cutler admitted that she had told the bankruptcy referee that it had cost her about $10,000 to get the permit, and when Mr. Talley pressed her on a comparison of that figure with the $5,000 she testified to yesterday, she explained that at that time she had added the expense of selling the gas station to Doyle's fee as well as fees to several others who had appeared unsuccessfully before the Standards Board in her behalf.

Says Saks Company Paid by Check.

Mr. Davis, in telling of the retention of the veterinarian by Saks and Company, said that Doyle had been engaged in 1927 after inspectors of the Fire Prevention Bureau ordered changes in the Thirty-fourth Street and Fifth Avenue stores. The changes in the Thirty-fourth Street store were made later, he said, but the ruling on the Fifth Avenue store was contested.

Asserting that this order requiring installation of partitions in the Fifth Avenue building "would have meant the closing of the store if it had been observed," Mr. Davis said. Doyle successfully argued the Saks case before the Standards Board and won an appeal from the Fire Prevention order. He said the entire fee of $8,600 was paid by check.

Judge Martineau, who has several times lectured the jurors about late appearances which have held up the start of court sessions threatened to lock them up overnight unless they arrived on time. Joseph Faure of 77 East Fifty-fifth Street and Max Gold of 2,917 Grand Concourse, the Bronx, were the jurors who appeared after the starting time.

NEW RECEIVERS NAMED FOR NEWARK BANK

Federal Court Includes One Acting for Controller of Treasury in Equity Proceedings.

Holding that the Federal court had jurisdiction over the receivership proceedings against the Port Newark National Bank of Newark, despite the appointment of a receiver by the Controller of the Currency, Federal Judge Runyon named two equity receivers yesterday for the bank in Newark.

To insure cooperation between the court jurisdiction and the Controller's, Judge Runyon named F. Raymond Peterson, the National Bank examiner named receiver by the Controller, as one of the equity receivers. The other was W. Paul Stillman, manager of the Newark Clearing House.

At the request of George P. Barse of Washington, D. C., solicitor of the Controller, and of Common Pleas Judge Walter D. Van Riper, appearing for the Controller and for Mr. Peterson, the court delayed signing the appointment order until this morning, as it was necessary for Mr. Peterson to obtain the Controller's permission to act as court receiver. Mr. Barse also sought time to allow the Controller's office to decide whether it would appeal from the court's ruling.

The court's action concluded a hearing on an order obtained Thursday by Arthur T. Vanderbilt, counsel to Edward M. Waldron, holder of 125 shares in the bank, directing the officers to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed. The complaint charged the defendants with "mismanagement and fraud" resulting in insolvency of the bank.

Irving Riker, for the bank, said that argument on the motion had become academic as the Controller had appointed a receiver Friday morning, but objected to the motion on the ground that the court held no jurisdiction over the appointment of a receiver on the ground of insolvency, as this right rested entirely with the Controller. He entered a general denial of the allegations in the complaint. Judge Van Riper also opposed the motion, contending the Controller had exclusive jurisdiction. Mr. Vanderbilt argued that the court had jurisdiction, and declared it desirable to appoint a receiver familiar with local conditions.

Later in the day a conference was held by counsel for the various parties in Judge Runyon's chambers and an offer of a group of individuals to take over the insolvent bank was discussed, but no decision was revealed. Julius Rippel, chairman of the Board of the Merchants and Newark Trust Company, said yesterday that his offer to have that bank take over the Port Newark bank and guarantee its creditors' claims still stood, but that quick action would be necessary.

LIGHTS ROUT BURGLARS.

Flash Automatically as Thugs Open Door of Newark Theatre.

The Tivoli Theatre at 545 Orange Street, Newark, has no burglar alarm, but an automatic illumination system proved just as effective yesterday morning. The electric switches are so operated that when the office door is opened all lights, both inside and over the entrance, are turned on. A gang of robbers who expected to rob the place early yesterday were so disturbed by the brilliant illumination when they entered that they fled, abandoning a kit of burglar tools.

Patrolmen Shugre and Barone were standing about three blocks from the theatre, when its exterior lights flashed on. Running to the theatre, they entered by a side door, and found the inside brilliantly lighted, the office door forced open, and on the floor a set of burglar tools. Nothing had been taken.

It was learned after that a car had been parked across the railroad tracks from the theatre.

DWYER SUSPENDS MARKET OFFICIAL

J. R. Shea, Supervisor, Is Accused of Attempting to Extort $50 From a Butcher.

POLITICS INVOLVED IN CASE

Markets Commissioner to Examine Aide After an Investigation by Higgins.

John R. Shea, supervisor in the Department of Public Markets, was suspended without pay when he returned from his vacation yesterday by Markets Commissioner Thomas F. Dwyer, pending the outcome of the charge that he attempted to extort $50 from H. J. Reiter, a butcher of 115-01 Rockaway Boulevard, Rockaway Park.

Mr. Dwyer ordered Shea to appear before James A Higgins, Commissioner of Accounts, who is investigating the meat graft charges made by Reiter and Oscar Glassberg, a Brooklyn butcher, who also named Shea in connection with an attempt to extort money from him. Shea appeared before Commissioner Higgins yesterday, but his testimony was not disclosed.

He was arrested on July 17 with $50 in marked money in his possession. Reiter said he had given $50 to him as part of a $100 bribe for permission to sell non-kosher meat as a kosher product. A week later he withdrew his charges in Jamaica Magistrate's Court, and Shea was released. Reiter later said he was influenced to drop the charges by two Queens politicians whom he would not name.

Reiter failed to keep his appointment with Mr. Dwyer yesterday afternoon. He had expressed anxiety to appear with additional information on meat graft implicating market supervisors. As a result of his charges concerning Shea, the supervisor was withdrawn from the kosher squad. Mr. Dwyer said he would examine Shea himself after Mr. Higgins is through with him.

Mr. Higgins said he had not yet received the names of twenty-five Brooklyn and Queens butchers who have additional evidence of grafting, according to Glassberg. The Commissioner of Accounts has not decided whether to summon these men to his office for questioning or whether to examine them in their places of business. He said he would wait until he received the names before deciding what action he would take. Nathaniel Greenbaum of 66 Court Street, Brooklyn, Glassberg's attorney, is to furnish the names.

Glassberg testified before Commissioner Higgins for an hour last Friday, relating instances of attempted graft by market supervisors within his personal knowledge. On advice of his attorney he would not say that he had ever paid any money to supervisors, since Mr. Higgins could not grant him immunity from prosecution. He testified, however, that Sol Levine, a delicatessen dealer, of 333 Kingston Avenue, Brooklyn, had told him he paid $10 a month to the supervisor for the privilege of selling non-kosher food products with a kosher sign in his windows.

FOG CHECKS GLIDER MEET.

WASSERKUPPE, Rhön Mountains, Germany, Aug. 11 (AP).—Heavy fogs continued today to hold on the ground most of the ambitious glider exponents of Europe who have gathered here for the competition since last Friday.

The best performance so far has been that of Robert Kronfeld of Austria, former holder of the world's record for altitude and distance. He has won a prize for the longest flight by landing at Bad Berka, fifty-two kilometers (about thirty-two and a half miles) distant. His performance took the other gliders by surprise since six of them who were aloft at the same time refused to go away from this point.

NAVY ECONOMIZES IN STOCK REPLENISHING

Will Save Over $4,000,000 Annually, in Hoover Program, Jahncke Announces.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—In response to the President's economy program the Navy Department's stock-replenishment system has been revised so as to affect an immediate saving of between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000, the department announced today. The new system reduces the periods of replenishment by three months, thus reducing the numbers of inventories taken and so releasing funds that would otherwise be tied up in stocks.

"In a military organization it is a basic principle," Assistant Secretary Jahncke said, "that a commodity shall be immediately available when and where it is needed for use.

"In an organization the size of the navy with more than 300 vessels to be supplied, varying in size from 33,000-ton battleships and aircraft carriers to the river gunboats of less than 400 tons displacement, this problem is a tremendous one.

"The fundamental principle of the navy's stock upkeep is that there shall always be on hand as much of every item of standard stock as will probably be required before that item can be replenished.

"As the items which are in regular daily demand, when the different sizes of each are taken into consideration, approximate 40,000 in number, systematic methods of stock replenishment are essential."

AIMS AT STOCK TIPSTERS.

State Bureau Gets Court Order for Data on Boston Publications.

An investigation by the State Bureau of Securities of two financial tipster sheets, Values and Profits, published in Boston, resulted in a Supreme Court order yesterday by Justice Dodd, directing Alexander L. Fink, Values Investment Counselors, John Doe and Richard Roe, to appear for examination Sept. 9 in Brooklyn Supreme Court.

Abraham Davis, Deputy Attorney General, said Values used a code to designate stocks recommended to subscribers. The code key was in a booklet sent only to subscribers, who, Mr. Davis said, paid $5 annually for Values and $250 a year for Profits. Fink's name, he said, appeared as publisher.

MISS MARY TODD TO WED ON SEPT. 6

Her Marriage to Edward Maguire to Take Place in Bethesda Church, Saratoga Springs.

SISTER TO BE ATTENDANT

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram C. Todd of 112 East Seventy-fourth Street, now at their Summer home in Saratoga Springs, have sent out invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary Lumpkin Todd, to Edward Maguire of this city on the afternoon of Sept. 6 in Bethesda Church, Saratoga Springs. A reception will follow at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Todd, 4 Franklin Avenue.

Mr. Maguire, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Herbert Maguire of Detroit, Mich., will have his brother, Major Hamilton E. Maguire, U. S. A., of Washington, D. C., for his best man. The ushers will be Hiram C. Todd Jr., brother of the prospective bride; John K. Walbridge, Milburn Palin, Frederick A. Dickinson and William Stewart.

Miss Todd is of the tenth generation of the Todd family in America, being descended from Christopher Todd, who joined the New Haven Colony in the early part of the seventeenth century. On the maternal side, Miss Todd is a descendant of Chief Justice Henry Lumpkin of the Supreme Court of Georgia and of Jonathan Bryan of Virginia.

Mr. Maguire is a descendant of the early settlers of Pennsylvania. On the maternal side he is a grandson of the late Samuel Hamilton Ewing of Montreal, Canada.

MRS. EHRET WEDS JOHN A. GRIFFIN

Widow of George Ehret Jr. Married by Rev. J. J. Laherty in St. Ignatius Loyola Church.

BRIDEGROOM IS A BANKER

The marriage of Mrs. Louise M. Ehret, widow of George Ehret Jr., to John A. Griffin of this city took place yesterday morning in the Church of St. Ignatius Loyola. None but members of the two families and a few close friends were present at the ceremony, performed by the Rev. John J. Laherty, S. J. A small wedding breakfast followed at the Plaza, after which Mr. Griffin and his bride left for a trip to Florida. They will return early next week and sail on Aug. 20 on the Bremen.

The bride is the former Miss Louise M. Hoffman, a member of a well-known brewing family. Her first husband, who died in March, 1929, was a son of the late George Ehret, founder of one of the largest breweries in this country and a nephew of the late Mgr. Hasslacher, one-time president of the American College in Rome.

This also is the second marriage for Mr. Griffin. His first wife, who was Miss Corinne Keller of St. Louis, died two years ago. He is vice president of the Fidelity and Deposit Company of this city and a member of the New York Athletic and Bankers Clubs.

PREDICTS 'BIG WAR' WITHIN TEN YEARS

Glasgow Professor Tells Williams Institute Europe's Situation Now Is Like That of 1909.

FRANCE'S POLICY DEFENDED

Mantoux Declares Route to Africa as Important to Her as the Panama Canal Is to Us.

JAPAN'S POSITION EXPLAINED

Tsurumi Says Her Situation as Island Empire Becomes More Like Great Britain's.

By LOUIS STARK.

Special to The New York Times.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 11.—Assertions that the nations of Western civilization, by their policies relating to loans and armaments, furnished by the stronger powers to the weaker ones, are preparing today for a big war between 1935 and 1940 were made at the Institute of Politics today by C. Delisle Burns, Professor of Citizenship at the University of Glasgow and an adviser to the British Labor party.

Professor Burns drew an analogy between the situation today in Europe and that in 1909, when the nations were divided into two hostile camps as to which ones were to furnish finances and armaments to those requiring such assistance.

Similar alliances are being made at the present time, Professor Burns said. Just as in the last war France financed Serbia in armaments and Germany financed Bulgaria, so Italy is today financing Rumania and is interested in an understanding with Hungary and with Germany. The situation of 1930 is therefore, in the opinion of Mr. Burns, like that of 1909, with the nations only from five to ten years away from war.

"Under this crust of preparation for war the States are growing stronger, however, in cooperation," he continued. "The tendency toward peace is becoming stronger, but we have only a five-year breathing space.

"Must Stop War Now."

"We have today the League of Nations and the stronger spirit of peace in universities and other such institutions. To be of real value their work must be done within the next five years.

"If you make policies now that get you into trouble in 1935, no League of Nations will get you out of it then. We are drifting toward a situation from which no such machinery will be able to extricate us.

"If European nations had taken action in 1909 to stop the drift of war, there would have been no 1914. If we want to stop the war of 1935 we must stop it in 1930.

"Logically speaking, we must either abolish Western civilization or war, because they cannot be harmonized.

"The nations in Western civilization are today planning for a big war between 1935 and 1940. All governments are planning for this. It is not inevitable, but at least they are planning for it. France says that she can come out of the Rhine because by 1935 her fortifications will be complete.

"Although none really wants war, not even Mussolini, we are all drifting toward it. By preparing for war it is our experience that we drift into it."

Defense Requirements Outlined.

The defense requirements of Great Britain, France and Japan were outlined at the general conference on armaments today respectively by Admiral Sir Herbert Richmond, British authority on naval reduction; Dr. Paul Mantoux of France, and Yusuke Tsurumi of Tokio.

At this conference Daniel W. Wainhouse, assistant director of research of the council on foreign relations, charged that the warship building holiday arranged at the London conference was merely a nominal achievement which might have been obtained without a conference.

"In the light of the present cordial Anglo-American relations, the Kellogg-Briand pact and the Hoover-MacDonald exchanges, it would seem that the American delegation lacked boldness in failing to take 'risks of peace'," he said, "for our relations with Great Britain are well grounded in the acceptance of parity as a political principle, and rule out the possibility of an 'unthinkable' war with that nation."

Speaking of the Franco-Italian naval controversy, Mr. Wainhouse said:

"The prospects of ironing out these differences are not very bright. The European system set up by the Treaty of Versailles obliges France and her allies in the succession States to stand together in defense of a structure which is unstable and weak and maintained by force.

"This system has led France to create an ally in Yugoslavia, an alliance which causes restlessness in Italy, who regards the alliance as directed against her.

"So restless is Italy that it is reported that she has actually been making overtures to Germany to cooperate in the overturn of the Versailles order of things.

Sees Threat in French Naval Policy.

"The fact is that France is now clamoring for a security she never sought when the German navy was less than two days' steaming from her Channel ports," he added.

"Who is the new enemy? The British Admiralty thinks it knows the answer to this question and refuses to take the risk. It has, therefore, made it very clear that Article XXI will be invoked if French and Italian naval building threaten her two-power standard in Europe.

"The vital question is whether the two-power standard will be threatened. The answer lies in the building programs of France and Italy, which will respond to the failure or success of the controversy over parity, a controversy which in a very large measure is dependent upon the solution of their outstanding political differences."

Mantoux Explains French Position.

Dr. Mantoux, the next speaker, declared France was mainly concerned with defense of her land frontiers. Three-fifths of France's military forces are now in France, the balance being overseas, he said.

While he observed that France was a member of the League and a signatory of the Treaty of Locarno, Dr. Mantoux said "that circumstances may make the effects of those provisions uncertain or slow, and the country must not run the risk of suffering invasion meanwhile, as happened several times in the past."

The German and Italian frontiers are "possible areas of conflict" to be considered, he aded.

In discussing Japan's problem, Mr. Tsurumi said: "Japan, as an insular empire, with an ever increasing population compelling her to depend more and more on overseas trade for food and raw materials, is growing in resemblance to the situation of England.

"However, Japan has to depend on land routes as well as sea routes for her national existence. The Japanese lines of defense, which constitute Japan's minimum need of land, air and sea forces, fall into three main categories of commerce with the Asiatic Continent.

"The most weighty of these is the route to Manchuria through Korea. This consists of 110 miles of sea across the Straits of Tsushima and the railway lines from Fusan to Mukden.

"This is the vital line of transportation that Japan has to keep open for her sheer existence, either in peace or war. In order to keep this line open she has to protect the 110 miles of water by her navy, and the railway lines through Korea and Manchuria by her army.

"The South Manchurian railways are as important for Japan's economic existence as the Suez Canal is to England and the Panama Canal is to the United States."

Dr. Simons Pessimistic.

Dr. Walter Simons, former President of Germany and chief justice of the German Supreme Court, continuing his lectures on "The Evolution of International Public Law in Europe Since Grotius," observed that attempts to humanize war, "especially in the domain of aerial warfare," were unlikely to meet with success.

Citing the experience of history, Dr. Simons doubted if, "in a prolonged war and under stress of necessity, rules of humane warfare agreed upon between nations in time of peace will hold good."

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and Mrs. Lindbergh are expected here tomorrow. They will attend a general conference on air policies, presided over by Edward P. Warner, former Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Aeronautics, and will remain here tomorrow night as guests of Dr. Harry A. Garfield, president of Williams College, and Mrs. Garfield.

They will leave some time before noon on Wednesday from the North Adams flying field, where they will land on their flight from North Haven, Me., tomorrow morning.

$125,000,000 Is Invested In 25,000 Pony Golf Courses

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (AP).—The baby golf courses sprouting around the United States number 25,000 and represent the incredible value of $125,000,000 in investment.

This is the estimate compiled by the Commerce Department, which finds that 15,000 of them have sprung into existence since January.

Primarily the government's commercial sharps have been investigating the subject because of the demand the miniature golf establishments are creating for materials of various kinds.

The courses promise to consume in the aggregate very respectable quantities of cotton, through their use of duck and canvass for enclosures. They use also the products of a dozen industries.

POLICEMEN SUE TO BAR VETERAN'S PROMOTION

Three Challenge War Injury Claim of Man Below Them on List for Captaincies.

A suit arising from the law passed by the last Legislature giving a disabled veteran of the World War preference in his certification for a promotion for a Civil Service position was filed in the Supreme Court yesterday to prevent Police Commissioner Mulrooney from appointing Daniel J. Prendergast to a captaincy.

The action was filed by Michael F. McDermott, Bernard A. Ditsch and John W. Keimes, who are on the eligible list for a captain's appointment, and contend that the promotion of Prendergast on his claim that he is a disabled veteran would impair their rights, since he is below them on the list.

The complaint alleges that Prendergast was appointed to the police force in 1907, was made a sergeant in 1920, and promoted to be a lieutenant in 1923. He took the examination for promotion to be a captain in July, 1928, and is alleged to have received the grade of 82.15 and to stand 140th on the present rating list. The plaintiffs say that during the war he served in the quartermasters department and the Labor Battalion of Military Police, and was discharged July 29, 1919. They say that he never contended he had received an injury during his war service and that when he was examined for his various promotions since the war the physicians for the Civil Service Commission reported him to be in sound health.

The plaintiffs say that Prendergast first asserted that he had been injured last April after the Legislature had passed the new law, although he never previously had made a claim to the government for compensation. He then made representations to the United States Veterans Bureau as to an alleged injury by falling from a truck, it is said, and obtained from the bureau the certificate of disability, on which the Municipal Civil Service Commission intends to certify his name for one of the captain's vacancies. The case will be heard this morning by Justic Shientag.

Mickler Sets New Mark for New Orleans-St. Louis Course.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 11 (AP).—C. M. Mickler of New Orleans, piloting the outboard motorboat "And How III," arrived here at 4:12 P. M. today, setting a new record of 78 hours and 51 minutes from New Orleans to St. Louis.

This is 8 hours and 40 minutes better than the time made by Dr. Louis Leroy of Memphis last year in the "Bogie."

KING'S DOCTOR HITS DRY LAW 'COERCION'

Lord Dawson of Penn Tells Canadians That Legislation Must 'Regard Public Opinion.'

SEES 'DEFEAT' IN 'DEFIANCE'

In Montreal Speech He Cites English Gain in Temperance as Due to Proper "Guidance."

Special to The New York Times.

MONTREAL, Aug. 11.—Legislation which first regarded public opinion and then guided it was the most successful in solving the problem of control and sale of alcoholic beverages, Lord Dawson of Penn, physician to King George since 1907, told members of the Canadian Club of Montreal at a special meeting here today. Coercion, he added, would be followed by defiance and defeat.

Speaking on the subject "Alcohol—Its Power to Do and Undo," Lord Dawson said:

"It is common ground that some public control of the sale of alcoholic beverages is needed, with a view to securing moderation in consumption and proper standards of quality and strength. The problem has been attacked by Legislatures in various ways, including the method of prohibition, which in some instances has been abandoned as having failed in its purpose.

"The abandonments of prohibition have resulted from the realization that legislative restraints which exceed the sanctions of public opinion fail, are regarded as tyrannies, and thereby create reactions contrary to the public weal. That legislation which first regards public opinion, and then guides it, gets farthest.

"England is a striking example of a country which is becoming notably and progressingly temperate, as much if not more from the education and enlightenment of the people as from administrative control. Drunkenness is seldom seen, and it is condemned in all classes, and the offender soon knows it.

"During the period 1924-29 the drop in the consumption of spirits was 58 per cent, of beer 28 per cent, while the importation of wines increased 34 per cent. All these figures are with an increasing population.

"Recently the statistics of the consumption of alcohol were taken at three large, fully licensed refreshment houses, where people congregate not only to take refreshment but to converse. These houses serve together an average of 40,000 persons a day.

The average estimates of these three houses per day showed that 82 per cent of the customers took no alcohol, and of the 18 per cent who did the large majority drank beer or light wine. These notable figures are in some measure accounted for by the small consumption of alcohol by persons under the age of 35.

"Now, this does not show that the 82 per cent are total abstainers, far from it, rather that a large proportion of the customers were not availing themselves on that particular occasion to take wine or beer. They were not making the good things of life commonplace by the monotony of repetition.

"Is there not here a lesson for the statesman? Encourage the conditions which give such good results and promote education in the art of living. Persuasion and guidance are the essence of leadership.

"Governments should lead often and coerce seldom. That, I take it, is the present intention of your governments in Canada toward alcohol today. Coercion over this question means defiance, followed by defeat."

FRENCH GROUP RESISTS PERSHING ON MEMORIAL

Village of Sivry-sur-Meuse Makes Counter Request to Government to Keep American Monument.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Aug. 11.—Unable to understand why General Pershing wants the removal of the monument recently erected at Sivry-sur-Meuse to the 361st Regiment of the American Expeditionary Forces, that community has petitioned the French Government to permit the monument to remain there permanently.

General Pershing recently made a personal call on Premier Tardieu to ask for the removal of the monument. His objection was an official one in his capacity as head of the Battle Monuments Commission, which, under an agreement made immediately after the war, must authorize all American monuments in France. The commission decided to limit the war monuments to those erected on the sites of the principal American offensives, but individuals and organizations have frequently tried to have other memorials to American units placed on battlefields.

It is understood that failing to obtain permission for a Sivry monument near Verdun, those backing its erection made a large donation to the Sivry Hospice, and that the hospice as a French institution undertook the construction of the monument without making any formal arrangement with the American Battle Monuments Commission.

A few months ago the monument at Sivry was unveiled, with both French and American veterans' delegations attending. Following this ceremony General Pershing lodged an official protest and has again requested the French Government to cause the removal of the monument. Placed in a difficult situation to explain the matter to the local authorities, who are proud of their memorial to their American comrades, the French Government has not yet taken any action.

FINDS FARM WAGES LAG.

Study Shows Manufacturing Pay Has Risen Twice as Fast Since 1914

The rise in farm wages from 1914 to 1929 has been approximately only half the rise in factory wages, the National Industrial Conference Board announced yesterday in the fifth of its series of releases on wages in the United States based on a study recently completed.

The study reveals that while wage earnings in manufacturing had risen in 1929 about 125 per cent above 1914, farm wages during the period had risen only 67 per cent.

From 1915 to 1920, the report points out, the trend of agricultural monthly wages in this country closely paralleled that of average weekly earnings in manufacturing industries, but in the depression of 1920-1922 wages of farm labor declined to a much greater extent than those of factory employes. The gain since 1922 has been much less for agricultural workers than for those engaged in manufacturing.

WOULD AID IN QUAKE REGION

Ambassador Garrett, Back in Rome, May Visit District.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, Aug. 11.—Ambassador and Mrs. Garrett arrived from Paris this evening and were welcomed at the station by the entire staff of the Embassy. The Ambassador intends to spend a few days in Rome getting in touch with the authorities with a view to ascertaining whether he can be of any help in the earthquake region, and if the reply is in the affirmative he will proceed there immediately.

He proposes to spend the rest of the Summer in Capri, where he has rented the villa formerly belonging to the late Queen of Sweden.

ROME, Aug. 11 (AP).—The total number of dead in the disastrous earthquake of July 23 is officially expected to be less than 2,142, the last government Total.

ties are not leading public opinion but are lagging far behind.

"If the party leaders continue to ignore the growing opposition to prohibition, they will find themselves in the position of the Whig party when it refused to take a stand on the slavery issue. Thousands of women, members of our organization in the State, are determined that the political parties shall face this issue squarely."

Mrs. Sheppard added that she believed many Democratic county leaders had felt it unnecessary to reply to the questionnaire as the party in this State is known definitely to be wet.

Victor Predicts Big Dry Vote.

Fred A. Victor, State Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, who has just returned from a trip up-State, declined to comment directly upon the assertion of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler that from 60 to 70 per cent of the delegates to the Republican State Convention would be for a repeal plank. Mr. Victor said that an independent dry candidate for Governor, whom the drys are expected to nominate if the Republicans adopt a repeal plank, would get many more than the 232,000 votes received by Franklin W. Cristman, when he ran against James W. Wadsworth for United States Senator four years ago.

"At that time 600,000 drys did not vote because they did not wish to break their party regularity," he said. "This year it will be different."

Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin, State president of the W. C. T. U., declared that Dr. Butler was not more accurate than usual in prophesying wet victories and dry defeats.

"Four years ago we set out to defeat Wadsworth and we accomplished our purpose," she said. "Two years ago we had the same objective in regard to Governor Smith and again achieved our purpose.

"If the Republican party competes with the Democratic party for wet votes, it will alienate its dry constituency and instead of 100,000 votes, which Dr. Butler gives our candidate, there will be a spontaneous uprising of the moral forces of the State. Why does a man who does not support the Republican national platform try to read out of the party those who do?"

KOHLER STANDS ON BEER.

Wisconsin Governor, Seeking Reelection, Advocates Dry Referendum

Special to The New York Times.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 11.—Governor Walter J. Kohler in formally opening his campaign for reelection as Governor tonight defended the right of the people to have beer and advocated a nationwide referendum on repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. The Governor spoke before a large crowd in the Milwaukee auditorium.

URGES STAND FOR LAWS.

Mrs. H. W. Peabody Is Northfield Missionary Day Speaker.

Special to The New York Times.

EAST NORTHFIELD, Mass., Aug. 11.—Missionary Day was observed at the Northfield General Conference today, a special service being conducted by Mrs. Henry W. Peabody of Beverly.

Sixteen missionaries sat upon the platform, coming from many countries.

Mrs. Peabody urged support for the laws, especially the Eighteenth Amendment. Corruption and lawlessness are attacking the nation, making it of the utmost importance for all good citizens to stand together for the maintenance of the Constitution, she said.

The citizens of Massachusetts during this tercentenary year must rally together, summoning the strength of conviction of their Puritan forefathers as they go to the polls, she concluded.

Dr. G. Campbell Morgan gave an address upon the authority of Christ concerning the Church.

The Rev. James Reid of Eastbourne, England, addressed the conference on the urge for spiritual satisfaction.

HELD FOR ELEVATED DEATH.

Motorman's Ball Put at $1,000 for Bumping Fire Ladder.

Thomas Scanlon, elevated railway motorman whose train bumped into a ladder during a small fire Thursday on the elevated tracks near Ninth Street and Third Avenue causing the death of Fireman James Donlon of Hook and Ladder 3, was held in $1,000 bail yesterday by Magistrate McQuade in homicide court.

Donlon lived at 114-43 135th Street, Queens, and is survived by a widow and two small children. Scanlon lives at 675 East 230th Street, the Bronx.

SOARS TO 21,000 FEET.

Another New Altitude Record for Sergievsky Is Indicated.

Special to The New York Times.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Aug. 11.—Captain Boris Sergievsky, chief test pilot for the Sikorsky Aviation Corporation of Stratford, who within a year has flown Sikorsky seaplanes and amphibians to five world's speed and altitude records, added another to his list today if his instruments registered aright. Flying a deadweight pay load of 4,409.24 pounds, he climbed to an indicated altitude of 21,000 feet, surpassing his own world's record, made last March, by nearly 2,000 feet. He was in the air 1 hour and 26 minutes.

Climbing Above the Crowd!

THERE are many roads to fortune, many paths by which men climb above the crowd. Each man travels his own highway to success. But the start . . . the first step . . . is always the same!

Luckily, this step is easy. It is simply the opening of a savings account! Saving soon becomes a habit . . . and a thrilling one. In time it makes possible further investments, but no other investment can take its place.

This is the most vital step in a man's climb to success. Hard work and high pay, alone, cannot provide a reserve for adversity, a fund for adventure, a surplus that unlocks the door to opportunity. What a man saves, not what he makes, is his profit on the business of living.

The Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank pays the highest rate money can earn and still be safe and immediately available — 4½% interest from the day of deposit to the day of withdrawal, compounded quarterly! Among the successful New Yorkers who are depositors here is one of the world's richest men — if not the richest. And thousands of other men have taken here their first step toward security.

Take your first step to fortune today! You can do it now, in a few minutes time, by mailing in your first deposit.

Compound interest is paid on deposits from $5 upwards. Individual accounts are limited to $7500 plus accruing interest — but several may be carried in trust for others in the family.

Assets over $395,000,000. More than 226,000 depositors.

Former Helen Wills Announces She Will Not Defend National Tennis Crown Next Week.

OPPOSES LONG TRIP HERE

HAS WON TITLE SIX TIMES

Topped U. S. Players in 1923 and Every Year Since Except 1926—Began Career at 15.

By The Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 11.—Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, six times winner of the women's national tennis championship, said tonight she would not defend her title this year at Forest Hills, L. I. The championship opens Aug. 18.

Mrs. Moody, although she still has a keen desire to engage in competitive tennis, said she wished to remain in San Francisco with her husband and relatives after many months of travel.

"I have been away from home so long it simply wouldn't be right to go away so soon," she added.

During the last two months Mrs. Moody won the French and English championships, returning to her home about three weeks ago.

Won First Title in 1923.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody's decision not to defend her title will remove from this year's championship the nation's dominant figure in women's tennis for the past seven years.

With the exception of 1926, when an operation for appendicitis necessitated withdrawal from the competitive lists, Mrs. Moody has won the championship every year since 1923, a total of six titles. In 1922, the year before she broke through for her first crown, she was runner-up to Mrs. Franklin I. Mallory.

America's greatest woman tennis player was born in October, 1905, in Berkeley, Cal., the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Wills. At an early age she came under the tutelage of her father, who was her first coach. Dr. Wills, a capable tennis player, taught his daugther many rudiments of the game, and then engaged "Pop" Fuller, veteran coach, to continue her training.

Won Girls' Crown at 15.

The first national tournament in which the name of Helen Wills was entered was the girls' competition of 1921, in which the 15-year-old California girl made a distinct impression by winning the title in convincing fashion. When, a year later, she duplicated the feat, tennis followers became aware that a new star was on the horizon.

The sensational Western star gained the heights in 1923 when she hammered her way past all opposition in the women's national championship to end the long reign of the former Molla Bjurstedt. She went on to play a prominent part in America's triumph over Great Britain in the Wightman Cup match.

Mrs. Moody's record in these international matches with Great Britain has been a succession of notable triumphs. In singles she met with only one defeat, that at the hands of Mrs. L. A. Godfree, then Miss Kathleen McKane.

The past season abroad gave further evidence that Mrs. Moody still has no rival capable of ending her peerless leadership. Displaying the same power and speed which enabled her to sweep aside all opposition in six United States championships, she piled victory upon victory in the French and English tournaments to emerge triumphant in both competitions.

RODGERS-LANDAUER SCORE.

Gain Semi-Finals in the Doubles of Yonkers Title Tennis.

E. F. Rodgers and J. Landauer triumphed over Dr. Harry Rosen and Dick Winfield in a quarter-final round match in the Yongers city men's doubles tennis championship tournament at the South Yonkers Tennis Club yesterday. The score was 6—2, 1—6, 6—1. The defeated team was seeded second in the tourney.

In a second-round match J. D. Ewing and Charles Jones vanquished Fred Thompson and Frank Treethy, 6—0, 6—2.

HUNT OUTPOINTS BRADDOCK

BOSTON, Aug. 11 (AP).—Babe Hunt, Oklahoma giant, outpointed Jimmy Braddock, Jersey City heavyweight, tonight in a sensational ten-round battle.

Both boxers stood toe to toe most of the distance, Braddock rocking his heavy rival's head with spectacular hooks as the latter battered his body with heavy punches. Hunt weighed 194 pounds, fourteen more than Braddock.

Mrs. H. T. Hartwell Winner on Links

Special to The New York Times.

GREENWICH, Aug. 11.—Mrs. H. T. Hartwell of the Woodway Country Club won the one-day open golf tournament for women at the Round Hill Country Club today with an 80 net. Second prize in the event went to Miss Helen Silleck of Round Hill with 82.

Lenny Stops Reno in Second.

Ralph Lenny, Union City (N. J.) lightweight, knocked out Jack Reno of Philadelphia in the second round of their ten-round bout at Jersey City last night, according to The Associated Press. Lenny weighed 134 pounds and Reno 132.

Rockafellow Gains in Maine; Allison, Shields Play Today

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 11 (AP).—The unexpected defeat of Don Martin of Boston and the advance of Perry Rockafellow of New York, defending champion, to the third round marked the opening day's play in the Maine State tennis championships at the Portland Country Club today.

Martin was eliminated by J. M. Farren, 2—6, 7—5, 6—4. Wilmer Allison of Austin, Texas, and Frank Shields of New York, recent conqueror of Bill Tilden, will play their first matches tomorrow. Allison was seeded No. 1 and Shields No. 2.

HINES TOPS JOHNSON AT U. S. JUNIOR NET

Triumphs in Straight Sets at Opening of Championship Tourney at Culver, Ind.

Special to The New York Times.

CULVER, Ind., Aug. 11.—The national junior and boys' tennis title tournament, which opened today at the Culver military courts and in which 125 from all parts of the nation participated, produced some sparkling matches, although there were no startling upsets.

Probably the best contest was the one in which Billy Doeg of Santa Monica, Cal., brother of John Doeg, Davis Cup star, won from Dick Inglis, Cleveland, 6—4, 7—9, 6—3.

Karl Kamrath of Austin, Texas, seeded No. 1 in the singles, and Wilmer Hines, Columbia, S. C., the second seeded player, are favorites to reach the finals. Hines defeated Dick Johnson of Grand Rapids in straight sets, while Kamrath will play his first match tomorrow.

Jay Cohn of California, defending champion in the boys' singles, won two matches, with the loss of only four games.

SUAREZ BOXES TONIGHT.

Meets Herman Perlick in 10-Round Bout at Queensboro Stadium.

Justo Suarez, South American lightweight, is expected to undergo a severe ring test tonight at the Queensboro Stadium in his second American battle. The Argentine lad is to tackle Herman Perlick of Kalamazoo, Mich., one of the fighting twins of that name, in a bout scheduled as the club's weekly ten-round feature. In his first trial here Suarez conquered Joe Glick and made a distinct impression as a fighter of the aggressive, hard-hitting type. Perlick recently forced Jack (Kid) Berg through ten spirited rounds.

Marty Fox, east side heavyweight, and George LaRocco of Fordham are paired for the ten-round semi-final. In the first ten-round bout Lew Feldman, promising Brooklyn featherweight, will engage Jimmy Slavin, rugged west sider, in their fifth ring meeting.

Three eight-round bouts feature the boxing card tonight at the Twenty-second Engineers Armory. The principals will be Charley (Red) Boyette vs. Paddy Quinlan; Johnny Peters vs. Billy Drako; Charley Nelson vs. Pat Mooney. Two six-round bouts are also scheduled.

BICYCLE RACES TONIGHT.

At Coney Island Velodrome.

Forty-Mile Motor-Paced Race (one of a series of fifty for the American championship)—Franco Georgetti, Alfred Letourneur, Franz Deulberg, George Chapman, Frank Keenan, Charley Jaeger.

One-Mile Match Race—Between Harris Horder and Avanti Martinetti.

One-Mile Match Race—Between Tom Saetta and Bob Spears.

FEIBLEMAN BEATS RAINVILLE AT NET

Shares Honors in Eastern Title Play With Hess, Who Turns Back Hall.

MISS CROSS WINS EASILY

Gains 6-3, 6-1 Victory Over Miss Kuhn in First Round at Westchester Country Club.

By ALLISON DANZIG.

Special to The New York Times.

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 11.—Jake Hess of Rice Institute, one of the numerous young players from Texas who have taken the trail East in the brilliant wake of Wilmer Allison and Berkeley Bell, shared the honors with E. W. Feibleman of New York today in the eastern turf court tennis championship at the Westchester Country Club.

In the best played match of the afternoon, the trimly-built, dark-haired Texan came from behind to defeat J. Gilbert Hall of South Orange, N. J., in the third set after Feibleman had dispatched Marcel Rainville of the Canadian Davis Cup team at 6—2, 6—3.

Hall, who ranks thirteenth in the country, was in excellent stroke, but his speed of forehand and service was assimilated unflinchingly by Hess, who had just as much pace on the ball and better control, and after saving himself seven times at set point in the second chapter the Jersey youth capitulated at 5—7, 6—4, 6—4.

At Best Against Invaders.

The victory of Feibleman over Rainville, following up the former's defeat of H. G. N. Lee of the English Davis Cup team on Sunday by the same score, emphasizes the tall New Yorker's predilection for lifting his game when confronted by an opponent from foreign lands. Until this tournament Feibleman had played in indifferent form throughout the grass court season and his lament was that he had yet to meet a player who ranked higher than himself.

But once his path was crossed by Lee, the former Harvard star became an entirely different player and against Rainville he was again in full command of his easy-going back-court game.

The play in the men's singles today was restricted to a half dozen matches, with William Tilden enjoying a day of rest and Fritz Mercur, John Van Ryn and Junior Coen also idle. Berkeley Bell and Gregory Mangin arrived from Southampton to make their first appearance in the tournament and both came through in comfortable fashion, as also did Frank Hunter.

Bell Defeats Bruneau.

Bell accounted for Armand L. Bruneau, but not until he had yielded seven games to the chop strokes of the Brooklyn veteran, while Mangin put out Dr. Gerald Bartosh of Los Angeles at 6—2, 6—4. Hunter allowed Henry Holden of Texas only one game and in the only other match of the day Ted Burwell of Charlotte, N. C., who came within a point of taking a set from Hunter at Southampton, dropped the opening set before he was able to quell the dynamic Phil Neer of San Francisco at 4—6, 6—1, 6—3.

The courts were given over for most of the day to the women's singles, which started with an entry of sixty-one players. By late afternoon the field had been reduced to twenty-five, among whom were Miss Edith Cross, Miss Mary Greef, Miss Ethel Burkardt, Miss Marjorie Gladman, Miss Josephine Cruickshank and Miss Virginia Rice, all of whom were seeded. Miss Virginia Hilleary, the other favorite, defaulted.

Miss Rice Drops a Set.

Miss Rice was the only one to get into difficulties, dropping a set, while Miss Greef played through two rounds with the loss of only two games, those two going to Miss Dorothy Workman of California. Miss Alice Francis of East Orange gained a well-earned victory over Miss Carolyn Babcock of California at 6—4, 4—6, 6—2, and Miss Clara Greenspan of New York was the winner in another three-set engagement with Miss Jean Burritt of Toronto.

The longest match of the day saw Miss Mercedes Marlowe of California come through against Miss Marion Eilert at 6—8, 6—4, 6—4. Baroness Levi, champion of Rome for the last four years, did the unexpected in defeating Mrs. Agnes Sherwood Lamme of Rye at 8—6, 6—3, thanks to her activity and chop strokes, and Miss Catherine Wolf of Chicago defeated Mrs. William Pritchard and Mrs. Franklyn C. Koss with the loss of only three games. Miss Cross defeated Miss Hermine Kuhn easily at 6—3, 6—1.

THE SUMMARIES.

Women's Singles.

KURZROK DEFEATS SAPHIR AT TENNIS

Triumphs, 6-0, 6-2, to Gain Greater New York Public Courts Quarter-Finals.

Dr. Milton Kurzrok reached the quarter-final round of the Greater New York public courts tennis tournament when he defeated Harry Saphir, 6—0, 6—2, at the Kingston courts in Brooklyn yesterday. Saphir found the excellent service and placements of Dr. Kurzrok difficult to handle.

Dr. Henry Harvitt started his drive in defense of the title, which he annexed last year, by meeting Mac Jacobs in a first-round contest, but play was halted during the second set because of darkness. Dr. Harvitt gained the first set handily, 6—2. But Jacobs displayed unexpected opposition in the second set, the score at the time play was postponed being 8—8.

Mac Marcus and Sidney Kahn were the other two contestants who gained the quarter-finals, Marcus triumphing over H. Jones, 6—1, 6—4, and Kahn vanquishing Harry Milstein, 6—2, 6—1.

THE SUMMARIES.

First Round—Jack Morrison defeated H. Stillman, 6—2, 6—4; Joe Fink defeated Victor Silber, 6—2, 6—4; Dr. Henry Harvitt was leading 6—2, 8—8, in his match with Mac Jacobs when it was halted on account of darkness.

Second Round—Dr. Milton Kurzrok defeated Harry Saphir, 6—0, 6—2; Mac Marcus defeated H. Jones, 6—1, 6—4; Sid Kahn defeated Harry Milstein, 6—2, 6—1.

CLARK RESIGNS AT BUTLER.

Will Be Succeeded by Bell as College Athletic Director.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 11 (AP).—The resignation of George (Potsy) Clark as athletic director at Butler University was tendered today to the athletic committee and was accepted.

Adjustment was made of a three-year contract which was to become effective Sept. 1, and which called for an annual salary of $10,000.

Ponzi Cue Winner Over Greenleaf.

Andrew Ponzi defeated Ralph Greenleaf, 125—113, in ten innings, in the first block of their thirteen-block pocket billiard match at the Strand Billiard Academy yesterday afternoon. Ponzi had a high run of 42, Greenleaf 44. The scheduled evening block was postponed until Sunday, when Greenleaf was unable to continue play because of illness.

Farber Outpoints Chapdelaine.

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 11 (AP).—Lou Farber, 119, of New York, decisively defeated Art Chapdelaine, 120, of Springfield, in the American Legion's eight-round feature bout tonight. Stanley Winnerick, 126, of Lawrence, scored easily over Roland Lecuyer, 127, of Holyoke, in another eight-rounder.

Lou Love Was Best Saddle Horse.

Lou Love, a 4-year-old chestnut mare, owned by Charles F. Hubbs, was adjudged the best saddle horse at the Southold Horse Show last Saturday. Due to a mistake in the official display of numbers for this class, it had been erroneously announced that Lady Frances was the winner.

3 U. S. TRACK STARS BACK FROM EUROPE

Bowen, Anderson and Warne Return From a Successful Competitive Tour.

By ARTHUR J. DALEY.

Three members of a five-man team of American track athletes returned from a very successful competitive invasion of Europe on the Bergensfjord of the Norwegian-American Line yesterday with glowing reports of an athletic renaissance on the Continent.

The trio consisted of Pete Bowen of the University of Pittsburgh, the national A. A. U. and National Collegiate A. A. 440-yard champion; Steve Anderson of the University of Washington, national A. A. U. and National Collegiate A. A. hurdles titleholder, and Tom Warne of Northwestern, National Collegiate A. A. pole vault champion.

Crosby With the Party.

One other member of the squad, Ed Hamm of Georgia Tech, the Olympic broad jump titleholder, returned a week ago, while George Bullwinkle of City College, the intercollegiate one-mile champion, remained in Europe for an educational trip. Also with Bowen, Anderson and Warne was Pendleton Crosby, Washington sprinter, who was an unofficial member of the party.

According to the returning travelers one of the most significant developments in European athletics is the grasping of the fundamentals of pole vaulting for the first time. In the last Olympic games four Americans, one American-trained Canadian and a Japanese were the six finalists and not a competitor in all of Europe could come close to 13 feet.

Wagner of Germany hit 13 feet in one tussle with Warne, but since the Northwestern star consistently went up to 13 feet 9 inches he was able to keep his winning streak intact while on the other side. Anderson met with only one setback, while Bowen, running every distance from 100 yards to 440, had more difficulty in fashioning as successful a record as his team-mates.

Much Praise for Jarvinen.

In Bowen's opinion none of the foreign sprinters, Koernig, Lammers, Englehardt and the rest, could compare with Simpson, Tolan and the American stars, but he had warm words of praise for Matti Jarvinen of Finland, who set a new world's record of 237 feet 5 85-128 inches for the javelin throw, and Jarvinen's brother, who established a new universal standard for the decathlon.

All three athletes left immediately yesterday for Pittsburgh, where they will train for the national A. A. U. championships on Aug. 22, 23 and 25. Bowen and Anderson will be defending their crowns, while Warne will be seeking the title that just eluded him a year ago.

4 TIE IN EKWANOK GOLF.

Leaders Finish 3 Down in Handicap Against Par.

Special to The New York Times.

MANCHESTER, Vt., Aug. 11.—The weekly golf competition of the Green Mountain Boys at the Ekwanok Country Club today resulted in a tie among four contestants, each finishing 3 down in a handicap against par.

Walter Purcell of New York and H. D. Bassett of Greenwich, each with a handicap of 4, F. N. Towers of Washington, with a handicap of 6, and Edwin Shuttleworth of New York, with a handicap of 18, were those figuring in the tie. M. K. Waters won the putting contest with a card of 34.

The summaries:

Walter Purcell, New York, 3 down; H. D. Bassett, Greenwich, 3 down; F. N. Towers, Washington, 3 down; Edwin Shuttleworth, New York, 3 down; E. L. Scofield, Pinehurst, 4 down; M. K. Waters, New York, 4 down; J. W. Barker, New York, 4 down; J. Frank Shanley, Philadelphia, 5 down; R. T. Lee, Northampton, 5 down; Alexander S. Revell, Chicago, 5 down; C. E. Morris, New York, 6 down; Wendell Phillips, New York, 6 down; Harry Wolff, New York, 7 down; F. C. Robertson, Nice, France, 8 down; H. H. Bottome, New York, 8 down; E. H. Wiswell, Pinehurst, 8 down; Cameron Duncan, Brooklyn, 8 down; E. F. G. Taff, New York, 9 down; W. H. Shaw, Manchester, 9 down; G. C. M. Smith, New York, 9 down; A. G. Woolley, Hartford, 10 down; J. W. Beller, New York, 11 down; B. A. Norris, New York, 12 down; Cabot Morse, Boston, 12 down; J. F. Montgomery, New York, 12 down; Edgar Boody, Englewood, 12 down; H. S. Robbins, Chicago, 15 down; Dixon Q. Brown, New York, 15 down; C. A. Corliss, New York, 15 down.

Aguilar Defeats Trabon.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 11 (AP).—Armando Aguilar's battering won him the decision in his 10-round bout with Joe Trason of Kansas City at Rensselaer, N. Y., tonight. Aguilar weighed 143, Trabon 140.

75 BRITISH PONIES HERE FOR CUP POLO

MOUNTS PRONOUNCED FIT

Capt. Kingscote, Who Has Spent a Year Gathering String, Calls It Best Ever Assembled.

By ROBERT F. KELLEY.

With the arrival in Westbury late yesterday afternoon of seventy-five head of ponies, the polo invasion of Great Britain came one step nearer to reality. When, on Friday, six players of the squad come in aboard the Aquitania to join Gerald Balding, the setting will be complete for another chapter in the long history of the International Polo Challenge Cup.

The shipment arrived yesterday morning aboard the S. S. Minnetonka and soon after noon was unloaded and headed for the Meadow Brook Country Club, where all but eighteen were quartered in the Army Polo Centre stables at Mitchel Field, under the same roof with some of their American rivals.

The eighteen others, belonging to Major Rex Benson, who is a Hurlingham member accompanying the players, and to Lewis Lacey and Captain Selby McCreery, are at the Phipps stables in Old Westbury, a mile or two away.

The shipment is the largest single polo lot that ever has come here and is, by quite a margin, the largest lot that ever came for an international match. Also, according to Captain Maurice Kingscote, who has been gathering and training them since July, 1929, it is the best group of ponies that any British team ever sent across or used. If the ponies play as well as they looked yesterday at the dockside, the confidence of the British in their four-footed players is well grounded.

27 Grooms Watch Charges.

In addition to Captain Kingscote, the British party which arrived yesterday included F. H. Thomason, Captain Kingscote's assistant, and Leonard Avery, the team manager, as well as twenty-seven British grooms, who watched over their charges and rode in the vans with them to the Long Island polo centre.

Captain Kingscote was obviously relieved and pleased over the safe arrival of his charges at the scene of action. He lingered at the pier until long after all of the other passengers had passed the customs lines and departed, making certain that everything was in shape for the correct handling of the ponies, and as he walked the ship's deck or climbed below to the pony stalls, he talked of his charges. It was obvious that he was proud of them and that he was satisfied that, in this respect, the British plans had been well laid.

"They haven't had a really good game yet," he said, talking of his ponies. "The weather was not too good in England during the season and we shall want five or six games here, if possible, before the opening of the matches. Yes, I think they'll be in shape to stand hard work pretty soon. Of course, it's too early to say for certain how they have stood the voyage. But we had a pretty good crossing, no accidents occurred and I think the horses came through in good shape.

Biggest Lot Ever Brought Here.

"It's the biggest lot we've ever brought over and I think the finest that British players have had yet for an international. Of the lot, forty-one are owned by the Hurlingham Club, nine belong to Lewis Lacey, seven to Gerald Balding, six to Major Rex Benson, five to Lieutenant Humphrey Guinness, four to Captain Charles Tremayne and three are loaned by Captain Selby McCreery. Sell them? I suppose some will be left here, but if we beat the Americans I shall feel like taking them all back home."

Captain Kingscote said that the British team was a good one, but again mentioned lack of right weather for fast, hard play. He thought that, with harder games at home, the players would have been further along than they are. He said that the men and ponies would be ready for an easy game on Sunday, but added that they wanted nobody to come to see them that day. "It will be just a bit of limbering up," he said.

After that, the visitors apparently plan a very active campaign, for in the three weeks between Sunday and the tentative opening date of Sept. 6 Captain Kingscote would like to have a half-dozen good matches.

The ponies made the voyage between decks in separate box stalls. They were bothered by heat, but otherwise apparently were well placed, and they appeared yesterday in the best of shape. They were not fat, but there was not a drawn, tired-looking mount in the lot.

Majority Are Thoroughbreds.

They were friendly, poking their noses out at visitors, and good natured after their ten-day voyage. A good many of them are very large animals, heavy and big boned, and all of them are obviously blooded, the majority being thoroughbred. English and Argentine breeding make up the lot.

White Slave, a big brown mare with a white face, drew a good deal of attention, and Captain Kingscote described her as the perfect polo mount. "She'll go for two periods any time, and just as easy and fast. If anything here can catch her, I'll give her to America." Captain Pat Roark has been playing her abroad, and she has been widely heralded, along with several others, including Marie Sol, a compact dark brown mare that Lacey has been playing, and Silver Morn, a chestnut gelding of Balding's that is very powerful and fast looking.

Only two have ever been here before—Marquise, a chestnut mare, and Marksman, both of which played in 1924. Otherwise the string has been gathered by Captain Kingscote, centred by him and handled by him all through the past Fall and Winter and during the playing this Spring. The great care taken is reflected in the appearance of the string. They were, on arrival, a very handsome lot of ponies.

Johnston Returns From Abroad.

Kashdan Draws With Steiner, Also of U. S., in Berlin Chess

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Aug. 12.—Isaac Kashdan drew with Herman Steiner, another American player, in the fifth round of the German-American chess tournament today. The game between Karl Helling and Fritz Saemisch also was drawn. The standing at the end of the fifth round is Kashdan won four, Helling, Saemisch, Steiner, each won one, and two have been adjourned.

FOOTBALL COACHES NAMED AT HARVARD

Cleary Promoted to Varsity Line—Sayles Becomes Freshman Back-Field Tutor.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Aug. 11.—Harvard's football coaching staff for the coming season was announced today by William J. Bingham. The list contains very few changes from the previous year's staff.

Practice for the varsity team will start on Sept. 15, while that for the candidates for the freshman class, dormitory and 150-pound elevens will begin on the opening day of college, Sept. 24, when the squads will be organized. The new Dillon field house will be ready for all candidates.

Walter T. Cleary, freshman line coach last year, has been promoted to the varsity squad and will assist R. J. Dunne with the forward wall. Madison Sayles, second varsity backfield mentor, will coach the freshman backs.

Of the new men added to the staff the names of Richard H. O'Connell, James M. Brady and Ralph W. Turner appear for the first time. O'Connell, on the varsity team the last two years, will be end coach of the second varsity, while Turner, linesman during 1925 and 1927, will be freshman line coach. Brady, a graduate of Notre Dame, who quarterbacked Knute Rockne's eleven two years, will be backfield coach of the second varsity.

Dormitory—Henry Chauncey, '27, head coach; James L. Coombs, '26, and two other assistants to be selected.

150-Pound Team—David Guarnaccia, '29.

SURREY IS VICTOR IN ENGLISH CRICKET

LONDON, Aug. 11 (Canadian Press).—Surrey defeated Middlesex today in their county cricket match by the overwhelming margin of an innings and 171 runs. Surrey batted first on Saturday, and today scored 419 runs for eight wickets, at which point the team declared.

Middlesex secured 125 and followed on, being all out in the second innings for 123. Allom had a splendid day's bowling for Surrey, capturing five wickets for 100 in the first innings and five for 43 in the second.

The mighty Australians fell victim to Jupp's clever bowling in their first innings against Northamptonshire, dropping six wickets to him for 32 runs and being all out for 93. They were forced to the humiliation of following on for the first time in their present English tour, but steadied in the second innings, and when stumps were drawn were 96 runs for one wicket. Jackson scored 52. The Northants' first-innings score was 245.

Gloucestershire defeated Warwickshire at Cheltenham by ten wickets. The score: Gloucester, 201 and 29 for no wickets; Warwick, 120 and 107 (Parker, 9 wickets for 44 runs).

Lancashire vs. Hampshire at Manchester—Lancs, 203 and 142 for 8 wickets (Watson, 54); Hants, 78.

COLUMBIA OVAL TRIUMPHS.

Defeats Brooklyn by 40-Run Margin in Fordham Cricket Match.

The Columbia Oval Cricket Club defeated the Brooklyn eleven in a Metropolitan District Cricket League match by a margin of forty runs at the Fordham Grounds, yesterday. The side was out for 98. Of the Brooklyn batsmen, who occupied the wickets first, H. S. Cockeram, 25, W. L. Taylor, 17, V. H. Cockeram, 14, J. L. Poyer, 12, and C. Kay, 11, did the best batting.

Columbia Oval responded with 131. A. Joseph excelled at bat for his side, making top score of 53. G. Baker came next with 24. Other doubles were those of J. Davis, 14, and C. Rawl, 13.

MULLEN WITH 154 WINS CADDIE TITLE

16-Year-Old Nassau Club Entry Leads Long Island Rivals at Hempstead.

CROWN TO O'BRIEN ALSO

Queensboro Caddie Master Victor With 159—Rama and Brennan Trail at 160.

By LINCOLN A. WERDEN.

Special to The New York Times.

HEMPSTEAD, L. I., Aug. 11.—Sixteen-year-old Jack Mullen, who caddies at the Nassau Country Club, and John O'Brien, caddie master at the Queensboro Golf Club, won the individual caddie and caddie masters' championships of the Long Island Golf Association at the Hempstead Golf Club today.

Mullen turned in a 36-hole aggregate of 154 to lead the other 135 caddies who started this morning. Mullen's total landed him one stroke ahead of Lawrence Subject of Cold Stream and gave him a three-stroke advantage on the day's play over the third player, Sam Suppa, of Lenox Hills.

Besides deciding the individual titles the championship also acted as a sectional elimination for the metropolitan championship later in the month at Canoe Brook. The caddies who earned the right to represent Long Island, beside the three leaders, include Frank Walczk of Oakland, who posted a 72, two under par and the low round of the day for his afternoon score after an 88 this morning; Joe Romeski, Engineers, 160; John Indence, North Hempstead, 160; R. Bangert, Soundview, 162, and S. Zalinski, Sands Point, 165.

Although O'Brien was five strokes higher this afternoon than his initial 77, he finished with 159 for a stroke margin over Herman Rama, assistant caddie master at Fresh Meadow, who distinguished himself during the first round of the recent Long Island open by breaking the 13-year-old course record at Engineers, and Richard Brennan of Hempstead, who also had 160. The other player to compose the fourth qualifier for the metropolitan caddie master event was Fred Dugan of Deepdale, who finished with 163.

Rama, champion last year, started with an 82 this morning, including an 8 at the ninth hole, and was trailing O'Brien and Dugan by five shots. Hitting his tee shots well this afternoon, Rama almost closed the gap, but three-putted two greens for a 78, while O'Brien, with three bad holes, finished with an 82.

FRISCH'S HIT DECIDES ISSUE

Single Climaxes Series of Brooklyn Misplays—Herman's Home Run Ties Score in Fifth.

By ROSCOE McGOWEN.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 11.—Tremendous relief in lowered temperatures came to St. Louis fans yesterday and today, but for the potential champion Robins there was no relief in sight.

Losing the final game today to the Cardinals, 7 to 6, while the Cubs again beat the Braves, the Dodgers dolefully departed for Chicago in second place for the first time in weeks.

The margin is slight—one percentage point—but it is enough so that the ball park pennants that indicate the position of the clubs tomorrow will show the Chicago flag flying in the coveted spot.

By today's ninth-inning victory the Cardinals completed the humbling of the Robins with four triumphs in five games. A wild throw by Del Bissonette in the ninth lost the game for Hollis Thurston and the Robins rather than anything the Red Birds did to win it for themselves.

Thurston, after one bad inning in the second, when the victors tallied four times, pitched shut-out ball until the ninth, when consecutive singles by Hafey and Watkins opened the way to disaster for Brooklyn. Bissonette threw Fisher's grounder into centre field trying for what should have been a certain double play. Both men came in to tie the score, and after Babe Phelps had replaced Thurston with the bases full and retired two men Frankie Frisch delivered the winning blow.

Bissonette's Errors Costly.

Bissonette was the goat of the game, as in addition to his bad throw he muffed a foul and made a late throw to third in the fatal ninth, either of which plays, if properly made, would have sent the game into extra innings.

Herman's twenty-seventh homer, which tied the score in the fifth, and Bressler's single in the sixth to put Brooklyn two runs ahead, were made merely incidental by the bad business in the ninth.

Johnson seemed not to be the happiest pitching choice for the Cardinals, as Johnny Frederick's fourteenth homer of the season was the Cardinal right hander's first greeting and he was none too effective thereafter, despite the 4-to-2 lead handed him by his mates in the second.

Gilbert followed Frederick's circuit blow with a double to left, reached third on Wright's sacrifice, and, after Herman and Bissonette both had drawn passes, he scored on Lopez's single. The rally developed nothing further, however.

Thurston got away to an excellent start, setting the Cards down in order in the first, but Bottomley opened the second with a triple. Gilbert booted Hafey's grounder, Bottomley scoring. Hafey later tallied on a sacrifice fly. Then three straight hits gave the Cards two more and a pair of runs ahead of the Robins.

Robins Tally Once in Fourth.

Brooklyn picked up a run in the fourth, and it required Herman's terrific drive into the left centre-field seats in the fifth to tie the score. The Flock counted twice in the sixth to take the lead at 6—4.

After the second inning Thurston regained his old form and gave the Cards only two hits until the ninth, when singles by Hafey and Watkins put the tying run on base. Here came the unfortunate error by Bissonette which sent both runs across to tie the score when it appeared that Thurston had a victory in his hands.

CUBS BEAT BRAVES AND SWEEP SERIES

CHICAGO, Aug. 11 (AP).—The Cubs today made a sweep of their four-game series with the Braves, 4 to 2, with Bud Teachout, young left-hander, giving Boston only six hits.

The Cubs pecked away at Ben Cantwell for eleven hits, well enough bunched to score the necessary runs. Wallie Berger made a home run in the ninth when Hack Wilson misjudged his long high fly. Riggs Stephenson, Cub left fielder, had a perfect day at bat with two doubles and a single in three times up. Woody English chased over two Chicago runs with timely singles.

INDIANS' ERRORS HELP THE SENATORS TO WIN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (AP).—The Senators made it three out of five today in their series with the Indians, winning by 9 to 2 behind the steady pitching of Alvin Crowder. Loose play on the part of Cleveland aided in much of the Senators' scoring. With the bases loaded in the fourth, Hodapp threw wildly to first, letting in two runs. Morgan then uncorked a wild peg to third in an effort to catch Cronin, who had moved up from first, and he also scored. A wild pitch by Harder also figured in the scoring of a fourth run in the same inning.

Morgan made up for his error by crashing a home run high into the centre-field stands a few minutes later, while Hodapp was the only member of the tribe to make more than one hit. Crowder, however, was never in serious danger, although loading the bases once, largely through temporary wildness.

PIRATES' 3 IN 7TH TURN BACK GIANTS

TERRY'S HOMER TIES COUNT

Falls in Sixth With Two on Bases and Knots Score at 4-All in Final Game of Series.

By JOHN DREBINGER.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 11.—Displaying rather astonishing recuperative powers, the Pirates rallied nobly from the three successive trouncings that had been heaped upon them to roll back the Giants in the final game of the series today by 8 to 5.

All this was rather distressing to the McGraw forces, as they evacuated Pittsburgh tonight for the last time this year, but as events unfolded themselves on the field of battle it can be authoritatively stated that no other result could have been obtained in any circumstance.

In fact, the game was one which the immutable law of average seemed to demand as a defeat for the Giant cause even before it began. Everything the McGrawmen did turned out wrong; whatever the Pirates touched turned to gold.

Clarence Mitchell was chosen by Acting Manager Bancroft to start on the mound for the Giants, and for four innings he did a reasonably fine job, allowing only three hits, yet managed to lose four runs during the effort.

Half this number he dropped in the first inning when Comorosky followed Paul Waner's single with a home run that bounded past Allen in centre, and the other half went by the board in the fourth when two passes and a misplay by Lindstrom filled the bases and a single by Larry French drove two runners across.

Giants Tally in Fifth.

Then the Giants threatened to repair the damage. They appeared somewhat taken aback at the outset that Manager Jewel Ens should have had the temerity to start the left-hander French directly after they had flattened the young man in the first inning of Saturday's game, but in the fifth they picked up their first tally on O'Farrell's double and Jackson's single and the sixth Bill Terry tied the score at 4-all by walloping a homer into the centre-field stands after Allen and Lindstrom had opened the round with singles.

But in the seventh the Pirates struck their knockout blow by hopping vigorously on Tiny Jim Chaplin, who had replaced Mitchell after the fourth, and by scoring three runs in a lump put the game well beyond reach.

French himself opened this drive with a double. Came a single by Lloyd Waner, a two-bagger by brother Paul, another single by Traynor, and, though at this point the left-handed Hub Pruett was hurled into the breach, he arrived entirely too late. Each team counted once in the eighth.

Giants Have No Casualties.

With Bob O'Farrell back in the line-up after a layoff of more than a fortnight, due to a sprained ankle, the Giants today were able to experience the rare sensation of having their hospital tent empty, this being one of the few times this year that Trainer Doc Knowles has not had at least a couple of invalids on his hands.

PHILLIES BAFFLED BY KOLP OF REDS

Cincinnati Pitcher Holds Foes to Six Hits and Mates Triumph by 4 to 2.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 11 (AP).—Ray Kolp held Philadelphia to six hits today and won a 4-to-2 pitchers' battle from Ray Benge. The Phillies did not secure a hit until the sixth inning.

After scoring a run in the first inning, the Reds clinched the game in the third, scoring twice on doubles by Callaghan and Stripp, Cuccinello's sacrifice, which put Stripp on third, and a double steal by Stripp and Heilmann, who had walked.

NEWARK IS BEATEN IN GAME AT NIGHT

Bows to Buffalo, 9 to 1, to End Winning Streak, After Taking Afternoon Contest, 8-5.

The Buffalo Bisons defeated the Bears in Newark last night, 9 to 1, and thereby shattered Newark's six-game winning streak. Pitcher Johnny Wilson held the Bears to six scattered hits and fanned a dozen batters. Leo Mangum, who started for the Bears, was driven from the box and was succeeded by Byron Speece. The Bears played raggedly in the field.

The Bruins took the afternoon game, 8 to 5.

ORIOLES WIN IN NINTH.

Defeat Rochester by 8-6 as Hauser Hits 49th Homer.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 11 (AP).—Joe Hauser selected a nice spot for his forty-ninth home run today. He slapped it out of the lot in the ninth to give the Orioles an 8-to-6 victory over the Rochester Red Wings. Vince Barton was on base at the time.

FABER, WHITE SOX, SUBDUES ATHLETICS

Veteran Moundsman, Who Gains Sixth Victory of Season, Registers 8-3 Triumph.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 11 (AP).—Urban Faber's spit ball had the Athletics rolling out to the infield for the most part today and the White Sox won, 8 to 3.

The victory was Faber's sixth of the season. Rube Walberg, who started in the box for the Mackmen, left after being solved for five runs in the third inning. Cissell climaxed the attack by hitting a home run with two on base.

MACFAYDEN HOLDS TIGERS TO THREE HITS

Pitches Red Sox to Victory, 5 to 1, in Last of Four Game Series.

BOSTON, Aug. 11 (AP).—The Red Sox won the last of their four-game series with the Detroit Tigers today, 5 to 1, thereby splitting even on the series. Danny MacFayden held the Tigers to three hits, two of them by Paul Easterling. The visitors' only run was forced in by MacFayden's wildness in the fourth.

Webb made an unusual homer in the third on a long drive to deep centre. Centrefielder Funk ran in toward second base when the ball was hit and it passed far over his head. Webb had circled the bases before Funk could retrieve it. It seemed as if it would be an easy out.

JERSEY CITY IS BEATEN.

Held to 8 Hits in Losing Night Game to Montreal, 7-2.

Jersey City lost to Montreal at West Side Park, Jersey City, last night, by 7—2, the Royals winning the series, four games to one.

Roy Buckalew was in masterful form, allowing eight hits, to chalk up his eleventh victory of the season. The Royals collected fourteen hits, knocking Austin Moore to the showers with a four-run attack in the ninth.

HOMERS BY BROWNS VANQUISH YANKEES

Goslin Hits Two and O'Rourke and Blue One Each, St. Louis Winning, 10-5.

BATTERS BOMBARD SHERID

By WILLIAM E. BRANDT.

The St. Louis Browns, lowliest of the league in the batting averages, resorted to home runs as a means of winning their last game of the season in the Yankee Stadium yesterday.

They won by 10-5, thereby putting an end to the Yanks' winnnig streak after it had reached six straight and had tied their best previous record of the season for consecutive victories, established in mid-June.

O'Rourke, Goslin and Blue battered Roy Sherid, one of Shawkey's aces, for home runs into the right-field bleachers. In the eighth, after Owen Carroll had given two bases on balls, Goslin stepped up and did it again.

Makes Fourth Hit of Game.

This second homer by the slugging star of the champion Washingtons of half a dozen years ago was his fourth hit of the game.

He had a single and double besides his two bleacher shots. He drove home five runs, winding up his metropolitan stay in a blaze of hitting, for on Sunday he hit a homer off Holloway and had three homers, two doubles and a single to show for his last seven times at bat in the series.

The four homers collectively accounted for eight of the visiting tallies. The Yanks, who lead the league in hitting, offered their public, numbering about 5,000, nothing exciting in the way of hits.

Rip Collins, a Yankee himself a few years back, held them to one hit in the first five innings, a double by Bengough, which scored the only run the Yankees gained while the Browns were bombarding Sherid.

In the sixth a three-run rally, involving two passes, Lary's single and a double with the bases filled by Pinch Hitter Dickey, broke Collins's spell. When he missed the plate with his first three pitches to Ruth in the seventh, Acting Manager Jimmie Austin replaced him with Blaeholder, who kept the Yanks under restraint the rest of the game.

Ruth Passed Three Times.

Ruth's home run campaign was effectually blocked by the fact that the St. Louis pitchers gave him three passes. In the third he launched a mighty sacrifice fly to centre, though a few minutes later Gehrig hit the longest drive of the game, longer than any of the visiting homers, a fly which Metzler caught half way up the hill to the bleachers in deepest centre.

Lonny Burch, a young right-handed pitcher from Endeavor, Pa., after inspection by Manager Shawkey was sent yesterday to the Yankees' farm at Chambersburg, in the Blue Ridge League.

JOE TINKER IS NAMED JERSEY CITY MANAGER

Joe Tinker, shortstop of the Chicago Cubs from 1902 to 1912 and formerly a manager in the National League and the Federal League, yesterday was appointed manager of the Jersey City International League club, succeeding Nick Allen.

Tinker, after his playing days as a member of the famous "Tinker to Evers to Chance" infield, managed the Cincinnati Reds during the 1913 season. He later managed the Chicago Federal League team for two years and since the World War has been engaged as a minor league manager and as a scout for the Chicago Cubs. Earlier this season Tinker was associated with Bill Clymer, manager of the Buffalo Internationals, stepping out of that organization coincidentally with the resignation of Clymer.

The Chicago Cubs, under Frank Chance, in the first decade of this century, stood as one of the great teams of baseball history, their strongest feature being the "inside play" of the infield listing Chance at first base, John Evers at second, Tinker at shortstop and Steinfeldt at third base.

Chance's Cubs won National League pennants in 1906, 1907, 1908 and 1910, and world's championships in 1907 and 1908. In 1906 the Cubs lost the world's series to the Chicago White Sox, the historic "hitless wonders." In the next two classics the Cubs defeated Detroit for the world's championship, vanquishing the best teams managed by Hughie Jennings and starring Ty Cobb.

The breaking up of the Cubs dates from their defeat at the hands of the Philadelphia Athletics in the 1910 world's series, which resulted in a four-games-to-one victory for Philadelphia, as did last year's series between the Philadelphia Americans and the Chicago Nationals.

First Race for Canada's Cup Won by Thisbe, U. S. Defender, on Lake Ontario

THISBE IS WINNER ON LAKE ONTARIO

U. S. Craft Beats Quest, Dominion Challenger, in First Canada's Cup Race.

DEFENDER ALWAYS LEADS

Crane-Designed Eight-Meter Craft Beats Rival by 54 Seconds Over 18-Mile Course.

Special to The New York Times.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 11.—Thisbe, America's hope to retain the historic Canada's Cup, emblematic of fresh-water sailing supremacy, today defeated Quest, the Royal Canadian Yacht Club challenger, in the first race of this sixth renewal of the Great Lakes classic. It marked the first competition for the cup in twenty-three years.

Skippered brilliantly by William P. Barrows, the Crane-designed Thisbe plowed across the finish line in a heavy sea tossed up by a strong southwest reefing wind which has whipped Lake Ontario for the last two days. The American standard bearer won by 54 seconds elapsed time and with about 100 yards of open water between her and the Fife-designed Canadian eight-meter skippered by Norman Gooderham.

The course selected by the judges in the face of the eighteen to twenty-knot blow, accompanied by long, rolling seas, was to windward and return, four and a half miles a leg, twice around.

Thisbe Is First Across.

Both defender and challenger made for the starting line with a single reef in their mainsails. Barrows, on Thisbe, went into the lead right after the boom of the starting cannon.

The Canadian skipper held off his boat just long enough for Barrows to put Thisbe on his weather.

Thisbe swung about on a port task in an attempt to blanket the Canadian. Gooderham countered by swinging onto a starboard tack. When Gooderham persisted in his efforts to split tacks with the American defender, Thisbe, which was slower in stays, decided to leave the Canadian to her own devices, and took a long board toward the lee of the shore off Rigney's Bluff.

Quest, which is fuller in her forward section than her rival, bobbed about in the rollers considerably more than the defender. While the more tender of the two, Skipper Barrows never eased Thisbe from the force of the wind, punishing her and driving her through the giant combers.

Thisbe continually headed up to weather and maintained her advantage over Quest, having a fifty-one-second lead at the turn concluding the thrash to weather. The times at the outer mark were: Thisbe 1:02:02, Quest 1:02:53.

Perforated Spinnaker on Quest.

On the run coming home the first time, the Dominion entry flying a huge, perforated spinnaker, at first lessened the gap between her and her American rival. It was soon apparent, however, that Quest, whose mainsail was on the opposite side to Thisbe's, was not getting the full benefit of the following wind.

About half way down the leg Gooderham jibed, bringing his main boom over to port to conform to the trim the American skipper had established at rounding. This cost Gooderham any chance of overhauling Barrows on this leg, and, while he did cut down on the time advantage which Thisbe held at the turn, the defender still had a comfortable lead at the conclusion of the first round. The times here were: Thisbe 1:34:48, Quest 1:35:10.

The second thrust up the wind was a repetition of the first leg. Barrows again let Thisbe take the puffs rap full, and outpointed his rival, consistently maintaining a weather berth and craftily keeping his rival covered. Barrows rounded the turn one minute and a half in the lead, his biggest advantage of the day. Thisbe rounded at 2:33:08 and Quest at 2:34:38.

On the run home, while Gooderham again cut down the open water between his bow and Thisbe's stern, the four and a half mile leg was too short for him to catch the flying American defender.

Amidst a royal salute, sirens and steam whistles from the huge spectators' fleet grouped around the finishing line, the Barrows-piloted sloop took the winner's gun 54 seconds before her rival crossed the line. The times at the finish: Thisbe 3:03:56, Quest 3:04:50.

Navy's Feature Football Games This Year Are Booked for 1931

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 11.—The Naval Academy's football opponents for its six important games in 1931 will be the same as in 1930, it was stated today by Captain Henry D. Cooke, head of the department of physical training and athletics.

These teams are Notre Dame, Maryland, Southern Methodist, Princeton, Ohio State and Pennsylvania. The Baltimore Stadium will be the scene of the games with Notre Dame and Maryland, while Ohio State, Princeton and Pennsylvania will be met on their home grounds. The game with Southern Methodist will be the big home contest for the midshipmen in 1931.

THREE TRIAL RACES ARE WON BY LUCIE

Cunningham Craft Features in Initial Tests to Choose U. S. Six-Meter Team.

APHRODITE ALSO IS VICTOR

Leads Mars Across Finish Line by One Second on Oyster Bay—Cherokee, Sprig Triumph.

Special to The New York Times.

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Aug. 11.—The process of selecting the four six-meter yachts, which will comprise the United States team in the British-American Cup races early next month, started off here today and after a day full of racing on a heavy sea, Briggs Cunningham's Lucie stood out as one of the best craft in the fleet of thirteen boats.

Lucie, a member of the American team in 1928, winner of many events on the Riviera last Winter, and winner also of the six-meter class at the Larchmont race week, led in three races and finished second in another.

Tryouts will continue under the direction of the Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht Club for the next three or four days. The tests are merely to acquire information as to the relative merits of the craft and when the trials are over, it is expected that the committee will choose the American team.

The tests were held over a triangular course and a strong northwest wind kicked up whitecaps throughout the day.

Sprig Wins First Race.

The only race Lucie lost was to Sprig, and then by a fraction of a second. That was in the first event of the day. From then on Lucie was invincible.

Sprig finished second in her second race, but in her two afternoon tests she was not up to her morning standard.

E. I. Cudahy's Roulette II performed well in the afternoon and atoned her skipper for her erratic sailing in the morning races. The showing she made in the afternoon placed Roulette II among the top notchers.

The Van S. Merle-Smith syndicate had a pretty good looking craft in Mars, this boat getting two seconds, a third and a fifth in her four races.

Emerald, Rana, and Saleema, the other members besides Lucie of the American team two years ago, were not far from the leaders in regard to the day's sailing. Emerald won the third race in the second division.

Two Leaders Far in Front.

The only reason Lucie was timed one full second behind Sprig in the first race was because the race committee, on William Lorn Marston's Nebula, was not using a split second watch. Sprig and Lucie were far ahead of the other craft in this race, J. R. Ward's Rana coming across the line nearly two minutes astern of Cunningham's boat.

Aphrodite, Mars and Ripples proved the best of the starters in the second division of the first race. The real competition, however, lay between Aphrodite and Mars and the former craft slipped across the finish line just a second in front of Mars.

In the second race, Lucie beat Sprig in the first division by 45 seconds. Cherokee slipped home ahead of Louis G. Shields's Emerald by 55 seconds in the second division.

FALCON I VICTOR OFF MARBLEHEAD

Hunt Sails Yacht to Victory in Eastern Yacht Club Regatta to Capture Class Q Trophy.

PRISCILLA III ALSO WINS

De Forest Eight-Meter Takes Eastern Series Prize—Robin, Astrild and Teal Score.

Special to The New York Times.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., Aug. 11.—Another great fleet of 260 yachts dotted the waters off Marblehead today in the second of the midsummer week races sailed under the colors of the Eastern Yacht Club.

C. Raymond Hunt sailed the old Falcon I to a second victory over the 25-rating fleet and captured the Eastern Yacht Club Class Q trophy. The crack Long Island Sound eight-meter Priscilla III, with Johnston De Forest, its owner, at the helm, led the international rule boats to lift the Eastern series trophy, while another New York victory was scored by W. H. Wheeler Jr.'s Robin in the R class. The former Marblehead 20-rater finished a minute and a half ahead of the double-ender Live Yankee.

Among the winners were Walter K. Shaw Jr., Bar Harbor 31-footer Astrild; William S. Potter's S class boat Teal, Ames Nowell's triangle boat Anna Lee, Alfred E. Chase's 30-quare meter boat Michl V, Shepard brothers' M-B 17½-footer Jackanapes III, Jacob D. Cox's sonder boat Tern, J. Edwin Watkins's star class boat Yankee Dandy, Dean James's Cohasset 21-footer Skiddo, and F. G. Bemis's Manchester 17-footer Blue Moon.

Alfred E. Chase's new imported German champion thirty square meter Michl V scored her first win over the Scharenkreuzer squadron. The Chase boat was first at the leeward mark. Art Shuman's Tipler IV, fourth at the turn, showed her fast-footing ability to windward and overhauled the squadron to finish forty-two seconds astern of the mahogany Michl V.

William S. Potter's Teal and Hamilton Brown's Nightmare gained a lead at the start of the Herreshoff B class and led at the leeward mark. It was a match race home for the two leaders, with the Potter boat covering the Nightmare all the way to score a five-second victory.

German Army Team to Ride At National Horse Show

Reginald W. Rives, secretary-treasurer of the National Horse Show Association, announced yesterday that he had received from the German Ambassador official acceptance of the invitation to Germany to take part in the international military jumping competition at the National Horse Show, which will be held in Madison Square Garden Nov. 6-12. Germany won the international jumping honors in 1928, but did not compete last year, the title going to Poland. Other nations which have been invited to take part include Poland, Sweden and the Irish Free State as well as the United States.

YACHT ENTERPRISE GETS A NEW BOOM

Designer of America's Cup Boat Predicts Greater Pulling Power Along Foot of Sail.

INSPECTS WEETAMOE SAILS

Ratsey Examines Equipment During Trial Spin of Candidate to Brenton Reef.

Special to The New York Times.

BRISTOL, R. I., Aug. 11.—Enterprise, the America's Cup candidate, which put into Bristol late Saturday, today had a crew of men working on a new boom that was placed aboard her.

The metal track on the boom, which carries the slides on the foot of the mainsail, is rigged so it moves from one side of the boom to the other as the ship tacks. That is, when the sloop is on the starboard tack, the track on the boom slides over to the port side and when the sloop tacks to the port it slides over to the starboard side of the boom.

This is the first time in the history of yacht racing that a rig like this has been tried on the foot of a sail, and W. Starling Burgess, designer of the Enterprise, asserts it will give the mainsail greater pulling power along the foot.

This is an application of an experiment tried early this Spring on the mast and luff of the mainsail on the Class M boat Prestige, owned by Harold S. Vanderbilt, Prestige being launched expressly for the purpose and hauled out again after the experiment had been completed.

Enterprise has been answering her helm so readily that her designer has decided to try out a smaller rudder and after one or two trial spins with the new boom attached, she will be hauled out on the railway, cleaned and painted, and a smaller rudder slung in place.

Weetamoe was taken out to Brenton Reef early yesterday morning for a trial spin and to give George Ratsey an opportunity to inspect her sails. Later in the day she sailed up to Bristol and will be hauled out on the south railway. The designer and afterguard of Weetamoe seem content to let well enough alone in regard to her rig as long as she handles and sails in her present form.

The old cup defender Resolute is at Herreshoff's unshipping her racing sails and equipment as the racing season for the large rating classes ended with the sailing of the King's Cup race last Saturday.

Saratoga Feature Is Won by Peto With Buddy Bauer and Coin Collector Next Belair Stud Colt Holds On to Take Catskill Claiming Stakes at Saratoga.

WHITNEY'S ANGRY IS LAST

Black Watch Also Falters After Setting Fast Pace—Hermitage Annexes Chase—Mate Scores.

By BRYAN FIELD.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 11.—One of the more obscure members of the Belair Stud string of William Woodward, got a chance to shine today when Peto carried the Red and White dotted silks to victory in the Catskill Claiming Stakes, worth $4,025.

The race was a thrilling contest for all of its seven furlongs, but Peto held on with the same sort of courage as characterizes his famous stable-mate, Gallant Fox, to win by a head from E. R. Bradley's Buddy Bauer, which finished a length and a half ahead of Coin Collector, a Sagamore Stable horse.

A blazing pace and a head and head run was flashed in the first half mile of the race, and the two horses which put on the battle did so to a finish, racing each other into defeat and winding up with the tail-enders. Black Watch was one of them and he was first away from the barrier. Almost in stride with this fast sprinter was Angry, the Harry Payne Whitney color-bearer, which won here last week, only to be disqualified for the fault of a stable-mate.

Angry Falters on Bend.

Going as a team past the quarter-mile mark, the pair were clocked in 0:23, and at the end of half a miles of running they were timed in 0:46 3-5, which was too fast with horses like Peto and Buddy Bauer behind. It was on the bend, just past the half-mile mark, that Angry cracked, and he stopped so badly that he eventually was last of the eight that ran. Black Watch lasted only a little longer.

Straightened out in the stretch, Black Watch was very tired from his fast going and had nothing with which to oppose the rush of Peto, Buddy Bauer and the others. He finished sixth. Peto was the first to pass him and the Belair horse ran into a lead of more than a length, but was doing his very best to hold a slender advantage at the end.

His time for the seven furlongs was 1:25 3-5, and he carried 116 pounds. The Wheatley Stable's Best Man ran coupled in the betting with Peto and was the only horse claimed. He changed hands for $7,500, the highest priced claim of the meeting. Best Man and Peto were favorites at 9 to 5 and marked the fourth consecutive public choice, or joint public choice, to win.

Brown Trap, owned by the Geneseo Stable, started things off in the first race when he and his running-mate, Dunrock, were backed down to 5 to 2. Ojibwa, which finished fifth, was also 5 to 2, but never was in the hunt when Brown Trap got to running. Memories Dear set a fast early pace, only to be run down by Brown Trap in the stretch. Closing fastest of all was High Step, which landed second, a head back of Brown Trap and a length before Memories Dear.

Only Three Finish in Chase.

The Sandhurst Steeplechase saw seven start and three finish. Two horses fell, another ran out of the course and a fourth was pulled up. Wrenched shoulders and bruises were the worst the fallen jockeys suffered. The winner was Walter J. Salmon's Hermitage, odds on at 4 to 5. He managed to keep his feet, show some speed from time to time, and win by three lengths from Van Dike, a 15-to-1 shot. Twenty lengths further back Flying Sweep got home to take third money.

Mate, A. C. Bostwick's colt, was made the 4-to-5 choice in the Idle Hour Purse and won easily by three lengths. Laverne Fator was in the saddle and coasted the last two furlongs with frequent glances over his shoulder to see how the others were doing. They were not doing very much of anything. Opponent, a former Rancocas Stable horse, now running for A. W. Wentzel, got second, and Quorum third. The others were strung out to the eighth pole.

The fifth race found three horses equal choices, Recede, Wu and St. Otis all being 7 to 2 in the betting. Recede, bearing the colors of L. Strube, led from start to finish and won in a walk. Wu staggered home third, a length and a half back of Woolorac, a 20-to-1 shot, while St. Otis was last of the lot.

In the nightcap fifteen 2-year-old fillies, all of them maidens, went to the post, and George Cassidy got them off to a start that was remarkably smooth considering the capers that were being cut up. For the first furlong or so Transformation, St. Agnes and Reproof ran head and head. But Transformation was bounced off the fence on the far turn, St. Agnes stopped and Reproof came on to win for F. Sansone and pay 7 to 1. The margin of victory was two lengths and Harlem and High Go were the second and third horses.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 11.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Governor of New York, has been invited to attend the Travers on Saturday as the guest of George H. Bull, president of the Saratoga Racing Association, it was made known today. Should Governor Roosevelt attend, and Mr. Bull believes he will, barring unforeseen developments, he will be the fourth Governor to see Gallant Fox in action. The Governors of Kentucky, Illinois and Maryland were the others.

Harry Payne Whitney's Whichone, considered by many as a likely conqueror of Gallant Fox, again will be seen under silks tomorrow. The son of Chicle was entered in the Miller to the surprise of many, who believed that his races in the Saranac and the Whitney had provided plenty of work for him. But Trainer Tom Healey knows what his horse likes best and has him in the mile and three-sixteenths test tomorrow.

General regret was expressed today over the death of Kenneth Karrick, son of W. P. Karrick, trainer for John Sanford. Kenneth Karrick rode with Merit in France in 1909 and 1910, and later handled a division of the W. R. Coe string when his father was head trainer. He also trained in Florida and Havana.

Macomber Plans to Rebuild Race Plant Destroyed by Fire

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Aug. 11.—John R. Macomber, Boston financier and turfman, tonight announced that he will immediately begin the rebuilding of Raceland, his home and racing establishment at Framingham Centre, which recently was leveled by fire. The new structure will be a replica of the old stable and clubhouse.

Parker, Thomas & Rice, the original architects, will erect the new Raceland. Mr. Macomber expressed confidence that the plant will be ready for the Eastern Horse Club race meeting next June. Since 1927 Mr. Macomber has thrown Raceland open to the public free of charge for one day of the annual meeting.

47 SPA YEARLINGS SELL FOR $53,700

Mrs. West, Who Buys Three Head, Pays Highest Price, $10,000, for Johren Colt.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 11.—Unseasonably cold weather cut down the attendance at the yearling sales tonight, with the result that the forty-seven head which went under the hammer sold for a total of only $53,700, an average of $1,142.

Mrs. Madeleine West, who races the Catawba Stable and exercises a good deal of judgment in the training of horses, was one of the most active bidders, three head going to her. The highest price yearling of the night was sold to Mrs. West for $10,000.

This youngster was a Johren colt out of Mabel Trask. Johren carries a blood strain much fancied by Mrs. West and one of her most successful horses has been Sir Johren. The yearling sold tonight is a half-brother to Sir Johren and that evidently influenced Mrs. West in bidding so strongly for him.

Sominco Farm Offers Stock.

Eight different consignors disposed of yearlings, the largest lot being from the Sominco Farm of Rodman Meacham. The $10,000 yearling was in the Sominco lot. Mrs. West's purchase is a chestnut colt, heavily marked with white on his face and legs. He should be easily identified and is of the family of Exterminator, Ben Brush and Regret, all winners of the Kentucky Derby and other great races.

Only four other horses brought $2,500 or more. The most expensive of these was a bay Runantell colt out of Oraguese, which sold for $3,500. He was from the A. C. Randolph lot and was purchased by J. P. Smith, trainer for the Dorwood Stable. It is not known whether or not Smith acted for the Dorwood Stable, which is owned by Victor Emanuel.

Little Bidding Opposition.

Smith encountered little opposition for the colt, which is a full brother to Traitor, a 2-year-old which has raced with some success this season for the California stable.

The other three brought $2,500 each. Smith bought one of them, a black or dark brown colt by Sweep On out of Talisman. This yearling is a half-brother to Sarazen II, which won the Paumonok last Spring.

The two other $2,000 yearlings were sold to Mrs. West. One was another Johren colt, this time out of War Tidings, and the other was a Johren colt out of Star Stone. Both came from the Sominco farm consignment.

DE KUH STOPS GORMAN.

Scores in Fourth Round of Newark Velodrome Bout.

Arthur De Kuh, giant Italian, knocked out Bud Gorman of Summit in 1:55 of the fourth round of a scheduled ten-round bout before a crowd of 8,000 at the Newark Velodrome last night, the referee stopping the encounter. Gorman weighed 205 pounds, De Kuh 217.

In the eight-round semi-final, put on after the main bout, Roscoe Manning, 155, Newark, drew with Johnnie Zawackie, 158, Paterson.

In the eight-round opener Frank (Cowboy) Willis, 172, Newark, outpointed Porack Zerolinck, 183, Austria. George Rosselli, 203, Newton, N. J., knocked out Benny Cook, 190, Newark, in the first round of a scheduled six rounder. Don Petron, 178, Arlington, N. J., stopped Vince Babin, 188, New York, in the fourth round of another eight.

Sports of the Times

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

By JOHN KIERAN.

ALL they needed to have a first class fox chase on the West 17th Street pier yesterday was a first class fox. The Minnetonka came with a full supply of horses and foxhounds. The stevedores were yelling "Yoicks!" and "Stolen away!" in an endeavor to start something, but it turned out that the foxhounds and the horses didn't belong to the same club.

The horses weren't hacks or jumpers. They were the British polo string, seventy-five equines in all. Not a cheap game at all, this polo. A man can't start with less than five horses and good polo mounts can't be picked up in five-and-ten-cent stores. Almost all other games are cheaper and easier to start. Jones calls up Smith and says: "How about a few sets of tennis?" Smith gets his racquet, slides over to the club, and the match is under way. Doe phones Roe and says: "Shoot a little golf?" Roe informs his secretary that he is being called away by an important business deal and the deal is on. On the hotel porch somebody says: "Care for a quiet game of bridge?" The quarreling starts in no time at all.

But polo isn't a game. It's a financial undertaking of huge proportions. With the stock market slump, the drought and an unusually large supply of polo mounts to be auctioned before the snow flies, one polo observer predicts a drop in prices and says "Polo is coming down a bit." That's fine. If it comes down far enough, it will soon be within reach of millionaires.

Figuring Roughly.

Just to get an idea of the financing of an international polo series, there's the value of the British polo string as a starter. Even at the reduced prices that threaten to prevail this string must be worth $200,000 or more. Add to that the expense of handling the mounts, feeding them and transporting them across the ocean. That's only one side of it. There's the American string to consider.

An international polo match is a million dollar proposition, easily. Those British mounts, by the way, must be wondering what is coming next in their adventurous lives. They were put on a steamer and taken for an ocean voyage. After that they were led into motor vans and taken for a ride. Now they find themselves stabled at an airport. They may balk at going up. Too much is enough, even for a polo mount that is ready to take any reasonable chance.

The star of the British stable is a mare named White Slave, the name being somewhat misleading because the mare isn't white but chestnut. The grooms say White Slave is worth its weight in gold or platinum, but that may be patriotic exaggeration. The all-time high for polo mounts was set by Jupiter at $21,000, and if the general business slump has its effect on polo prices Jupiter's fancy price will still be the high mark through this season.

The Airport Puzzle.

It may seem strange that a visiting polo string—or the larger part of it—is stabled at Mitchel Field, an army airport, but there is a reasonable explanation. A few years ago the army went polo-minded, the gilded staff believing that polo was good exercise and fine training for officers, especially those in the cavalry squadrons and artillery divisions. So Mitchel Field became a headquarters for army polo activities. Horses and players were gathered there and fine stables were built.

The army officers are still interested in improving their polo. They are at it at army posts all over the country. West Point even built its own polo field. But the cavalry didn't build it, nor the artillery. The engineers did it. They cut into the rocky side of one of those young mountains at the Point, cut down huge trees, filled in a gulch, graded, leveled and sodded the field and then turned it over to the polo players.

Just to test it before the formal dedication, Captain Biff Jones galloped the full length on a wheel horse from the artillery lines. Under this tremendous strain the field remained firm. The Engineer Corps was vindicated and the field is holding up well to this day.

The Point of View.

Mention of Biff Jones recalls a strange happening after Captain Biff turned over the football reins to Major Ralph Sasse. Captain Jones moved over to become assistant to Major Philip Fleming, who runs athletics at the Point and handles the finances. When Captain Jones was football coach he was always knocking on Major Fleming's door and saying:

"That practice field has got to be resodded. We can't work out on it the way it is now. It's like falling on concrete. The rocks are coming through. We've got to have new equipment for the scrubs. Their uniforms are falling off them. We need another dozen footballs and three tackling dummies."

That was only part of it. Major Fleming would smile and bring up the subject of lack of money and Biff would retire, smoking with indignation. Then Captain Jones became assistant to Major Fleming and it was Major Sasse who tapped on the door and asked Captain Jones to have the field resodded.

"What!" barked the new watchdog of the army athletic treasury, "You must be crazy! Not a chance! Where would we get the money?"

The only revenge Major Sasse could get was to take Captain Jones over to the squash courts and run him ragged, which he did with considerable pleasure.

A Forgotten War.

By the way, isn't there some little argument between West Point and Annapolis about football? Or was that settled at the London Conference? Perhaps it is best forgotten. There was a time when the Army-Navy game was the high spot of the football season. There was also a time when chestnut trees were in full fruit all through this State. But the chestnut blight hit them and now botanical experts say that chestnuts won't thrive again in this region until they have first completely disappeared, taking the blight with them. Then new seedlings can be set out and all may be well.

The Army-Navy football wrangle might be settled the same way. Let it die out completely. The Congressional debaters will have no target at which to fire. Retorts courteous and discourteous will be forgotten. All will be quiet along the Severn and the Hudson, and the boys may be able to get together again for a little game of football.

aGeneseo Stable entry.
Scratched—Sportress, Bacciocco.

Brown Trap, away well in his stride, was rated to the stretch, where he came to the outside and, closing gamely under the whip, was up to win in the last stride. High Step, outpaced in the early part, closed with a rush in the final furlong and would have won in a few more strides. Memories Dear had plenty of early speed and rushed right to the front, but weakened in the last sixteenth. Scatter, well up for five furlongs, quit badly. Objibwa is worth remembering.

*Ran out. †Pulled up. Fell.
‡Gentleman rider.

Hermitage was much the best. He was poorly handled, being eased back and sent up several times. Finally he took the lead in the last quarter mile and won easily. Van Dike, a good jumper, showed plenty of speed and ran a good race. Flying Sweep had no contention for the show position. Friar McGee was kept right with the pace all the way, but ran out of the course in the last half mile and his rider finally fell off.

Mate handled his weight well, was sent to the front and, rated under stout restraint, won galloping. Opponent was kept well up from the start and easily disposed of Quorum in the stretch. The latter broke fast, showed some speed and was next best. Moronge had no mishap. Barometer showed a flash of speed.

aBelair Stud-Wheatley Stable entry.
Scratched—Sun Shadow, Moonstruck, Al Green, Host.

Peto, under good handling, was allowed to rate off the fast early pace, came around Black Watch in the stretch and drew out. He tired, however, and had to be hard ridden to stall off the determined rush of Buddy Bauer. The latter was taken very wide all the way and finished gamely. Under better handling he might have won. Coin Collector was never able to get to the front. Black Watch was used up racing Angry into submission and stopped badly. Charon made a bid in the stretch, but weakened at the end. Angry was used up racing with the early pace.

Owners—1, Belair Stud; 2, E. R. Bradley; 3, Sagamore Stable; 4, Newtondale Stable; 5, Fair Stable; 6, William E. Martin; 7, Wheatley Stable; 8, H. P. Whitney.

1074 FIFTH RACE—The Rockland; purse $1,000; claiming; 3-year-olds and upward; one mile and a furlong. Start good; won easily; place driving. Winner, b. f., 3, by Sir Martin—Recession. Trainer, L. Strube. Time—0:25, 0:50, 1:15⅘, 1:41, 1:55.

Grand Bey was placed on the outside.

Recede, away fast, rushed into a long lead, galloped along in front and won easily. Woolorac dropped back in the early part and came very fast in the final furlong. Wu, outrun for seven furlongs, closed a big gap. Florhi had no mishap. Grand Bey tired badly. Doctor Rankin was outrun.

Reproof, away well in her stride, opened a wide lead, displayed good speed, saved ground and held on gamely. Harlem, going in much improved form, finished fast. High Go, away slowly, was forced wide, but closed gamely. St. Agnes tired chasing the pace. Meek had no mishap.

GOLDMAN IS VICTOR BY KNOCKOUT IN 9TH

Stops Martin as Referee Halts Bout After 55 Seconds of Round at Dexter Park.

CARAGLIANO IS WINNER

Marks Return to Ring After Long Absence by Stopping Henry in Second Round.

By JAMES P. DAWSON.

Marty Goldman, young Brownsville lightweight, knocked out Eddie (Cannonball) Martin, former world's bantamweight champion, in the ninth round of the scheduled ten-round feature bout last night at Dexter Park Arena. A crowd of about 3,000 fight fans saw Goldman receive credit for a knockout in a whirlwind encounter when Referee Gunboat Smith stopped the battle after fifty-five seconds of the ninth round because Martin was suffering from a severe cut over the right eye, from which the blood flowed in a blinding stream.

Martin sustained the cut in a head-on collision late in the eighth round, but bravely finished this round and was as gallantly plodding through the ninth round when the bout was stopped. Referee Smith acted wisely.

Martin Floors Opponent.

Martin upset his rival for a count of seven in the first round with a solid left hook to the jaw, but Goldman came back in the second round and sent Martin to his glove tips with a right to the heart. In the three succeeding rounds, and in the eighth, Goldman outboxed his rival despite the fact that Martin kept plunging in and forcing the fighting at a burning pace.

Goldman weighed 136 pounds, Martin 134.

Tony Caragliano, Bronx Italian, signalized his return to the ring after an absence of seven months with a knockout victory over Kid Henry, Canadian lightweight, in the second round of the scheduled ten-round semi-final.

Referee Smith stopped this bout after fifty-six seconds of the second round, when Henry had been floored three times under the Bronx Italian's powerful lefts and rights to the jaw. Caragliano weighed 132 pounds, Henry 137.

Seidman and Kress Draw.

Teddy Seidman, Rockaway featherweight, and Jack Kress of the East Side fought a draw in their six-round bout. Seidman weighed 127 pounds, Kress 124½.

Joey Wray, Brownsville featherweight, made short work of Johnny Marra, Bay Ridge, in their scheduled four-round bout. Wray knocked out Marra in thirty-eight seconds of the first round. The winner weighed 125½ pounds, Marra 129.

Mickey Aaronson, Brownsville welterweight, won the decision over Juan Cerda, Mexico City, in their four-round encounter. Aaronson weighed 141 pounds, Cerda 142½.

Illinois State Fair to Stage Governor's Derby on Aug. 23

The Governor's Derby will be inaugurated as a feature of the Illinois State Fair at Springfield on Aug. 23, it is announced by Walter C. Ireland, superintendent of the State Fair. The Derby will be the main event on a card of seven races and the program is receiving much support from Otto Lehmann, president of the Arlington Park Jockey Club; Charles A. McCulloch, chairman of the board of directors, and John Hertz, chairman of the executive committee, who are anxious to popularize the sport down-State.

SCHWEITZER WINS CONEY ISLAND BOUT

Gets Decision Over Patterson in Six-Round Feature at Henderson's Bowl.

Jackie Schweitzer, east side lightweight, received the decision over Willie Patterson, Jamaica, in a closely fought six-round feature at Henderson's Bowl, Coney Island, last night, before a crowd of 3,000. Schweitzer won because of his more accurate and harder hitting.

Both started off cautiously, but action became more spirited as the bout progressed. There was a great deal of fighting at close quarters, and when they did punch at longer range Schweitzer was the aggressor. The winner weighed 135 pounds and the loser 135½.

Charlie Raymond, 127, of Williamsburg easily outpointed Steve Vasquez, 126½, of Porto Rico in the six-round semi-final. Raymond had a little difficulty at first in solving Vasquez's bobbing style, but he soon settled down to win on points.

Nick Solvatore, 130 pounds, of the west side, a strong left-handed puncher, gained the verdict over Izzy Cohen, 129, Coney Island, in another six-round bout. Solvatore, by employing straight jabs and powerful hooks to head and body, easily took the first three rounds, but then Cohen rallied aggressively in the fourth and held his opponent at practically even terms up to the finish.

The first two four-rounders ended abruptly as a result of fast knockouts. In the first Tommy Bianci, 171 pounds, knocked out Larry Hogan, 166½, after 44 seconds of the second round, while in the other Jack Adler, 181, disposed of Jack Thomforde, 185, after 1 minute 7 seconds of the second round.

The first of the six-rounders also failed to go the full distance. Billy Tosk, 155½, of the Bronx, put away Arthur McCarthy, 158½, of Cincinnati with a hard right in the first round.

McCarthy was out completely as the bell ended the round. He was unable to come out for the second round.

In another six-rounder Augie Parente, 135½, of Bensonhurst, got the decision over Joe Grant, 129, of St. Louis.

SOUND YACHTS LEAD IN JUNIOR SERIES

NOBLE BOAT SCORES TWICE

Indian Harbor Craft Home First in Two Races, Larchmont Is Second in Both.

Special to The New York Times.

STAMFORD, Conn., Aug. 11.—Long Island Sound crews were leading their Great South Bay rivals by comfortable margins tonight at the end of the first day's racing for the annual junior yacht racing championship of Long Island Sound under auspices of the Stamford Yacht Club's regatta committee.

The Indian Harbor crew, skippered by Robert P. Noble Jr., won the two races sailed today, the first by a margin of nine seconds over the Larchmont crew, the captain of which is Larry Reybine.

The Huguenot Yacht Club crew, the leader of which is Frank Wogelbut Jr., was third, fourteen seconds back of Larchmont. Then came in order the Great South Bay crew's Babylon, Timperpoint and Bayside, skippered by Miss Allegra Knapp, the only captain of her sex among the crews.

Huguenot Crew Recalled.

With a fresh northwest breeze, Indian Harbor crew repeated its triumph in the second race, with Larchmont again second. In this race the course was twice around the three and one-half mile triangle, and Indian Harbor boys won by 2 minutes and 23 seconds. The Huguenot crew started before the gun in this race and was recalled. The handicap was too much for Captain Wogelbut and his colleagues to overcome and they finished last.

The Timber Point crew from Great South Bay slipped home in third place in the second race, only eighteen seconds behind Larchmont, with Captain Fred Collins and his Babylon crew next, eighteen seconds back.

These two races gave Indian Harbor 12 points and Larchmont 10, with Timber Point and Babylon of the Great South Bay quintet tied for third with 6 points.

Tomorrow morning Division 1, comprising American Y. C., Sayville Y. C., Riverside Y. C., Bayshore, Stamford and Manhasset Bay crews, sail two races and tomorrow afternoon Black Rock Y. C., Cold Spring Harbor, Port Washington, Pequot and Wadanuck crews, the last named from Stonington, Conn., sail in Division 2.

Winners to Meet in Final.

The crews scoring the greatest number of points in these divisional races will meet in the final series.

Aboard the committee boat were Jesse A. B. Smith, chairman of the Stamford Yacht Club regatta committee; Charles S. Smith, Schuyler W. Gillespie, Gerald H. Daly, E. L. Winslow and W. H. Wharton of the Pequot Y. C., president of the Junior Yacht Racing Association of Long Island Sound.

THE IMPERIAL CONFERENCE.

Next month's Imperial Conference in London will not lack for matter to discuss. A few days ago Prime Minister MACDONALD outlined the "agenda." There are three main heads: (1) inter-Imperial relations; (2) foreign policy and defense; (3) economic questions. The last division is naturally the most intricate and complicated. Mr. MACDONALD specified eight different questions, any one of which might easily lead to long debate if not controversy. Chief among these economic subjects will naturally be tariff changes and "the extent and effect of inter-Imperial tariff preferences." This will have special interest for the Canadians. The new Prime Minister of the Dominion, Mr. BENNETT, has announced that he is not going to grant tariff preferences to British goods out of hand, but will first want to see what he can get in return for them. Yet his election was hailed by Lord BEAVERBROOK as a great gain for Free Trade within the Empire! But Lord BEAVERBROOK, when he gets into a campaign, has no very marked sense of humor.

It might be thought that under the topic of inter-Imperial relations there would not now be much to argue about. Definition of the British Commonwealth of Nations and of the rights of the self-governing Dominions was made at previous Imperial Conferences, and it was thought this work was done. But a cloud no larger than a man's hand is rising from South Africa. In behalf of the South African Union, General HERTZOG promises to raise at London the whole question of the "status" of a Dominion within the Empire. He boldly declares that full Dominion self-government implies the right to "secede" from the Empire. He hastens to add that he does not expect this right will ever be exercised, but holds it important to have it established abstractly. Of course, the General is taking this position in order to strengthen his own political fences in South Africa, yet if he presses the matter at the Imperial Conference, it may lead to a time-wasting and futile debate. The strong probability is that the attention of the various British Prime Ministers will be fastened upon practical subjects like trade and transportation, aviation, the cable service, radio broadcasting, postal and news communications. These promise to be much more inviting and fruitful themes than further efforts to clarify the nature today of the British Empire.

ON "READING-OUT."

Is prohibition the tail or the dog in the Republican party of this State? Looking into the seeds of time, Dr. NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER finds it "certain" that the Republican State Convention will pass a resolution in favor of repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. Persons so devoted to the Eighteenth Amendment that they then won't vote for the candidates of a party committed to repeal "are not Republicans but prohibitionists," and should form a party of their own. In other words, they are not "regular." It will be remembered that some distinguished New York Republicans, eager for the destruction of that amendment, remained "regular" in 1928. The Republican Drys showed in 1926, and are perhaps ready to show in 1930 if necessary, their scorn of regularity and their capacity for independence.

They are, or were, Dry first and Republican a long way after. If the Wet Republicans had had an equal courage, Governor SMITH would have carried New York in 1928. Superintendent VICTOR of the State Anti-Saloon League replies to Dr. BUTLER with the assertion that he and the rest of the Republican repealers have "read themselves out of the party." So, technically, there is no Republican party of New York. The Wets have put out the Drys, the Drys the Wets. These brabbles among the brethren are painful to dwell on. Long the league and the party nestled together, like rabbits in a hutch. There is no greater sorrow than to remember the time of happiness.

Fortunately, the question of "regularity" can be discussed without heartbreak. Mr. VICTOR holds with Triumvir WILLIAM H. HILL and divers other schoolmen that to be "regular" on prohibition is to be in accord with the wisdom of the national platform of 1928. A disinterested viewer of the political landscape o'er might be justified in thinking that prohibition is national, anti-prohibition sectional. But a good deal of water—strong water—has flowed under the bridge in two years. Yet it is not many weeks since Mr. HOOVER, the leader of the Republican party, promised his support and that of the Administration to the Republican candidate for Senator from New Jersey, nominated in the primaries by an astounding majority.

Mr. MORROW is the "regular" Republican candidate, the choice of the Republican machine, approved by the mass of the party. The head of the New Jersey branch of the Anti-Saloon League has accepted him. Yet, by clear implication, Mr. VICTOR "reads out" not only Mr. MORROW and the majority of New Jersey Republicans, but Mr. HOOVER. Can it be seriously maintained that the New York Republicans have less freedom of opinion, expression and action than the New Jersey Republicans? It is not unkind to assume that most of the Jersey Republican politicians were not breaking their heads over "the preservation and "protection of the fundamental "principles of our American form "of government," but over the preservation and protection of their party in their State. They were sick of betting on the wrong horse. One would think that their compeers in New York must be even sicker.

THE DROUGHT AND THE HARVESTS.

The Department of Agriculture's estimate of the probable corn harvest confirms expectations of an exceptionally great impairment. The estimate is reduced 690,000,000 bushels, or 22 per cent, from the forecast of a month ago; on its face it indicates the smallest corn yield in twenty-nine years. Taken along with week-end dispatches from the corn belt, the report leaves no doubt that a real agricultural calamity has resulted from the season's prolonged drought. How great the aggregate loss in the country's crops will be is still a matter of uncertainty; not only because of the irregularity with which the worst damage seems to have been distributed, but because so much depends on whether the abnormal weather influences have been definitely checked.

It is not merely a question of the corn crop, but of pastures and fodder; Sunday's dispatches showed the shape which the disaster has taken by their description of the imminent inability of farmers in the afflicted district to feed their live stock. This aspect of the situation is recognized in the action of the President and the Interstate Commerce Commission, not only to provide relief for individual hardship but to facilitate to the utmost distribution of fodder reserves and transportation of cattle from the regions where supplies are no longer obtainable to support them.

Prompt use of these expedients will do much to mitigate the farmer's hardship. It should be kept in mind that the worst conditions described in the week-end dispatches have as yet affected only perhaps one-fifth of the country's corn acreage. In several of the largest corn-producing States there is still prospect of reasonably abundant yield, if the drought ends soon. Furthermore, the Winter wheat crop was already made before the drought assumed serious shape, and the Spring wheat section has not yet been greatly hurt. This is the explanation of the anomaly, almost without precedent in the grain trade, of corn selling steadily at a higher price than wheat, and of even the government's Agricultural Bureau advising that wheat be fed to cattle. Grain markets have been making estimates of such use of wheat, running as high as 50,000,000 bushels.

This is taking much for granted; if it were actually to be done on any such scale, it would be a wholly new experience in agriculture. Nothing of the kind happened in any other "short corn crop" season of our history, although practically every one of them, except in the famous "drought year" 1881, was accompanied by a wheat yield of more than usual abundance. On the other hand, the coincidence of a heavily reduced corn harvest with a good crop of wheat, coming at a time when wheat has for a week been selling on the central markets for less than corn and when unsold wheat from the previous season's crop is 150,000,000 bushels larger than the usual average, must itself create a novel situation. Whatever the result may be in this regard, there is reason for gratification that there will at least be no shortage of cereal foodstuffs as a whole. It may even happen that the deficiency in the corn crop will put an end to the persistent fall of wheat prices below the average cost of farm production.

INDIAN AFFAIRS.

Complying with a request of President HOOVER, Commissioner RHOADS has prepared what might be called an interim report on the work of the Indian Bureau and the future of the Indians. Secretary WILBUR believes that in the course of the next twenty-five years they may be left to stand on their own feet, with the friendly support of the States. Many who know them, and their history, and the character of the birds of prey in human form that hover around them, and are familiar with the ways of State Governments think that Mr. WILBUR'S hopes are touched with rose. But no one can take exception to his wish to make of the Indian a "self-sustaining, "self-respecting American citizen "just as rapidly as this can be "brought about." This is the goal which Mr. RHOADS and his associate, Mr. SCATTERGOOD, have deliberately set before them in formulating their program.

First place in it is given to education. Courses of study in the Indian schools are being modified and expanded in such a way as to place "greater emphasis on education of "a practical and vocational character, so that upon completion of "the prescribed courses the Indian "boy or girl may be fitted to take "his or her place in the life of "the nation." Vocational training is one of America's great contributions. Men and women from other countries have studied our methods and adapted them to their special needs. Schooling of this kind along practical lines may not wholly solve the Indian problem, any more than it has the colored problem, but it will help.

Education for a job is of little use without the job itself. Too often the Indian graduate, thrown back on his own resources or surrounded by the conditions and traditions out of which he had hoped to rise, finds himself unable to realize the ambition which may have stirred him in his school days. Willingly or unwillingly, he, too, may join the ranks of the unemployed. Commissioner RHOADS is organizing an employment service. This year's appropriation bill sets aside $50,000 for that purpose. He looks to the new "guidance officers," incidentally, to persuade the Indians that circuses, rodeos and Wild West shows do not offer the most desirable permanent means of livelihood. Undoubtedly they do not, but there again the thing is to find the man a better job.

It is when Commissioner RHOADS begins to discuss the relations of the Indians to the States that he enters a field where he will do well to walk warily. The States can help, no doubt, in such matters as health, education and care of the indigent, particularly in sections where the Indian tribal life has already broken up. But that is far from leaving these vital functions wholly to their not always tender mercies.

BEETLE QUARANTINES.

A study by NATHANIEL A. BACK of the cost of quarantines to check insect infestation, put out by the New Jersey Department of Agriculture, contains reassuring matter. Mr. BACK says: "All present indications would seem to be strongly "in favor of the conclusion that the "economic importance, measured in "terms of damage to crops and "other valuable property and cost "of control of the insects under consideration, has been seriously exaggerated." The insects in New Jersey referred to are the Japanese beetle, which was first heard of in the United States at Riverton, N. J., in 1916; the Asiatic beetle and the Asiatic garden beetle, which were reported in New Haven in 1920. All are supposed to have come from Japan in the soil or roots of plants. The Japanese beetle travels fast. Burlington, Camden and Gloucester Counties are heavily infested and Salem, Atlantic, Ocean, Monmouth, Middlesex, Mercer, Somerset and Hunterdon have been invaded. By comparison the Asiatic beetles are sluggish. They have been found in several localities in the metropolitan area of the State. What is called the Japanese quarantine cost $1,129,357 for 1918 to 1929 inclusive, the Federal Government $779,800 and the State $349,557.

Nurseries and greenhouses in regulated areas find enforcement of quarantine expensive. It consumes approximately one-fifth of the total net income. The farmers are not so hard hit: their fruits, vegetables, hay and straw are fumigated, and so packed as to protect them from infestation in transit. Sand, leaf mold and clay in which grubs are seen or suspected are also fumigated. The following item tells the grievance of the plant growers:

> Forty-three nursery and greenhouse concerns with gross sales of $2,140,318 reported (for 1928) business lost, because of quarantine regulations, $333,195, or 15.6 per cent of their gross business.

More efficient methods of treatment for certification of products promise to reduce the cost of quarantine considerably. Revision of the regulations is made difficult by what is called a "fear complex" among producers and shippers ignorant of the habits of the beetles. Quarantine has not succeeded in checking the short-distance spread of the Japanese beetle. Dr. T. J. HEADLEE, New Jersey State Entomologist, estimates the rate of its annual advance at forty miles. So quarantine must gain in efficiency. Mr. BACK writes: "Is the result "worth the effort? The answer is, "emphatically, yes!" Economically, the gains and the reduction of danger must be weighed against cost of the quarantine and inconveniences and losses due to its operation.

A LESSON FOR THE POLICE.

No matter what the connection of the man, HERRICK, with professional gambling may be—and the police did not obtain the slightest proof of any when they broke into his apartment in Park Avenue—the dismissal of the case against him in Special Sessions yesterday was salutary. The police had no warrant; they were acting on rumor entirely. On such a basis there would be no privacy in any home. Even the Federal prohibition unit, a long and flagrant offender against the primary provision of Anglo-Saxon law requiring warrants for entry, has been warned against this vicious practice by its new chief. In other aspects of American life a new solicitude for the solid old legal theory is daily revealing itself. The Herrick case and others seem to imply that our ten years of open housebreaking by constituted authorities is nearing an end.

What punishment, if any, there will be for the detectives who made the illegal move, or for their superiors who ordered them to do it, is not indicated in the news accounts. Perhaps the curt dismissal of the case is action sufficient. New York police are not often offenders in this way. Commissioner MULROONEY at first sought to defend the intrusion on the ground that HERRICK had been seen about gambling places. But the same argument would invite police burglary of the houses of many citizens. It is to be hoped that the Police Commissioner has learned a lesson and will firmly teach it to the force. Sometimes police and detectives ignore the law they are sworn to uphold in the dual hope of getting on the first page and chancing it for evidence of the charge made by report and rumor. In such circumstances most courts throw out exhibits thus improperly obtained. Whether illegal entry establishes the truth of a report or fails to establish it, the practice should be severely checked by every police and judicial authority.

"TECHNOLOGICAL UNEMPLOYMENT."

Men who have been thrown out of work because of improved machinery naturally feel that increased mechanical efficiency means increased unemployment. They are not the only ones who fear this. Many economists predict that the number of men employed will decline as the output of each worker is increased through technological betterments. If there is a reasonable argument to be offered on the other side of the question, it deserves sympathetic hearing and a practical trial, for it affords a hope of interesting working men in turning out more and better work. They cannot be expected to welcome new machinery if they believe it will put many of them permanently out of work. But if they believe that its introduction means nothing worse for them than a change of work, a reconciliation between science and labor is possible.

A demonstration of the way in which technical improvements affect industry is given by Professor PAUL H. DOUGLAS in The American Federationist. He uses a concrete example to prove to his own satisfaction that the shifts of labor and capital brought about by mechanical invention do not cause permanent unemployment. His point is that the increased production and lowered price of mechanically manufactured articles create a proportionately increased demand for them. The smaller price leaves the purchasers with a surplus. This they either spend or save. If they spend it, there is an added demand for the things which they could not buy before. Some of the discharged workers will be employed in producing those things. If they save it, the bonds they buy or the bank where they keep their savings will give employment to workers taken on by railroads, steel companies, public utilities or other large concerns.

Even when economies in production are not passed along entire to the consumer but result in greater profits to the owners, Professor DOUGLAS insists that the men thrown out of work are not permanently unemployed, but are transferred to something else. The owners, like the consumers who benefit by lower prices, must either spend their profits or save them. "In either case, "they increase the demand for the "new commodities upon which their "increased profits have been spent "and necessitate the employment of "more labor in these lines of work."

If reluctant labor is convinced of the truth of this theory, it may still argue that changing from one job to another is bound to involve loss of time and money. Professor DOUGLAS admits this unfortunate fact, but holds society responsible for a remedy. "A society which shows "such extraordinary technical competence should surely be able to "devise the ways and means by "which this loss may be minimized." He advises workmen to give up owning their own homes. They must cooperate by being as free as possible to move from one locality to another. He recommends less specialization for students in trade schools, a system of Federal employment agencies and some form of unemployment insurance. Unless these things are done "it will be "almost inevitable that labor will "resist and oppose most attempts "to raise the efficiency of industry."

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Men for a' That

In reading the account of the rescue of four persons in danger of drowning in the Hudson by convicts at Sing Sing prison, one admires the decision and control by the prison authorities, but even more the action of the four inmates who saved those imperiled in the boat that was swamped. The sergeant in command of the guard took the responsibility of letting the men go through the gate, although it might have been feared that they would simply make a break for liberty. Also there was thought to be danger that other prisoners in the yard might seize the opportunity to try to escape.

Doubtless the men who went to the rescue knew that they were under close surveillance. Yet they quietly did their job efficiently and returned obediently to the prison. On a previous occasion, it will be remembered, lives were lost in the river off Sing Sing because no one was allowed to seek to save them. That tragedy was not repeated on Sunday.

It is reported that the four rescuers were short-term prisoners. Their exemplary action surely ought to be counted to their credit in that "good behavior" which leads to a shortening of the time of imprisonment. In any case, the proof is welcome that humane instincts are not always lost in criminals.

Killing the Goose.

Statistics showing a falling off in the number of first-class tourists have given the New York Board of Trade an unexpected aid in its effort to make travel cheaper and more comfortable. In this campaign there enters naturally the question of the $10 passport visa. Great Britain, for example, charges that amount, and the Travel Association of Great Britain and Ireland has just advised the Board of Trade of efforts to have this visa fee reduced or altogether abolished.

Does the fee keep away from Great Britain a considerable number of tourists? If it does, it is economically unsound. For the yield to the government is inconsiderable. And every tourist who goes elsewhere because of the visa fee would provide a net of a great deal more than $10 to British and Irish tradespeople. As travel has become more and more a major industry for foreign countries, the entire passport charge procedure faces revision. A fee commensurate with the slight amount of passport inspection required would undoubtedly be the wiser course. Nearly every one resents having to pay $20 to enter two foreign lands for the privilege of spending his money.

The State Department, seizing upon a British request for a group visa, hopes by refusal to point the argument toward compromise. Hitherto any such official suggestions have been politely but firmly met by a reminder from London that, since we charge $10 as an entrance fee to every immigrant, Great Britain has put tourists to an identical expense. Settlement is not yet in sight.

Don'ts for Aviators.

Read the air commerce regulations if you have any doubt about this being an aerial age. There are as many reasons for being fined as there are ways of breaking your neck or somebody else's below. Compared with air don'ts, New York's street traffic rules seem simple and few.

Don't, for example, approach another craft within 300 feet. Don't pass it on the right or climb over it or drop under it. Don't fly lower than 1,000 feet over cities or open-air assemblies. Don't express your joy of being alive by indulging in acrobatics. Don't fail to equip yourself and your passenger with a parachute if you must loop-the-loop or do the barrel roll. Don't wear anything but a double parachute if you are jumping to make a Roman holiday. Don't throw so much as a banana peel overboard. Don't fly without red and green lights after sunset. Don't forget that balloons and airships are lumbering craft and that they must have the right of way.

Last year sixteen licenses were revoked. Despite the vastness of the atmosphere, there were sixteen collisions. Add to this 113 suspensions and 163 bawlings-out, politely called "reprimands," and the case for the aerial age is complete.

Children and the Talkies.

In the days of silent pictures a considerable income came to movie producers from the nickels and dimes of children. The simple and robust dramas of the screen had a strong appeal for youngsters below 16. But the coming of the talking pictures has led to a steady drop in the attendance of children.

The mechanics of sound reproduction demand that most pictures be taken within four walls. And the hero's action had to be with his mouth rather than with his trusty steed. Plots became more complicated and characters more sophisticated. Stage dramas were filmed and conversation became more important than movement. The normal child finds it difficult to understand the talkie.

The drop in the attendance of children has become obvious enough to cause producers concern. One company has announced talking productions of "Tom Sawyer," "Huckleberry Finn" and "Skippy." The hope is that such pictures will lure the children back. While the silent movie heroes of childhood were not children, there is no good reason why the millions who loved MARK TWAIN'S boys in his books should not take them to heart when they come to life.

NOT SO DESIRABLE.

Apartments at $5 a Room Available but Not Wanted.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In a letter to THE TIMES J. Arthur Holly makes the statements that "There are whole blocks of apartments going begging for tenants for as little as $5 a room" and "the trouble with the white-collar class is that they have a champagne taste and a beer capital."

Mr. Holly neglects to explain that the $5-a-room-a-month apartments which are going begging are the oldest and worst of the tenements built before 1901. Many of them are of the railroad type, built before 1879, when the law first required a window to the outer air in every room. These houses are built solidly from street to rear yard, with from two to six interior rooms, receiving their light and air only at second or third hand. It is this structural type which gives New York the unfortunate reputation, nationally and internationally, of having the worst slums in the civilized world.

The $5-a-room-a-month tenements have no baths, no central heat. Toilets are in the halls, occasionally in cellars or yards, and each is shared by at least two families. The apartments which have been left vacant are, almost without exception, in bad repair as to walls, floors, ceilings and such plumbing as they possess.

During the 1918-24 housing shortage all these flats were occupied. As soon as the revival of building furnished any choice of abode, tenants began to move out, not white-collar families with champagne tastes so much as overalls families with a preference for health and decency. They leave as fast as they can find better quarters which it is physically possible for them to pay for. The present high percentage of vacancies in the old-law tenements is a heartening sign of human progress. One of the dangers attendant on unemployment and hard times is that it may cause them to fill up again.

Handwriting and Health.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

THE TIMES editorial of July 15 which discussed the possibility of health diagnosis from handwriting questioned if patients told that their writing was to be used to diagnose their illness might not become self-conscious and write in a stilted and unnatural fashion.

This suspicion is well founded. The handwriting of any individual is seldom exactly alike under all conditions. The appearance of the handwriting is affected by physical and emotional conditions. The changes so occasioned, however, do not in any way alter or affect the handwriting characteristics which denote character or those which indicate the presence of certain physical and mental conditions.

Many physicians and psychiatrists are using graphology to aid them in making diagnosis of difficult cases. It frequently happens that the graphologist to whom the physician submits the handwriting is able to give warning of the imminence of mental or physical trouble before it is detected through the medium of other tests.

Aid for Beacon Light Mission.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

For more than thirty-seven years the doors of the Beacon Light Mission have never been closed to needy men and women. The Gospel has been preached faithfully and there has been extensive ministry to the physical misery of those in dire straits. During May and June of this year shelter has been given to 3,947 men, meals have been served to 9,293 and 16 have been clothed. We are in great need of clothing, especially for men. Gifts may be sent to the Beacon Light Mission, 2,350 Third Avenue. Those who cannot send clothing may help by sending financial aid to the treasurer, Hugh R. Monro, 340 West Fifty-fifth Street, which is the headquarters of the National Bible Institute, under the auspices of which several missions or Gospel halls are operated. The clothing, of course, need not be new, but should be in a fair state of repair.

THE MIRACLE.

It was but yesterday I passed the place
Where brownstone-fronted houses faced the world
With austere gaze, and prim old-fashioned grace.
Into a dusty chaos were they hurled.
A vast deep quarry overnight appeared
Where gnomes rushed to and fro 'neath twinkling lights.
Then slender lacework to the sky was reared,
Steel girders fine to once undreamed-of heights.
I pass again, and there twin towers stand
In Sphinx-like calm above our wondering stares
Like mountain peaks that God had subtly planned
To ease our hearts and smooth away our cares.

FLAG OF TRUCE FOR ART.

Dr. Kunz Designed One Some Years Ago to Protect Treasures.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The action of the International Commission of Intellectual Cooperation of the League of Nations in supporting the Roerich pact to protect artistic and scientific treasures in time of war, as reported in THE NEW YORK TIMES, is a renewed recognition of an international need which has long been realized by artists and scientists. The flag proposed by Professor Roerich to be flown over museums and art objects, which under such identification would be respected as international and neutral territory, would be an essential feature of such an international agreement.

Such a flag was proposed and designed by Dr. George Frederick Kunz, president of the American Scenic and Historic Preservation Society, nearly twenty years ago, before the outbreak of the World War, which caused the destruction of many art treasures and called for emergency measures to protect others. Dr. Kunz, at a meeting held at the National Arts Club in New York on Dec. 4, 1911, urged that treasures of art and literature should be regarded as international property. He recalled the destruction of the valuable library in Strasbourg, in the siege in the War of 1870. He proposed that The Hague Tribunal secure an agreement whereby libraries and museums would always be exempted from destruction during wars.

The flag designed by Dr. Kunz for this purpose consists of a white field with a diagonal colored stripe running from the upper corner at the hoist to the lower outer corner, the stripe being about one-third the width of the flag. By the color of the stripe, it was designed that the nature of the protected building might be indicated: red signifying a museum, blue a library, &c. A specimen of this flag was displayed at the annual meeting of the American Scenic and Historic Preservation Society at the American Museum of Natural History, Jan. 13, 1915.

Shortly after the outbreak of the World War the American Institute of Architects urged the Secretary of State, William Jennings Bryan, to protest against the destruction of cathedrals and historic monuments in Belgium and France.

Similar appeals to the belligerents were made by the Architectural League of New York and the National Sculpture Society. Requests were made to Ambassador Herrick in France, by both belligerent and neutral representatives, that he urge the United States Government to take steps to protect works of art from ruin.

These efforts had little effect during the World War and the destruction of buildings, monuments and other historic and artistic objects in all the countries engaged in the struggle and the steps taken to save precious art objects in cities in war areas are well known.

The American Scenic and Historic Preservation Society, which made Professor Nicholas M. Roerich an honorary member in recognition of his services in the fields of art and exploration, observes with interest and approval the revival of the project for action toward making the treasures of art, science and literature international and neutral ground in time of war, with some symbol indicating their character, such as the flag described and now again proposed by Professor Roerich.

Suffering in Ohio.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The following excerpt from a letter written by my mother, who is in Southeastern Ohio, in the drought belt, may prove interesting:

"It is hard to realize the havoc the drought and hot sun have caused here. The countryside and the lawns in the city are brown and sear. The sun is so hot it simply kills. Our birds have left us. I fear many have died for the want of water. I hear of farmers selling their sheep for 50 and often 25 cents a head, in order to keep their families from starving. You in New York can find relief at the ocean, but here we have just suffered agony. It is predicted that we will get no rain until September, which I hope proves false."

Seats Still Missing.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I cannot understand why the tops of the seats that were taken away from the front of the Sherman statue, at the Fifth Avenue entrance to Central Park have not been replaced. The supports only are left. These seats were always nice resting places for those who did not care to walk through the park. If the tops cannot be joined, it seems to me benches could be provided.

The Fifth Avenue entrance to Central Park is very much neglected—a good sweeping under the benches would probably get rid of gnats and mosquitoes that seem to nest there. The shrubs need cultivating. More receptacles for paper and rubbish, with proper signs, would help a lot in keeping Central Park in better condition. Prospect Park is better cared for.

A Question of Ability.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It is most gratifying to read of the quick relief action taken by the government in behalf of the farmers' live stock.

If only the vast army of the unemployed could be converted into hogs, sheep and cattle they might receive government aid, but, unfortunately, they are only human beings.

Are the digestive organs of the unemployment-stricken family so differently constructed that they are expected to stand a prolonged reducing diet so much better than the family of a farmer?

ALASKA PEAK BALKS HARVARD CLIMBERS

EIGHT NEW LAKES FOUN

Bradford Washburn, the Leader, Tells of the Gathering of Much Scientific Data.

Special to The New York Times.

JUNEAU, Alaska, Aug. 10.—Experiences of the expedition of six Harvard students, which left here early in June to explore and climb the Fairweather Range, and returned here last night after abandoning the adventure, were described by its leader, Bradford Washburn, today.

"After leaving Juneau on June 18 on a thirty-four-foot power boat," he said, "our party, composed of Arthur Emmons, Eugene Kraetzer, Ralph Batchelder, Kenneth Olson, Richard Hodges and myself, landed the next day at Soapstone Point, the entrance to the Gulf of Alaska. Detained there by bad weather, we were unable to make Lituya Bay, fifty miles up the coast, till the 24th. The next day a sixteen-mile trip to Cape Fairweather made it clear that a landing there as planned would be possible only under unusual conditions.

"The alternative route to Mount Fairweather, which lies about twenty miles north of the bay and fifteen miles inland from Cape Fairweather, was chosen. Going to the head of Lituya Bay, we chose our route by a glacier-filled valley leading northwest for twenty miles to the mountain. Work commenced on the morning of June 26, when we took about 300 pounds up to a second camp located four miles up the glacier at a height of 1,300 feet.

"A long reconnoissance the next day showed a good route all the way to the base of the mountain. At the outset it was clear that this change in plans would add nearly twenty miles to the original route and would greatly lessen the possibility of reaching the summits.

Camp Pitched at 4,925 Feet.

"Back-packing an average of over sixty pounds per man each day and with camps on the ice at about five-mile intervals up the valley, we reached the base of the mountain on July 18, having taken only two whole days of rest for three weeks. We spent two days making the base camp comfortable and then on July 20 reconnoitred another camp-site at 4,925 feet.

"With extreme difficulty we managed to put through enough supplies for three men for three days to this camp, situated on the northwest ridge of Mount Fairweather. Art Emmons, Dick Hodges and I spent the night there, and, the next day proving clear, we got an early start and climbed to 6,700 feet through a very steep icefall.

"From this point, where we had lunch, a thorough inspection of the upper part of the icefall showed it utterly impossible to pack through. A ridge which rose on the other side of the icefall toward a snow plateau at 9,000 feet looked quite possible, but to reach it a descent was necessary from our last camp in order to cross the icefall in a safe place.

"A council of war was held and it was decided that we should return to the base camp for the following reasons: The descent beyond camp at 4,900 feet would be a dangerous kink in the line of retreat in case of an accident on the high ridges beyond; food for only fourteen days would be available when Camp 7 could be reached by all of us; a superhuman effort and steady and perfect weather would be necessary to beat the mountain under any conditions now, and there were certain to be difficulties to be solved above 9,000 feet fully as bad as those below.

Eight New Lakes Located.

"Accordingly, we packed all of the equipment out of Camp 7, and using the base camp as a permanent home we worked for several days on geology, mapping and photographing, three of the most important phases of the trip to which we could not have attended in the event of a dash for the top during the next two weeks. We made our return to the sea by Cape Fairweather and a fourteen-mile pack along the beach to Lituya Bay. This gave us a complete circuit of the west face of the mountain and several large side trips by Dick Hodges and myself located eight new lakes and gave us material for mapping nearly 300 square miles of territory.

"Although the main purpose of the expedition, the ascent of the mountain, was impossible to achieve, I consider the trip a decided success, as we return with over 5,000 feet of movies and 400 feet of still pictures, as well as a great increase in the scientific knowledge of the region.

"A few facts that may prove of interest follow: On thirty-one packing days an average of sixty-four and a half pounds per man was carried an average daily distance of five and two-tenth miles, with the same distance to return unloaded. No accident whatsoever occurred at any time throughout the trip, and the men are all in perfect condition. We had out of forty-four recorded days of work four cloudless days, twenty-six cloudy days without rain and fourteen days on which it rained hard, a remarkably good weather record for the Alaskan coast in Summer."

PLAN 2-YEAR FARM SCHOOL.

Hicks Fund Trustees Offer Aid to Connecticut College.

STORRS, Conn., Aug. 11 (AP).—A school of practical farming, offering a two-year course, may soon be erected at the Connecticut Agricultural College with funds provided under the will of Ratcliffe Hicks of Tolland, who died in Berne, Switzerland, twenty-five years ago.

A fund of $300,000 is now available and the total may eventually reach $1,250,000. The estate was bequeathed with the provision that it be allowed to accumulate for a quarter of a century before being used to create the junior agricultural school.

Trustees of the Hicks fund recently approached trustees of the Connecticut Agricultural College with an offer to build the school, which, according to the will, must be established in Tolland County, on the Storrs College campus. Further discussion has been deferred until the new president, Dr. Charles Chester McCracken of Ohio State, assumes office in September.

The two-year school, it is expected, will be patterned after the institution recently opened at Amherst, Mass., and will be available to boys and girls unable to spend four years at the college.

JOHN G. MILBURN DEAD IN LONDON

Famous New York Lawyer Is Stricken at Claridge's in His 79th Year.

PAN-AMERICAN FAIR'S HEAD

McKinley Died at His Home in Buffalo—Milburn Chairman of Barnard Trustees.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—John G. Milburn, New York lawyer, died suddenly at Claridge's Hotel today.

John George Milburn was a member of the law firm of Carter, Ledyard & Milburn of 41 Broad Street and chairman of the board of trustees of Barnard College. He was in his seventy-ninth year. He had an estate, Groombridge, at Manhasset, L. I.

A director of the American Express Company, the National Park Bank of New York and the New York Life Insurance Company and a trustee of Columbia University and the New York Public Library, as well as of Barnard College, Mr. Milburn had been prominent in financial and legal circles here since 1904, when he came from Buffalo. Previously he had established himself as one of the foremost lawyers in this State. At his death he was recognized as a figure of national importance.

Close Friend of McKinley.

Mr. Milburn was president of the Pan-American Exposition, held in Buffalo in 1901, and was a close friend of President McKinley, although in politics he himself was a Democrat. When Mr. McKinley was shot by an assassin on the exposition grounds it was to Mr. Milburn's home that he was carried, and it was there that the President died.

Born near Sunderland, England, on Dec. 13, 1851, Mr. Milburn was educated privately in that country, and came to America at the age of 19. His father, a well-known engineer, had wished that he would follow in his footsteps, but the son showed a decided preference for the law. Entering the offices of Wakeman & Watson at Batavia, N. Y., as a reader of law, he proved himself as extremely apt pupil and was admitted to the bar in April, 1874. He had passed the bar examinations a year earlier, but not being a United States citizen at that time, could not be allowed to practice.

Partner of Senator Wolcott.

Mr. Milburn moved to Buffalo soon after his admission to the bar and practiced alone there until 1879, when he became associated with the late E. C. Sprague under the firm name of Sprague, Milburn & Sprague. In 1882 the partnership was dissolved, and Mr. Milburn moved to Denver, where he practiced law for a little less than a year in partnership with former Senator Edward Wolcott of Colorado.

Returning to Buffalo in 1883, he became a member of the firm of Rogers, Locke & Milburn, with which he continued until February, 1904, when he moved to this city to join the firm of Carter, Ledyard & Milburn. Before coming here he had rendered important service to the city of Buffalo as a member of the charter revision committee and a commission which adjusted the relations of the street railway systems to the city.

Counsel to Institutions.

Mr. Milburn was counsel for many organizations and institutions of outstanding importance, including the New York Stock Exchange, the Milbank Memorial Fund of New York, of which he was a director, and in 1920 the railroad security holders in their case before Congress.

He was president of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York in 1919 and 1920 and president of the New York State Bar Association from 1902 to 1904. He was also a member of the American Bar Association and of the standing committee on legal affairs at Columbia University.

In 1922, Mr. Milburn received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Harvard University. He also was the recipient of honorary degrees from Princeton and Alfred universities.

Member of Many Clubs.

He was a member of the Century, Knickerbocker, Union, Metropolitan, Players, Down Town, Lawyers and New York Yacht Clubs; also of the Pilgrims, and of several clubs in Washington and Buffalo.

Mr. Milburn married Miss Patty Stocking in Batavia in 1878. His wife died on July 25 last. Three sons, John G. Milburn Jr., Ralph and Devereux Milburn, the last well known as an international polo player, survive.

No information concerning funeral arrangements had been received here last night.

FRANKLIN C. VITT.

Ex-Sheriff of Richmond County Is Dead After Three Weeks' Illness.

Franklin C. Vitt, former Sheriff of Richmond County and for the last nineteen years chief clerk in the District Attorney's office of Richmond, died in the Staten Island Hospital at New Brighton yesterday after a three weeks' illness. He was 77 years old.

Mr. Vitt was born in Stapleton and received a high school education. When a young man, he became active in Democratic politics, and for more than a quarter of a century was the chief lieutenant of the late Representative Nicholas Muller, who was Democratic leader of Staten Island for a generation. Soon after his majority he was elected to the State Assembly, serving one term. Later he was elected Justice of the Peace, serving until Staten Island was annexed to New York City in 1897. Still later he was Sheriff for one term.

He was a member of the Staten Island Yacht Club and the Richmond County Democratic Club.

Mr. Vitt was a widower. No close relatives survive.

Services will be held at the funeral parlors of Edmund Schafer, 535 Bay Street, Stapleton, tomorrow evening. Burial will be in the Moravian Cemetery at New Dorp.

Victor Affeld.

Special to The New York Times.

HACKENSACK, N. J., Aug. 11.—Victor Affeld, superintendent of the Hackensack Y. M. C. A. building, is dead after a brief illness. He was 60 years old. He left a wife. Funeral services will be held tomorrow night. Burial will take place in Newport, R. I., on Wednesday morning.

THEODOSIA HAINE DIES; FRIEND OF ALL SHUT-INS

Invalid Herself, She Devoted Life to Spreading Cheer Among World's Unhappy Folk.

WARREN, Ohio, Aug. 11 (AP).—The sun still shines through the windows of "Sunshine Corner" today, but the source of the light which issued from them for years to cheer the unhappy, the world over, has gone.

Miss Theodosia Haine is dead. She was 67 years old.

At the age of 20 she became an invalid and was unable to walk. Confined to her room, Miss Haine joined the Shut-In Society of New York and began correspondence with others shut in as she was.

She soon conceived the idea of writing to prisoners, to give them advice and encouragement. Her correspondence grew to such an extent that she organized a committee on prison letters, of which she was national chairman.

The world went to her. Prisoners, after they had been released, paid her numerous visits. Hundreds of persons from many parts of the world wore down a path to her door and brought her gifts and curios, with which she lined her room. They named her room "Sunshine Corner."

Through correspondence she sold bookmarks containing cheery poems and verses from the Scriptures. With the proceeds she supported three Methodist missionaries in China.

For ten years prior to her death yesterday, she was secretary of the extension membership committee of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and under her leadership the number of members increased more than tenfold.

Her death was due to a complication of diseases. She leaves two sisters, Mary and Grace, of Warren, and three brothers, Jay and Clarence of Warren and Austin Haine of Cleveland. Burial will be Thursday at Bloomfield, her birthplace, near here.

HARRY O. BRAWNER.

Member of Baltimore Glass Manufacturing Firm Dies.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 11.—Harry O. Brawner, manager of sales and a member of the Swindell Brothers' glass manufacturing firm, died today in Union Memorial Hospital after a short illness from heart disease. His age was 64.

Mr. Brawner was noted for the battle he made in 1922 against the Maryland soldiers' bonus act, which would have allowed a service bonus to World War veterans of $10 a month and vocational bonuses up to $1,080. Though the mandamus suit brought by him as a citizen and taxpayer was defeated, the voters defeated the bill in a referendum at the pools soon afterward.

When the tariff bill was being considered recently in Washington he appeared and advocated an increase on imported hand-blown glass bottles.

He had been with Swindell Brothers for fifty years, entering their employ as a clerk at 14. His wife died some time ago. Two sons, Charles and Pierce Donohue Brawner, survive.

WILLIAM B. McILWAINE.

Former State Senator of Virginia Dies at Age of 76.

Mr. McIlwaine was born in Petersburg on Oct. 4, 1854, and was graduated from Hampden-Sidney College in 1873. He was admitted to the Virginia bar in 1878, and had practiced in Petersburg ever since. From 1891 to 1893 he was a member of the Virginia House of Delegates, and for twelve years served in the Virginia State Senate. He was a former member of the Board of Visitors of the University of Virginia.

GEN. MENOHER DIES; LED RAINBOW MEN

EX-CHIEF OF AIR FORCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (AP).—Major Gen. Charles T. Menoher, retired, one-time battle commander of the Rainbow Division in France and a former chief of the Army Air Corps, died late today in St. Elizabeth's Hospital. He had been ill of pneumonia. His age was 68. He retired four years ago.

While the name of Charles Thomas Menoher was written imperishably into American military history as that of the battle commander of the Forty-second Division, he was to know far more vexing days at home after the war.

The trouble developed when as chief of the air service he came to an open break with his principal assistant, Colonel William Mitchell, then a Brigadier General.

This clash, although temporarily smoothed over by John W. Weeks, then Secretary of War, was the first uproar of the air service controversy which was to develop around Mitchell and lead to his arraignment before an army court-martial for a repetition of actions which had impelled Menoher to demand that his subordinate be relieved from duty as a disciplinary measure.

Chosen to Head Air Service.

General Menoher became head of the air service soon after his return from France. Secretary Weeks said he had been chosen "because he was a man of fine fighting record in France, a man of good judgment and level head, and a very capable executive."

He took charge of the air service in January, 1919, and within a few months came to an open break with Mitchell and asked of the Secretary of War the removal of the officer. Shortly after this request had been presented, Secretary Weeks on June 17, 1921, issued a formal statement in which he said Menoher "has withdraw his recommendation for the relief of Mitchell at the request" of the Secretary.

The Secretary stated that reasons submitted by Menoher, "in the opinion of the Secretary of War, justified his action," but that the Secretary believed "that in the interest of the air service and the government itself such action would be undesirable and unfortunate at this time," and had been able "to secure a satisfactory adjustment of the difficulties involved."

This "adjustment" proved but fleeting. Almost at once there recurred within the air service conditions equally vexatious to its chief, and while he stood these for a time in deference to Mr. Weeks's wishes, he tendered his resignation in October and asked for duty with troops.

New Clash in Hawaii.

Assigned to command the Hawaiin department, he again came into conflict with Mitchell's views as to the air service, and in the subsequent years, even after General Menoher had been transferred to his last active duty in command of the Ninth Corps Area at San Francisco, there recurred at intervals in testimony given by Mitchell before the numerous aircraft investigating bodies, criticisms of the Menoher administration. The General himself, however, refrained consistently from public discussion of his differences with his former subordinate.

General Menoher was born in Philadelphia on March 20, 1862. He was graduated from West Point in 1886, from the Artillery School in 1894 and from the War College in 1907. Most of his army service was with the artillery, and it included active duty in both the Spanish-American War and the Philippine insurrection.

At the entrance of the United States into the World War, he was an artillery Colonel, but was sent to France as a Brigadier General, later to be promoted to the rank of Major General and assigned to command the Rainbow Division, when Major Gen. William A. Mann, its organizer, as chief of the Militia Bureau and its first commanding officer, was unable to endure the physical strain of the active battle days of the division in France.

SUSAN HAWLEY OLMSTEAD.

Former Teacher at Woman's College in Turkey Dies in Connecticut.

Miss Susan Hawley Olmstead, formerly a teacher at the Constantinople Woman's College in Turkey and for many years secretary to the board of trustees of the college at its New York offices, died on Sunday at a sanitarium in Connecticut. She was born in New Haven and was graduated from the University of Minnesota with the class of '88. She also served for some time as a teacher at the Charlton School for Girls in this city. Two sisters, the Misses Mary S. and Sophie R. Olmstead, survive.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at Holy Apostle Church, Ninth Avenue and Twenty-eighth Street.

Captain Albert M. Head, U. S. A.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The War Department has been informed of the death yesterday of Captain Albert M. Head, U. S. Infantry, at Fitzsimmons General Hospital, Denver. Born in Jefferson, Iowa, on March 7, 1877, he entered the army as a private, Company I, Second Infantry, on Nov. 26, 1901, and was appointed First Lieutenant, First Battalion Infantry, Colorado National Guard, on June 24, 1916. He became a major of infantry, U. S. A., on Feb. 14, 1919, and a captain of infantry on July 1, 1920. He graduated from the infantry school, company officers' course, in 1925. At his death he was a National Guard instructor, stationed at Denver. He left a wife.

Isaac Jackson, Boston Banker, Dies.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 11.—Isaac Jackson, who had been identified with banking interests, died today at his country home in Sherborn. He had been ill for eight months. The funeral will take place Wednesday.

MRS. AUER SAILS TODAY WITH BODY OF HUSBAND

Famous Violinist to Be Buried Here—His Former Pupils May Play at Funeral.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAMBURG, Aug. 11.—Mrs. Leopold Auer will sail for New York Tuesday aboard the Hamburg-American liner Reliance, accompanying the body of her husband, which is being taken to America for burial.

As soon as the Reliance docks the body of the violinist will be carried down the gangplank, placed in a hearse and driven to Campbell's Funeral Church at Broadway and Sixty-sixth Street. Here a brief service is to be held, but the exact date for this service has not been fixed.

As Professor Auer was a member of the Greek Orthodox Church, a clergyman of that faith will officiate. The priest has not yet been named. A program of special music is to be arranged by the pupils of the old master and will probably be the most impressive part of the ritual.

Alexander W. Greiner of Steinway & Sons, 109 West Fifty-seventh Street, is in charge of the funeral plans. He is endeavoring to have a quartet of former pupils of Professor Auer pay tribute to the master in music. It is expected that Jascha Heifetz and Josef Hoffman will contribute to the service.

The burial place in which the famous teacher and violinist will rest has not been named, as far as is known here at this time. It is expected that Mrs. Auer will announce her choice as soon as she arrives. The body will be met at the pier by some of the most famous musicians in the world, most of them former pupils of Professor Auer.

TUFNELL DIES AT 72; FATHER OF GREEK NAVY

Admiral Lent by Britain to Reorganize Fleet Before the Balkan Wars.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—Admiral Lionel Grant Tufnell, father of the modern Greek navy, died today at his home here. He was 72 years old. The admiral was lent by the British Government to undertake the reorganization and training of the Greek navy a short time before the Balkan wars of 1912-13 began.

Admiral Tufnell was born on Oct. 27, 1857. He was retired as a vice admiral in the British navy in 1916 and three years later received the rank of admiral. In 1908 he was designed a Companion of St. Michael and St. George.

RICHARD T. O'CONNOR OF ST. PAUL DEAD

Was Prominent in Minnesota and National Democratic Politics for Years.

Special to The New York Times.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 11.—Richard T. O'Connor, who for many years was influential in Democratic national politics, died today in St. Joseph's Hospital, St. Paul, at the age of 73 years. For the last four years he had been confined by paralysis to his hospital bed.

Mr. O'Connor entered ward politics in the torchlight era, and gradually worked his way to a position of power.

It long had been an axiom in St. Paul that Dick as he was known was more influential in New York and Washington than in St. Paul, although he was an important factor in the election of many city and county officials. He was close to Charles F. Murphy of Tammany Hall, Roger Sullivan of Illinois and Tom Taggart of Indiana.

It was in 1876, as a boy of 19, that Mr. O'Connor got his first political job. In 1900 he rose to the height of his power when he became Police Commissioner of St. Paul. With his brother, John J., whom he made police chief, Mr. O'Connor built up an organization that rode rough shod through many a St. Paul election.

Mr. O'Connor was born in St. Paul on June 21, 1856, and educated in St. Paul public schools and later at Notre Dame University. He was particularly active in the campaigns that resulted in the election of Governors John A. Johnson, John Lind and Winfield S. Hammond.

His body will lie in State tomorrow. The funeral will be held on Wednesday.

ITALIAN HOSPITAL SEEKS ST. MARK'S

Directors to Act Thursday on Plan to Buy Institution Closed for Lack of Funds.

WOULD GIVE UP 5TH AV. SITE

Purchase Sought to Obviate Need for New Structure—President Scores Dr. Grazzi.

Possibility that the Italian Hospital, Fifty-fifth Street and Lexington Avenue, may purchase the St. Mark's Hospital, Second Avenue and Eleventh Street, was admitted yesterday by Philip Bongiorno, recently elected president of the Italian Hospital.

Mr. Bongiorno said that the directors of the Italian Hospital would meet Thursday evening to discuss the possibility of taking over St. Mark's, which closed its doors Aug. 4, after efforts to raise funds had proved vain.

At present the Italian Hospital has under consideration a site at 106th Street and Fifth Avenue on which to erect a hospital. Mr. Bongiorno said that if the St. Mark's property was acquired the building on Fifth Avenue will not be erected.

Mr. Bongiorno also made public a letter sent to Dr. Emmanuele E. Grazzi, Italian Consul General, following the latter's resignation as a director of the Italian Hospital, and the reply received from Dr. Grazzi. Dr. Grazzi resigned on June 24 and has since notified Mr. Bongiorno that the resignation does not renounce the right of the Italian Consul General to remain on the board.

"At the meeting of June 24," Mr. Bongiorno said, "the Italian Consul tendered his resignation and hereafter prevailed upon a number of other members of the board to also resign. The Italian Consul, by such conduct, thought that he would cause such embarrassment to the hospital that the remaining members would supplicate his return. Instead, the remaining members of the board willingly and unanimously at the last meeting, passed a resolution accepting not only the resignation of the Consul General but also all the other directors who resigned with him."

Mr. Bongiorno charged that the Consul General and his followers were trying to introduce fascism in the hospital and that this did not meet with the approval "of the real friends of the Italian Hospital." He added, "The board wants it distinctly understood that it is glad that the Italian Consul left the board and wishes nothing further to do with him and wants to be left alone."

At the Italian Consulate Dr. Grazzi said yesterday he had no comment to make on the controversy.

W. A. CLARK'S DAUGHTER GETS A RENO DIVORCE

Mrs. Gower Charges Husband of Two Years With Desertion—No Contest Made.

Special to The New York Times.

RENO, Nev., Aug. 11.—Charging desertion, Mrs. Huguette Clark Gower, daughter of the late United States Senator W. A. Clark of Montana, obtained a divorce here this morning from William MacDonald Gower. Her maiden name was restored.

The decree was granted soon after the case was filed. It was not contested. Mrs. Gower asked for no alimony, and all claims to property rights were relinquished by agreement in the divorce action. The couple have no children.

Mr. and Mrs. Gower were married on Aug. 18, 1928, in Santa Barbara, Cal.

The practice followed by several wealthy and prominent divorce seekers here lately of having the complaints sealed when filed was not followed by Mrs. Gower, and no attempt was made to keep the divorce action a secret. Mrs. Gower is the youngest daughter of the former Montana Senator and mine owner, who died in 1925.

Her mother accompanied her to Reno and they brought half a dozen servants, including a butler and a secretary, with them.

Mr. Gower, it is understood, is connected with one of the Arizona copper mines controlled by the Clark estate.

SUES MRS. WILLEBRANDT.

Ex-Dry League Attorney Alleges Libelous Statements in Articles.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Gus O. Nations, former attorney for the Anti-Saloon League and a prohibition agent in St. Louis, filed suit here today against Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former Assistant Attorney General in charge of prohibition enforcement; David Lawrence, president of the Consolidated Press Association; Hilmar R. Baukhage and Current News Features, Inc., seeking to recover $200,000 for alleged libel.

The suit was predicated on the publication in twenty-one newspapers of a series of articles written by Mrs. Willebrandt soon after she left the Attorney General's office. Mr. Nation alleges that he was libelled by a reference, said to have been made to him as a "friend of a felon, Charles Prather," and other allegations that he was guilty of official misconduct and had accepted bribes from a large brewing concern in St. Louis.

Mr. Nations sets out that he twice raided the brewery referred to in Mrs. Willebrandt's articles and charges that in each instance she declined to prosecute and permitted the release of those who had been arrested.

CAMP LUMMIS APPROVED.

State and Army Leaders Sanction Training Station at Saugerties.

Camp Lummis at West Saugerties, established by the Veteran Corps of Artillery as a reserve officers' contact camp from Aug. 23 to Sept. 2, has been approved by the Adjutant General of the State of New York and the commanding General of the Second Corps Area of the United States Army, it was announced yesterday.

Major J. C. Haw of the Coast Artillery Corps has been detailed as inspector-instructor. Other officers detailed for service at the camp are: Lieut. Col. Bryce Metcalf, Lieut. Col. Jerome Kingsbury, surgeon and sanitation officer; Major Chandler Smith, adjutant; Captain Norman F. Cushman, quartermaster; Captain George Peabody, paymaster and camp finance officer; Captain Norbert H. Frost, ordnance and range officer in charge of small arms firing and Captain Pell Thompson, commissary.

It is announced that application for attendance may be made to Captain George Peabody, at 100 Front Street, New York.

CAPITAL REPORTER DROWNS

George Odquist's Body Recovered From Bush River, Md.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 11.—The body of George Odquist, a newspaper man employed by The Washington Post, was taken from Bush River off Otter Point this morning after a 28-hour search.

According to friends, Odquist was swimming in Bush River about midnight Saturday when he screamed and sank. Members of his party made ineffectual attempts to locate the swimmer in the dark and when he failed to reappear spread an alarm which brought out about 100 residents of Summer cottages.

The river near the point where he disappeared was dragged all day yesterday. Early today the search was resumed by Milton Garwood and Clarence Purcell, who found the body floating about a half mile from the scene of the drowning.

GROTON AXE SLAYER HELD.

Placed in New London Jail to Await Coroner's Report.

GROTON, Conn., Aug. 11 (AP).—Stanley Smith Bogue, 34-year-old World War veteran, was charged in Groton Town Court this morning with first-degree murder for the axe slaying of Mrs. Eva Jennings Roberts, 52, boarding-house keeper, and Ole Ostberg.

His case was continued until Coroner Edward G. McKay of Norwich files his report, which is expected within twenty-four hours, and he was taken to the county jail at New London.

3 FIRES IN AN HOUR STIR NEIGHBORHOOD

80 YOUNGSTERS IN DANGER

Wards of Aid and Nursery Societies Led to Safety—Tenant Held as Alcohol Is Found.

Three fires, occurring within the same hour and only two blocks apart on the west side yesterday morning, threatened the safety of hundreds of children, necessitated five alarms, and aroused the suspicion among firemen that a pyromaniac had visited the neighborhood.

The first blaze, at 10:30 A. M., damaged four floors of a five-story brick tenement at 555-557 West Fifty-third Street and sent ten families into the street. Twelve persons, most of whom were children, were rescued by firemen and carried down ladders.

Mrs. Martha Gunn, who lives with her daughter, Miss Josephine Gunn, a telephone operator, in an apartment close to where the fire started, was awakened, she said, by the barks of her police dog and, with her dog and a pet canary, was carried down a ladder by firemen.

Fifty children at the Children's Aid Society building, situated across the street from the burning building, were taken to a rear yard to escape the smoke. Thirty children in the Loving Arms Nursery, at 552 West Fifty-third Street, next door to the blazing tenement, where they are cared for while their mothers are employed during the day, also were taken to the play yard in the rear of the Children's Society building.

Four children of Mrs. Mary Moore, whose family of six occupies an apartment in the building, went to the roof during the fire. The mother was absent on a shopping trip. In the dense smoke they were lost for some time, but were rescued by firemen assisted by Harry Peatus, a grocer, of 770 Eleventh Avenue.

The second fire was at 774 Ninth Avenue and the other at 334-6 Fifty-third Street.

The Ninth Avenue fire started in the basement of the Paramount Malt Products Company, operated by Louis Yellin. Twenty families occupying the five-story building, erected in 1878, were driven to the street.

After the fire had been extinguished Yellin was arrested on a charge of possessing alcohol without a permit. Firemen reported finding eight one-gallon cans of alcohol in the walls of the basement. Yellin, denied ownership of the alcohol.

TRACE 'BEER PIPE LINE,' SEIZE BREWERY AT END

Agents Also Hold Father and Son as Heads of Alleged Bootleg Source.

Prohibition agents under Andrew McCampbell, administrator of this district, working with the police last Saturday, ripped up an asphalt paving in front of the Hercules Express Company's garage, 870 DeKalb Avenue, Brooklyn, and after satisfying themselves that a network of pipes, which they said they had uncovered, ran directly to the garage of the Excelsior Brewery, 249 Pulaski Street, seized the brewery awaiting libel action to be begun by the government.

This was announced yesterday by Mr. McCampbell after his agents had arrested Charles I. Mandel and Milford L. Mandel, his 28-year-old son, who are described as president and treasurer, and vice president and secretary, respectively, of the brewery.

The Mandels, arraigned before Edward E. Fay, United States Commissioner, on a charge of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law, were released in bail of $2,500 each for a hearing on Sept. 11. Meanwhile, according to Mr. McCampbell, William D. Morse, supervisor of industrial alcohol, will begin action to revoke a permit held by the defendants to manufacture cereal beverages.

ROBBER RETURNS, IS CAUGHT

Woman, Twice His Victim, Pursues Him and Aids Police Capture.

A robber who held up Miss Phyliss Bryam, clerk, in the Fanny Farmer candy store at 54 East Twenty-third Street and escaped with $18 a week ago yesterday, returned at the same hour, 8:30 A. M., yesterday, brandished what appeared to be a pistol and obtained $4.50 from Miss Bryam. He then left the store but this time Miss Bryam followed him, screaming.

Patrolman Platt saw the man running along Twenty-third Street with the young woman in pursuit and took up the chase. The man ran into the B. M. T. subway station and down the stairs, the patrolman after him. As the thief was about to board a northbound train Platt caught him. He offered no resistance and admitted he had done the other "job."

The prisoner said he was James Reynolds, 40 years old, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y. In his pocket was found a pistol made of glass.

DR. NEAL HINTS OF FRAUD.

Defeated Tennessean Predicts Results in Primary Inquiry.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Aug. 11. (AP).—Dr. John R. Neal, defeated candidate for the United States Senate short term, issued a formal statement here yesterday in which he said that in his opinion the investigation he has requested by the Senate Campaign Fund Investigation Committee would "place both Senator W. E. Brock and Governor Henry H. Horton in embarrassing positions."

Dr. Neal predicted that Senator Brock would find difficulty in obtaining his Senate seat and that Memphis would receive much notoriety from the Nye committee investigation. As a result of this investigation, Dr. Neal said, election fraud in that city would be ended.

Dr. Neal said in his statement that "Negroes and Republicans by the thousand voted in the Democratic primary."

All the Country Streams Are Friendly to the Miller and all the region around about brings grist to the mill. Why should not the little creek that turns the water mill, giving power to grind the corn and wheat, be proud of itself in being useful to an entire community? Some men are overproud of themselves because they earn money, and the sense of their ability goes to bed with them and rises with them when they get up in the morning. It is all right, too, unless they are selfish and stingy and inconsiderate of others less fortunate. The little creek at the mill is not proud and overbearing, for it smiles all day and sings as it goes along.

SANITATION BOARD ASKS $15,000,000 RISE

Schroeder Wants $50,000,000 Budget—Wants 5,000 More Men for Street Cleaning.

NEW APPARATUS SOUGHT

Members in Conference Also Consider $51,000 Item to Form Bureau of Inquiry.

FIGURES READY FRIDAY

Brooklyn and Queens to Receive Greatest Attention Because of Growth in Population.

Members of the Sanitation Commission, headed by Dr. William Schroeder Jr., the chairman, met yesterday afternoon in the Municipal Building to prepare the 1931 budget for the city's newest department, organized Dec. 1, 1929. Following the meeting, it was reported that about $50,000,000, or 50 per cent more than the current budget of $34,134,172.66, would be requested to carry on the work of the department next year.

No confirmation of this figure could be obtained from members of the commission, who said that the budgetary items had not been decided on, but Dr. Schroeder said that the request would include funds for 5,000 additional men who were needed to bring the Division of Street Cleaning to a minimum of efficiency About $330,000 would be asked to augment the street-cleaning force, it was reported unofficially.

Consider Inquiry Division.

Another item said to have been considered by the commissioners was one for $51,000 to establish a new bureau of the department, to be known as the Division of Confidential Investigation, with provisions for a director and a staff.

There also will be requests for money with which to purchase new apparatus needed to replace the obsolete equipment.

The two boroughs which are to receive greatest attention in the Sanitation Department's 1931 budget are Queens and, next, Brooklyn, it was said, as it is those boroughs which most require additional street cleaning facilities, according to one official. The 1930 census, it was pointed out, reported a 130 per cent increase in the population of Queens and 28 per cent in Brooklyn.

It was reported that the Sanitation Department's 1931 budget would be ready for transmission to the Mayor on Friday morning.

Hand Explains Shortage.

Commissioner Charles S. Hand, in charge of the Division of Street Cleaning, said that the shortage in the department's personnel was indicated by the fact that many sweepers were being used as drivers and loaders, due to shortages in these fields, and were therefore taken away from their usual duties. This is especially true in Queens, said Commissioner Hand, who cited one instance in which a single sweeper in that borough is responsible for the cleanliness of 396,000 square yards of street.

Referring to the shifting of 120 officers of the Division of Final Disposal of the Street Cleaning Department, whose new assignments went into effect Sunday, Dr. Schroeder denied that they were in the nature of a "shake-up," but said they were part of a new departmental policy to eliminate "fixture positions."

"This is a departmental policy," the Commissioner asserted. "There are probably many men who have been in positions too long. If we receive many complaints from a district, that district obviously needs new blood. We expect, therefore, to make necessary shifts in personnel from time to time. That does not mean 'shake-ups.' It simply means that fixture positions are a thing of the past."

Commissioner Hand, who called in his officers in charge of city piers and inland dumps and had them pick their new assignments from a hat to frustrate any recourse to political influence, said yesterday that the new posts were not subject to revision even if a man lived in the upper Bronx and was assigned to Coney Island.

The Street Cleaning Commissioner said he would watch closely the work of the sixty-five division superintendents of street cleaning with a view to making transfers in the near future if their work did not prove satisfactory.

TELLS OF LIQUOR ON SCOW.

Inspector Says Rum-Runners Forced Him to Let Them Load Barge.

Walter Le Strange, dump inspector, who was discharged recently by Charles S. Hand, Commissioner of the Department of Sanitation, following the seizure of liquor valued at $130,000 July 30 on the Barge E, city garbage scow, appeared yesterday before Robert B. Watts, Assistant United States Attorney, and corroborated the story told by Leonardo San Martino, captain of the barge, that armed rum-runners had forced him to take on 800 bags of liquor.

Le Strange said that from midnight until 2 A. M. he had faithfully gone his rounds of inspection on the dump. At the latter hour, he said, at the entrance of the pier at Roosevelt Street, a man jumped out of the dark, thrust a pistol against his ribs, forced him to go into "the little office" and keep his mouth shut.

He said that he heard later that between forty and fifty men had been on the pier and that two moving vans had been there to transport the liquor. San Martino, the captain, and his brother Vincenzo, the mate, again repeated their story of piracy. The latter explained a recent deposit of $400 in his bank by saying he had "just received it in payment of a loan made two years ago" to a Brooklyn man. Le Strange, the San Martinos and William Gillen, mate of the Scow P, appeared later before the Federal grand jury.

Banker Arrives in Blankets After Losing Suit on Train

Two strangers came within the city's gates yesterday, one wearing a train conductor's extra suit, and the other, swathed in blankets, riding in a wheel-chair. A switch engine had gone off with their clothes.

Late Sunday night Thornton Cooke, president of the Columbia National Bank of Kansas City, Mo., and M. S. Kimball, a Chicago advertising man, put themselves in the hands of a common carrier. They did more than that—they entrusted their clothes to the train valet. As they slept the valet worked; so did the switch engine. It detached their car from the one with their clothes.

On their arrival at the Grand Central both went to the Biltmore. Mr. Kimball wore the conductor's extra suit. Mr. Cooke was wrapped in blankets and wheeled to the hotel. They stayed in their rooms until the railroad came to the rescue.

CLEARING OF POLICE IN RED RIOT LIKELY

Inspector Bolan Indicates He Found They Used No Undue Violence in Union Square

WAITS FOR NEW TESTIMONY

To Report to Mulrooney Thursday —Baldwin Scores Captain Day's Story as "Incredible."

Complete exoneration of all policemen charged with violence at the Communist riot in Union Square on Aug. 1 was indicated yesterday by Deputy Chief Inspector James S. Bolan. He will submit his report, including testimony and findings, to Police Commissioner Mulrooney Thursday.

Virtually all the evidence is in, but Inspector Bolan, who conducted the disciplinary hearings in the West Sixty-eighth Street station, will wait until Thursday to give any straggling witnesses an opportunity to testify. Although several Communist witnesses and some of the injured have refused or failed to attend the hearings, the American Civil Liberties Union yesterday made a request that Inspector Bolan include in the record the testimony of these persons, either given at the "labor court" conducted by a Communist defense organization or as may be given direct to the Civil Liberties group.

Expectation of the Civil Liberties Union that Captain Joseph Day, who was in charge of police reserves in East Fifteenth Street the day of the riot, might be cited for disciplinary action waned yesterday when Inspector Bolan expressed the conviction that Captain Day had not exceeded his powers or used faulty judgment in handling the crowds after the meeting dispersed. The inspector contended, from the evidence, that Patrolman Francis Woods had been set upon and beaten with an iron bar before Captain Day rushed to his aid with thirty reserves held in Irving Plaza Hall, Irving Place and Fifteenth Street.

Roger N. Baldwin, director of the American Civil Liberties Union, declared Captain Day's testimony at the hearing had been "absolutely incredible."

"Despite the unchallenged fact that men and women were beaten and suffered grievous wounds in the very street where he was stationed," Mr. Baldwin declared, "Captain Day asserts he saw no violence of any sort upon the part of the police."

Mr. Baldwin added that the Civil Liberties Union would not ask for punishment of any specific policeman, but that it would request Bolan to incorporate in his report to Commissioner Mulrooney observations on the general conduct of the police resulting "in violence and bloodshed."

Inspector Bolan said that further perusal of the record was unlikely to reveal excesses by individual policemen.

Mr. Baldwin declared he was particularly anxious to get into the record eyewitness testimony of Abraham Goodman and Peter Malone, both arrested during the riot, the former serving five days for an assault upon Patrolman Woods. Goodman, at the time of his arrest, gave his address as 155 East Twenty-third Street, but all efforts by the police and the Civil Liberties Union to find him have failed. The same is true of Malone, who gave his address as 52 Second Place, Brooklyn, where he could not be located.

Other witnesses, whose testimony Mr. Baldwin desires to get into the record, are Beatrice Deer and George Morgan, Communists, who were injured in the mêlée. They testified at the Communist "labor court," but refused to appear before Bolan.

The International Labor Defense, the Communist organization, announced yesterday that it would exploit the Sacco-Vanzetti memorial on Aug. 22 in Union Square as an occasion for protest in the six "insurrection" cases at Atlanta, Ga., as well as for protest against prison conditions on Welfare Island.

RANSACK CHURCH, STEAL POOR-BOX CASH

But Staten Island Vandals Fail to Force Safe Holding $20,000 Sacred Vessels at St. Peter's.

The Rev. Joseph A. Farrell, pastor of St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church, on St. Peter's Place, New Brighton, S. I., of which the late Cardinal Farley was an assistant for several years, notified police yesterday that burglars had forced an entrance to the edifice and made a desperate effort to steal the church's collection of sacred vessels—a solid gold monstrance, tsudded with jewels, chalices and containers for the Host valued conservatively at $20,000. These articles had been placed in the safe after services on Sunday.

After trying in vain to force open the big safe with a sledge hammer, the thieves gave up the task, but before departing they stole the contents of the poor-boxes which hung on the wall of the church, amounting to about $80. Entrance to the church was gained by forcing a rear basement window. St. Peter's is the largest Catholic Church on Staten Island.

Mr. Greiner has cabled Mrs. Auer, advising her to set Aug. 22 as the date for the funeral.

UNIFORM CONTRACT ADOPTED BY ARTISTS

Professional League Agrees to Terms With Dealers' Group After Long Conference.

PORTRAIT DISPUTE SETTLED

Commissions on Orders Received After Exhibitions Fixed—Provision for Arbitration.

Misunderstandings which have caused intermittent conflict between American artists and art dealers are expected to give way to more cordial relations as a result of the adoption of a uniform contract governing the business relations of the two groups.

That such a contract had been agreed upon after months of conference by committees of the American Artists' Professional League and the American Art Dealers' Association was announced yesterday by Frederic Newlin Price, president of the art dealers' association and of the Ferargil Galleries.

"The terms of the uniform contract are fair to both artists and dealers, I believe," Mr. Price said, "and ought to do much to eliminate old difficulties caused by verbal agreements between artists and dealers. Many times in the past vain efforts have been made to formulate a standard written contract. It is time the art business should be put on a business basis. A generation ago it was a gamble. That is not so any longer. Now it is a definite business, so recognized by the banks."

Gives Credit to W. S. Potts.

Much of the credit for drawing up the contract which has now been adopted belongs to the late W. Sherman Potts, president of the American Society of Miniature Painters, Mr. Price said. Mr. Potts, who was eager to see a standard contract adopted by artists and dealers, headed the committee of the American Artists' Professional League, which conferred with a committee of art dealers on the subject.

Mr. Price said he regarded as the most important single item of the contract the definition of the obligations of artist and dealer in regard to the painting of portraits which have caused much difficulty. The contract appears in four forms—"ordinary contract," "one-man exhibition contract," "portrait painters' contract" and "one-man portrait exhibition contract."

Dispute on Portrait Commissions.

One cause of dispute between dealers and artists has been the right of the dealer to a commission on portraits painted by the artist after his exhibition for persons who decided to employ him after seeing his exhibition. This moot point is defined thus in the contract:

"If the artist receives, during one year after the completion of a portrait the order for which was secured for him by the art dealer, a further order from the client so introduced to him, or an order directly traceable to the painting of the first portrait referred to, the art dealer shall be entitled to a full commission at the above mentioned rate, on such re-order; upon any such re-order secured during the second year after completion of the first portrait, a commission at four-fifths of the original rate above stated; upon any such re-order secured during the third year after completion of the first portrait, a commission of three-fifths of the original rate above stated; upon any such re-order secured during the fourth year after completion of the first portrait, a commission of two-fifths of the original rate above stated; and no commission upon any subsequent re-orders. But the foregoing shall not apply to sale or orders secured at, or resulting from, any subsequent exhibition through another art dealer."

Any of the matters in the contract are subject to additional clauses in the agreement of artist and dealer. At the end of this form contract, but not included in its provisions, appears this recommendation of the American Artists' Professional League.

"The art dealer's commission varies with the prominence and reputation of the artist and may range from 20 to 50 per cent. For ordinary transactions, 33 1-3 per cent is recommended."

Arbitration Recommended.

Another recommendation by the association is:

"In the event of misunderstanding or controversy, it is recommended that the same be settled by arbitration in accordance with the rules then obtaining, of the American Arbitration Association; the parties agreeing that judgment upon the award rendered may be entered in the highest court, State or Federal, having jurisdiction. The arbitration committee of the American Artists' Professional League will hold itself ready to advise or assist on request in any case."

The prices of paintings have also caused friction between artist and dealer.

This problem is covered thus in the contract:

"The price at which the art dealer is authorized to sell each picture is stated herein, and shall not be raised or lowered by either party without the written consent of the other party hereo, while in the art dealer's hands for sale. If sold by the artist or the art dealer, in the same community, at a reduced price, within one year later, the art dealer will be entitled to one-half of his commission on the actual net selling price."

The contract covers such other matters as terms of sale, insurance, service and charges.

TO ACT ON HENNESSEY CASE

Richmond Grand Jury to Hear Exact Total of Shortage Today.

The Richmond County grand jury will meet again today at the County Court House at St. George to continue its investigation into the affairs of the office of the public administrator of Richmond County.

Among the witnesses who will testify will be two investigators and James A. Higgins, Commissioner of Accounts, who have been going over the records of former Administrator James W. Hennessey, who is out on $5,000 bail awaiting trial on two indictments charging him with grand larceny in the second degree.

The investigators, it was learned yesterday, have practically completed their check-up and it is expected they will be able to tell the talesmen today the exact amount of Hennessey's shortage. Five other persons have also been subpoenaed to appear.

District Attorney Albert C. Fach said the grand jury would confine itself solely to the Hennessey case tomorrow. He also intimated strongly that at least another indictment would be found in connection with the case, but that it would not be handed up today.

Whale in Harbor Spouts for Ship's Passengers, Then Rocks Boat on Return Trip From Jersey

Captain John Cameron, as brave a salt as ever turned a helm for Atlantic Highlands, N. J., stood on the bridge of the good ship Monmouth yesterday and shaded his eyes to the horizon as the sturdy craft passed out the Narrows. A stiff breeze was blowing and spindrift rose against the white bow as an occasional passing craft threw up a slight swell.

It was seven bells, or approximately that, when the skipper stiffened at a sound that has rung around the seven seas.

"Whale, ho!" some one shouted, and Captain Cameron hurried to the lee scuppers where most of his 200 souls were gathered, pointing excitedly toward buoy 15, near West Bank Lighthouse. There in the morning sun loomed the broad-beamed head of a whale, and into the clear air mounted a fine spray, spouting skyward as the great sea animal moved majestically through the surf.

"Blow me down!" ejaculated Captain Cameron, as he hurried to the quarter deck. Before he could return to the lee scuppers, the Monmouth, making good time, had passed on through Sandy Hook Bay and the whale was lost to sight. This was something of a disappointment to the passengers, who had thought of sea-chanties and the stories of the old days.

A delegation approached the captain and asked him to put around, but Captain Cameron, who has never broken his sailing schedule, promised only to watch for the whale on the return trip later in the day.

Coming back in the afternoon, at five bells, the Monmouth was suddenly shaken from stem to stern. Skipper Cameron grasped the wheel and called for the watch boy. No one answered, so he called for the look-out and rang for the engine room. Meanwhile the Monmouth rocked from the impact and the first officer called for all hands to stand by. All stood by but it was too late. In a few minutes the Monmouth settled firmly in the water again, and the whale, the passengers said later, swished its giant tail angrily and put out to sea.

The Monmouth put into her dock and there the story was told. Harbor men said yesterday that whales seldom come to New York and when they do, usually leave quickly because the water here is not the nicest in the world.

WARDEN COMMENDS FOUR FOR RESCUE

Lawes Says Praise for Saving Four in Swamped Boat Will Be Put on Sing Sing Records.

NO CLEMENCY PLEA NOW

Three of Convicts Extolled for Valor Are Serving Five-Year Terms, Fourth Sentenced to Ten.

Special to The New York Times.

OSSINING, N. Y., Aug. 11.—Warden Lewis E. Lawes of Sing Sing announced today that the four convicts who saved four persons from drowning in the Hudson yesterday would receive special commendations for their valor. He would not say what effect this would have on shortening their sentences, but declared he did not intend to ask Executive clemency for them at this time.

The four to receive the commendations, which will be added to their prison records, are Irving Brown, Joseph Oates, Anthony Triano and David Weller, all of New York. They rescued J. D. Roosa of the New York Central Railroad police and three companions whose rowboat had been sinking just off the penitentiary. After completing their service the four returned.

Of the four, Brown has the longest police record. He has been arrested eleven times, mainly for grand larceny, forgery or burglary. In 1910 he was sent to the penitentiary for larceny and six years later received a five to ten year sentence at Sing Sing for forgery. At present he is serving another forgery term of the same length, imposed in 1928.

Oates was fined $25 for disorderly conduct in 1919, but three years later received a sentence of from ten to twenty years for robbery. He was last sentenced to Sing Sing on Feb. 23, 1926, for a five to ten year period for assault.

Triano's first conviction was for carrying a pistol; it cost him $50 in 1926. In the same year, just a month later, he received a ten to twenty year term at Sing Sing for robbery.

The last of the four, Weller, received his term of five to ten years for grand larceny in 1927. Before that he had been arrested for grand larceny, attempted conspiracy and for the unlawful selling of theatre tickets, but was discharged in each case.

MINIATURE LINKS TOLD TO STOP NOISE AT NIGHT

Wynne Says Din Must Cease at 11 P. M.—Early Morning Play Brings Fine in Chicago.

Health Commissioner Wynne issued an order yesterday to owners and operators of "Tom Thumb" golf courses that all noise must cease on their premises after 11 P. M. Complaints have been received by the commissioner from residents living near courses.

"While I encourage all outdoor sports," the commissioner said, "a sport which prevents people from getting a required amount of sleep and rest is unsportsmanlike. I have no objection to the courses remaining open until the hour of 3 A. M., but all noise must cease at 11 P. M."

CHICAGO, Aug. 11 (AP).—Playing on miniature golf courses in the early hours of the morning is not golf, but it is disorderly conduct, Judge John H. Lyle ruled today.

Judge Lyle fined Leo Harrington $200 and costs for allowing persons to play on his putting course during the hours when neighbors were endeavoring to sleep. Harrington appealed.

First in the Morning Field
Throughout the World

The New York Times in seven months this year published 15,475,911 agate lines of advertising—more than any other morning newspaper in the world and an excess of 5,136,733 lines over any other New York newspaper (morning or evening). For many years The New York Times has maintained leadership among all New York newspapers.

In July, also, The Times was world leader in the morning field, publishing 1,582,405 agate lines and exceeding any other New York newspaper by 544,486 lines.

The high quality of the advertising published in The New York Times is more significant than its volume. Tens of thousands of lines of announcements are excluded monthly because they do not meet The Times standards of acceptance.

HERRICK ACQUITTED IN PARK AV. RAID

Court Dismisses Gambling Case Without Waiting to Hear the Defense.

LIQUOR CHARGE PENDING

Defendant Freed in $500 Bail on Charge of Possessing Gin—Valet Found Not Guilty.

George Herrick, whose fourteen-room apartment at 270 Park Avenue was raided last July 8, was acquitted yesterday in Special Sessions of a charge of conducting a gambling establishment. His Negro valet, William Sullivan, also was freed. Mr. Herrick, who describes himself as a broker, put in no defense.

After hearing the testimony of Detectives Robert Morris and James Brady of the staff of Chief Inspector John O'Brien, the court, comprising Justices Ellsworth J. Healy, Max Salomon and Hyman Rayfiel, ruled that the people had made out no case against the defendant.

The detectives told of entering the premises with warrants made out for two women on charges of vagrancy. They said that after hearing the clinking of glasses, the voices of women and clicking of dice they broke in the door, but found no one there but Mr. Herrick and his valet. They testified further that they had found gambling paraphernalia and eighteen bottles which they said contained gin.

At the conclusion of their testimony Bernard Sandler, counsel for Herrick, declined to cross-examine them. He asserted that to raid a private dwelling on the strength of warrants made out for wayward women living at another address was "the most flagrant violation of a man's constitutional rights" that had come to his attention. He argued that the testimony of the detectives failed to prove that the apartment was a gambling establishment, and moved for the dismissal.

In granting the motion Justice Salomon, who presided, declared: "The information in this case charges defendants with conducting a gambling house. The people have failed to establish the facts. There is no evidence that this place was used for a gambling room."

Mr. Herrick also faces trial on a charge of violation of the liquor law. Arraigned following the raid on that charge before United States Commissioner Cotter, he was held in $500 bail. Assistant United States Attorney Robert B. Watts explained that since there was no evidence of sale of liquor the maximum penalty, if found guilty of possession, would be only a $500 fine as a first offender.

RYAN DIVORCE SUIT ENDS.

Husband Tells Wyoming Court His Charges Are False.

SHERIDAN, Wyo., Aug. 11 (AP).—The divorce suit of Thomas F. Ryan 2d, which was filed in District Court here Saturday, came to an abrupt end today when a motion to dismiss the case without prejudice was filed by the plaintiff.

Mr. Ryan, member of a wealthy New York family, said in a statement that the "charges brought against Mrs. Ryan were absolutely without foundation or justification."

The statement added that the plaintiff could offer no explanation for such action on his part other than being directly attributable to injuries to his head suffered in a recent automobile accident which left him in an impulsive mental condition.

Ryan is a grandson of Thomas Fortune Ryan.

Women Admit Fake Money Charge.

Grace Savino and Catherine Fontaine pleaded guilty yesterday before Federal Judge Woolsey to the superseding indictment charging that they conspired with John Savino and Harry Guerra to pass $20 counterfeit notes. Savino was arrested recently in connection with the hold-up of the dinner given to former Magistrate Vitale. Sentence was deferred pending the trial of Savino and Guerra, which was set for next Friday.

CRIME GROUP SPLITS ON CHECK PAYMENTS

Moley Plan to Curb Payroll Hold-Ups Scored by a Member as a "One-Man Report."

SURRENDER TO THUGS SEEN

Jersey City Expert and Five Others Quit Committee Rather Than Approve Project.

The report advocating payment by check to forestall payroll robberies, submitted to the National Crime Commission by its special committee headed by Professor Raymond C. Moley of Columbia University, was criticized yesterday as a "one-man report," drafted without a meeting of the committee, by former Judge Walter P. Gardner, vice president of the New Jersey Title Guarantee and Trust Company, who refused to sign it. Professor Moley requested his approval by telegraph, he explained.

"We have come to a bad situation, indeed," said Mr. Gardner in an interview just before he departed from Jersey City on his annual vacation, "if, in order to prevent crimes, we must hide our money continually. Jersey City has the payroll hold-up business pretty well in hand without insisting that every firm pay by check. There are good reasons for paying by check, sometimes, and there are good reasons for paying by cash in other cases. Failure of police protection must be put down as responsible for urging payment by check as a panacea."

Five Did Not Sign Report.

Former Judge Gardner was one of five members of the original nineteen members of the commission whose names were not signed to the report. He made public also his letter to Louis McH. Howe, assistant chairman of the National Crime Commission, 120 Broadway, in which he gave further reasons for refusing to sign the report.

"If I may still be considered a member of the committee, I again decline to sign the report or have my name connected with it," wrote Mr. Gardner. "My objection to the original report went to both form and substance. That report was prepared without any meeting for consultation. It was apparently the thought of one mind, even though based on a questionnaire, and we were asked to swallow it whole, and that by telegraph, so it could be immediately published.

"As to its substance, I was and am still opposed to any official publicity that would suggest any nationwide use of industrial payroll payment by check.

"I think we should have considered this question from the crime point of view, as one would study any other crime and its abatement. Suggesting something that would palliate it is merely admitting that the courts and the police are unable to cope with the situation and that the law has broken down, leaving as the only remedy the non-use of cash in large quantities. At best it is a weak suggestion to come from a national commission.

Holds Publication Unwarranted.

"Jersey City has been free of hold-ups because the city authorities, at an early stage of the trouble, studied the situation and have been taking definite precautions to prevent it. Perhaps this would not work out in every community. I still feel that the subject has not been considered in such a manner as would warrant the publication of this new report."

The report of the committee headed by Professor Moley and including former Police Commissioner Whalen of New York City, Major Richard Sylvestre, president of the International Police Chiefs Association; John L. Conover, auditor of the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, and Waldo Newcomer, chairman of the Baltimore Trust Company of Baltimore, was published in morning newspapers yesterday. It has not been approved by the National Crime Commission, of which former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker is chairman.

Professor Moley is in Europe. James E. Baum, deputy manager of the American Bankers Association, the only New Yorker who did not sign the report, is out of the city on vacation. Others who did not sign are Roy L. Stone, vice president of the First Wisconsin National Bank, Milwaukee; F. W. Ellsworth, vice president of the Hibernia Bank and Trust Company, New Orleans, and John R. Downing, vice president of the Citizens' National Bank, Louisville.

CHICAGO PAPERS ASK SPECIAL CRIME STUDY

State's Attorney Swanson Expresses Approval of Plan to Name 2 Leading Lawyers.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—The newspapers of Chicago have agreed upon a plan to be submitted to State's Attorney Swanson, which suggests the appointment of two outstanding lawyers of Chicago as special Assistant State's Attorneys to conduct an investigation of "gang, police and official corruption and viciousness."

Mr. Swanson indicated tonight that he favored the proposal and that he would carry it into effect.

"I welcome any public-spirited movement to help clean up crime conditions in Chicago," Mr. Swanson said. "However, I wish to say that an investigation of this character, to be successful, cannot be conducted with the blare of publicity and sensationalism that has featured many similar investigations of the past. Past investigations have failed because of this practice.

"The inquiry should be secret. No facts should be divulged to the newspapers or to others concerning the progress of the inquiry until the criminals are under arrest and the evidence against them is complete."

The movement for the appointment of the special prosecutors was iniated by S. E. Thomason, publisher of The Chicago Daily Illustrated Times, a tabloid. He submitted his proposal in a letter sent to The Chicago Evening American, The Herald and Examiner, The Journal of Commerce, The Chicago Daily News, The Chicago Tribune and The Chicago Evening Post.

It is understood that all the Chicago members of the Publishers' Association have agreed to the appointment of the two special prosecutors, and that at a meeting to be held tomorrow the formal action is notifying Mr. Swanson will be taken.

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Aug. 11.—Tomorrow is another primary day. In the old days when Senators were Senators, why the State Legislatures picked out the ones that were to run, now they pick themselves. You put an ad in the papers saying: "You believe that you are needed." May be its an original idea with you, but there is no way of keeping you from running. There is no qualification outside of an intention necessary.

And, by the way, we lost a mighty good ex-Senator out here this week, James Phelan, a philanthropist, a scholar, a patron of the arts and a gentleman, with these qualifications naturally a Democrat. A fine fellow was Jimmy.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

SEES A 'SUBTERFUGE' IN THEATRE LEAGUE

Sandler, at First Hearing on Outside Brokers' Complaint, Charges Evasion of Law.

DEFENSE DEMANDS FACTS

Counsel Says Group Wants to Know if Statutes Are Violated, but He Bans a "Fishing Excursion."

An informal hearing on the complaint against the League of New York Theatres, Inc., by Bernard H. Sandler, counsel for twenty-two theatre ticket brokers unaccredited by the league, which was recently formed to protect the public against speculation in theatre tickets, was held by Assistant Attorney General Robert S. Conklin, yesterday, in his offices at 49 Chambers Street. The complaint alleged that the league violates the State general business and corporation law by operating for a profit although it is a membership corporation.

No testimony was taken and the greater part of the hearing was devoted to stipulations and arguments by Mr. Sandler and Arthur F. Driscoll of counsel for the league. Mr. Driscoll asserted that he was ready to allow Mr. Conklin or a deputy to examine the books of the league and question its officers, "as a public officer in the public interest," but that he was not prepared to allow "counsel for these ticket scalpers, who have an ulterior motive," to do so.

Mr. Sandler read into the record a statement in which he declared that the fifty-eight members of the league were required to pay into the league 1 per cent of their gross income from ticket sales, and that therefore the league "would be operating for pecuniary profit."

"It will be urged," the statement continued, "that the arrangement between the league and its members provides that in the event the 1 per cent which the members pay to the league is more than is necessary with which to pay the overhead or running expenses of the league the balance will be returned to the members on a pro rata basis. It will be thus contended that the league will earn no profit."

The statement then described the alleged arrangement as a "scheme" and "subterfuge concocted for the purpose of circumventing the statutes applicable to membership corporations, and to evade the payment of taxes which the State of New York would otherwise be entitled to."

Explaining that he wished to make the league's position clear, Mr. Driscoll said:

"If we are not within the law we want to be told wherein we are not within the law. If there is any offense against the corporation law we will gladly give heed and consideration to it. But if possible we will not permit Mr. Sandler to examine our officers, in other words, go on a fishing excursion looking for what he can find. Let him produce some specific facts in support of the complaint."

Mr. Driscoll flatly refused to have Harlow D. Savage, executive secretary of the league, questioned by Mr. Sandler. He said Mr. Savage would be ready at any time to answer questions asked by Mr. Conklin.

To settle the issue, Mr. Conklin suggested that Mr. Sandler prepare a set of questions, submit them to him, and he would go over them before the next hearing and determine whether they were pertinent.

Mr. Sandler said last night that he would prepare the list.

An adjournment was taken until next week, a definite day to be set later

ASKS COURT APPROVAL OF HUBERT ACCOUNTING

Counsel for $6,000,000 Estate Moves to Release Fortune for Thirty-four Institutions.

A court decree asking approval of the accounting of the executors administrating the $6,000,000 estate of the late Conrad Hubert, flashlight manufacturer, who left his fortune to charity, was submitted yesterday to Surrogate Foley for signature by Samuel K. Abrahams, counsel for the trustees.

It is expected the decree will be signed soon and thus make available the distribution of three-quarters of the residuary estate amounting to about $4,800,000 to thirty-four institutional beneficiaries selected by former President Coolidge, former Governor Smith and Julius Rosenwald of Chicago.

The accounting is submitted in behalf of the Bankers Trust Company and C. Betram Plante, executors under the will. According to Mr. Abrahams, the estate has increased in value since the death of Hubert, despite the reports that real estate in Florida owned by the estate has shrunk in value.

More than $1,000,000 has already been distributed to two brothers and a sister of Hubert. They are Joseph Horwich, a Brooklyn court interpreter; Moses Horwich and Mrs. Anna Hutner.

Mr. Abrahams said yesterday that after Surrogate Foley approves the accounting, considerable time will elapse before the various institutions selected to receive the money will receive their checks. He explained that after the accounting is approved, Surrogate Foley must approve another decree authorizing the distribution of the assets.

SEEKS FURTHER CUT IN ELECTRIC RATES

Hilly at Opening Hearing Today Will Fight Sloan Plan and Edison Valuation

DOZEN GROUPS TO PROTEST

Corporation Counsel Declares Charge Here Should Be Lower Than in Small Cities.

CITES TELEPHONE CASE

Company's Proposal Seen as Move to Anticipate More Drastic Reduction by Board.

A fight to get even lower rates than the ones proposed by Mathew S. Sloan, president of the New York Edison Company, and to do away with the proposed service charge of 60 cents a month, is scheduled to begin this morning when the Public Service Commission opens its hearings on the electric rate schedules proposed by the New York Edison Company, and its affiliated companies, the Brooklyn Edison, the United Electric Light and Power, and the New York and Queens Electric Light and Power Company.

The hearings will open at 10 o'clock at the offices of the commission at 120 Broadway. The city will be represented by Corporation Counsel Arthur J. W. Hilly and his consulting engineer and rate expert, A. S. B. Little. More than a dozen consumers' organizations have signified their intention of appearing to protest the service charge, which, despite the cut in price per killowatt from 7 to 5 cents, will raise the monthly electric bills of 57 per cent of residential consumers.

Hilly to Attack Valuation.

Mr. Hilly announced last night his intention of attacking the valuation basis used by the company in fixing its percentage of earnings, both for itself, and for the affiliated companies. Data gathered in preparation for today's hearing will show an overvaluation of at least $100,000,000 on the properties of the New York Edison Company alone, Mr. Hilly said last night, upon his return from Philadelphia, where he has been conducting the city's case in the Delaware water diversion suit brought by New Jersey.

Mr. Hilly, and counsel for the consumers and the company are expected to make their opening arguments today, and the hearing is then expected to adjourn, probably to the beginning of September, to permit the opposition to the proposed new rates time to prepare its case.

There is no reason, Mr. Hilly said, why electric rates in New York City, where consumption is on an immense scale, should not be as low, if not lower, than in small inland cities. In many of these, some in New York State, the rates are as low as 4 cents per kilowatt, he pointed out.

Disputes Company's Figures.

He said that the company based its rates on the reproduction cost of its plant, and that this had never been established either by the Public Service Commission or the courts, and at 1924 prices. In the telephone rate case witnesses admitted reproduction costs today would be less than those of five years ago, Mr. Hilly said, so that even if the company's appraisal was right then it is too high now.

In 1924 the company found its reproduction cost was in a 147 per cent ratio to its book value, he said, and without further computation had proceeded to apply the same theory to its subsidiary companies. Thus, with a book value of $64,000,000 for the United Electric Light and Power, the reproduction cost is arbitrarily set at $95,000,000, the Brooklyn Edison jumped from $96,000,000 to $142,000,000.

Although the city itself, as one of the largest consumers of power, would benefit to a great extent from the new light rates, Mr. Hilly pointed out that the companies had been none too liberal in the past on their allowance to the city. The city paid 6.08 per kilowatt for street lighting and 3.33 for office building and other lighting. Street railroads, on the other hand, paid less than a cent per kilowatt, he pointed out.

Prolonged Hearing Foreseen.

The injection of the valuation theory into the hearings was regarded yesterday as certain to prolong the hearings well on into the Fall, and possibly to the end of the year, despite the wish of Chairman Milo R. Maltbie of the Public Service Commission to get new rates into effect as soon as possible. It was pointed out yesterday that the so-called "Hylan suit," brought against the company seven years ago, to obtain lower rates, had never been decided by the Public Service Commission. Officials were disposed to view the offer by the New York Edison Company to cut its revenues, as it estimates it, by over $5,000,000 as an attempt to forestall a more drastic cut by the commission on its own initiative.

The proposed service charge, 60 cents, is to be fought at today's hearings, and at future ones, on the ground that it would establish a precedent, dangerous in future cases.

LYNCH QUITS STATE RACE.

Decides Not to Seek Committee Post in Fight With Rendt.

Borough President John A. Lynch, who is fighting County Chairman David S. Rendt for control of the Democratic leadership on Staten Island, at a meeting of the anti-Rendt faction announced at the Borough Hall at St. George last night that he would not run against the county chairman for State committeeman in the First Assembly District at the primary election in September. He offered no explanation.

The meeting was called to designate the Borough President and to consider the advisability of putting a full ticket in the field against the candidates designated by County Chairman Rendt last week. After Mr. Lynch turned down the designation, his supporters decided to endorse all of the candidates named by Rendt with the exception of his choice for State committeeman in the First Assembly District. For this office they designated William J. McDermott, Superintendent of Public Buildings and a strong supporter of Mr. Lynch.

QUEENS DEMOCRATS LIST PRIMARY SLATE

Ticket Is Complete Except for One Committeeman, Who Will Be Named Today.

THEOFEL DEFIES BUTLER

Choice of Designees Lauded by Workers as Preventing Several Primary Contests.

The Democratic primary slate in Queens was announced yesterday by John Theofel, Democratic county leader, following a designation meeting of the Democratic executive committee of the county at county headquarters, Long Island City.

The ticket was complete with the exception of the designee for State committeeman in the First Assembly District, who would be named today, Mr. Theofel said. Tax Commissioner Bernard M. Patton has stuck to his decision to oust Thomas Creem, incumbent who has held the post for nineteen years, it was learned from several executive members.

Mr. Theofel is seeking to avoid a primary fight over the office by means of an agreement which he hopes to bring about today because both men have a borough-wide following among the political workers, it was learned.

Brunner Is Designated.

Representative William F. Brunner of the Second Congressional District of Rockaway, Surrogate John Hetherington of Astoria, County Clerk Edward W. Cox of Maspeth and Municipal Court Justice Thomas C. Kadien Jr. in the First District of Long Island City were all designated by the executive committee as candidates for nomination for re-election.

Mr. Theofel convened the executive committee to designate the primary slate in defiance of the announcement made by County Chairman James C. Butler that the county committee was still in session, as a result of the recess called by Mr. Butler at the county meeting on July 29 until tonight, and that the executive committee could not function legally while the county committee was in session, according to the election law. Mr. Butler declared that unless he obtained a quorum tonight at Flushing High School, another recess would be called, keeping the county committee in session. Mr. Theofel has instructed committeemen to ignore the chairman's call.

"I am paying no attention to such a ridiculous statement," Mr. Theofel declared. "It is a well known fact that there were not sufficient members who attended the county committee meeting called by Mr. Butler on July 29 to form a quorum. The county committee was not legally in session at that meeting, hence, how can a recess be declared for the meeting to remain in session? Mr. Butler cannot prevent the executive committee from convening and functioning on that ground."

Petitions Are Distributed.

Following the designations, nominating petitions were distributed to the executive members for circulation in their various Assembly districts. All petitions must be filed with the Board of Elections by Aug. 19, according to the election law.

The designation of Henry P. Keith of Hollis for State committeeman from the Fourth Assembly District prevented a primary battle between Gere F. Ryan of Bayside, John McQuade of the Fourth Assembly District Democratic Club, and John H. Leich of Hollis, it was said. Also the designation of James A. Burke for Assemblyman, civic worker and chairman of the Central Queens Allied Civic Council, was a surprise to political observers.

Other designations announced by Mr. Theofel were:

For State Senator.

Second District—Joseph D. Nunan of Douglaston.
Third District—Frank B. Hendel of Middle Village.

For the Assembly.

First District—John O'Rourke of Astoria.
Second District—Joseph C. Mulligan of Woodside.
Third District—Peter T. Farrell of Corona.
Fourth District—James A. Burke of Hollis.
Fifth District—Maurice A. Fitzgerald of Ozone Park.
Sixth District—Frederick L. Zimmerman of Woodhaven.

Member of State Committee.

First District—Irene Jelis.
Second District—Joseph T. Quin and Clara Lurz.
Third District—John Theofel and Mae V. Gallis.
Fourth District—Henry P. Keith and Catherine T. McSweeney.
Fifth District—Peter F. Albrecht and Mary A. Hendrickson.

STILL EXPECT OTTO TO RUN.

Westchester Democrats Believe He Will Be Congressional Candidate.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Aug. 11.—Rumors persist in Democratic circles that Mayor Walter G. C. Otto of New Rochelle, former county judge, may be induced to run for Congress in the Twenty-fifth District. His large following would prove a formidable instrument for the county Democracy in the Congressional campaign in this district, where the Republican vote is likely to be split over the wet issue, it was said today.

Charles D. Millard is the organization candidate for the Republican nomination. John M. Holzworth, insurgent wet, and Robert A. Patteson, bone dry candidate of the Anti-Saloon League, oppose him. It is believed at least one of the two who will be defeated in the primaries will run independently.

Harry T. Foley, Democratic chairman of Westchester County, announced today that the Democratic convention will be held Thursday night at Grace Church, this city. Candidates will be named for the Fall elections.

SOMERS 'FLATTERED' BY THOMAS ATTACK

Representative Says He Will Extend Same Courtesy as to Opponents in Past.

MYERSON ALSO OPENS FIRE

Republican Candidate Holds Socialist Knows Nothing of Conditions in District.

Representative Andrew L. Somers, Democratic candidate for re-election to the post sought by Norman Thomas in the Sixth Congressional District, Brooklyn, welcomed yesterday the Socialist candidate as an opponent. Joseph G. Myerson, Republican candidate for the same post, discussing the Thomas candidacy, said he was confident that the people of the district "will not permit the glamour of a name to blind them to their own best interests."

In accepting the nomination on Sunday, Mr. Thomas revealed that the issues of his campaign would be unemployment and the domination of Brooklyn by John H. McCooey, the Democratic leader.

Flattered, He Says.

"If all Mr. Thomas can say about me after my six years in Congress is that my record is colorless then I feel flattered," said Mr. Somers, commenting on Mr. Thomas's statement that "to the Sixth District McCooey gives a Congressman whose record is as colorless as that of the rest of the delegation he selects." Mr. Somers promised a further statement after he studied the Thomas platform.

"Mr. Thomas will receive the same courteous treatment as my past opponents have," said Mr. Somers. "He will, I expect, receive the same courteous treatment from the voters as have my past opponents."

Mr. Myerson, who is a Manhattan lawyer living in Brooklyn, declared that Mr. Thomas was no more interested in the Sixth Congressional District than in the Seventh District of Mississippi or the Tenth District of Texas.

Sees Thomas as Outsider.

"As Mr. Thomas does not live in the district, except for hearsay or an occasional visit, he knows nothing whatsoever about conditions in the district," said Mr. Myerson. "What he is interested in is obtaining the free use of a public forum where he can urge his views upon the entire nation.

"While the United States Constitution permits a resident of New York State to run for Congress in any Congressional district within the State, I am confident that the people of the district will not permit the glamour of a name to blind them to their own best interests."

Mr. Myerson said he agreed with Mr. Thomas that unemployment is a national problem and that there must be a national remedy. They differed, he said, in that Mr. Thomas failed to recognize that unemployment is a world-wide condition and that no effective remedial action could be taken by this or any other country over night. Mr. Myerson said he would welcome the opportunity to debate with Mr. Thomas and Mr. Somers at any time such issues as are properly debatable in a Congressional campaign.

RADIO AUDITION CONTEST.

Amateur Singers Must File Their Applications by Sept. 15.

Young amateur singers of New York between the ages of 16 and 25 years who desire to enter the Fourth National Radio Audition of the Atwater Kent Foundation must file their applications this year by Sept. 15. This will be the fourth of the singing contest series held by the foundation, which terminate in December each year with a final broadcast from a local radio studio. The ten finalists each year share in $25,000 in cash prizes and musical scholarships of from one to two years in length.

The final filing date was announced following a conference held between the New York City committee chairman of the foundation, Euphemia Blunt, of 101 West Fifty-second Street, and the chairman of the sponsorship committee, Mrs. Yeatman Griffith, who is in charge of the contests for Eastern New York State. Application blanks may be obtained from Miss Blunt.

New York has never had a national finalist in the contest, and a special effort will be made this year to enter the best singer available in this vicinity.

M'CALL IS ENDORSED IN TAMMANY SHIFT

State Senator, Shelved in 1908 for Wagner, Is Designated for His Former Office.

RUDDY'S HAND SEEN AGAIN

Move Viewed as Curry Victory Over Murphy Followers, as in Stranding of Sheridan.

John T. McCall, former State Senator, to whom renomination was denied by the late Charles F. Murphy in 1908, has been designated by Tammany for the Democratic nomination for the office he formerly held in the Eighteenth Senatorial District, it was learned yesterday. As the district is overwhelmingly Democratic and Mr. McCall will be unopposed for the nomination, his election is virtually certain, and he will return to the Senate after an absence of twenty-two years.

This political comeback was received in Tammany as another indication of the waning influence of the so-called Murphy group under the leadership of John F. Curry. Taken in conjunction with the denial of the organization designation to Senator Thomas I. Sheridan in the Sixteenth Senatorial District, the favoring of Mr. McCall was regarded as notice of the end of the old feud that prevented adherents of Maurice Featherston, formerly leader of what is now part of the Sixteenth Assembly District, from obtaining political preferment from Tammany in the Murphy régime.

The designation of Mr. McCall, who stood with Mr. Fetherston in the unsuccessful revolt against Mr. Murphy's leadership during the administration of Mayor McClellan, was brought about by Stephen A. Ruddy, leader of the Sixteenth Assembly District and executive member of the Cherokee Club. Mr. Fetherston resigned his leadership soon after the collapse of the movement against Mr. Murphy in 1908, but always retained control of the club through his supporters, of whom Mr. Ruddy was one. Therefore for years William Shannon, a Murphy adherent, who succeeded to the leadership of the district, never was able to control its Tammany club.

Mr. Murphy, however, was able to prevent the renomination of Mr. McCall for State Senator and brought about the nomination of Robert F. Wagner, present United States Senator. Mr. McCall has been named to succeed Martin J. Sheridan, who was elected Representative in Congress last Winter to succeed John F. Carew, who was elected a Supreme Court justice. The Senate seat has been vacant since then.

Mr. McCall, who is in the insurance business, with offices at 342 Madison Avenue, said he had not desired the designation but had been urged to run by friends.

"We just wanted to show the old-timers that Mr. Fetherston, Mr. Ruddy and I were still on the map," he said.

Friede Pays Boston Book Fine.

BOSTON, Aug. 11 (AP).—Donald A. Friede, New York publisher, who was ordered a year ago to pay a $300 fine for selling the banned book, "An American Tragedy," in Boston, and failed in an appeal to the Supreme Court, today paid his fine. Friede was to have appeared in Superior Court a week ago and when he failed to come was ordered defaulted. The default was removed by Judge Henry T. Lummus today.

ERIE TIE-UP DELAYS 15,000.

Commuters 7 to 30 Minutes Late as Derailed Car Blocks Lines.

More than 15,000 New Jersey commuters reached their offices from seven to thirty minutes later than usual yesterday because an empty coach was derailed near the Jersey City entrance to the Erie Railroad terminal, blocking five tracks and holding up forty-four incoming trains. The accident occurred at 7:30 A. M.

The empty coach, the last of a string of ten, is believed to have left the track because of a faulty switch. It rolled across five of the twelve tracks serving the terminal and placed the full burden of the rush-hour traffic on the seven others. A passenger train from Nutley, N. J., was speeding into the terminal when the coach rolled across its path. The engineer set his brakes and the train stopped only a few feet away from the coach. No passengers were injured and most of them walked to the terminal.

Passengers on the following trains also grew impatient and set out afoot. It was not until 9:30 that a wrecking crew had set the coach back on its own track.

Among the trains delayed were the Cleveland Express, inbound, and the Erie Limited, leaving for Chicago.

HURT IN 40-FOOT FALL IN CROWDED BROADWAY

Carpenter Drops From Hotel Window Ledge at 43d St.—Norrowly Misses Passers-by.

While seated on the ledge trying to close the window of a fourth floor room of the Hotel Cadillac, Broadway and Forty-third Street, early yesterday afternoon, Joseph Mato, 34 years old, a carpenter employed by the hotel, lost his grip and was seriously hurt when he fell forty feet to Broadway.

By little short of a miracle he landed on a clear space in the densely crowded sidewalk, but Anthony J. Richter, an Edison Company inspector, and Dan Griffin, Chinatown bus lecturer, who was "barking" for customers, had narrow escapes. Richter calculated he had been missed by less than an inch.

Griffin said it was his second narrow escape, as a man fell through the roof of his bus some years ago.

Richter and Griffin carried Mato into the Adelphi Theatre ticket office at 1,504 Broadway, and summoned an ambulance. Traffic was tied up for twenty minutes.

Mato was taken to the Hospital for the Ruptured and Crippled with compound fractures of the right arm, thigh and leg. He lives at 857 Fortieth Street, Brooklyn.

In summer you need this inconspicuous sanitary protection

Never is Kotex so indispensable as in summer—with clothing reduced to a minimum—and frocks so thin and dainty.

ONE of the important reasons why smart women are so very enthusiastic about Kotex lies in its clever shaping.

This is especially desirable in summer, when one so loves to wear those thin, soft frocks.

Wear these dainty things every day, if you like. Just be sure that Kotex—no substitute—is your sanitary protection.

No outline ever shows through even the thinnest summer dresses, because Kotex is so carefully designed. The ends are rounded and tapered.

Kotex absorbs 5 times as much as the finest cotton. And even on the warmest days you'll find Kotex retains its light, delicate quality for several hours. This is largely due to the remarkable substance of which it is made—Cellucotton (not cotton) absorbent wadding.

Preferred by hospitals

Cellucotton is so superior that 85% of our leading hospitals use it in preference to fine surgical cotton.

Kotex deodorizes—so appreciated in summer. Dispose of it just as you would a piece of tissue. No washing, no embarrassment.

Kotex Company, Chicago, Illinois.

KOTEX IS SOFT . . .

1—Not a deceptive softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.
2—Kotex filler is far lighter and cooler than cotton, yet absorbs 5 times as much.
3—Deodorizes . . . safely, thoroughly, by a special process.
4—Disposable, instantly, completely.

MILK SUPPLY AMPLE, CITY SURVEY SHOWS

Only 40% of Production in Local Shed Is Consumed, Health Inspectors Find.

THOMAS SCORES PRICE RISE

Market Officials Call Threat of Higher Vegetable Costs "Gross Profiteering."

The Health Department made public yesterday facts so far learned in its survey of the New York City milk situation and these indicated that the city is consuming only 40 per cent of the normal milk production of the New York milk shed. The department's milk inspectors have reported that the area from which the city gets its milk produces under normal conditions about 9,000,000 quarts of milk a day, of which New York residents drink only 3,500,000 quarts.

On the basis of these figures, it seems that the city has an abundant oversupply rather than a shortage of milk, Edward F. Brown, speaking for Health Commissioner Wynne, declared. The department will have in a day or two a complete tabulation of reports from its 101 inspectors who have been ordered to make a special survey by Dr. Wynne. The survey will show whether the New York milk shed is maintaining its normal production of 9,000,000 quarts a day or whether there has been the sharp decline reported by milk distributors.

"We have heard from about 10 per cent of our men in the field so far and these all report that milk production in the New York milk shed is about normal," Mr. Brown explained. "Even if contrary to present indication there has been a decrease in milk production, it does not seem from the great difference between the normal milk consumption and the normal milk production of the area that New York need fear any milk shortage now or any other time."

Reluctant to Comment on Price.

Officials of the Department of Health were reluctant to say whether on the basis of this tabulation the rise of 1 cent a quart in milk prices, which became effective yesterday, was not unjustified. Large areas of pasture land have dried up, necessitating the use of grain as feed for cows, putting a higher cost of production on the shoulders of farmers, they explained.

Norman Thomas issued a statement yesterday attacking the rise in milk prices as "wholly unwarranted." The Socialist leader charged the Borden's Farm Products Company made as much as 22 per cent. To many families "whose men are walking the streets looking for jobs" the increased cost of milk will be "a great calamity," Mr. Thomas said. He urged that the city enter the milk business and sell milk at cost price.

There are approximately 890,000 cows each producing about ten quarts of milk a day in the New York milk shed, the Health Department's survey shows. In view of the fact that New York City is consuming less than half the milk it might there does not seem any need of expanding the milk shed, Mr. Brown said.

Fred H. Sexauer, president of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, returned to the city yesterday after a week's inspection tour of the New York milk shed with the prediction that "our dairy farmers will be able to keep New York supplied with milk despite the drought havoc."

"Never have I seen such deplorable crop conditions as I saw last week driving through various sections of the State," he declared. "I saw hundreds of acres of dried, curling corn, pasture lot after lot that was brown and withered, and scores of alfalfa fields in which the alfalfa has dried and curled down to the ground."

Officials of the Health Department, the New York City Department of Markets and the State Department of Agriculture and Markets united yesterday in characterizing the warnings of produce men that higher prices for fruits and vegetables are in the offing as "gross and unwarranted profiteering."

A survey of prices demanded by wholesalers yesterday indicated that there has been an increase of about 10 per cent in the cost of fruits and vegetables. Some commission merchants predicted that within a few days there would be a general rise in fresh produce ranging from 25 to 50 per cent. Such an increase, it is believed, would add $1,000,000 to the daily food bill of the city.

ORDERED "BISHOPS" WINE

But Stamford (Conn.) Pastor Tells Jury He Never Got Any.

The Rev. John Hrynak, pastor of the Ukrainian Greek Church in Stamford, Conn., told Federal Judge Edwin S. Thomas and a jury yesterday that although he had often filled in withdrawal cards for sacramental wine and later had turned them over to Charles Mrzena, "bishop" of the Czechoslovak Orthodox Old Catholic Church, he never received the wine.

Father Hrynak, a witness for the government in the trial of Mr. Mrzena and eight co-defendants for alleged conspiracy to violate the prohibition law, said that he had mentioned this circumstance to the Rev. John Petrokanyn in Newburgh and that the latter had replied:

"You never will get any wine. It will be lost on the way."

Frank Lemorsch, a truckman, told the jury that on several occasions liquor drawn from the California Wine Association upon the "bishop's certification had been taken to a garage, whence it was distributed to buyers for bootleg use. The trial will be continued today.

ROB JEWISH INSTITUTE.

Nine Chicago Bandits Get $3,000 in Bonds and $1,000 Cash.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Nine masked bandits entered the Jewish People's Institute early today, bound five employes and escaped with a strong box containing $3,000 in bonds and $1,000 in cash after working two hours to dig the box out of a cement vault floor in which it was embedded.

Gaining entrance through a rear window the men, all of whom were armed, slugged Charles Tish, a special watchman, and tied him up. They then entered the main lobby where they overpower four employes at work. These were also bound.

KILLS WIFE AND CHILD, ENDS OWN LIFE BY SHOT

Brooklyn Man Found Dead Beside Victims After Row Over Girl's Engagement.

Enraged over his daughter's engagement to a clerk, Salvatore Tesereare, 55 years old, a junk dealer, stabbed and shot his wife and daughter to death and then took his own life with a bullet through the temple in a tenement at 234 Sackett Street, Brooklyn, early yesterday morning, according to the story reconstructed by the police after the triple tragedy had been discovered several hours later by the landlord.

Tesereare was found seated in a chair in the kitchen of the apartment, his wife Concetta, 50 years old, dead on the floor beside him with bullet and stab wounds. The body of the daughter, Amelia, 18, lay in the parlor, a bullet in the back. The father and daughter were fully clothed. Mrs. Teresearo wore a bathrobe over her nightgown.

The police inestigation revealed that the daughter had announced several days ago her intention of marrying a clerk in a Flatbush fruit store and that the announcement had caused dissension in the family. On Sunday Tesereare spent the day on a fishing boat, returning early yesterday morning, when the argument was renewed. At about 4 o'clock, neighbors heard screams followed by several shots, but the affair was not reported to the police. At 10 o'clock yesterday morning Giuseppe Cresci, landlord of the tenement, noticed a light burning in the kitchen of the flat, on the top floor of the four-story house. He knocked, tried the door and when he got no response he called Patrolman Frank Essex, who discovered the bodies.

Tesereare had apparently dragged the body of his wife from the parlor into the kitchen after the quarrel, the police said. A .32-calibre revolver, its chambers emptied, and a bloodstained carving knife, were found in the apartment.

RUSSIAN TEACHER ARRIVES.

Dr. Potapvuko Tells of Specialized Training in Soviet Schools.

Dr. G. V. Potapwuko, Professor of Physics at the Mining Academy in Moscow, arrived on the Hamburg-American liner Cleveland yesterday to study here under the auspices of the Rockefeller Foundation. He will leave immediat ly for the Pacific Coast to study at the California Institute of Technology.

Dr. Potapvuka described the specialization program in Russian schools. He said that while students are in the intermediate schools instructors attempt to discover their talents and develop them along specialized lines. The children are far happier at study under these conditions, he declared.

Also on the ship was Dr. Samuel Lieberson, director of the New Conservatory of Berlin. He will teach violin at the Cosmopolitan School of Music in Chicago. Under the new music subsidy in Germany prospective music teachers must submit to rigid elimination tests. Thus incompetents are being weeded out and the teaching staffs of private schools are on a higher plane of ability, he said.

The Cleveland stopped at Boston and Halifax and brought 481 passengers.

INDIANA BANKER KILLS SELF

Albert de Fries of Gary Had Been in Ill Health.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Albert de Fries, president of the American State Bank at Gary, Ind., committed suicide today in his home at Gary.

His wife, who had spent the previous night at the nearby home of her daughter, Mrs. Ben Evans, returned home at 7:30 A. M. with her son-in-law, a vice president of the bank, and, smelling gas, summoned police.

De Fries, who was 43 years old and had been in ill health for two years, had turned on all gas jets in the kitchen. He had been dead about two hours when he was found.

Directors of the bank, which was capitalized for $50,000 and showed assets of $886,424 on July 1, met hurriedly and placed the institutions in the hands of Thomas Barr, Deputy State Banking Commissioner. He ordered the bank closed pending an audit by the State Banking Department and the Gary Clearing House Association.

Mr. Barr said the preliminary examination indicated that the bank was sound.

IOWA POSTAL CASHIER HELD.

Sioux City Employe Surrenders in Theft of $9,000.

Harry Holt, a money order cashier in the postoffice at Sioux City, Iowa, surrendered himself to Chief Postal Inspector Charles H. Clarahan in the postoffice building at 4:45 P. M., yesterday, saying he was wanted by the postal authorities in Sioux City for the theft of between $9,000 and $10,000.

Inspector Clarahan had had no advance word that Holt was wanted. After Holt told his story Mr. Clarahan telegraphed to the Sioux City authorities, and upon receiving word that Holt was wanted there, he ordered him held. Holt, who is about 40 years old, left his home for New York a week ago yesterday with $3,000, according to his alleged confession to Inspector Clarahan. Mr. Clarahan quoted him as saying that "crooks in New York had gotten the money away from him."

Holt had been in the postal service for twenty years, he told the New York authorities.

NATHALIA CRANE, 17, FETED.

Theatre Parties and Dinner Given for Ex-Child Prodigy.

Because she ceased being a "child prodigy" yesterday on her seventeenth birthday and entered the ranks of grown-up authors, Nathalia Crane and her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Crane of 75 Pierrepont Street, Brooklyn, spent part of yesterday, as they had spent most of the day before, amid the noise and smoke caused by photographers taking pictures. Sinbad, Miss Crane's pet parrot, had become quite accustomed to the flashes yesterday.

Theatre parties in the afternoon and evening, with a dinner in her honor between, took place yesterday to celebrate Miss Crane's birthday. Her presents included two evening gowns, one of them from her mother, and a hand-painted guitar from her father.

BANKER A SUICIDE AS EXAMINERS CALL

Howard Snyder, Mayor of Argyle, N. Y., Goes to Vault and Shoots Himself.

BANK CONTINUES OPEN

Inspectors, Whom He Helped In Work, Say Nothing Is Wrong With Institution's Affairs.

Special to The New York Times.

ARGYLE, N. Y., Aug. 11.—Howard Snyder, Mayor of Argyle and president of the First National Bank here, committed suicide in a vault at the bank today a few minutes after the arrival of two examiners.

According to a statement of the examiners there is nothing wrong with the bank's affairs and there appeared to be no explanation for Mr. Snyder's act. The bank remained open for business today. The examiners have been going over the accounts of the bank since Friday in their regular inspection.

When Porter Burgess, the cashier, and Miss Lillian Johnson, bookkeeper, arrived at the bank they found that the president had already arrived. As they were starting about their duties, the two examiners, A. M. Douglas and A. K. Spaulding, called and asked Mr. Snyder for the notes.

After Mr. Snyder had turned the notes and adding machine over to the examiners, he took a revolver, which was in a drawer at the counter, and went into the book vault. Miss Johnson observed his action and informed Mr. Burgess.

The cashier hastened to the book vault and upon entering saw Mr. Snyder seated in a revolving chair with the revolver lying on a desk beside him. The president had shot himself three times above the heart.

Dr. D. C. Tillotson of Fort Edward was summoned but Mr. Snyder died fifteen minutes after his arrival without regaining consciousness.

Dr. W. C. Cuthberg, coroner of Hudson Falls, was notified and after an examination and inquiry regarding the circumstances pronounced the banker's death a suicide.

Mr. Snyder was president of the Fort Edward Fish and Game Club and had long been prominent in church and fraternal affairs.

The survivors are his wife, two sons, Howard and Edgar; one brother, Edgar Snyder of Nebraska; three sisters, Mrs. John Tilford of Adamsville, Mrs. Robert Robertson of Hudson Falls and Mrs. Anna Marshall of South Hartford.

Davison on Way to See Ill Son.

POLICEMAN HURT HERE IN MOTORCYCLE CRASH

A motorcycle policeman was injured in a collision here yesterday, and in Camden, N. J., three firemen and four bus passengers were injured in the collision of a Pittman-Philadelphia bus and a fire truck. In Mineola, L. I., a man died of injuries he received in an automobile accident on Sunday night, and in Hackensack, N. J., another Sunday night automobile victim was reported to be dying.

The injured New York policeman was Acting Sergeant Austin Irwin of Motorcycle Squad 1. In avoiding a collision with one automobile at Seventh Avenue and 132d Street, Irwin crashed into the rear of another, driven by Edward Reiter of 307 Fifteenth Street, College Point, Queens. Irwin's legs were bruised and his skull may be fractured.

William Soper, 43 years old, of North Bellmore, L. I., died in the Nassau County Hospital, Mineola, of injuries received Sunday night when his automobile was in collision with one driven by Richard F. Falk of Wantagh, L. I., at the corner of Bellmore and Jerusalem Avenues, North Bellmore.

A Camden (N. J.) fire truck, speeding to a blaze, was struck in the middle, according to the police, by a bus driven by Frank W. Farley of Pittman, N. J. The fire truck crashed against a pole and its driver, James Baxter, was thrown over the wheel to the pavement, suffering fractured ribs and concussion of the brain. The other injured firemen were William Reynolds and James Young, who were cut and bruised. Young also suffered a fracture of the hip. The injured bus passengers were Benjamin Levin, 50 years old, Brooklyn, N. Y.; John B. Gray, 38, Westville, N. J.; Isadore Morganstein, 39, Camden, and Charles Meyers, 25, Gloucester, N. J. All of the victims were taken to the West Jersey Homeopathic Hospital, the bus passengers suffering chiefly from shock.

Anthony Schultheis, 22, of 1 Eighth Street, Ridgefield Park, N. J., was operated on yesterday for amputation of the right leg following an accident on Sunday night, when he was crushed between his own sedan and a truck at Bogota, N. J. It was feared after the operation that he was dying.

BUCKLEY SUSPECT IS HELD.

Pizzino Is Remanded to Await Extradition to Detroit.

Theodore Pizzino, 37 years old, who is wanted in Detroit on charges of connection with the murder of Jerry Buckley, radio announcer, was arraigned yesterday before Magistrate McKiniry in Morrisania court as a fugitive from justice and held without bail until Thursday, pending extradition proceedings.

The adjournment was requested by Assistant District Attorney Eugene Schulz, who told the court that Thomas C. Wilcox, Detroit Police Commissioner, had wired that extradition papers were being prepared.

S. L. WARNER LEFT $1,005,193 ESTATE

AIDED ORPHAN GYMNASIUM

Samuel L. Warner, one of the four Warner Brothers, film producers, who made a fortune out of the development of the talking pictures, left an estate appraised yesterday at $1,171,671 gross and $1,005,193 net. He had $1,169,041 in securities, of which $1,078,125 was the value of 62,500 shares of Warner Brothers' Pictures, Inc. This valuation was fixed on the basis of $17.50 a share, at which the stock was sold on the New York Curb at about the time of Mr. Warner's death. The stock has increased in value many times since, having reached $80 a share this year, but declining to around $25 as the result of the recent action of the company in passing its dividend. Mr. Warner died Oct. 5, 1927, at a time when talking pictures were being perfected.

He had 125 shares of stock in Renraw, Inc., a holding company for the realty at 321 West Forty-fourth Street and 322 West Forty-fifth Street, and other property appraised at $90,916. His personal effects were valued at only $100, and the only other asset was $2,530 in cash. The debts of $51,878 included $25,000 as his share in a contribution by the four brothers for the erection of a gymnasium for the Hebrew Orphan Asylum.

The will gave the personal property and $100,000 for life to the widow, Mrs. Lina B. Warner, and a similar trust fund to the daughter, Lita B. Warner. The remainder of the estate went in equal shares to the brothers, Harry, Albert and Jack Warner.

Herman Littman Will Aids Charity.

Herman Littman, investor, who died Oct. 5, leaving an estate of $435,597 gross and $360,296 net, gave all but $100 for life to his mother, Henrietta Littman, who died March 21, and to his sisters, Julia Littman and Sarah Morris. Upon the death of the sisters the principal of the estate will be divided equally among the Home for Aged and Infirm Hebrews, the National Jewish Hospital for Consumptives, the Home of the Daughters of Jacob, the Downtown Talmud Torah, the Malbush Arumen Society, Lebanon Hospital, Beth-Abraham Home for Incurables, Hebrew Technical Institute, Blythedale Home, Bide-a-Wee Home for Animals, New York Foundling Hospital, Beth Israel Hospital, Convalescent Home for Hebrew Children, Hebrew Sheltering Guardian Society, Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, Salvation Army and St. John's Guild.

Mr. Littman left only $100 to his brother Isidore. The estate included $288,570 in securities and $72,291 inherited from his brother Morris.

AMERICAN LUTHERANS RATIFY SYNOD MERGER

TOLEDO, Ohio, Aug. 11 (AP).—Formal adoption of the merger of the Lutheran Buffalo, Iowa, and Ohio synods into the American Lutheran Church was ratified today at the opening session of the convention of the American Lutheran Church.

Dr. C. C. Hein of Columbus, the chairman, said that the federation will not be a "superchurch" that will endeavor to direct the affairs of the constituent synods or in any way interfere with their work.

The problems of the Lutheran Church seem to be growing more difficult from year to year, Dr. Hein said, and up to the present time language, tradition and national peculiarities have made cooperation of synods difficult.

Dr. Hein was elected president of the church.

Other officers elected were: The Rev. K. A. Hoessel of Milwaukee, the Rev. C. G. Prottengeier of Charles City, Iowa, and Dr. Emanuel Poppen of Grove City, Ohio, vice presidents; Professor J. Braulich of Seguin, Texas, secretary, and the Rev. Randolph Grabau of North Tonawanda, N. Y., assistant secretary.

Slayer, 70, Faces Sanity Test.

August Schlueter, 70 years old, who killed his roommate, John Frank, 68, with an axe Sunday morning at the United Oddfellows' Home and Orphanage, 1,072 Havemeyer Avenue, the Bronx, waived examination yesterday before Magistrate Renaud in homicide court and was held without bail for the grand jury. The police reported that Schlueter was apparently suffering from delusional insanity, and a lunacy commission probably will be appointed to examine him. The accused man said Frank had "sprayed dope on my head."

Trains Exchange Passengers As Landslide Blocks Tunnel

By The Associated Press.

TEPIC, Mexico, Aug. 11.—A landslide caused by recent heavy rains has choked Tunnel 19 on the Southern Pacific Railroad, eight miles southeast of here, stopping all traffic.

Two passenger trains met on each side of the obstruction and exchanged passengers, who were forced ot crawl through a narrow opening over rocks and mud. It will be several days before the tunnel is cleared.

4,000 SEE BYRD EXHIBIT OVER THE WEEK-END

Teachers and Dietitians Study Ship Museum Displays—Thursday Is Boy Scouts Day.

The Byrd Expedition bark City of New York has been visited by 4,000 persons since it was opened for public inspection last Saturday and many thousands more are expected to view the museum installed aboard, during its stay in New York.

Most of the week-end visitors were school teachers and dietitians, the latter chiefly attracted by the samples of dehydrated food and pemmican, which was part of the food supply carried on the trip to the Antarctic.

It was announced that Thursday will be set aside as "Boy Scouts Day" and that Paul Siple, the scout who accompanied the expedition to Little America, will be present as guest of honor. He will assist in showing the scouts over the ship. Arrangements have been made for many scout troops in the metropolitan area to be present with their scoutmasters. Members of the original expedition, not included in the present crew, will also be present to greet the boys.

A concert will be given each day this week aboard the ship from 1 to 2:30 P. M. by members of the Curtiss-Wright Flying Orchestra, composed entirely of pilots.

The ship, which is berthed at Ninety-sixth Street and the Hudson River, is open to the public each day from 10:30 A. M. to 11 P. M. with members of the expedition as guides.

NEW BOOK BY BYRD IN FALL.

Story of Antarctic Adventure to Be Published on Oct. 31.

Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's own story of his Antarctic adventure will be published on Oct. 31, according to announcement yesterday by G. P. Putnam's Sons, who also published Admiral Byrd's earlier volume, "Skyward." The forthcoming book will be called "Little America."

On Nov. 7 the same publisher will issue a book by another member of the Antarctic expedition, Paul Siple, who was chosen as a representative of the Boy Scouts of America to accompany Admiral Byrd. This volume, intended primarily for boys, will be called "A Boy Scout With Byrd."

Y. W. C. A. BUYS CLUB SITE.

White Plains Organization to Occupy Dwellings and Build Later.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, Aug. 11.—The White Plains Y. W. C. A. has purchased two parcels of property in Church Street, approximately 300 feet from Main Street, on which at some future date, probably in the next three years, a clubhouse will be erected. The two parcels purchased had been held at a total of $85,000. They have a frontage of eighty-five feet in Church Street and are 150 feet deep.

The two dwellings on the properties will remain. Alterations will be made to fit the buildings for the use of the organization. The house on the Lawlor property will be used for the offices of the secretary and a few dormitories, housekeeping apartments and single rooms, which will be ready for Fall occupancy. The Adler building will be devoted exclusively to the use of the members of the organization and is already well scheduled for Fall club meetings, suppers, dances, parties, discussion groups and classes. It is likely that a cafeteria also will be constructed in this building.

CHURCH TO BUILD THEATRE.

Union City Catholics Plan $150,000 Auditorium for Passion Play.

A $150,000 theatre building, to be used for an annual passion play during the Lenten season and possibly for talking motion pictures at other times, will be erected this Fall by the Roman Catholic Church of the Holy Family, in Union City, according to an announcement yesterday by the Rev. Joseph N. Grieff, pastor.

The building will be a three-story brick structure containing eight classrooms in addition to the theatre and auditorium. The classrooms will serve as an annex to its present high school quarters, near Thirty-second Street and Central Avenue. For the past nine years the church has been presenting plays in a small auditorium at the rear of the site on which the new building will be erected. It will seat 1,400 persons.

OLD THEATRE BURNS AGAIN.

Ruins of Noted Bowery Playhouse Blaze for Third Time.

Miner's Bowery Theatre at 165 Bowery, where Lillian Russell, Weber and Fields, David Warfield and other noted stars rose to fame, was visited by a disastrous fire yesterday morning for the third time in eighteen months. The building had been an abandoned shell since the last fire on Aug. 8, 1929.

The walls of the old building, which is reputed to be 117 years old, are unsafe and will be torn down, inspectors of the Building Department said after the fire yesterday. The blaze lasted for about an hour and tied up traffic on the Third and Fourth Avenue surface car lines.

SCREEN NOTES.

The double première of the talking picture "Hell's Angels" will be held on Friday evening at the Gaiety and Criterion Theatres. Ben Lyon, James Hall and Jean Harlow are featured in this production, the plot of which deals with air fighting during the war.

Warner Brothers yesterday announced the closing of a booking deal with the Butterfield Circuit in Michigan whereby the entire product of Warner Brothers and Vitaphone will be shown in the sixty houses comprising that circuit.

ALBERT COATES GIVES 'THE LINCOLN IMP'

Introduces to America William Henry Reed's Bizarre and Effective Work at Stadium.

LEGEND SIMILAR TO POE'S

Albert Coates, guest conductor of the New York Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra, introduced to America at the Lewisohn Stadium last night William Henry Reed's "The Lincoln Imp," which had been postponed because of rain from July 29. Mr. Reed, the English violinist and conductor, has written an effective work. It creates the bizarre and impishly and maliciously gargoyle effect intended with sure strokes. The auditor can easily conjure up before his mind's eye visions of the Imp in the legend, wandering and bent upon mischief, who rides upon the North-East wind, until he sights the Lincoln Cathedral. With clever orchestral strokes, the composer shows him vaulting the benches, jangling the bells, and making havoc with the vestments and candlesticks. As he impiously approaches the altar, his way is barred by an Angel. When he blasphemously attempts to stroke the shining hair of the Angel, he is at once turned to stone.

More than one passage recalls Dukas's "Sorcerer's Apprentice" and faintly also Wagner's "The Ride of the Walküre," but the painting here, while good, seems a bit attenuated in comparison.

It is of extreme interest to compare the musical work with Edgar Allan Poe's "The Imp of the Perverse." The legends are so similar that a common source of the two seems likely. This theory gathers color from the fact that Poe was partly of Celtic descent, and one of the charming string passages in the music suggests in its poetic content that the composer is no stranger to this branch of the human folklore and romance.

The remainder of the program was devoted to Richard Strauss's "Dance of the Seven Veils" from "Salome," the Bacchanale from Wagner's "Tannhäuser" and Brahms's first symphony.

Mr. Coates interpreted the Brahms work with its chameleonic changes from bearish boisterousness, poetic rumination and surging emotion with his characteristic insight. The attention which the auditors gave this hour-long work and the ovation which forced Mr. Coates to return to the platform and motion the instrumentalists to join him in acknowledging the applause was the high point of the concert.

Arthur Lichstein, who deputized in the concert master's chair for Hans Lange, played the incidental solos in the Brahms, Wagner and Reed items with a full, warm tone and tastefully. The sudden change from intense heat to Autumnal chilliness seemed to have no effect upon the intonation of the players, who gave no evidence of the adverse climatic conditions which has been their lot for the last few weeks.

Ruth St. Denis, Ted Shawn and their ensemble, with Hans Lange conducting, will present a program of music for the dance tonight, tomorrow and Thursday.

CHANGES IN TWO CASTS.

Lionel Braham Enters 'Lysistrata'; Grace Brinkley Back in 'Flying High'

Replacements in the casts of two Broadway shows will be made tonight. Lionel Braham, who last appeared in "Mima," will succeed Sydney Greenstreet in "Lysistrata," and Grace Brinkley will resume her rôle in "Flying High." Miss Brinkley has not acted in several weeks because of a tonsilitis operation. During her absence her part was played by Helene Miller, a member of the chorus.

MOVIE FILM EXPORTS RISE.

In 6 Months Increase Is 23,122,221 Feet Over Last Year.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Preliminary export figures of American motion picture film for the first six months of 1930 to all foreign countries show an increase of 23,122,221 linear feet over those of 1929, the Motion Pictures Division of the Department of Commerce announced today.

During 1930, 144,932,674 linear feet of American sound and silent motion pictures, valued at $4,127,172, have been exported, as against 121,810,453 linear feet of both types, valued at $3,331,022, during the same period of 1929.

The increase was absorbed chiefly by the United Kingdom and France, the two present leaders in Europe and throughout the world for American motion pictures. The United Kingdom increased its imports by over 12,000,000 feet, importing during the first half of 1930 23,677,004 feet of film as against 11,195,243 feet of film during 1929.

CONCERT AT COLUMBIA.

Given by Teachers College Chorus and High School Orchestra.

A program of orchestral and choral music was given last night in the Gymnasium of Columbia University under the auspices of the Department of Music Education of Teachers College by the All High School Symphony Orchestra of Greater New York and vicinity and the Chorus from Music Classes of Teachers College. The conductors were Hans Lange and Herbert Wiseman.

Tosca Tolces, pianist, played the Schumann concerto in A minor. Other items on the program included the Haydn symphony in G, No. 13; old English choral music by John Wilbye, Tomas Morley, and Orlando Gibbons, Stanford's Irish Ballad for chorus and orchestra on J. Sheridan Le Fanu's "Phaudrig Crohoore" and the introduction to the third act of Wagner's "Lohengrin."

HEARS CARROLL CASE TODAY

Grand Jury Scheduled to Call Police Witnesses to Tell of "Vanities."

The grand jury is scheduled to hear evidence today against Earl Carroll and three members of his "Vanities" cast charged with giving an objectionable performance. James P. Sinnott, fifth deputy police commissioner, and Acting Captain James Coy, the Police Department's censor, who conducted the raid, are expected to be the principal witnesses.

Assistant District Attorney Harold W. Hastings intimated that no other witnesses had been called. Through counsel, however, Mr. Carroll has asked that the jurors hear him as well as Jimmy Savo, Faith Bacon and Kay Carroll, the other defendants, before reaching a decision. All four have announced that they would be present when the jurors convened.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

"Suspense," an English war play with an all-male cast, will open tonight at the Fulton Theatre.

Leo Donnelly has joined Lenore Ulric's supporting cast in "Keys to Paradise," which will begin rehearsals late this month.

Robert Hudson and Henry W. Pemberton have joined the cast of "Through the Night," opening at the Theatre Masque next Monday.

Most of the cast of "Insult," an English play to be done here, arrived yesterday on the Carmania. The play will be seen in New York next month.

Maxwell Robison, well known on the radio, will begin a vaudeville tour at the Palace on Sept. 19. He will be accompanied by a band.

Ivor Novello, the English actor and playwright, will give a piano recital during his forthcoming engagement here in "A Symphony in Two Flats." Mr. Novello's play, of which he is the author, will open here next month.

A musical comedy, with Sophie Tucker in its chief rôle, called "Follow a Star," will open tonight in Manchester, England. It is due in London on Sept. 11.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Rise Hesitantly, Trading Light; Wheat Lower, Corn Declines and Recovers.

Although news from the corn belt over Sunday appeared to show that the drought was at least arrested, yesterday's markets seemed mostly to be suspending judgment until it should be known what the government's estimate was on damage already done. That report, based on data covering end-of-July conditions, was published after the markets had finished business for the day. It fully bore out the largest recent estimates of loss. The department's official forecast of the yield of corn was reduced 590,500,000 bushels from that of a month ago, and the indication, 2,211,828,000 bushels, was smaller than any actual corn harvest since the short year 1901. Probably this forecast does not measure the full scope of impairment, because further damage was unquestionably done in the week of burning skies which followed the date on which the department's information was collected. There has been no exception, in the years of serious corn crop destruction, to the lowering of estimates in the September report as compared with that of August.

The action of yesterday's Chicago corn market left it doubtful whether the grain trade had expected a larger estimate or whether it believed that the worst had been reflected in prices and that the ending of the drought would change the situation. The price fell sharply at one time yesterday and, although it closed at a rise for the day, the change was slight. Wheat prices declined 2½ cents and recovered only fractionally; but the government's estimate on that crop showed what was in the market's mind. The department raises its forecast on the total yield of wheat 14,600,000 bushels over that of a month before, a moderate reduction in Spring wheat indication being more than offset by the larger estimate on the actual Winter harvest.

Probably the Spring crop's promise is less favorable now than when yesterday's forecast was compiled; but that crop has not been growing in the area where drought conditions were the worst. As it stands, the estimate is for a total wheat yield 94,000,000 bushels less than in 1928 and 58,000,000 under even 1927. This is offset by a carry-over from the old crop 140,000,000 bushels larger than in either of those two years; on the other hand, serious shortage in one of the principal cereal harvests is always reasonably sure to help the market value of the others. All told, the effect of these confused conditions on the fortunes of the corn belt is at the moment difficult to appraise exactly. But it is certainly a year of hardship for the farmer.

With the day's transactions reduced nearly one-half from Friday's, the stock market moved with considerable uncertainty, but as a whole recovered some of its equilibrium. The governing influences were plain enough. Financial sentiment was encouraged by the reports of rain in the grain belt and by the check to the rise in corn prices; at the same time, knowledge that the government crop estimate would be given out shortly after the market's closing, with very prevalent uncertainty as to just what it would show, made action cautious. The majority of stocks which moved more than fractionally advanced 2 or 3 points. A few rose 5 to 7, but lost a good part of the early gain before the end. There were some declines, mostly with partial recovery later. The character of the grain report, and the great confusion into which the whole agricultural situation has been plunged, are bound to lend exceptional interest to both grain and stock markets during the next few days and weeks.

GENERAL ASPHALT SUIT BASED ON OIL CLAIMS

Company Seeks to Enforce Alleged Royalty Rights in Venezuela Against Royal Dutch-Shell.

Details of a statement of claims which has just been filed by the General Asphalt Company in its suit against the Royal Dutch-Shell group (Anglo-Saxon Petroleum Company, Ltd.) to enforce certain royalty rights of the General Asphalt Company in the Vigas (Venezuela) concession, were made public yesterday. The suit is in the British High Court in London.

The statement, after alleging that an agreement was made on July 12, 1923, whereby the Royal Dutch-Shell group bound itself "to use and exercise such rights and influence as they might then or at any time possess" to procure the delivery to General Asphalt of a royalty of 9⅜ per cent of the crude oil produced from the Vigas concession, charges that the Royal Dutch-Shell group has refused to deliver such royalty oil.

The basis of this reported refusal is said to be the claim of the Royal Dutch-Shell group that by the formation of a subsidiary, the Colon Oil Corporation, in 1928, it lost control of the Vigas concession. It is contended, however, by General Asphalt that when Colon Oil was organized the Royal Dutch-Shell group publicly announced that it would own a majority of the stock and nominate six of the ten directors. The Vigas concession was controlled originally by General Asphalt.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

News, Comment and Incident, On the Stock Exchange and In the Financial Markets.

With professionals reluctant to enter into new contracts on the short side, the stock market developed a better tone yesterday and price movements suggested that there was less apprehension in Wall Street over crop prospects and general business conditions. In the absence of any more reasonable explanation, the spokesmen for leading brokerage houses cited the cooler weather as a factor that might have accounted for the steadiness on the Stock Exchange. Fluctuations were irregular, but the price swings were not wide and the market seemed to have no difficulty in recovering from its occasional setbacks. At times it looked as if the reaction of last week was to be resumed, but the unsettlement never got far enough to induce general liquidation. Transactions on the Stock Exchange totaled 1,744,400 shares. The list presented a ragged appearance at the close, but there were respectable gains in such market leaders as American Can, Sante Fé, New York Central, American Tobacco B, Eastman Kodak Vanadium, Union Pacific and Standard Gas.

Call Money More Sensitive.

With the reduction in surplus bank reserves which has resulted from the recent gold exports, the call money market has become sensitive to influences which a few weeks ago would not have been felt. Yesterday there were withdrawals of funds from this market by interior banks, the forerunners, possibly, of the seasonal agricultural demand. With bank reserves reduced from their recent ample dimensions and some local banks in debt to the Federal Reserve Bank, the immediate response of the call money rate to these withdrawals was an advance to 2½ per cent.

Further Gold Exports Expected.

Foreign exchanges, which experienced a sinking spell in the latter part of last week, revived yesterday, giving rise to expectations of exports of gold this week. Tomorrow two fast steamships, the Europa and the Mauretania, will leave port and it is thought likely that one or both of them will carry gold to France. Sterling, by moving up to $4.87¼ again yesterday, indicated that its period of strength has not ended. There is still some disagreement as to the rate at which gold could move to London from New York under present conditions. Most foreign exchange experts now believe that, providing recent high prices for fine gold in the London market are maintained, shipments could be made with sterling slightly less than $4.88 for cable transfers.

Low Rate for Treasury Bills.

Fith the forthcoming issue of $120,000,000 of bills to be sold at a discount by the Treasury, the United States Government probably will achieve the most economical borrowing in its history. The last issue of bills, sold last month, was disposed of at an average rate of about 1⅞ per cent. The issue had a maturity of sixty days, whereas the present offering is to run three months. Bankers said yesterday that the current issue would be sold probably at a discount of 1½ to 1¾ per cent, figured on an annual basis, with the chances excellent for the lower rate to prevail. The action of call money during the next few days will have an important bearing on the rate which banks will be willing to pay, for if the call rate promises to show greater firmness over the next few months there will be less incentive to put funds into the Treasury bills.

Volatile No Longer.

A board-room hanger-on was noticed staring with a puzzled expression at the quotations yesterday. To one of the ten customers' men who sprang to his side he explained that he was looking for what used to be known as "a volatile issue."

⁂

Invidious Comparisons.

Many in Wall Street are now awaiting the turn in the year so that comparisons with the high figures of 1929 will become a thing of the past. Not until then, it is maintained, will a really restored confidence appear. Then it will be easier to show an even or a better pace than in the current year and not a series of declines in almost every field of activity, as is now being reported. The psychology of constantly reported declines from a year ago is sufficiently demoralizing to wilt any sporadic growth of confidence that might appear this year, it is contended.

More Help Expected.

The decision of the railroads to help the drought areas by cutting rates was hailed in carrier circles yesterday as an indication of how, even in a year of bad revenues, the industry could respond to emergency calls for aid. It was suggested in rail circles that with the railroads lined up, cuts in rates by their rivals, the motor trucking companies and waterways might be forthcoming. This, it was said, would complete the good work begun by the railroads themselves.

⁂

Short Positions Held.

It was the opinion of several brokers yesterday that the short interest was intact and that the moderate recovery of stocks was due to investment buying by individuals or trusts with available resources. The general public is still aloof from the market, according to the same sources.

The Pace of the Bond Market.

Despite the fact that new flotations of bonds this year have outstripped last year's new offerings by a wide margin, the fact still remains that total transactions in bonds on the Stock Exchange thus far this year are slightly less than they were for the corresponding period a year ago. While it is also true that present bond prices average considerably above the figures for this time a year ago, the peak for 1930 to date, which was reached in the Spring, falls a little short of the high for the first eight months of 1929.

MONEY.

Monday, Aug. 11, 1930.

Stock Exchange call loan market was firm due to heavy withdrawals by local and interior banks. Rate rose to 2½ per cent at midday, after standing loans went at 2. Nothing cheaper prevailed in the counter trading, 2½ ruling there as on the inside. Time money was dull, only a moderate amount of 90-day funds lending at 2½. Other maturities were quiet. Commercial paper and acceptances were steady.

ROADS END CLASH ON STORE DELIVERY

B. & O. Drops Direct Service as Pennsylvania and Lehigh Alter Trucking Methods.

ERIE ARRANGEMENTS STAND

Question of Transportation From Railroads to Consignee Left in Status Quo.

Officials of railroads entering New York met yesterday in the Pennsylvania Station and agreed on conditions whereby the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad would abandon the store-door delivery that it began on July 15 and suspended ten days later following protests by rival carriers. In return, the Lehigh Valley and the Pennsylvania Railroads agreed to change methods of trucking between railheads and inland stations. The Erie Railroad, which maintains inland stations like those of the Lehigh Valley and Pennsylvania, will continue its present arrangements.

The delivery begun by the B. & O. last month was in conjunction with the Store Door Trucking Corporation, a consolidation of E. A. Thompson, Inc., the Bell Trucking Company and the Seaman Trucking Company. It provided that freight could be taken directly from the B. & O.'s terminals on Staten Island to the consignee. Under that system the necessity of rehandling and unloading was eliminated, with corresponding economies. The Bush Terminal Company, New York Dock Company, Brooklyn Eastern District Terminal and Jay Street Terminal Company filed suit in Federal court at Baltimore to enjoin the continuance of the delivery.

Officials of the Pennsylvania, Lehigh Valley and Erie met last week and devised a modified plan for trucking in conjunction with inland stations. This modified plan was approved yesterday. It will go into effect within sixty days, by which time present trucking contracts will have expired.

Competition for Deliveries.

Under present arrangements freight is trucked from railheads of the three railroads on the New Jersey shore to their inland stations in Manhattan by companies which may and do compete for delivery from the inland stations to the consignee. It was contended that, under this system, the trucking company might receive so high a rate for trucking from New Jersey to the inland station that it could afford to truck from the station to the consignee at a nominal rate. Hence, there was an invitation for the trucking company to solicit freight for the railroad which paid it the most for the New Jersey-New York haul.

Under the arrangement accepted yesterday the Pennsylvania and Lehigh Valley will carry freight from New Jersey to their inland stations with their own trucks. Hence, the trucking companies will be interested in moving the freight of these roads only after it leaves the inland stations, the cost of movement from the inland stations, as at present, to be paid by the shipper.

Erie's Plan Unchanged.

The Erie Railroad will continue its present arrangement of having an outside company truck freight from New Jersey to its inland station. The United States Trucking Corporation, which carries much of this freight, is controlled by the Van Sweringen interests of Cleveland, which also control the Erie. It was pointed out also that the Erie's pier facilities in Manhattan differed from those of its rivals.

Yesterday's decision leaves the question of store-door delivery, that is, delivery by truck direct from railhead to consignee, in status quo. Formerly such service was provided by the "constructive" delivery system, but the methods followed by the railroads in maintaining this system were disapproved by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Railroad officials have predicted protracted deliberations would ensue before store-door delivery could be resumed here.

GOLD DUST PLANS CHANGE.

Holders Will Vote Aug. 21 on Amending Charter to Fix Capital.

A special meeting of holders of common stock of the Gold Dust Corporation has been called for Aug. 21, when action will be taken on amending the certificate of incorporation to fix capital at $15,940,098, in respect of the 61,160 shares of $6 cumulative convertible preferred stock and 1,788,067 shares of common stock issued and outstanding on Dec. 31, 1929. In addition, the corporation's capital, under the proposed amendment, may be increased by such sums as may be transferred from surplus to capital by resolution of the directors and by such parts of the consideration received from shares thereafter issued as may be accepted by the consolidated corporation on capital in respect of these shares.

The consolidated balance sheet of the Gold Dust Corporation and subsidiaries on Dec. 31 showed that capital was carried at $15,940,098.

The value of all stock issues listed on the New York Stock Exchange on Aug. 1 was $67,221,337,495, an increase of $3,329,010,436 over the total of $63,892,327,059 reported for July 1, it was announced yesterday.

New listings during July totaled 38,588,215 shares, increasing the total number of shares listed from 1,231,273,258 on July 1 to 1,269,861,473 on Aug. 1. The number of issues listed declined by three, however, to 1,316.

On Aug. 1 the New York Stock Exchange member borrowings on security collateral amounted to $3,689,482,297, showing that the ratio of security loans to market values on all listed stocks on this day was 5.49 per cent, a decrease of 0.34 per cent from the ratio for July 1.

FACTORY WORK FELL 4 PER CENT IN MONTH

Index for State Employment Was 93.3 in July, as Compared to 100.4 in October.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Aug. 11.—General depression and seasonal dullness contributed to cause a net decrease of 4 per cent in factory employment in the State from the middle of June to the middle of July, the State Department of Labor reported today. The seasonal decline from June to July is usually 1 per cent, according to Frances Perkins, Industrial Commissioner. The only other year since 1914 when the June-to-July decline has been as great as 4 per cent was 1924.

Steady decline in factory employment for the past nine months lowered the index number to 93.3 in July, compared with 100.4 in October, 1929. The base for both these figures is the monthly average for three years, 1925-27, as 100.

The report shows that the number of workers employed in July was less than it has been since the index series started June, 1929.

Large reductions were reported this year by the industries which ordinarily reduce their help at this time. Those which usually would be taking on workers are increasing their forces very gradually. Factories which never have closed before have given their workers vacations, some for one and others for three weeks, some of them expecting better business for August.

The stone, clay and glass group were much lower in July than in June. In the stone and minerals group the number was also reduced, as was the brick-yard industry, although some of the yards were taking on help.

Textile workers were fewer in number in July. Many knitting mills were closed and many that did not close reduced forces. Several women's coats and suits, millinery and miscellaneous sewing products concerns also laid off large numbers of workers.

A net gain was shown in men's clothing, some of the houses working on full time. Several firms which closed up in June opened in July.

AIR MAIL CONTINUES GAIN.

July Total of 693,627 Pounds Was 12,967 More Than in June.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Air mail carried in July amounted to 695,627 pounds, an increase of 12,967 pounds over June, according to preliminary figures made public today by W. Irving Glover, Assistant Postmaster General.

There are twenty-four routes in operation throughout the country, the one from Salt Lake to Pasco and from Pasco to Seattle having been combined since the last monthly statement was issued.

Boston route, June 10,425, July 11,419; Chicago, 152,484 and 152,722 pounds, and Atlanta, 38,605 and 39,229 pounds.

Gain in Orders for Republic Steel.

Special to The New York Times.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Aug. 11.—Orders of the Republic Steel Corporation to date in August are running 12 per cent ahead of the corresponding period in July. Most of the increased bookings are in the steel pipe division, with other departments holding their own. Improved demands are certain to develop, producers say, for flat rolled steels and stainless steel, with resumptions by the automobile companies.

ENJOINS SIX AS 'BUCKETERS'

State Bureau Cites $30,000 Netted in Manipulation of Stock.

Three companies and three persons accused of "bucketing" in stock dealings were permanently enjoined yesterday from further sales of securities by Supreme Court Justice Dodd in Brooklyn, on a motion by Henry B. Staples, Deputy Attorney General, of the State Bureau of Securities. The defendants were:

ALBERT H. BRANSOM, 3,145 East Fourth Street, Brooklyn.
A. H. BRAMSON CO., INC., 140 Cedar Street, formerly 50 Church Street.
EUGENE J. BRADY, 21 Longmeadow Road, Yonkers.
E. J. BRADY, & CO., organized to sell securities and turn them over to A. H. Bramson Company.
MIDLAND ASSOCIATES, INC., investment trust of which Brady was president and Bramson trading manager.
EMILY N. SCHWARTZ, secretary-treasurer of A. H. Bramson Company and Midland Associates.

In December and January Bramson, it is charged, sold 1,980 shares of stock of the Great Eastern Company, a New Jersey insurance concern. Through his manipulations quotation on the stock went down, he sent out calls for more margins and his customers were sold out at $4 a share, according to the allegation.

Bramson "simply entered the sales on his books and then wiped out the accounts, making a profit of $30,000," Mr. Staples said.

Justice Dodd named Ben C. Rebman receiver for more than $40,000 on assets of the defendants impounded by Mr. Staples. E. J. Brady & Co. sold $44,000 worth of stock since Jan. 1 and A. H. Bramson Company $625,000 worth, Mr. Staples added.

3,500 FORD WORKERS BACK

Kearny (N. J.) Plant Reopens With 5,500 on Double Shift.

Special to The New York Times.

KEARNY, N. J., Aug. 11.—The Ford Motor Company assembly plant here resumed full operations today with the return to work of 3,500 employes, who had been on a concentrated vacation since July 25, when the plant shut down for an inventory which was taken with the aid of 2,000 other employes who were retained at maintenance work. Charles M. Seyffer, manager, said the plant will now turn out 650 cars a day, the highest production rate ever attained here, the men working in two shifts, 4,000 of them from 8 A. M. to 4 P. M. and 1,500 from 4 P. M. until midnight.

Mr. Seyffer said that those employes who had worked at the plant for more than a year were paid during their "vacation" and the others were not. All returned to work today. The plant is scheduled to be moved to Edgewater in about two months. Considerably more employes will be necessary when the removal is made, Mr. Seyffer said, and those working here will be given first chance at positions.

REPORTS MORROW AND MORGAN IN ROW

Dispatch to Mexico Says They Disagreed on Conclusion of Debt Treaty.

DISCOUNTED BY OFFICIALS

Ambassador Is at Summer Residence Because of Slight Attack of Indigestion.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 11.—Reports of serious differences having arisen between Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow and the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co., contained in Washington dispatches published in newspapers here today, were discounted in official circles. It was reported that Mr. Morrow objected to the new debt pact closed by Montes de Oca with the Lamont committee.

Mr. Morrow was said to have protested against the conclusion of the pact because he feared it would endanger Mexico's ability to pay other obligations. Since Friday he has been in seclusion at his Summer residence at Cuernavaca, where he was ordered by his physician after a slight attack of indigestion.

He probably will remain there until the end of this week.

Regarding the new bankers' agreement, financial authorities decline to comment until the full text is received here. However, there are indications that certain classes of indebtedness other than those dealt with in the Montes de Oca agreement will be submitted for approval in some form of supplementary agreements to the next session of the Mexican Congress.

Mr. Morrow ceased to be associated with the Morgan firm nearly three years ago.

ANNOUNCES AIR CONTRACTS.

French Mission to South America Analyzes Our Position There.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LIMA, Peru, Aug. 11.—The Peruvian Government has received word of the arrival in Paris of the French Aerial Mission, composed of Pilot Jean Couret and Charles Crucre and Pierre Colin, aeronautical experts. The mission toured South America, covering 25,000 miles.

Contracts were made with the government of Venezuela, extending the French postal aerial service to Pernambuco and Caracas, the mission announced. Contracts also were made with Peru linking it with Bolivia and Chile in an air mail service. M. Couret said that the commercial success of the United States in Latin America was due to long credit terms and frequent contacts. The mission criticized the poor French standing in South America.

ASKS WORLD SUGAR PARLEY.

Cuban Planters' Leader Also Wants More Purchases by Russia.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAVANA, Aug. 11.—The recently formed committee of American and Canadian bankers can be of infinite aid to Cuban sugar producers if they can successfully arrange for the further purchase of sugar by Russia, according to Henry Brandt, executive secretary of the Cuban Cane Planters' Association.

Mr. Brandt maintains it is essential to call a conference of the sugar-producing nations to study problems of relief and feels it to be imperative that all such nations be in accord with the plans, because Cuba will not make any additional restrictions without the assurance that other producing nations will do the same.

The sugar industry here is entirely in the hands of the bankers, Mr. Brandt says, and believes that they, in many cases holders of sugar as collateral on loans, will be as eager to see an improvement in the sugar situation as is Cuba.

Mr. Brandt believes one of the most importants steps is a conference of Western Hemisphere producers with those of Europe for a study of the problems involved and insists that Java agree to crop reductions as well as Cuba.

Advances by South African Mining Shares Feature Trading on English Exchange.

FRENCH STOCKS DEPRESSED

Volume of Business Continues on Small Scale—Prices Down on German Boerse.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—Irregular conditions marked the opening of the new account on the Stock Exchange today. The outstanding feature was continued strength in South African mining shares, all the low-grade Kaffirs advancing on Johannesburg support. At the other end of the scale Henry Ford's forecast that the automobile industry in the United States soon would be working only ten months a year had an adverse effect on motor shares. Lyland was 63s and Rolls-Royce 41s 3d.

Rubber fell to 4⅞d a pound, establishing a new low record, and shares mostly were lower, Anglo-Dutch being around 25s.

In the industrial section nitrate shares hardened on the agreement between European nitrogen producers and Chilean nitrate producers. Further announcement of the conclusion of certain formalities is awaited with interest.

British Government securities remained steady, the funding loan standing around £91 1-16 and the war loan £103 13-16.

Anglo-American favorites fell somewhat in sympathy with American advices over the week-end. International Nickel and Hydroelectric were particularly weak, the latter on reports of financial difficulties in Brussels. Columbia Graphophone and His Master's Voice Gramaphones were firm, but Radio Corporation at $39⅜ finished weak after much activity.

In Lombard Street short loans commanded 2 to 2¼ per cent, with old money renewable at 2 per cent. Discounts were correspondingly firm, fine three-month bills being quoted at 2 5-16 per cent. Sterling exchange on New York advanced ⅛ cent to $4.87 3-16—$4.87 5-16.

Dull and Lower in Paris.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Aug. 11.—The Bourse opened weak today, with the depression gradually becoming more pronounced during the course of the session, in which only scattering exchanges took place. The attendance has dropped to a minimum, as this is the height of the vacation period, and with the mid-month settlements this week there is little prospect of recovery in trading. The losses registered, however, were in no case severe.

Rentes were little traded and closed steady as follows: The 3 per cents, 88.60; 1918 4s, 100.65; 1920 amortizable 5s, 135.75; 1928 5s, 103.50; 1920 6s, 102.45; 1927 amortizable 6s, 105.35.

Downward Trend in Berlin.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Aug. 11.—Except for a brief period at the opening, the tendency at today's session of the Boerse was again toward weakness, which became general following the unloading of A. E. G. shares, which were offered in large quantities on many sides. Other electricals, Reichsbank shares Darmstadter Bank, beer, spirits, A. K. U., the potashes and the machinery group, primarily Schubert & Salzer, which dropped 8 points, were especially weak.

The mining group also was softer, but shipping stocks resisted the pressure and closed 1 point higher. Call money was 2 to 4 per cent.

Our Exports for First Half of Year Down $36,644,000—Imports Fell $9,549,000.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 11.—Trade between the United States and Argentina continued to decrease in June, according to the statement published today by the office of the American commercial attaché.

The report shows American exports to Argentina during June amounted to $12,066,000, as compared with $20,500,000 for June, 1929, a decrease of $8,434,000, or 41.14 per cent.

Exports from Argentina to the United States for June amounted to $4,109,000, as compared with $8,342,000 for June, 1929, a decrease of $4,233,000, or 50.7 per cent.

The report shows that the United States shipped to Argentina during the first six months of the present year merchandise valued at $71,479,000, as compared with $108,123,000 during the corresponding period last year. This is a drop of $36,644,000, or 33.89 per cent.

The monthly totals of the American exports to Argentina for the first six months of this year were as follows: January $13,919,000, or a decline of 39 per cent on the previous year; February $10,638,000, or 45 per cent; March $11,617,000, or 39 per cent; April $12,012,000, or 24 per cent; May $11,227,000, or 19 per cent, and June $12,066,000, or 41 per cent. Last year's figures were: January $19,370,000, February $19,385,000, March $19,131,000, April $15,874,000, May $13,863,000 and June $20,500,000.

Exports from Argentina to the United States during the first six months of this year declined 15.9 per cent, the total value being $53,693,000, as compared with $63,242,000 for the same period last year, a decrease of $9,549,000.

BOND TRADING LIGHT; CHANGES ARE SMALL

Advances and Declines About Equal in Utilities and Rails on Stock Exchange.

MEXICAN ISSUES STRONG

Most Foreign Loans Close With Gains—Transactions Limited in Government Obligations.

Trading in the listed bond market yesterday was largely routine. Transactions in the individual issues were light, and price changes were relatively small, except in a few industrials, which have been under pressure lately.

Advances and declines among the leading railroad and public utility issues were about evenly balanced. Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fé convertible 4½s moved up 3 points, while Western Union 5s of 1951 and 4½s of 1950 advanced fractionally to new highs for the year.

Industrial bonds showed a fairly wide variety of price changes. Schulco 6½s dropped 3½ points, White Sewing Machine 6s of 1936 4 points, Gould Coupler 6s 7½ points, Francisco Sugar 7½s 3 points, and Warner Brothers' Picture convertible 6s 1¼ points to a new low at 88¼. Loew's, Inc., 6s, with warrants, climbed 2 points, Allis Chalmers 5s a point, and Old Ben Coal 6s 4 points.

Mexican bonds formed a strong spot in the foreign loan group, which, with the exception of two issues, closed lower. Gains for the group ranged from a half point to 2 points. French Government and municipal loans held firm in quiet trading. Japanese Government 5½s of 1965 duplicated the previous high for the year at 92½. South American loans were generally dull and irregular.

Dealings in United States Government obligations were small. Liberties held firm. Treasury issues were generally lower, then net changes ranging from 2-32 higher to 8-32 lower.

TESTS CHICAGO BOND PLAN.

Friendly Suit Brought Affecting Issues Totaling $31,000,000.

A friendly suit has been started in the Superior Court of Illinois to restrain the city of Chicago, the Chicago Board of Education and Cook County from selling bonds in the amounts of $12,000,000, $12,500,000 and $6,500,000, respectively, recently authorized by a special session of the Illinois Legislature. The petition for the injunction has been filed by a taxpayer to test the legality of the authorizations.

The bonds involved are to constitute the revolving funds planned for the city, the board of education and the county, to take care of the 1929 and 1930 tax anticipation warrants until such time as the taxes can be collected. The 1929 taxes will not become delinquent until April 1, 1931, according to the act recently passed by the Legislature.

WICKWIRE NOTE RATIO SET.

Class B Holders to Receive 10.686 Per Cent of New Stock.

WORCESTER, Mass., Aug. 11 (AP).—Following the decision of the court that the holders of Class B notes of the Wickwire-Spencer Steel Company are entitled to share in the new stock to be issued under the plan of reorganization, the company's reorganization committee has issued a communication setting forth the ratio of distribution of the new shares as between the different classes of preferred securities of the old company.

The arbitrator's decision is that holders of Class B notes are entitled to receive 10.686 per cent of the stock of the proposed new company, which is equivalent to 10.817 shares of new stock per $1,000 principal amount of Class B notes. The reorganization committee has therefore determined to amend the plan to permit the deposit of Class B notes and to increase the stock to be issued from 329,030 to 368,397 shares.

POWER UNITS FOR RUSSIA.

General Electric to Build Five Additional Generators.

The General Electric Company is to manufacture five more of the world's largest hydroelectric generators to be added to the four machines now in construction at the Schenectady plant of the company for the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics, it was announced yesterday. The five additional units also will be used in the Dnieper River development at Kichkas, near Zaporozhe, in the Ukraine.

Only one of the new machines will be entirely constructed in the Schenectady plant, while the other four will be manufactured jointly here and in Russia, with assembly of the units in Russia. The generators are rated at 77,500 kilovolt-amperes each and are the largest waterwheel-driven of any type ever built. The next largest are those at Niagara Falls, rated at 65,000 kilovolt-amperes each.

The Pittsfield (Mass.) works of General Electric is building twenty-one 26,000-kilovolt-ampere transformers for the Dnieper development, while the Philadelphia works is building switchgear equipment for six units. The Amtorg Trading Corporation negotiated with the International General Electric Company for all nine generators. Hugh L. Cooper & Co. of New York are the consulting engineers on the construction of the dam and power plant.

280,000 A. T. & T. Holders Bought Shares Under Rights

More than 280,000 investors subscribed to the stock offered to stockholders by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company through rights which expired on Aug. 1, it was announced yesterday. About $225,000,000 in cash has been received by the company in connection with the offering.

The company reports that in advance of final figures it is estimated that the number of rights allowed to lapse would not exceed the figures of 1928, when the unsubscribed stock amounted to about one-third of 1 per cent. The average subscription this year was about 9.2 shares, against 6.99 in 1928.

About 77 per cent of the subscriptions was made under the single payment plan, against 77.8 per cent in 1928, while of the total shares subscribed about 81 per cent was taken under the single payment plan, against 83.8 per cent under the previous offer.

MUNICIPAL LOANS.

Awards and Offerings of New Bond Issues to Bankers and the Public Announced.

Only Bonds of Municipalities To Be Put on Market Today

New securities totaling $2,854,000 will be placed on the market today by New York banking houses and syndicates. The amount consists entirely of bonds.

The new issues are classified as follows:

Municipal $2,854,000

Dallas, Texas.

The city of Dallas, Texas, awarded yesterday a new issue of $3,900,000 4½ per cent various improvement bonds, due variously in from one to forty years, at a price of 102.653. The award was made to a syndicate comprising the Continental Illinois Company, Inc.; Harris, Forbes & Co.; the First Union Trust and Savings Bank, Chicago; the First Detroit Company, Inc.; the Foreman-State Corporation; the First Securities Company, Dallas; the Boatmen's National Company, St. Louis; the First Securities Company, St. Paul, and Garrett & Co., Inc., Dallas.

The second highest tender was 102.629, made by a group headed by the Bankers Company of New York and the National City Company, and the third bid was 102.11, made by a syndicate headed by Lehman Brothers. Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., and associates bid 102.09, and a group headed by the Guaranty Company of New York 102.06.

Milwaukee County, Wis.

Milwaukee County, Wis., plans to open bids on Sept. 4 on a new issue of $2,000,000 of bonds, according to private advices received here yesterday. Proceeds of this financing will be used for court house purposes. This will mark the first financing by the county since May 15, when an issue of $1,100,000 of 4½s was sold to a Chicago banking group.

State of Mississippi.

The State of Mississippi rejected all bids on its issue of $500,000 of bonds, due on Aug. 1, 1950. Bids were received from groups headed, respectively, by Lehman Brothers, Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., and E. J. Coulon & Co. The State originally set Aug. 1 as the date for the sale of an issue of $850,000. All bids were rejected on that date, and $500,000 of the bonds was subsequently scheduled. The second rejection caused some surprise inasmuch as the second array of bids was considerably higher than the first, reflecting the improvement in the municipal bond market during the interval.

Atlantic City, N. J.

Atlantic City, N. J., will be in the market on Aug. 21 with a new issue of $1,250,000 tax revenue bonds, dated Aug. 27, 1930, and due March 27, 1931. The interest rate, to be named by the bidders, is limited to 5 per cent.

Tarrant County, Texas.

Tarrant County (Texas) Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 has issued a formal call for sealed bids, to be opened on Sept. 15, on a new issue of $1,500,000 water bonds, series B. This issue will mature serially from March 15, 1934 to 1970, and bidders are requested to stipulate the rate of interest at not to exceed 5 per cent.

Durham, N. C.

Offering of a new issue of $700,000 city of Durham (N. C.) 4½ per cent bonds, due Jan. 1, 1932 to 1980, will be made today by Darby & Co. The issue will be priced to net 3.75 to 4.30 per cent. The bonds are issued for water and street improvement purposes.

Suffolk County, N. Y.

Award of a new issue of $967,000 Suffolk County (N. Y.) 4 per cent road bonds, maturing serially from Aug. 1, 1931 to 1950, was made yesterday to the First National Bank, New York, and Salomon Brothers & Hutzler at their joint bid of 100.29. The bonds will be placed on the market today at prices to yield 2.75 to 3.90 per cent.

Cuyahoga County, Ohio.

A new issue of $687,000 Cuyahoga County (Ohio) 4¼ per cent road and bridge bonds, due serially from Oct. 1, 1930 to 1940, will be marketed today by the First Detroit Company, Inc., and the Guardian Trust Company of Cleveland. The bonds will be priced to net 2.25 to 4.05 per cent.

Carbon County, Pa.

Offering of a new issue of $500,000 Carbon County (Pa.) 4½ per cent bonds, dated June 1, 1930, and due each five years ending from 1940 to 1960, will be made today by M. M. Freeman & Co., Inc. The entire issue will be priced to yield 4.10 per cent. The county reports an assessed valuation of $38,915,770 and net debt of $2,020,447.

FINDS HOWELLS BILL WRONG IN PRINCIPLE

M. W. Harrison Declares Rail Valuation Measure Would Evade O'Fallon Ruling.

DOUBTS CONSTITUTIONALITY

Head of Security Owners' Group, in Letter to Couzens, Sees Private Control Threatened.

Disapproval of the Howells bill for railroad valuation was expressed yesterday by Milton W. Harrison, head of the National Association of Owners of Railroad and Public Utility Securities, in a letter to Senator James Couzens, Chairman of the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce. The statement was in response to a request sent by Senator Couzens to different organizations.

Mr. Harrison said:

"It is apparent that the pending bill is an attempt to salvage and rehabilitate economic theories concerning railroad valuation almost universally condemned by those whose primary responsibility is the preservation of the welfare and the rights of the railroads. It is evident that the measure is an undertaking to avoid the effect of the St. Louis and O'Fallon Case, and to re-establish economic theories therein discountenanced by the Supreme Court of the United States because they run counter to the constitutional law of the land. It is equally plain but that for the inclusion of an adroit provision which might possibly protect it from attack as confiscatory, but which could afford no actual protection to the railroads, the proposed measure, if enacted, and any legislation embodying its principles, would be held unconstitutional.

Provision for Creation of Trusts.

"Section 15a of the interstate commerce act provides that to a specified extent each railroad shall impound in a reserve fund one-half of the excess of its net railway operating income over 6 per cent of the value of its common-carrier property, and shall pay the remaining one-half of the excess over 6 per cent to the Interstate Commerce Commission for a general railroad contingent fund. The value of the railway property is to be determined by the Interstate Commerce Commission, which is directed to use the results of its investigation under Section 19a, the general provision for valuation, so far as they are available, and to 'give due consideration to all the elements of value recognized by the law of the land for rate-making purposes.'

"The Supreme Court set aside the commission's finding in the O'Fallon case concerning value on the ground that as to the great body of the railway property, namely, that part which had been installed prior to June 30, 1914, the commission had failed to give consideration to the higher price levels prevailing during the recapture years.

Assails Varied Rate of Return.

"It is suggested that the percentage rate of return might be made to vary from time to time to compensate for changing price levels. It is said that with increasing prices and a depreciating dollar the rate of return could be correspondingly increased, and that with falling prices and an appreciating dollar the reverse course be pursued.

"This would be a highly artificial and undependable departure from the natural procedure. It is a proposition involving an abandonment of long-established customs of arriving at a fair return on any property, public or private. It would be lacking in the commonly accepted and understood and easily applied standards of value and fair return.

"Throughout the pending measure there are provisions which, whether designedly or not, would work toward government ownership of the railroad properties with which they deal.

"With the progressive increase and use of the so-called excess earnings permitted by the present law to be used by the carrier in any lawful way, but which the pending bill would require to be used to liquidate funded debt, there would be a corresponding reduction of the equitable interest of private investors in the property and increase of the equitable ownership of the government."

EXPERIMENT FOR CUNARDER

Designer of Giant Liner May Build Her in Three Parts.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The designers of the Cunard company's new Atlantic liner are experimenting with a view to building this 70,000-ton vessel in three structurally separate parts.

This, it is thought, will enable the huge hull to "give" slightly without any danger of the ship breaking her back if accidentally "straddled" across big Atlantic rollers.

The Cunard company, according to The Daily Mail, will enter into an agreement with the Admiralty by which, in return for an annual subsidy, the company will hand over the 30-knot vessel for naval service, when required, either as a troop ship or a munitions carrier.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

Pirnie, Simons & Co., Inc., have opened an office in Baltimore under the management of Eugene J. Finnan and Gordon Shriver.

Bonbright & Co. announced yesterday the appointment of A. D. Wakeman, formerly of A. D. Wakeman & Co., to take charge of their office in Portland, Ore., and the following promotions: Robert Sheppard to take charge of the office in Seattle, Fred Loomis to take charge of that in San Francisco and Hayward Thomas to take charge of that in Los Angeles.

Sidney J. Weinberg of Goldman, Sachs & Co. has been elected a director of National Dairy Products, filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of Waddill Catchings.

The Irving Trust Company has been appointed trustee for an issue of 5 per cent equipment trust gold certificates, Series F, of the Shippers' Car Line Corporation. The same company on Aug. 15 will redeem $18,000 City Savings Bank Company, Ltd., of Budapest (Hungary) 7 per cent twenty-five-year sinking fund secured gold bonds, Series A of 1928, due on April 15, 1953, at par.

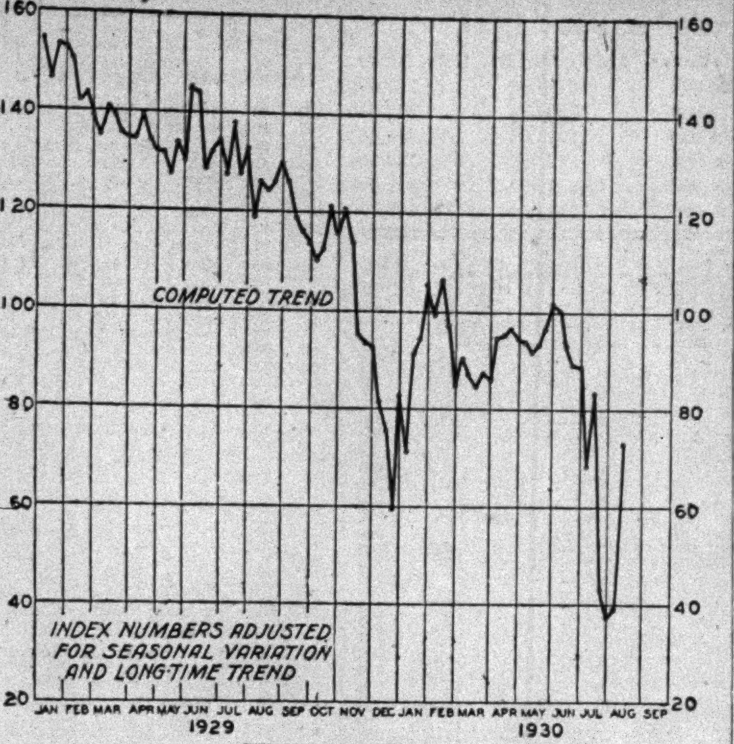
Index of Automobile Output Rises Sharply, but Fails to Reach Level Before Shut-Down



The adjusted index of automobile production shows a sharp rise for last week, the gain being the result, of course, of the resumption of operations at several large plants, including those of the Ford Motor Company. For the week ended Aug. 9 the adjusted index stands at 73.0, as against 39.4 for the preceding week and 127.1 for the corresponding week last year. As expected, the loss attributable to the Ford stoppage was not fully made up, the index for the week prior to the beginning of the three weeks' suspension of activity having been 83.3.

Part of last week's rise in the index was also caused by increased output by a few companies which have kept their factories operating; but, in the majority of instances, the factories which have not closed showed declines in output for the week ended Aug. 9. In the aggregate, eliminating the factories which resumed operations after being closed, the tendency was distinctly downward.

Complete registrations of new passenger cars in June, the latest month for which data are available, amounted to 260,942 cars, as compared with 345,041 in May and 386,537 in June, 1929. The decrease from May to June was much greater than the usual seasonal decline and indicated that retail sales in June were lower than production. Allowing for seasonal variation, the number of passenger cars sold in this country in June was lower than in any previous month back to the Winter of 1927-28, when the Ford product was completely out of the market.

LENA FIRM FINANCES AIRED.

Gold Fields Said to Have Had Pledge of $10,000,000 by New York Bankers

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 11.—Statements concerning the financial position of Lena Gold Fields, Ltd., were made at today's session of the Arbitration Court, which is considering a dispute between the company and Soviet Russia. Major F. W. D. Gwynne, one of the Lena Gold Fields directors, said the company had a definite undertaking from responsible New York bankers who were ready to supply $10,000,000 required for further developments, provided the company could obtain from the Soviet authorities an adequate guarantee that it could earn a minimum of 7 per cent on its total capital and on the investment of the company in Russia and that a reasonable amortization yearly could be arranged.

"The Soviet Government," said Major Gwynne, "knew the company's position well and knew also that the request for this guarantee was a pure formality, because the products of the company, on the evidence of experts, would have totaled $8,000,000 a year."

Major Gwynne added that Alexander Malozenoff, a former Russian citizen, but since 1926 a naturalized American, was convinced that after 1930 the profits would be $10,000,000 a year.

What Is Capital?

Improvements or enlargements in plant facilities are capital investments. When they accrue in large units, they are recognizable. But what of the thousands of small units swelling into a portentous total in a year's time? American Appraisal Service, continuous and precise, recognizes, checks, and controls both the small and the large, assures accuracy of plant accounts and of earnings.

TRAFFIC DECLINES ON 5TH AV. BUS LINES

Drop of 2,060,606 Passengers in Ten Months Is Ascribed to Street Congestion.

REVENUE IS OFF $206,060

Recent Plea for New Routes Seen as Move to Offset Loss—Subways Show an Advance.

The belief of State and city transit officials that the increasing traffic congestion on Fifth Avenue has reached the point where the Fifth Avenue Coach Company is in need of additional north and south routes to keep its revenues up to past standards found confirmation yesterday in a report issued by the Transit Commission. The report showed that the company's passenger traffic and operating revenue for the ten months ended June 30 were substantially less than for the same period in the previous fiscal year.

The report strengthened the belief that the company's recent application to the Board of Estimate for a franchise to operate buses on nineteen additional routes, including several important north and south highways, was filed in an effort to overcome the operating and financial handicaps imposed by crowded conditions on Fifth Avenue, the backbone of the company's present system.

The Park Avenue Association has already filed a protest against permitting buses to operate on Park Avenue.

Comparing the ten-month period ending April 30, 1930, with that ending April 30, 1929, the Transit Commission report shows that the company carried 47,742,015 passengers in the latter period, as compared with 49,802,621 a year ago, or a decline of 2,060,606. This meant a fall of $206,060 in passenger revenue. Total operating revenue fell off $225,874, and operating income dropped $96,608. Net corporate income declined $51,792. All of these declines occurred despite the fact that the same mileage was operated, operating expenses reduced and non-operating revenue increased.

Passenger traffic has been on the wane since 1927, when the peak of 70,405,169 was reached in the fiscal year ended June 30. Some of the decline was due to abandonment of several Bronx routes, but company experts and those of the Transit Commission and Board of Transportation ascribe the bulk of it to increased congestion on Fifth Avenue, which for more than a generation has been the company's principal north and south route.

The Transit Commission's report shows also a continued decline of passenger traffic and revenues on the lines of the New York Railways Corporation, which is controlled by the Fifth Avenue Coach Company. This surface-car system is now negotiating with the Board of Transportation for the motorization of all its lines and has a franchise application pending for seven important crosstown routes now served by the so-called municipal bus lines which are privately operated, but pay no income to the city for the use of the highways.

The section of the commission's report covering rapid transit lines shows a continuation of the recent advances in passenger traffic on both the Interborough and B. M. T. subways. The Interborough carried 822,501,805 passengers as compared with 773,147,350 in the ten months ended April 30, 1929, a gain of 49,354,455. The B. M. T. carried 593,045,593, as compared with 570,850,836, a gain of 22,194,757. The Interborough elevated system continued to show a decline, its mark of 288,452,221 being 241,934 under that of 288,694,155 established for the ten months ended April 30, 1929. For its combined subway and elevated lines the Interborough sdowed a gain of 49,112,251 cash fares.

According to the report the Surface Transportation Corporation, bus subsidiary of the Third Avenue Railway system, operating in the Bronx, showed substantial gains in operating revenues and passenger fares, reducing materially the accrued deficits charged to earlier operations.

CURB PRICES UNEVEN IN MODERATE TRADING

Price movements on the New York Curb Exchange yesterday were mixed, with more of the leaders down slightly than up. Trading was moderately active, though not as great as on some days last week.

Utilities were off slightly, with declines in Electric Bond and Share, Niagara Hudson, American Gas and Electric, Middle West Utilities and Brazilian Light and Traction. American Superpower closed unchanged.

Cities Service closed down fractionally, while Ohio Oil and Vacuum Oil were also lower. Standard Oil of Indiana was unchanged and Houston Oil was up. Ford Motors, Ltd., continued as the strong point in the industrial list and was up 3 points. Deere & Co. also was higher, while St. Regis Paper was down. In the trust-holding company group Goldman Sachs and Pennroad were higher, while United Founders and Goldman-Sachs and Pennroad were unchanged.

PRICE AVERAGES RISE IN TRADING AT COUNTER

Over-the-counter issues rallied yesterday, to close slightly higher after a dull day in which many stocks seemed to be sliding slightly for lack of interest. In the bank stock group United States, Manhattan, Chemical, Public, Chase, Empire, Irving, Bankers, Brooklyn and others closed slightly higher.

The insurance list was mixed, with gains in Maryland Casualty, Hartford Steam Boiler, Hartford Fire, Glens Falls and Aetna Casualty, and losses in Firemen's, Harmonia, Aetna Fire, Aetna Life and others.

Utilities were quiet, with a good undertone in the preferred issues. Some industrials were slightly higher, but the trend was mixed. Communications and chain stores were quiet.

FORD OUTPUT DOWN IN JULY.

DETROIT, Aug. 11 (AP).—The Ford Motor Company announced today that its world production in July totaled 133,035 cars and trucks, compared with 174,528 in June. Of the July production, 116,895 cars and trucks were manufactured in the United States.

Although the main plants of the company were closed from July 12 to 31 for vacations and inventories, branch assembly plants throughout the country were in operation.

Increase in Borrowing From Reserve Banks Shown in Report for the Week of Aug. 6

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—The Federal Reserve Board's condition statement of weekly reporting member banks in leading cities on Aug. 6 shows decreases for the week of $73,000,000 in loans and investments, $134,000,000 in net demand deposits and $44,000,000 in government deposits, and an increase of $16,000,000 in borrowings from Federal Reserve banks.

Loans on securities, which at all reporting banks were $18,000,000 above the previous week's total, increased $43,000,000 in the New York district and $12,000,000 in the Cleveland district, and declined $36,000,000 in the Chicago district. "All other" loans declined $63,000,000 in the New York district, $15,000,000 in the Cleveland district and $57,000,000 at all reporting banks, and increased $12,000,000 in the Chicago district and $6,000,000 in the Philadelphia district.

Holdings of United States Government securities declined $41,000,000 in the New York district, $15,000,000 in the Boston district and $55,000,000 at all reporting banks, while holdings of other securities increased $13,000,000 in the Chicago district and $21,000,000 at all reporting banks.

The principal change in borrowings from Federal Reserve banks for the week was an increase of $14,000,000 at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York.

To List Corn Products in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11 (AP).—An application was filed today to list $25,000,000 of the Corn Products Refining Company's cumulative preferred stock and $63,250,000 of its common stock on the Chicago Board of Trade. Action on these securities and on those of the Chicago Great Western Railway will be taken on Wednesday. Corn Products and Great Western shares are listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

"Without Any Question Best Results Obtained Through The Times"

We have been using The Times classified columns (real estate) for some time and thought it might interest you to know of two rather unusual sales consummated through this medium. In both instances the advertisement was inserted only once.

On Christmas Day we advertised a three-story, nine-room house at 117 Manhattan Avenue, between 105th and 106th Streets. "Garage for one car. Immediate possession. Price $23,000—$3,000 cash. Suitable doctor or private family." We sold the house to a prominent lawyer.

Again, on May 15, we advertised "Triple 3's—4's; stores; price $33,000; rents $5,100; assessed $35,000." This advertisement, appearing on Sunday, brought responses on Monday and sold the property, located at 313 East 11th Street.

We have had many years of experience in classified real estate advertising and are pleased to state that, without any question, the best results have been derived through The New York Times.

HOUGHTON COMPANY,
12 East 41st Street,
New York.

$1 CORN EXPECTED FROM CROP REPORT

PRICES UP DESPITE RAINS

Wheat Declines 3⅜ to 3½c as Spring Grain Movement Grows —Oats and Rye Lower.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—December corn may open 4 to 6 cents a bushel higher tomorrow morning, with the price somewhat above $1 a bushel and at a new high for the season, according to the gossip of the trade after the government report was issued. The forecast was construed as sensationally bullish, showing far below general expectations. One of the wildest trading days in many months is generally expected.

As the report was made up from data as of Aug. 1, many operators felt that were the yield estimated on the condition prevailing at present it would be well below 2,200,000,000 bushels. The government's September report, it is said by local statisticians, will be based on a par yield per acre about a half bushel higher than the August reports, but as a drop of around 2 points in condition would offset the higher par, and there has been no general relief from drought, next month's returns are likely to make an even more sensational showing.

The crop forecast, as well as the condition, was the lowest since 1901, and the condition alone was the lowest, with that exception, since 1868.

Reports of scattered rains over the corn belt, with lower temperatures, combined with evening up for the government report, carried prices off about 2 cents in today's early trading. The sales were absorbed by a new set of bulls, though, and the market rallied around 3 cents from the inside and closed with net gains of ½ to ⅞ cent.

Calls Corn Fields Deplorable.

George M. Le Count, observer for Stein, Alstrin & Co., who has made a two-day tour of the corn belt, called conditions deplorable. The yield, he says, will be lighter than generally supposed, as the intense heat killed much of the pollen, and consequently the ears were not properly pollenized and a poor fill is the result. Heavy rains would not greatly benefit the crop where it is badly fired and stunted.

R. O. Cromwell, statistician, after the government report was issued, said the total for Aug. 1 appeared rather low to him, although he thought it would be about correct for today's date. Growing conditions over a large part of the corn belt indicate a further decline in prospect unless rain falls.

The trade generally is not inclined to make any estimates as to how high corn may go this season, but the general belief is that wide price fluctuations will result, with bulges and breaks following each other with startling rapidity.

A decrease of 610,000 bushels was shown in the visible supply in the last week, making the total 3,046,000 bushels, against 3,656,000 the previous week and 8,285,000 in the week last year.

Primary receipts of corn were 981,000 bushels, week ago 774,000 and the week last year 786,000. Shipments, respectively, were 433,000, 622,000 and 486,000 bushels.

Longs Drop Lines in Wheat.

Liquidation by longs was on in wheat, and hedging pressure increased considerably against Spring grain, which is moving in volume. Minneapolis received 1,018 cars for the day and closed 3⅜ to 3½ cents lower, which had considerable influence here and more than offset relative strength in Winnipeg. Scattered buying marked the start here, but the market broke around 2½ cents from the top and closed well toward the bottom, with net losses of 2 to 2⅜ cents.

Winnipeg was off 1⅜ to 1¾ cents, with Liverpool down 1½ to 1⅝ pence. Wet weather in Europe had some effect on the English market early. Russia continued to offer wheat abroad, and a German cable said the sales aggregated 3,500,000 bushels, the quality being equal to No. 2 Manitoba, while the price was 5 cents a bushel less.

Little was heard regarding export business, with sales of 300,000 bushels estimated, mainly Manitobas. The government report was somewhat higher than trade expectations, although exactly the same as the statistics by Murray. It is not expected to have much effect on the market tomorrow. The Canadian report, which made no estimate on production, was also ignored.

Action of the corn market will have some effect on wheat tomorrow, and as many local longs are out of their lines, some observers expressed the belief that prices would advance.

The European carry-over of old wheat on Aug. 1 was 48,000,000 bushels, according to Broomhall, or 116,000,000 under the total of a year ago. The total carry-over was much smaller than figured by the trade, but the large holdings of a year ago were taken as showing how Europe could take such small amounts of grain from exporting countries in 1929-30. An increase of 10,307,000 bushels was shown in the visible supply, making the total 165,501,000, against 155,194,000 the previous week and 156,013,000 a year ago.

Primary receipts of wheat were 6,035,000 bushels, a week ago 6,536,000 and a year ago 6,034,000. Shipments, respectively, were 2,738,000, 2,340,000 and 2,257,000 bushels.

Oats finished ⅛ to ⅞ cent lower, due mainly to the liquidation of a large long line by a local professional. Cash interests and strong commission houses bought persistently.

Prices for the principal grains were as follows:

CANADA REPORTS DROP IN CONDITION OF WHEAT

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 11 (Canadian Press).—A less favorable condition of Canada's Spring wheat crop on July 31, compared with June 30, is indicated in a report issued today by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The condition at the end of July is given as 85 per cent of the ten-year average. This is for all Canada. At the end of June the condition was given as 91 per cent, and at the end of May as 96 per cent. At the end of July, 1929, it was figured at only 66 per cent, however.

Crops in Central and Eastern Canada were in good condition on July 31 taken as a whole. In Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island the showing is equal to or better than the ten-year average in thirty-eight lines out of sixty-two.

The condition of Spring wheat at the end of July in Manitoba was estimated at 100 per cent, compared with 102 per cent at the end of June, 99 per cent at the end of May and 71 per cent at the end of July last year. In Saskatchewan the condition was given at 82 per cent on July 31, against 90 per cent on June 30, 95 per cent on May 31 and 65 per cent on July 31 a year ago. For Alberta on July 31 it was given as 86 per cent; on June 30, 89 per cent; on May 31, 97 per cent, and on July 31, 1929, at 66 per cent.

Grains harvested last year and estimated for this year, in bushels, in Canada as a whole and in the principal grain-growing Provinces follow:

FARM LOANS HOLD LEVEL.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (AP).—Outstanding farm mortgage loans of all the Federal and Joint Stock Land Banks on June 30 totaled $1,801,144,355, while the twelve intermediate credit banks, which deal largely with cooperative marketing organizations, on the same date had $91,665,342 outstanding in loans and discounts.

Federal Farm Loan Board officials said these figures, carried in the board's quarterly report, showed little material change from the same date last year, and did not reflect any conditions brought about by the drought.

Assets and liabilities of the entire farm loan system were reported as $2,118,775,187.

Of the mortgage loans of the land banks, $1,192,719,717 were held by the Federal Land Banks and the remainder by the twelve Joint Stock Land Banks.

Theh report showed that only a small percentage of the land banks' assets was tied up in real estate, the carrying value of it being only 1.4 per cent of the total assets. Reserves set up against this further reduced the percentage to nine-tenths of 1 per cent.

To Curtail Kentucky Oil Output.

To aid in curtailment of the production of crude oil, operators in the Owensboro, Bowling Green and Scottsville fields in Kentucky have agreed that all producing wells, drilling of which started after July 21, would have to provide their own storage and disposal methods, it was reported yesterday. No pipe line connection will be made until there is a market for the oil, it is said.

COTTON PRICES DIP TO NEW LOWS AGAIN

Reaction on Professional Covering Closes List at Declines of 4 to 8 Points.

HOPE OF RAIN EASES LIST

A few scattered showers in the drought-ridden part of the cotton belt, with predictions of unsettled and cooler weather today, carried prices to new low records on the Cotton Exchange yesterday. Early weakness in stocks and grains brought cotton pressure, and a decline of $1 a bale carried October to 12.15 cents before the market met resistance. A partial recovery on professional short covering left final quotations 4 to 8 points lower than on Saturday.

The monthly report of the Textile Merchants' Association, issued after the close of the market, showed July production the lowest on record, 45 per cent below the peak of the year and 39 per cent below the average since 1928. Sales were 8.6 per cent more than the curtailed output, with shipments 6.5 per cent above production. Stocks decreased 2.3 per cent in the month, while unfulfilled orders increased 1.6 per cent.

Weakness in Liverpool and uncertainty over the amount of moisture received over Sunday depressed trading. Heavy rain in sections east of the Mississippi River and hedge selling from the South weakened both the local and New Orleans markets. Scale-buying orders absorbed the contracts at the lower price level, but selling pressure lessened when State details were posted showing only five stations in Texas and four in Arkansas and in Oklahoma received a quarter inch or more of precipitation. A sharp recovery in corn developed a covering movement in the afternoon that wiped out the greater part of the earlier loss. Final quotations were the best of the day.

Approve Triple Holiday Plan.

Ford Plant at Norfolk Resumes.

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 11 (AP).—The Ford Motor Company's Norfolk plant resumed operations today on a four-day week schedule, working 1,900 men. Production outlined for the remainder of August is 271 cars daily. This volume was necessary, officials said, to replete the stocks of dealers in the territory while the plant was closed down for the usual Summer inventory.

Colombian Coffee Exports Increase.

BOGOTA, Colombia, Aug. 11 (AP).—The National Federation of Coffee Growers of Colombia announced today that coffee exports for the first six months of this year were 1,770,000 bags, an increase of 225,000 bags over the same period last year.

OFFER TO REDEEM

To the Holders of Fifty-Year Five Per Cent. Gold Bonds, Series B, D and F, Issued Under and Secured by Indenture, dated April 1, 1901, between United States Steel Corporation and United States Trust Company of New York:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that, in accordance with the provisions of said Indenture, dated April 1, 1901, as modified by Instrument, dated February 6, 1929, between United States Steel Corporation, as party of the first part, United States Trust Company of New York, as party of the second part, and the holders of two-thirds in amount of all the bonds secured by said Indenture for the time being outstanding (not including bonds held in the Sinking Fund), as parties of the third part, the undersigned Trustee offers to redeem on October 1, 1929, or any time thereafter up to and including October 1, 1930, at the office of said Trustee, No. 45 Wall Street, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, out of moneys in the Sinking Fund, all of the bonds of the three Series B, D and F secured by said Indenture now outstanding by payment of the principal and interest accrued thereon to the respective dates for redemption as hereinbefore provided, together with a premium of fifteen per cent. of such principal. Such payment of the sum payable for principal and premium of said bonds and for any part less than the whole of an installment of interest accrued at the date of redemption will be made upon surrender of said bonds together with, in the case of coupon bonds, all coupons for interest maturing after the date of redemption. Such payment of the amount payable for interest due on or prior to the date of redemption will be made, in the case of coupon bonds, upon presentation of the coupons for such interest installments for collection in the usual manner and, in the case of registered bonds without coupons, to the registered holders thereof. Registered bonds must be surrendered accompanied by instruments of assignment and transfer duly executed in blank.

MANILA ELECTRIC COMPANY

First Refunding Mortgage Gold Bonds
5% Series due 1946

SINKING FUND NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to Article II of the Supplemental Indenture dated June 1, 1922, creating the above mentioned Series, Manila Electric Company is required to pay to the undersigned on or before September 1, 1930, the sum of $840.00 for the purposes of the Sinking Fund provided by said Article II, which amount, together with an unexpended balance remaining in the hands of the undersigned of $1,710.00 and the further sum of $550.00 representing interest to be collected on September 1, 1930, on bonds of this Series held in the Sinking Fund, will be available on September 1, 1930, for the purchase of bonds of the above mentioned Series, and the undersigned hereby invites sealed proposals to be made to it at or before noon on August 25, 1930, for the sale and delivery to it at its Corporate Trust Department, No. 11 Broad Street, New York City, on September 1, 1930, of bonds of the above mentioned Series, at prices to be named in such proposals, but not to exceed 105% of their principal amount. All proposals must be enclosed in a sealed envelope endorsed "Proposal to Manila Electric Company Sinking Fund" and addressed to The Chase National Bank of the City of New York, Corporate Trust Department, No. 11 Broad Street, New York City. From the bonds so offered, the undersigned will accept such as are offered at the best prices, to an amount sufficient to exhaust as nearly as may be the aggregate funds to be available for the purpose, but such acceptances will be conditioned on the payment to the undersigned on or before September 1, 1930, of the funds requisite for the purchase of the bonds accepted. All proposals must be without interest, and the coupons representing the accrued interest due September 1, 1930, on bonds so accepted should be detached and collected in the usual manner.

THE CHASE NATIONAL BANK OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK, Successor Trustee

Dated, New York, N. Y., August 12, 1930.

NOTICE TO HOLDERS OF 7% SECOND MORTGAGE 15-YEAR CONSOLIDATED SINKING FUND BONDS OF THE CLIFTON COMPANY, LIMITED.

The quotations are for four to six months' paper.

Drought Reflected in Market.

The effect of last week's heat and drought was noticeable yesterday in the arrivals of buyers here and in the continued cautious purchasing. Business from the Middle West centres was particularly affected, one store in Indiana going so far as to state that "because of the drought no buyers will be in the New York market this season." Resident offices generally reported the volume of orders being placed as considerably under a year ago, but expressed the view that the closing half of the month would see a gain in business, if for no other reason than that many stores within the period will have to buy at least a fair quantity of merchandise to start the Fall retail season.

New Fall Models Being Rushed.

With the return of designers from abroad, preparation of new models based on the recent Paris openings will be rushed and they will be available within a short time, reports here yesterday indicated. New details, particularly with respect to sleeve effects, trimmings and hemlines will be outstanding features. Inasmuch as many retailers have yet to buy even initial stocks of Fall merchandise, the belief was expressed that the new models will quickly find their way into retailers' hands, although in conservative amounts. Because of economic conditions, it was also predicted, the new versions will be reflected in medium and popular-price lines more rapidly than usual.

Cautious Buying on Fall Rugs.

The first definite upturn in the floor coverings market was noted yesterday as out-of-town purchasers began to appear in larger numbers and inquiries grew more frequent. Buyers came looking for distress merchandise for August sales, it was said, and when they could not obtain such goods, placed cautious commitments for Fall. Current demand is centring on the sheen type of rugs and on the better grades of Axminster coverings. A few instances of shortages on certain numbers have appeared, according to reports, and it is felt that if any heavy demand does set in, this stringency will become more widespread.

Xmas Shopping Posters Soon.

Selection of the theme picture for the early shopping campaign of retailers has been selected and will shortly be available for distribution, it was said yesterday at the offices of the local Retail Dry Goods Association. The picture this year is of unusual type, featuring three colors on a black background. Several characters dressed in old-fashioned attire are walking in front of several Christmas trees, with the motto appended of "Do Your Christmas Shopping Early." Store preparations to encourage early holiday shopping are developing sooner this year because of economic conditions.

Puts Some Blame on Couturiers.

The difficulties the Parisian couturiers met with last week in the arrests on charges of style piracy were held analogous to those experienced in this market here during recent seasons, it was said yesterday. In part, however, the couturiers have themselves to blame, it was asserted by one well-known style producer. "The couturiers" he said, "have been so hungry for business that admittance to their showings have been easily obtained, with resultant copying." This manufacturer said that the conferences here with the couturier Worth on this question had been unproductive of any results.

New Markets for Elastic Webbing.

Despite the fact that several markets for elastic webbing and fabrics have been depressed, due to changing conditions, the industry has been diligent in discovering new outlets for its products, according to a local manufacturer yesterday. More progress has been made in the past five years than during the entire previous history of the industry, it was said. The less frequent purchases of garters due to longer wearing qualities and the slump in overall business, resulting from unemployment, have been more than offset by the introduction of elastic webbing in women's under and outerwear, men's underwear and pajamas, and boys clothing, it was stated.

Foresee Alteration Cost Rise.

Store executives in surveying the Fall season foresee heavier alteration charges during the new season and are endeavoring to take steps that will cut down this source of added expense. The form-fitting silhouette, it was pointed out yesterday, will be worn by a great many more women than was the case last Fall. Accordingly, store representatives look for an increase in the number of alterations, although the average cost of each alteration will not run higher than a year ago. Better sizing of garments by manufacturers is one means retailers are using to cut down their alteration costs.

See Good Sportswear Year.

Manufacturers who are preparing their Spring lines of men's clothing emphasize the decided trend to sports fabrics which is taking place. The light pastel shades are expected to be more in favor than ever before. A subject of comment is the decided encroachment which sports wear is making into the regular Spring line of men's clothes. The barrier of distinction between the early Spring suits and Summer sport clothes is being broken down, it was said. While manufacturers are buying goods cautiously, they expect an excellent business to be done next season. They are according considerable favor to blue-gray and gray-green mixtures.

Report Halts Fine Goods Sales.

The early part of last week showed a very substantial volume of fine goods trading, which was abruptly ended by the government crop report of Friday, the Berkshire Fine Spinning Association, Inc., pointed out yesterday in their weekly report. Heavy pressure for further reduction of prices is now anticipated. The company's plantations report a serious drought in the Delta, from which comes a large percentage of staple cotton, and a decrease of 200,000 bales in this section's output is estimated. Manufacturing operations continue to be on a reduced basis, with Fall River at an abnormally low point even for this period of the year.

Gray Goods Prices Ease.

With cotton reacting lower after the bearish crop report, gray goods prices eased yesterday as much as ¼ of a cent on some constructions. The market was very quiet, with buyers showing little interest and sellers shading prices to get business. In printcloths, 38½-inch 60-48s were the only construction to remain firm at 4¾ cents. Orders for 38½-inch 64-60s were filled at 5 to 5⅛ cents, depending on the size of the purchase. A ⅛-cent decline was reported in 39-inch 68-72s, which sold at 5⅞ to 6 cents. In 39-inch 80 squares, sales were made at 7¼ to 7⅜ cents. Sheetings were very quiet.

CELANESE
TRADE MARK REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.
TAFFETA "148"

A New and Rarely Beautiful Weave of the Peau de Soie Type

A finely ribbed, somewhat heavy taffeta, with the right crispness and draping quality . . . cutters are ranking it among the season's fabric successes for expressing the evening mode.

Celanese Taffeta weaves do not split or crack—you can depend on their firmness at the seams, even in closely fitted, molded styling. In the view of the retail dress buyer, the use of a Celanese Taffeta gives an evening dress line added value. Celanese Taffeta embodies the unique and superior qualities of Celanese yarn—found in no other type of textile:

It will not shrink or stretch.
It dry-cleans perfectly, retaining its crispness, and the soft gleam of its surface.
It is free from all weighting.
Dampness or perspiration does not damage it.
The colors are unusually fast.

AS A SERVICE TO BUYERS, merchandise managers, store executives and all those connected with the merchandise field, The New York Times prints every Monday morning more than a column devoted to summarizing the reports issued by leading resident buying organizations in the New York market.—Advt.

SUGAR, COFFEE, COCOA.

Sugar.

Raw sugar sold yesterday in the New York market within one point of the low record touched week before last. The one sale reported was for Cuba, prompt shipment, at 1.18 cents, cost and freight. At the close of the market there was more available at this figure.

Refined sugar was unchanged, refiners continuing to quote 4.50 cents a pound, and buyers taking it at this price on a day to day basis.

The futures market was a desultory affair, with prices easing off at the close from 1 to 4 points from the close on Friday. Sales were 22,650 tons and the price range was:

LIVE STOCK IN CHICAGO.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Hogs were in demand today, with prices steady to 25 cents higher. Better grades of light and medium weight packing sows showed the most strength. The top was 25 cents higher at $10, while the day's average was 10 cents higher at $9.05. Most sales were at $8.35 to $9.90, with heavy weights $8.90 to $9.70; medium weights, $9.50 to $9.95; light weights, $9.70 to $10, and packing sows, $7.35 to $8.35. Packers bought 25,200 and shippers 7,000, with 5,000 left over. Receipts were 37,000, with 16,000 estimated for tomorrow.

Heavy weight steers were slow in selling, prices being weak to 25 cents lower, while better grades of yearlings and baby beeves were steady. Best yearlings sold at $11, with the bulk of the beef cattle at $7.75 to $10. Receipts were 17,000.

Fat lambs were weak to 25 cents lower, most native ewes and wethers selling at $9 to $9.25 and Westerns around $9 to $9.15. Sheep were steady at $2.25 to $3.50. Receipts were 15,000.

LIVE STOCK AND MEATS.

These prices were reported yesterday in the New York and New Jersey markets by the United States Department of Agriculture:

Woman Driver Freed in Auto Death.

Mrs. Elsie Hall, whose automobile fatally injured Mrs. Bella Novack, 73 years old, of 555 West 160th Street last July 20, was freed of a charge of homicide yesterday by Magistrate McQuade in Homicide Court. Witnesses asserted that Mrs. Hall, who lives at Hudson View Gardens, Pinehurst Avenue and 183d Street, could not have avoided the accident, and that Mrs. Novack was crossing the street against traffic lights.

COCOA REACHES NEW LOW.

Futures Break When British Support Is Withdrawn.

Cocoa futures broke to new low levels on the New York Cocoa Exchange yesterday, and at the close were 30 to 13 points lower than at the close last week. The British Combine, which has been reputed to have been buying steadily, withdrew a few days ago and since that time there has been no buying support of any sort. Yesterday bulls unloaded commitments at any price they would bring, and until some short covering was disclosed in the afternoon prices sagged rapidly.

September set a new low record at 7.13 cents a pound, 23 points below its previous low established last May and 38 points down from Friday's close. In the spot market cocoa was quoted at 7¾ cents a pound, but this price was nearly nominal, as there is but little buying because of the difficulty of transporting and manufacturing cocoa and cocoa products in the hot weather which has been prevailing.

IMPORTERS WIN TAX CASES.

Customs Court Acts in Their Favor on Japanese Silk Goods.

Duties in excess of $1,000,000 will be refunded to importers through a decision in their favor rendered yesterday by the United States Customs Court holding that the Japanese home consumption tax is not a part of the value of woven silk fabrics. Hundreds of cases were involved covering the period from 1922 to 1929, inclusive. The decision was handed down by Justice Tilson in the case of F. S. Allenby & Co. et al. There was no dissenting opinion.

The question before the court was whether the consumption tax was properly included in the appraised value of the goods entered. It was held that the tax should not be included if the prices "per se" were high enough to include it. The actions were brought under the 1922 tariff law.

Yates in Court Denies Theft.

Arthur P. Yates, Rochester golfer, pleaded not guilty of grand larceny yesterday before Judge William A. Allen in General Sessions. His case was continued for hearing later. Miss Madeline McKay of 22 East Forty-seventh Street had accused him of failing to deliver stocks which she purchased in 1925 and of refusing to return the $2,200 she said she entrusted to him. He was arrested Friday at a Great Neck, L. I., golf course where he was competing in the New York State amateur golf championship tournament.

COMMODITY PRICES.

Poultry.

LIVE.

There were 41 freight cars in or due yesterday, about 30 cars were unloaded and about 48 cars are due Tuesday. The cooler weather seems to have stimulated demand, there was a fairly good clearance in the slaughter houses over the week-end and fowls were in satisfactory position with a slightly easier undertone in broilers. No trading reported at definite prices and all quotations omitted. Express fowls were selling on the basis of the freight market when established; broilers in good demand, but too little business reported to establish quotations.

DRESSED.

Broilers firm and higher for small. Fowls active and firmer. Old cocks higher for small. Fresh turkeys lower for broilers. Ducks steady. Squabs higher. Frozen broilers steady. Fryers dull. Roasting chickens firm for top grades. Fowls held firmly. Turkeys moving slowly.

CHARGE 'DUMPING' OF MANGANESE ORE

SHOW PRICE DROP IN YEAR

Metal Is Sold at a Loss to Bolster Soviet Credits Here, the Brief Asserts.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—A request for an embargo on Russian manganese ore under the anti-dumping act was made in a brief address to Secretary Mellon by the American Manganese Producers Association today, signed by J. Carson Adkerson, president.

Declaring that imports of Russian manganese are "resulting in serious damage and even the wrecking of the growing domestic manganese industry," Mr. Adkerson quoted official and non-official reports showing, he said, that Russian producers are selling manganese in the United States at less than the actual cost of production in order to establish gold credits.

Although frequent complaints by American manganese producers against the Russian imports have been heard, this was the first definite charge of "dumping" which would bar such imports under the tariff act if proved.

Russian exports to this country have driven the price of manganese ore, an essential in the steel industry, down from 40 cents a long ton on the Atlantic seaboard, the average price for the five years ended Jan. 1, 1929, to 25 cents, the brief charged.

"The dumping of larger and larger quantities of Russian ore upon the American market at continually lowering prices has recently compelled the major producers of manganese in the United States to close their mines and plants, throwing thousands of men out of employment. Furthermore, the normal expansion of the domestic industry has been definitely arrested, thus curtailing the possibilities of increased employment and seriously limiting the capacity of the industry to fully satisfy the manganese consuming requirements of the nation," the brief said.

FIND CLUE TO BANK HOLD-UP

Cincinnati Police Seize Two With Checks Linked to Matawan Loot.

Special to The New York Times.

MATAWAN, N. J., Aug. 11.—Chief of Police Sloat was notified here tonight by the police of Cincinnati, Ohio, that $700 worth of traveller's checks bearing numbers that indicate they might be part of the $20,000 loot that was taken from the Matawan Bank on Jan. 25, had been found in the possession of William Arliss and Arthur Watson, who are under arrest in Cincinnati.

Sloat said that Watson and Arliss have told the Cincinnati police that they bought the checks for $50 from an unidentified man, but he will send a detective and one of the Matawan Bank employes to Cincinnati to check up on the story and attempt to identify the men.

Five men, each armed with two pistols, invaded the Matawan Bank at 8 P. M. Jan. 25, forced Theodore Stickles, the paying teller, to open the vault, scooped up handsful of currency, bonds and traveler's checks and escaped in a sedan.

White Plains Y. W. C. A. to Build.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Aug. 11.—The White Plains branch of the Young Women's Christian Association announced today that it had acquired property 300 by 150 feet at Main and Church Streets here, as the site of its new home for young women. The land is valued at approximately $85,000. The association announced that it hoped to build its home within the next three years.

Eleventh Ward Outing Today.

The Eleventh Ward Association will be host today to 2,000 east side children, whom it will entertain at Coney Island. The children will come from neighborhood churches, orphanages and welfare centres, and the start will be made from the association headquarters, 20 Avenue C, between 9 and 10 A. M. Twenty-six buses and twenty-five private automobiles will provide the transportation, Samuel Fassler, president of the association, announced yesterday.

PLAN CLOSER STUDY OF BUYING FOR STORES

Retailers, Resident Buyers and Manufacturers, at Dinner, Agree to Cooperate.

The first organized attempt to coordinate the three factors in department-store buying—the retailer, the resident buyer and the manufacturer—was made last night at a dinner conference called by Felix Lilienthal & Co., resident buyers, with offices at 119 West Fortieth Street. The plan of cooperation between the three branches, inaugurated at the meetnig held at the Metropolis Club, 105 West Fifty-seventh Street, was received heartily by representatives of the three branches of the trade.

Declaring that "in the light of current economic developments, it is up to the resident buyer to secure for the retailer a deep insight into the current status and the current problems of such major industries as the dress trade or the coat trade," Felix Lilienthal, president of the Lilienthal organization, requested and obtained the active cooperation of the following to serve as members of an advisory board of the organization's newly created division of promotion and retail distribution:

MORRIS NAGEL, president, Merchants Ladies' Garment Association.

SAMUEL KLEIN, managing director, Industrial Council of Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers.

M. MOSESSOHN, executive chairman, United Women's Wear League.

B. H. LERNER, assistant executive director, Associated Dress Industries.

WILLIAM G. ADAMS, managing director, National Council of Traveling Salesmen.

LOUIS FAIRCHILD, Fairchild Publications.

Arthur G. Ortlepp, merchandise manager and executive, will head the new department.

Monthly luncheons of the advisory board for mutual information and guidance on the dominant developments in the entire trade were arranged.

In addition to those represented on the board, there were present:

HUGO HIRSHMANN, president, Bannon Department Store, St. Paul.

S. MASUR, president, Masur Brothers, Monroe, La.

MORRIS KOLCHIN, executive director, Affiliated Dress Manufacturers' Association.

G. H. LOWENSTEIN, president, Garment Salesmen's Association.

NORMAN LOWE, president, Far Western Travelers.

A. GOLDSTUKER, president, Southern Travelers' Association.

M. J. GREENEBAUM, vice president, F. Lilienthal & Co., who was chairman.

NATIONAL STUDY ASKED OF BEETLE QUARANTINE

New Jersey Bureau of Agriculture Doubts Value of Campaign to Curb Insect Pests.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 11.—A nation-wide study of insect and plant disease quarantines is being urged upon Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde and Governor Larson by William B. Duryee, Secretary of the State Department of Agriculture.

A survey by his department, Mr. Duryee said today, revealed that more than $1,000,000 of public funds have been spent in New Jersey alone since 1918 in administering the Japanese beetle quarantine, despite which, it was appointed out, the spread of the beetle has not been stopped.

"Since quarantine measures have not proved successful in holding back the beetle, which spreads an average of about twenty-five miles each year, it is a question whether the quarantine has been entirely worth the amount spent," asserted Mr. Duryee. "If possible, the value of the quarantine in preventing economic loss should be balanced against its cost to the public and individuals."

In proposing a nation-wide study of the problem it was suggested by Mr. Duryee that conditions in New Jersey receive particular consideration. Such a study, he declared, should give special attention to the question of whether agricultural and horticultural interests affected are carefully considered before permanent quarantine policies are adopted.

LATEST DEALINGS IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

REVIEW OF THE DAY IN THE REALTY FIELD

Market Week Opens With Fair Volume of Activity in Manhattan.

42D ST. LEASEHOLD SOLD

Despite the midsummer lull, real estate trading opened for the week yesterday with a fair volume of activity. Deals of more than usual interest were reported from the Thirty-fourth Street, Grand Central and Carnegie Hill sections.

Brokers reported some leases for business and housing purposes, most of the tenancies being for occupancy in the Fall. Recorded instruments showed the details of financing of properties in Manhattan and the Bronx. Except in New Jersey, there was not much movement of property in the suburbs, but developers said their properties had been visited over the week-end by numerous prospects.

Forty-second Street Corner Leased.

Outstanding among yesterday's Manhattan transactions was the purchase of a lease on one of the largest unimproved holdings available for development in the Grand Central area. In this deal the Manliss Realty Corporation purchased the eighty-four-year leasehold at the southwest corner of Forty-second Street and Second Avenue through Douglas L. Elliman & Co.

By the purchase the corporation rounds out a holding of 230 feet on Forty-second Street and 98 feet on Second Avenue. No plans for developing the site were announced. The lease was held by Frank J. Cassidy from the estate of Charles Fiske Bound, for which the United States Trust Company acted as executors. The property has been under one ownership since 1887.

It required about a year and a half to assemble the entire plot, which contains 23,000 square feet and is valued at $3,000,000, according to Douglas L. Elliman & Co. The leasehold involved about $750,000. The site adjoins the thirty-six-story News Building.

Thirty-fourth Street Corner Deal.

A four-story building, with stores, at 305 East Thirty-fourth Street was sold for cash over mortgages aggregating $26,000. The seller had owned the property for seven years.

The Carnegie Hill property was purchased by G. R. McCulloch. It consists of a three-story residence at 127 East Ninety-fourth Street, on the north side of the street, just east of Park Avenue.

F. Higginson Cabot Jr. of Stone & Webster was the seller, and Leon S. Altmayer acted as broker in the deal. Mr. Cabot, who has bought a cooperative apartment in the building fronting on the East River between Eighty-third and Eighty-fourth Streets, occupied the house just sold. Mr. Altmayer negotiated mortgages on the property aggregating $27,000. He was the broker in the sale by Mr. McCulloch of his house at 103 East Ninety-first Street to Alexander S. Bing.

Passport Hitch Smoothed Out.

Among the 986 passengers who arrived yesterday on the White Star liner Britannic was C. A. Brown, a British subject, who has lived in the United States. For several years he has been the London correspondent for The Chicago Daily News and is going to Washington to represent the newspaper there. Due to a slight irregularity in the passports of two of his children, Mr. Brown went to Ellis Island to straighten out the matter. Later the entire family was released.

THE TIMES FILES PLANS FOR ADDITION TO ANNEX

14-Story Extension to Its Plant in West 43d Street Will Cost More Than $1,000,000.

Plans of THE NEW YORK TIMES Company for the erection of a fourteen-story addition to THE TIMES Annex in West Forty-third Street were filed yesterday with the Manhattan Bureau of Buildings by Albert Kahn, Inc., architects.

The addition, which will cost more than $1,000,000 exclusive of equipment, will extend seventy-five feet in a westerly direction from the present building. With the completion of the extension the publishing plant will occupy a total frontage of 318 feet at 221-247 West Forty-third Street.

The architects, who also designed the Brooklyn plant of THE TIMES, nearing completion, at Third Avenue and Pacific Street, have planned the façade of the addition to match the architecture of the present building.

The additional space will permit the expansion of practically all departments of the newspaper without rearrangement of space in the present structure.

Considerable expansion of pressroom facilities and further development of THE TIMES's picture services and studios are provided for in the plans. The tower will contain a large skylight studio.

EAST 60TH ST. LEASE SOLD.

Michael Lazarus Reported Buyer of Long-Term Contract.

The lease held by the Poor's Securities Corporation, headed by Henry V. Poor, on 143-147 East Sixtieth Street, was reported yesterday to have been purchased by Michael H. Lazarus through the William B. May Company. The property consists of two five-story apartment houses on a plot 60 by 100 feet, adjoining the northeast corner of Lexington Avenue.

The William B. May Company would neither confirm nor deny the sale of the lease, but it was learned that in February, 1928, the Poor's Securities Corporation obtained a twenty-one-year lease with two renewals, and an option to purchase at $300,000, on 145-147 East Sixtieth Street. A year later the corporation obtained a twenty-year lease on the adjoining building at 143.

Cottage on Staten Island Sold.

Hans Hermansen has sold the English type cottage which he erected on Douglas Road, Emerson Hill, S. I. The transaction was effected through Cornelius G. Kolff, Inc. Leo and Louise Schultheis were the purchasers.

Investor Buys Bronx House.

The four-family brick dwelling at 1,916 Holland Avenue, the Bronx, has been sold by James Pomeranz to Wilfred White, who made the purchase as an investment. Joseph T. Riordan was the broker.

$770,000 Bond Releases Lien On the Chrysler Building

The $725,500 mechanics lien filed against the Chrysler Building by William Van Alen, architect, was released yesterday by means of a $770,000 bond issued by the National Surety Company. The bond is said to have been one of the largest of its kind ever written. An order permitting the transaction was obtained from the Supreme Court by the law firm of Larkin, Rathbone & Perry.

Mr. Van Alen filed the $725,500 lien on June 17 last in the county clerk's office, claiming that amount as the balance of $865,000 he said was due him as a fee based on 6 per cent of the $14,000,000 cost of the seventy-seven story structure.

DEALS IN NEW JERSEY.

Housing Properties in Various Sections Change Hands.

William Hrynlekewch sold the two-story brick store and dwelling on a lot 25 by 100 feet at the northwest corner of Sterling and Armstrong Avenues, Jersey City, to Peter Borowski.

James Walsh has purchased the two-story frame dwelling on a plot 30 by 97 feet at 302 Armstrong Avenue, Jersey City, from Walter H. Bruce.

Frank H. Hibbard Jr. bought the two-story brick factory building on a plot 50 by 96 feet at 1,029 to 1,033 Clinton Street, Hoboken, from Frederick J. Israel and Charles P. Crouch, receivers of the Monsch Safety Window Corporation.

The two-story frame dwelling on a lot 26 by 88 feet at the southeast corner of Garfield Avenue and Elm Street, Kearny, has been sold by William M. Watson to the Gold Security Company of Newark.

Mariano L. Cangero sold 929 Demott Street, near the Boulevard, North Bergen, a two-story brick dwelling on a lot 25 by 100 feet to Salvatore and Felicia Tomasi.

The City Housing Corporation announced the sale of the house at 3 Burnham Place, Radburn, to Cauldwell N. Fraser of Ridgewood, and the house at 10 Burnham Place to Walter Bender of East Orange.

MANHATTAN MORTGAGES RECORDED.

A mortgage for $80,000 on 392 Fifth Avenue, given by Charles Lerner's Sons Corporation to the Bowery Savings Bank, has been consolidated with another mortgage held by the maker, one lien of $780,000 thereon, due July 31, 1935, at 5½ per cent for the next two years and five per cent for the following three years.

On 134 West Ninety-fifth Street, a three-story dwelling on a lot 17 feet wide, between Amsterdam and Columbus Avenues, Agnes L. Rodgers gave a mortgage to F. Bianchi Tompkins of Hamilton, Bermuda, for $15,000, due Nov. 8, 1923, at 6 per cent. The mortgagor has just bought this property for $20,000 from the executors of Samuel M. Roosevelt, whose widow, Augusta E. Roosevelt, Skanateles, N. Y., has quitclaimed her dower rights.

The City Bank Farmers Trust Company has taken a mortgage for $35,000, payable Aug. 7, 1933, at 6 per cent, from David Leviton, Inc., on 121 and 123 Greene Street.

On 26 Bethune Street, where she resides, Ruth Baldwin Codding gave a mortgage to the New York Title and Mortgage Company for $10,000, due Aug. 8, 1933, at 6 per cent.

A mortgage for $35,000, given by Charles C. Goodrich to the Bank for Savings on 123-125 East Fifty-fourth Street, has been combined with two other mortgages to make a single lien of $120,000 thereon, payable Aug. 6, 1935, at 5½ per cent.

The Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank made another loan of $18,000 to the executors of the will of Charles H. Schminke, this being consolidated with another mortgage to make one first lien of $40,000 on 147 East Eighty-first Street, due Aug. 5, 1933, at 5½ per cent, to be amortized at the rate of $400 semi-annually.

Nancy E. Hatch gave a mortgage to the New York Title and Mortgage Company for $100,000, due Aug. 8, 1935 at 6 per cent, $1,000 to be paid off half yearly, on 38 East Fifty-first Street.

WESTERN UNION QUITS ITS 55-YEAR-OLD HOME

The Western Union Telegraph Company is moving its executive offices this month from Broadway and Dey Streets, where they have been located for fifty-five years, it was learned yesterday. The offices will occupy several floors in the new building of the company in the entire block bounded by Hudson, Worth and Thomas Streets and West Broadway.

Upon the departure of the Western Union offices, which will not involve the telegraph and cable office on the main floor at 195 Broadway, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company will own the entire block bounded by Broadway, Dey, Church and Fulton Streets, next to St. Paul's Churchyard.

The property occupying this block is owned by the 195 Broadway Corporation and the 205 Broadway Corporation, both controlled by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. The assembly of the block was completed only in recent months, while the telephone company sold its holding at 15 Dey Street, on the south side of the street, contemporaneously.

Although the block is now owned by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the company's building occupies only about two-thirds of the area, with various small buildings located on the Church Street side. The company plans eventually to extend its building over the entire block, but meanwhile will have an additional 75,000 square feet of space available when the Western Union executive offices are moved.

The moving began yesterday and probably will be completed by Sept. 1. Several operating divisions are already installed in the West Broadway building, but because of the great engineering task involved, a complete reunion of the various parts of the company's nerve centre is not expected for several months.

From 1860 to 1875 the Western Union was located at 145 Broadway, next to the present Singer Building, but in 1875 it moved into a new building which it had erected at 195 Broadway. From 1911 to 1913 inclusive, the American Telephone and Telegraph Company had a 30 per cent interest in the Western Union Telegraph Company, and it was during this period that the first part of the present American Telephone and Telegraph Building was built at 195 Broadway.

Under an understanding with the Department of Justice in 1913, the Western Union severed its ties with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company but maintained executive offices at 195 Broadway.

LEFCOURT CORPORATION ADDS TO ITS HOLDINGS

The Lefcourt Realty Corporation has acquired the Lefcourt-Normandie Building, at Broadway and Thirty-eighth Street.

This is the eighth building erected by A. E. Lefcourt that the corporation has acquired.

An officer of the concern stated that, while the agreement between the Lefcourt Realty Corporation and A. E. Lefcourt does not provide for the purchasing of buildings out of the surplus funds of the company, this is the third consecutive time that Mr. Lefcourt has waived his rights granted to him under the contract with the bankers, making possible the acquisition of another building by the Lefcourt Realty Corporation with the surplus earnings of the company, rather than through any public financing.

The building is fully leased and, according to the statement issued in connection with the transaction, is showing a profit of more than $125,000 a year above all charges.

OWNERSHIP MANAGEMENT

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF NEW YORK, CHARLES NESSLER and another, Plaintiff, against ESSEMMAY REALTY CORPORATION and others, Defendants.

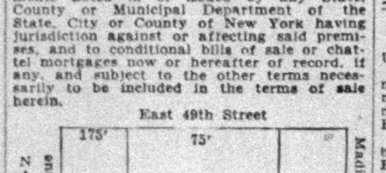
In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above-entitled action and bearing date the 23d day of July, 1930, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the Exchange Salesroom, No. 56 Vesey Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 19th day of August, 1930, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by JOSEPH P. DAY, Auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

"ALL that lot or parcel of land, with the buildings and improvements thereon, in the Borough of Manhattan, City, County and State of New York, bounded and described as follows:

FIRST PARCEL: BEGINNING at a point on the southerly side or line of East 49th Street, distant 175 feet easterly from the southeasterly corner of 5th Avenue and East 49th Street; thence running southerly parallel with 5th Avenue and partly through a party wall 100 feet 5 inches to the centre line of the block between 48th and 49th Streets; thence easterly along said centre line 32 feet 4 inches; thence northerly again parallel with 5th Avenue and partly through another party wall 100 feet 5 inches to the southerly line of East 49th Street, and thence westerly along the said southerly line of East 49th Street, 32 feet 4 inches to the point or place of BEGINNING. Said premises being known as Numbers 8 and 10 East 49th Street.

SECOND PARCEL: BEGINNING at a point on the southerly side of 49th Street, distant 207 feet 4 inches easterly from the corner formed by the intersection of the said southerly side of 49th Street with the easterly side of 5th Avenue, and running thence southerly, parallel with the said easterly side of 5th Avenue and part of the way through a party wall 100 feet 5 inches to the centre line of the block; thence easterly, along said centre line of the block, and parallel with the northerly side of 49th Street, 42 feet 8 inches; thence northerly, again parallel with the easterly side of 5th Avenue, and part of the way through another party wall, 100 feet 5 inches to the southerly side of 49th Street; and thence westerly along the said southerly side of 49th Street, 42 feet 8 inches to the point or place of BEGINNING. Said premises being known as Numbers 12 and 14 East 49th Street."

Subject to a first mortgage of record in the principal sum of Three Hundred Ten Thousand Dollars ($310,000) and accrued interest now a lien on the first parcel above described; subject to a second mortgage of record in the principal sum of One Hundred Seventy Thousand Dollars ($170,000) and accrued interest now a lien on the first parcel above described; subject also to a first mortgage of record in the principal sum of Two Hundred Forty Thousand Dollars ($240,000) and accrued interest now a lien on the second parcel above described; subject also to building restrictions and regulations in resolution or ordinance adopted by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment of the City of New York July 25th, 1916, and amendments and additions thereto now in force; subject also to encroachments of stoops, areas, cellar steps, trims and cornices, upon or over any street or highway; subject also to party wall agreement and easements, agreements, covenants and restrictions of record and/or contained in deeds of record, if any; subject to any state of facts which an accurate survey would show; subject also to the rights of tenants in possession; and subject to any and all notes and notices of violation of law or municipal ordinances, orders or requirements noted or issued by any State, County or Municipal Department of the State, City or County of New York having jurisdiction against or affecting said premises, and to conditional bills of sale or chattel mortgages now or hereafter of record, if any, and subject to the other terms necessarily to be included in the terms of sale herein.



The approximate amount of the lien or charge, to satisfy which the above described property is to be sold, is Five Hundred Thirty-eight Thousand One Hundred Twenty-three Dollars and Sixty-seven Cents ($538,123.67), with interest thereon from the 10th day of July, 1930, together with costs and allowance amounting to Four Hundred Ninety-three Dollars and Fifty-seven Cents ($493.57), with interest from July 23d, 1930, together with the expenses of the sale. The approximate amount of the taxes, assessments and water rates, or other liens, which are to be allowed to the purchaser out of the purchase money, or paid by the Referee, is Twelve Thousand Four Hundred Sixty-one Dollars ($12,461) and interest.

Dated, New York, July 25th, 1930.
FELIX DONNELLY, Referee.
GEORGE F. HANDEL, Attorney for Plaintiff, 165 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, N. Y. C.

MEN, SALESMEN, MEN.
WHY are my salesmen making real money?
BECAUSE I employ men of mature age, with proved record of honesty and sincerity.
BECAUSE I am merchandising 7 different properties at prices fitting every pocketbook.
BECAUSE I spend thousands of dollars in newspaper advertising.
BECAUSE I don't expect my men to sell their friend or canvas from house to house.
I FURNISH LIVE LEADS.
I don't care what your job has been in the past. I WANT YOU. See me at once AND EARN good commissions right from the start. Attractive proposition to 2 experienced sales managers.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 11.—Pressure continues low but rising over the Canadian maritime Provinces. Pressure is relatively low from Southern Georgia east and northeastward over the ocean and is relatively low and falling over the Plains States. A high-pressure area is moving east-southeastward over Wisconsin and upper Michigan and pressure is relatively high south of Bermuda.

The outlook is for showers on Wednesday in the Ohio Valley, Tennessee and portions of the lower lake region and for local thunder showers Tuesday and Wednesday in the south portion of the South Atlantic States. Elsewhere the weather will be fair Tuesday and Wednesday in the Washington forecast district.

The weather will continue cool over middle and northern districts on Tuesday and temperatures will rise slowly on Wednesday in the lower lake region and Ohio Valley.

TOBACCO TAX CUT URGED AT MEETING

Agricultural Commissioners and Aides at Atlanta Favor Rebate to the Growing States.

ASK 7-CENT JUTE TARIFF

Contend That It Would Establish Ready Market for 3,000,000 Bales of Cotton.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 11.—Commissioners of Agriculture or their representatives from eight of twelve tobacco producing States met here today and covered the tobacco and cotton crop situation with resolutions that extended from a request for reduction of the internal revenue tax on tobacco to a plea for independence for the Philippine Islands.

The resolutions in which Congress was urged to reduce the tax were an echo of a recent conference in North Carolina at which United States Senator-elect Bailey proposed a plan for a cut with the suggestion that such reductions be returned to the States which produce the revenue.

If this plan were followed, North Carolina's rebate would be about $250,000.

Figures were cited to show that the internal revenue tax on tobacco has increased from $2,000,000 in 1919 to $435,000,000 in 1929, and the amount paid growers has decreased in that period from $570,000,000 to $282,000,000.

An appeal to the Farm Board in which was seen a cautious effort to provide for beginning a big cooperative movement in the South was contained in resolutions dealing with both the tobacco and cotton situations.

"The imposition by the next Congress of a tariff of not less than 7 cents per pound on jute to establish ready markets for 3,000,000 bales of cotton," was also urged, while another resolution proposed "that warehousemen, buyers and manufacturers cooperate with growers in grading tobacco and that the low, unconditional grades be withheld from the market."

ARRIVE HERE TO SELL $4,000,000 IN JEWELS

Hindu and Egyptian Come on the Carmania—One Puts Emeralds Above Diamonds.

B. M. Lall, jewel merchant of Agra, India, and Pajumal Chatlani, Cairo gem dealer, came to New York yesterday on the Cunard liner Carmania to dispose of nearly $4,000,000 worth of emeralds and pearls which arrived last week under bond. Mr. Lall, said to be fabulously wealthy, was accompanied by a staff of servants and his son, Harmohan 2d, who created a sensation on the Carmania by his colorful dress.

The Agra merchant was attired in the conventional gray garb of upper-class Hindus, but his son was dressed in a brilliant blue costume of velvet and wore many jewels. The boy, who is 11, wore a fibrous turban in pastel shades and his cloak was trimmed in heavy, colorful braidings.

Mr. Lall said that most of the stones of the shipment which had preceded them were old gems formerly owned by famous Asiatic families and now cut and fitted to new settings. He praised pearls and emeralds as finer adornments than diamonds and said there were few fine emeralds being mined any more.

"The emeralds from the Russian mines," he said, "are insipid. They have the color quality of the green tourmaline, while the emeralds from Brazil are small. It would seem that the really fine emeralds of the world are now in the possession of a limited number of people."

The two merchants left immediately for Philadelphia, where their jewel shipment is held under bond. After disposing of the shipment they expect to return to New York.

Captain J. C. Townley, master of the Carmania, said the ship had encountered a terrific storm on Sunday. Rain fell in torrents and there was a great display of lightning, he said.

JEWISH AGENCY SPENT $1,214,000 IN PALESTINE

Colonization Work Took $527,275 and $403,100 Went to Education in Half Year.

More than $1,214,000 was spent in the development of the economic and cultural program of the Jewish Agency in Palestine during the half year ended May 1, it was announced yesterday at the headquarters of the Allied Jewish Campaign, 415 Lexington Avenue. The sum represents the expenditure of the various departments of the Palestine Executive, it was said.

The colonization department of the agency spent a total of $527,275, and of this amount $182,570 was for individual settlements. The expenditures of the education department were put at $403,100, of which $207,290 went for elementary Hebrew schools, $29,670 for secondary schools and $65,660 for kindergartens.

The report also states that not more than 300 Jews were unemployed at the end of May, and that it is believed that the proposed extensive building operations of Jerusalem, Tel Aviv, Jaffa and Haifa would reduce this unemployment to a minimum. More than 1,300 men at present are employed in Jerusalem in the building and allied trades.

Since the riots in Palestine last August 5,000 Jewish immigrants have landed in this country, the report continues. All of the Jewish colonies, with one exception, escaped the ravages of the recent locust invasion, it was reported.

TO SURVEY REMOTE BORDER

Brazilian Commission Sets Out for Venezuelan Boundary Line.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 11 (AP).—A Brazilian commission headed by Commander Braz Dias de Aguiar left today for Manáos to survey a remote section of the boundary line between Brazil and Venezuela.

This section extends more than 700 miles and is the least known stretch between the two countries. A survey was begun in 1889 and has been continued irregularly since.

WILL INVITE LIPTON TO JUDGE BOAT RACE

Neptune Committee Picks Sir Thomas to Referee Liner Crews' Annual Contest.

THINKS HE WILL ACCEPT

Labor Day Event to Be on Usual Hudson Two-Mile Course—Milliken Praises Test.

Sir Thomas Lipton, en route to the United States aboard the Leviathan, will be invited to be referee of the international life-boat race which will be held Labor Day, under the auspices of the Neptune Association, for the crews of all ships entering the port of New York. The committee in charge of the event announced yesterday at a meeting at the offices of the association, 108 Broad Street, that Sir Thomas is expected to serve unless other engagements interfere.

It was agreed that the race, the fourth annual affair of its kind for the William H. Todd trophy, will be held in the Hudson River along practically the same route followed in previous years. It had been suggested that it be held in waters off the Brooklyn waterfront, but the group of marine officers comprising the committee considered this idea impractical.

The committee voted to have the race start at 11 A. M. on Sept. 1 just below the municipal pier at West 129th Street. It will end at a point two miles south, and prizes will be awarded on the pier at the foot of West Seventy-ninth Street. The race was won last year by the steamship Sud Americano of the Garcia & Diaz Line in 17 minutes 11 seconds. This line filed notice of its entry yesterday, but failed to designate the ship which it will enter. It now has two legs on the trophy by reason of two victories in three years and requires one more victory to obtain permanent possession.

The offer of James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation of his full-rigged ship Tusitala, to be used as the committee designates, was accepted. His offer of a prize to the man who goes aloft and furls the main-royal in the best time was considered, and action was deferred.

Captain John F. Milliken, secretary of the Neptune Association, who acted as chairman in the absence in Europe of Captain Charles A. McAllister, stressed the importance of the race, in the light of the new rules requiring quarterly boat drills and three reinspections of all passenger vessels, foreign as well as American.

He referred to the radio address of Dickerson N. Hoover, supervising inspector general of the steamboat inspection service, Sunday night, in which Mr. Hoover declared that seamen must know how to handle the equipment of their ships and that the government must insure the condition of the equipment if the public is to be guaranteed safety.

"American seamen should be the equal of those of any other nation," said Captain Milliken, "and the best way to train them that way is to get them out in action such as they would face at sea. The Neptune Association race does not confine itself to Americans, however, but it does place American seamen in a test beside the men of the ships of the world. We are thus giving American seamen a goal to aim at and we are helping improve the seamanship of the men of all nations."

FLYNN AND EVERSON TO REVIEW TROOPS

State Secretary and Militia Bureau Head Will Inspect 93d Brigade at Camp Smith.

Special to The New York Times.

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., Aug. 11.—Secretary of State Edward J. Flynn of the Bronx and Major Gen. William G. Everson, chief of the Militia Bureau of Washington, D. C., were added today to the list of prominent persons who have arranged to review the Ninety-third Infantry Brigade, made up of the Fourteenth Regiment of Brooklyn and the 165th Regiment of Manhattan, at the State military camp here.

Colonel Joseph A. S. Mundy of Brooklyn, Adjutant of the Twenty-seventh Division staff, announced in Camp Smith today that Secretary Flynn will review the 2,300 troops commanded by Brig. Gen. John J. Phelan on Thursday and Major Gen. Everson will take a review on Sunday.

The Fourteenth Regiment, under Colonel Frederick Baldwin, took instructions today in communications including the use of telegraph, telephones and radio and practiced scouting and patrol work. The 165th under Colonel William J. Costigan, took practice with rifles, automatic rifles, pistols, howitzers, trench mortar and machine guns on the ranges.

Major Gen. William N. Haskell, commanding General of the New York National Guard, and Colonel Alexander MacNab, U. S. A., senior instructor of the guard, left on a motor trip up-State. They will probably inspect and review the 156th Field Artillery of Mount Vernon, Peekskill, Newburgh, Middletown, Poughkeepsie and Kingston at Pine Camp under Acting Colonel John Korschen.

Major Gen. Hugh Drum, Inspector General of the regular army, formerly stationed at Fort Hamilton, is due to review the infantry brigade Friday of this week.

Robbed by Employe in Hongkong.

At the New York office of the Equitable Eastern Banking Corporation officials said yesterday that they had been informed of a defalcation by an employe in Hongkong. It was said that the defalcation might total $250,000. Accountants are now making a complete audit. The officials said the institution was amply covered by insurance and that no loss would fall on the bank.

British Destroyer in Collision.

DEVONPORT, England, Aug. 11 (AP).—The British destroyer Seawolf arrived here today with a hole in her starboard side sustained in a collision with a Fleetwood steam trawler after leaving Cobh.

ARABIC TRANSFERRED TO CANADIAN SERVICE

White Star Liner, Former German Ship, on Last Voyage From New York.

When the White Star liner Arabic left New York Saturday for Liverpool she was starting her final trip from this port, the line announced yesterday. The ship will enter dry dock abroad and then will enter the White Star Canadian service, operating between Montreal and Liverpool. She will leave Liverpool Sept. 12 for her first trip in this service.

The completion of the liner Britannic, which was in New York recently on her maiden trip, caused the withdrawal of the Arabic from the New York service. She was originally the North German Lloyd liner Berlin and was active in war time as a mine layer. When bought by the White Star line from the Reparations Commission she was assigned to the Mediterranean service, operating between New York, Naples and Genoa.

The attitude of the Italian Government toward foreign vessels, culminating in the order to Italians to travel on ships of their own nationality, resulted in the withdrawal of the White Star Line from the Mediterranean. The Arabic then was lent to the Red Star Line to replace the liner Celtic, which was wrecked at sea, and has remained in the New York-Antwerp service of that line.

PORT SALUTES KINAI MARU.

Fast New Japanese Liner Brings 1,000 Bales of Silk in Cargo.

The motorship Kinai Maru passed Quarantine at 5:55 A. M. yesterday, officially entering the port at the conclusion of her 43-day trip from Hongkong, her maiden trip in the service of the Osaka Shosen Kaisha Line. Arriving two days ahead of her schedule because of her ability to make 18 knots, the new ship proceeded to the Statue of Liberty, where she anchored, receiving the salute of the whistles of passing craft.

When the photographers had finished with the newest of the Japanese merchant ships, the first of six of her type which the line will enter in the Hongkong-New York service, she went to her pier in Brooklyn, where officials of the New York office of the line waited to board her. Among the freight unloaded were 1,000 bales of silk.

The new ship will leave for Boston next Sunday, then continue to Philadelphia and Baltimore, where she will load freight and return to New York and prepare for her trip to the East.

KEEL OF NEW SHIP LAID.

Third Vessel of Export Line's Fleet Under Construction.

The keel of the third of the group of six liners which will be built by the American Export Line was laid yesterday morning at the yard of the New York Shipbuilding Company at Camden, N. J., in the way that was vacated last week when the Excalibur was launched, with Mrs. Herbert Hoover as sponsor.

There was no formal ceremony yesterday. H. E. Frick, vice president of the Export Line, was present, representing the owners. The second ship of the group will be launched in September and the keel of the fourth of the group will be laid immediately in the way thus vacated. The ships will be built with the aid of Federal funds, under the Jones-White act, and with income from mail-carrying contracts.

American Ship Docked for Repairs.

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Aug. 11 (AP).—The United States steamship American Farmer went into drydock today for repairs to damage received yesterday in a collision with the German steamship Lichtenstein. The American boat was seriously damaged, but the German craft needed only slight repairs. The vessels were in collision twenty miles southwest of Lizard Head, Cornwall. The American Farmer was bound from London to New York.

CHARGES LOOTING OF ESTATE ON SHIP

Widow of Captain Rind of the President Harding Insists $50,000 Is Missing.

MINTZER PLANS INQUIRY

Officials of Line Dismiss Story That Valuables Were Taken From Safe, as "Absurd."

George J. Mintzer, Assistant United States Attorney, acting on complaint of Mrs. Joan Rind, 24-year-old widow of Captain William Rind of the United States liner President Harding, announced yesterday that he would begin an investigation to learn if the captain's estate had been robbed shortly after his death on March 27 in Plymouth Harbor, England.

Mrs. Rind told the Federal prosecutor that there had been no trace aboard the ship of stocks and bonds, jewelry and various possessions valued at $50,000 which the captain, she said, had kept in a safe in his cabin. She revealed that she had caused the arrest in Hoboken of a member of the crew whom she charged with grand larceny, but that the charge had been dismissed.

Among the missing articles, Mrs. Rind said, was a bracelet valued at $1,100, a gold watch, a wallet that the crew had presented to Captain Rind, the captain's studs and two insurance policies of $10,000 each. Mrs. Rind explained that the insurance company had paid her the value of the policies.

She said she had recovered some of the captain's articles of clothing, and that the United States Lines reported that they had buried the captain in Cypress Hills Cemetery in his studs. The other articles, including $500 in cash which the captain, she said, had planned to wire to her in Paris, have not been found, she charged.

Mrs. Rind, it was said at the United States Lines, came to officials of the steamship company with her complaint, but an investigation revealed that her charges were "absurd."

YACHT BLAST KILLS MAN ON CHESAPEAKE

L. S. Carter, Banker, and Two Friends Are Rescued as Primrose III's Cook Drowns.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 11.—Disaster ended the yachting party of L. S. Carter, 35, investment banker, in Chesapeake Bay Saturday night when a double gasoline explosion on Mr. Carter's yawl hurled the Negro cook, Harvey Long, 28, to his death by drowning.

Clinging to the stern while the owner and two guests were saved, the cook dropped off just as rescue was near.

The explosions and fire occurred at 10:15 P. M. a quarter of a mile northwest of Bloody Point Light, while the yawl was en route from Gibson Island to St. Michael's.

Mr. Carter, who is president of the investment banking house of L. S. Carter & Co. of Baltimore and New York; John L. Boatwright, 31, an employe of the Carter firm, and a young woman from Washington were picked up by the tugboat Larnie B. Shaw.

Mr. Boatwright and Mr. Carter told the story of the explosion.

Mr. Carter, Mr. Boatwright and the young lady were sitting in the cockpit in the stern of the yawl, the Primrose III. Long, an expert mechanic, had just come up from the engine room when an explosion there blew off the hatch and a door.

There was a burst of flame as the forward part of the ship became enveloped with gasoline. Mr. Boatwright seized the only life preserver within reach and put it on the woman. All then jumped into the water. Long could not swim.

ASKS $686,000 RISE IN TENEMENT FUND

Deegan Says Budget Increase Is Needed for Inspection of 100,000 More Buildings.

WOULD ADD 310 EMPLOYES

Also Gives Mayor Augmented 1931 Request Because of New Duties —Lectures Manhattan Staff.

Estimating that the enactment of the multiple dwellings law had increased by about 100,000 the number of buildings in the city under the jurisdiction of his department, William F. Deegan, Tenement House Commissioner, announced yesterday that he had sent to Mayor Walker, for action by the Board of Estimate, a request for an additional appropriation of $686,000 to supplement the department's 1930 budget of $1,163,000.

The money, he said, was needed to add 310 employes to his department, 200 of whom would be uniformed men to make regular inspections of the additional buildings and enforce the new law. The additional personnel, it was pointed out, would represent an increase of about 40 per cent over the present total of 521. Besides the uniformed inspectors, whose salaries would range from $2,160 to $3,300 a year, Commissioner Deegan's request provides for 110 extra clerks, plan examiners and typists.

Proposes Survey of Added Buildings.

The Tenement House Department, prior to the enactment of the multiple dwellings law, had supervision over 121,900 buildings designated as "Class A multiple dwellings." These buildings have 1,368,691 apartments. In addition, Mr. Deegan said in his letter to the Mayor, there are in the city 516,599 buildings of all types, of which 20 per cent, or approximately 100,000, will be found to be permanently occupied by three or more families and accordingly also are to be classified as "Class A multiple dwellings."

The commissioner asserted that a complete survey would have to be made to locate the structures affected by the new law.

"The estimated 100,000," said Mr. Deegan, "will be an increase of approximately 80 per cent over the number of multiple dwellings now recorded. A diagram will have to be made showing the typical floor plan of every multiple dwelling; all details as to the construction of fire escapes and fire egress, size of rooms, yard and court spaces, &c. This will entail a vast amount of detail and work to complete the record of such buildings. Orders of a structural and sanitary nature will have to be issued by the department where necessary and new inspections will have to be made to see that the orders are properly carried out.

"Additional amendments to the multiple dwellings law recently passed by the State Legislature will also add considerably to the work of the department—more especially the amendments affecting the elimination of vertical fire-escape ladders and the discontinuance for living purposes of cellar rooms, and the new measure which provides that the tenant may withhold payment of rent from the landlord until all violations of the multiple dwellings law are corrected."

Apartment Hotels Also Included.

Commissioner Deegan said the work of his department also had been increased by the inclusion under his supervision of 250 high-class apartment hotels. These buildings were included after litigation in which the owners sought designation as hotels, under which they would be subject to supervision by the Department of Buildings.

Mr. Deegan announced he also had sent a 1931 budget request for $1,207,579 to the Mayor for transmission to the Board of Estimate. While the increase over the 1930 budget is $44,579, no salary increases are asked, he said, but $33,680 is requested to establish a borough office for the department in Richmond.

If this year's supplementary budget is approved, the commissioner explained, it will be necessary to request an additional $682,260 in the 1931 budget to be used for a similar purpose next year. Mr. Deegan said he hoped for approval of the extra 1930 appropriation by Oct. 1.

Stresses Vigilance for Stills.

Following his shake-up of 70 per cent of the Tenement House Department force last week, in which more than 250 uniformed inspectors were transferred to different posts, Commissioner Deegan yesterday morning had before him at a special meeting in his office in the Municipal Building his entire Manhattan corps of about 200 inspectors. He passed on to his men Mayor Walker's recent demand for greater efficiency in the city departments and issued final orders before the inspectors started on their new assignments for the week.

The inspectors heard their chief stress their duty to report immediately and directly to him the existence of liquor stills in tenement houses and otherwise to go about their work with renewed diligence.

Commissioner Deegan said he would hold similar meetings with his inspectors in other boroughs during the next week or two, when he visits the local offices.

Many of the old inspectors of the department, both men and women, who had been doing clerical and other inside work for years, according to Commissioner Deegan, have been ordered into the field as part of the reorganization program started early last week.

PSYCHOPATHIC WING OPENS.

Grasslands Hospital Moves Patients to New Three-Story Building.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Aug. 11.—The new wing for psychopathic cases was opened yesterday in Grasslands Hospital and patients were moved into it from the old wards. It is a three-story building with eighty-two beds in eight wards, a silent signal system worked by lights, a food tunnel for passage of electrically heated conveyers from the central kitchen and a pneumatic tube system for transmission of medical records and mail. There is a small gymnasium and two fenced-in recreation yards.

Dr. George J. Werner, Commissioner of Public Welfare for Westchester County, said the new wing would provide for Westchester's psychopathic cases for some time to come and would do away with the necessity of maintaining waiting lists. Last year the forty-eight communities in the county sent in 584 patients, 363 native-born and 221 foreign-born. More than half the total were returned to their families and to productive life and only 192 were committed to the Hudson River State Hospital for permanent care, while the others went to colonies for the epileptic or feeble-minded.

ORDERS KOSUTICH INQUIRY.

Government Acts on Yugoslavian Complaint of Croatian's Entry.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 (AP).—A special inquiry has been undertaken by the Labor Department into circumstances surrounding the attempt to enter this country by August Kosutich, who is declared to be the principal leader of the Croatian party of Jugoslavia.

It was understood through diplomatic and conular channels that the Jugoslavian Government protested against allowing Kosutich entry on the ground that his passport and travel papers are irregular.

W. W. Husband, Assistant Secretary of Labor, said protests had been received that Kosutich's status was that of an emigrant rather than a temporary visitor. He added that, in consequence, an order issued Saturday for his admittance had been canceled and a board of special inquiry in New York would pass upon the case.

CHILD SHOT IN FIGHT OVER A RAG DOLL

Passaic Police Avert Race Riot—Seize Man Accused of Striking Negro Infant.

PASSAIC, N. J., Aug. 11.—Three children, fighting for possession of a rag doll, almost caused a race riot here today. When the shouting and tumult had ended, Paul Mattalyno, 37 years old, of 17 Hope Avenue, was lodged in the local police station without bail on charges of atrocious assault and assault with intent to kill.

Mattalyno, a laborer employed by the Waldrich Bleachery Company at Clifton, returned home from work and found his daughter, Alina, 5, wrestling in the street with two Negro youngsters, Willie Walker, 4, of 15 Hope Avenue, and his sister, Irene, 2. The children were struggling for the doll.

Reaching down, police say, Mattalyno grabbed the doll and struck Irene Walker over the head with it, knocking her unconscious. Willie Walker yelled, and out of the doorway at 15 Hope Avenue came his uncle, Richard Hunter, 46. Hunter started after Mattalyno, police said, but a milk bottle crashed against his head. Later six stitches were needed to close the wound.

The fight aroused the entire neighborhood and Mattalyno ran into his house and barricaded the door. A crowd surged up the stairs and against the door.

On a second floor porch, appeared the figure of Mattalyno. He flourished a revolver and then fired four shots at the crowd. One took effect, the bullet passing through the thigh of young Willie Walker, who had been watching from a porch across the street. The child was taken to St. Mary's Hospital.

After Mattalyno had ceased firing, the police patrol arrived and policemen ran down the alleyway between 15 and 17 Hope Avenue and rescued Mattalyno's wife from a small group of Negroes who had knocked her down and were beating her.

Mattalyno will be arraigned in police court tomorrow morning.
